MEMORANDUM OF POINTS AND AUTHORITIES

I. INTRODUCTION

Plaintiffs Gregory Edgar Spencer and Jennifer Lynn Woodruff ("Plaintiffs") seek the Court's final approval of the Class Action and PAGA Settlement Agreement and Class Notice entered into in September 2025 ("Settlement Agreement"),[1] submitted in support of Plaintiffs' Motion for Preliminary Approval, entered into between Plaintiffs on the one hand, and Defendant Bel Aire Hospitality LLC dba Motel 6 Stanton ("Defendant"), on the other hand. On June 6, 2026, this Court granted preliminary approval of the Settlement Agreement and approved distribution of the Class Notice to all Class Members. Class Members were given 60 days to submit Requests for Exclusion, and objections to the Settlement. Now that the 60-day period has passed, no Class Member objected to the settlement and there were no exclusion requests. See Declaration of Taylor Mitzner ("Mitzner Decl.") ¶¶ 8-9. This is an excellent result given that the average award is $342.45. Mitzner Decl. ¶ 14. Further, there are one hundred thirty-four (134) Aggrieved Employees who worked a total of two thousand nine hundred ninety-four (2,994) PAGA Pay Periods during the PAGA Period. Id. at ¶ 15. The highest Individual PAGA Payment to be paid is approximately $88.18, and the average Individual PAGA Payment to be paid is approximately $22.39. Id.

The Settlement Agreement requires Defendant to pay the Gross Settlement Amount ("GSA") of $150,000.00 to settle the claims brought by 160 Class Members (current and former employees). Because there are no funds reverting to Defendant, Settlement Class Members[2] will collectively receive the Net Settlement Amount ("NSA") of $54,792.25.[3]

This settlement, which resolves all of Plaintiffs' claims brought in this case against Defendant, is fair, adequate, and reasonable. The Court should therefore grant final approval based on the terms of the settlement, the Parties' implementation of the Court's June 6, 2026 Preliminary Approval Order and the positive response by the Class Members to the Settlement.

[1] All defined terms referenced in this motion are identical in substance and form to those in the Settlement Agreement.

[2] Settlement Class Members include all current and former non-exempt, hourly paid employees who worked for Defendant Bel Aire Hospitality LLC dba Motel 6 Stanton in California at any time between January 25, 2019 through July 22, 2025.

[3] Due to the class-favorable settlement structure, none of the NSA or the GSA will revert to Defendant. Settlement Agreement at §3.1.

II. SUMMARY OF THE CASE

A. Overview of the Case

Plaintiffs allege claims for failing to pay daily overtime/double time in excess of eight/twelve hours per work day, minimum wages, failing to authorize and permit meal and rest breaks and failure to provide a uniform maintenance allowance. These extensive alleged Labor Code violations also resulted in Defendant issuing inaccurate itemized wage statements to Class Members and failing to pay wages due upon termination of employment to Class Members who are former employees.

Plaintiffs contend that the foregoing also violated Cal. Bus. & Prof. Code §17200, et seq. Plaintiffs also alleged that Defendant was liable for PAGA penalties pursuant to California Labor Code §2699.

Defendant contends that they have complied with all overtime/double time, minimum wage, meal/rest period, uniform maintenance allowance, payment of wages on termination and wage statement requirements. Defendant vigorously disputes all material allegations and all claims for damages and other relief made by Plaintiffs in the First Amended Complaint ("FAC"), or otherwise asserted during the course of the litigation of this Action.

B. Plaintiffs' Counsel Conducted a Thorough Investigation of the Factual and Legal Issues.

1. Documents

As discussed in detail in Plaintiffs' Motion for Preliminary Approval, since filing their Class Action Complaint, the parties exchanged informal discovery, including, inter alia, (1) detailed examination and analysis of a random sampling of approximately 20% of the payroll and time records for the Class Members ; (2) review of relevant data regarding the size of the putative class; (3) detailed examination of data related to Defendant's PAGA exposure; and (4) research with respect to the applicable law and the potential defenses thereto. Lipeles Decl. ¶15. The extensive document and data exchanges have allowed Plaintiffs' Counsel to appreciate the strengths and weaknesses of the claims against Defendant and the benefits of the proposed Settlement. Id. at ¶¶ 23, 31.

2. Data

From information provided by Defendant and culled from interviews with Class Members, Class Counsel constructed a damages model based on the data obtained during the course of informal discovery to model Defendant's exposure and to serve as a basis for settlement discussions. Lipeles Decl., ¶¶ 11, 14, 20. Plaintiffs' damages model shows the following conclusions regarding Defendant's exposure, excluding interest and PAGA penalties:

ALLEGATION	LIABILITY RISK
Overtime/Double Time Claim	$139,340.00
Rest Break Claim	$454,980.00
Meal Break Claim (including meal break violations and interruptions)	$201,987.00
Failure to Issue Accurate Itemized Wage Statement Claim	$524,000.00
Failure to Pay Wages on Termination Claim	$408,902.00
Failure to Provide Uniform Maintenance Allowance Claim	$343,850.00
Total, excluding interest and PAGA penalties	$2,073,059.00

C. The Parties Attended Mediation

After the exchange of relevant information, the Parties agreed to enter into private mediation to attempt to resolve the claims in the action. On May 22, 2025, the Parties participated in a virtual mediation with mediator Gig Kyriacou, Esq. Lipeles Decl., ¶ 24. Kevin Lipeles, Esq., and Thomas Schelly, Esq. of Lipeles Law Group, APC, attended on behalf of Plaintiffs. Alfred J. Landegger, Evelyn Zarraga and James Bacon, Esq. of Landegger Davis, ALC, attended on behalf of Defendant. Id. Mediator Gig Kyriacou helped to manage the Parties' expectations and provided a useful, neutral analysis of the issues and risks to both sides. Plaintiffs also attended the mediation remotely.

Liability was hotly contested. Defendant adamantly contended that they maintained compliant overtime/double time, minimum wage, meal/rest period, uniform maintenance allowance, wage statement requirements and paid wages owed on termination. Lipeles Decl., ¶¶16-18.

After a full day of negotiations, the Parties were able to reach an agreement and ultimately arrived at this Settlement. At all times, the Parties' negotiations were adversarial and non-collusive. The Settlement therefore constitutes a fair, adequate, and reasonable compromise of the claims at issue. Lipeles Decl., ¶¶ 28, 31-32, 34.

III. SUMMARY OF THE PROPOSED SETTLEMENT

As part of this settlement, Defendant agreed to pay a GSA of $150,000.00 to the Class, from which will be deducted Class Counsel Litigation Fees Payment and Class Counsel Litigation Expenses Payment; the Class Representative Service Payments to Plaintiffs; Administration Expenses Payment; and a $12,000.00 allocation to penalties pursuant to PAGA (PAGA penalty to the LWDA in the amount of $9,000.00).[4] The Settlement provides for no reversion to Defendant of any settlement monies remaining after all Settlement Class Members are paid. The non-reversionary nature of the settlement underscores the non-collusiveness of the settlement as a whole and demonstrates that the results obtained are excellent for those who participated. Dearaujo v. Regis Corp., 2016 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 85689 at *34 (E.D. Cal. 2016).

Pursuant to the terms of the Settlement Agreement and based on the dates of employment, the Settlement Administrator has determined that one hundred sixty (160) Participating Class Members are eligible to receive an Individual Class Payment and one hundred thirty-four (134) Aggrieved Employees are eligible to receive an Individual PAGA Payment. Mitzner Decl., ¶¶ 14-

[4] The NSA is calculated as follows:

	Total Amount	Source
Gross Settlement Amount	$150,000.00	Settlement Agreement, at §3.1.
Class Counsel's Attorneys' Fees (33.33%)	$50,000.00	Settlement Agreement, at §3.2.2.
Actual Litigation Costs	$21,207.75	Settlement Agreement, at §3.2.2.
Settlement Administrator Costs	$7,000.00	Mitzner Decl. at ¶19.
Class Representative Service Payments	$2,500.00 each ($5,000.00 total)	Settlement Agreement, at §3.2.1.
PAGA Penalties	$12,000.00	Settlement Agreement, at §3.2.5.
Net Settlement Amount	$54,792.25	Settlement Agreement, §1.28.

The average estimated amount per class member is $342.45.[5] Any unused funds from the Settlement will revert to the NSA for distribution to Participating Class Members.[6]

Employees were not required to submit claim forms, but were automatically opted-in to receive an Individual Class Payment if they did not opt out.[7]

Defendant's employers' share of payroll taxes, which will be paid by Defendant in addition to the GSA, will be calculated by the Settlement Administrator.[8]

The Parties agreed that the NSA shall be divided between all Participating Class Members as follows:

To calculate Individual Settlement Payments, the Administrator, using the Class Data, will calculate the total workweeks for all Class Members. The Individual Class Payment for each Settlement Class Member who does not Opt Out and is deemed a Participating Class Member shall be calculated by (a) dividing the Net Settlement Amount by the total number of Workweeks worked by all Participating Class Members during the Class Period and (b) multiplying the result by each Participating Class Member's Workweeks.[9]

Because PAGA Employees cannot opt out of the PAGA claims, each PAGA Employee, whether or not a Participating Class Member, shall also receive his or her Individual PAGA Payment calculated a) dividing the amount of the Aggrieved Employees' 25% share of PAGA Penalties $3,000.00 by the total number of PAGA Period Pay Periods worked by all Aggrieved Employees during the PAGA Period and (b) multiplying the result by each Aggrieved Employee's PAGA Period Pay Periods.[10] If the Court approves PAGA Penalties of less than the amount requested, the Administrator will allocate the remainder to the Net Settlement Amount.[11]

[9] Settlement Agreement, § 3.2.4.

For tax purposes, Individual Settlement Payments shall be allocated and treated as follows: twenty percent (20%) of each Individual Settlement Payment will be allocated to settlement of wage claims and subject to withholdings and taxes, eighty percent (80%) will be allocated as non-wages, i.e., penalties and interest, and not subject to withholding. Each Individual PAGA Payment shall be treated as 100% penalties.[12]

IV. ADMINISTRATION OF THE SETTLEMENT AND THE CLASS RESPONSE

A. The Court Preliminarily Approved the Settlement Agreement

In its June 6, 2026 Order, the Court preliminarily approved the Settlement Agreement, including the amounts requested for attorneys' fees and costs, the Settlement Administrator's projected expenses, and the notice procedures to the Class Members, and ordered the mailing of the Court-approved Class Notice, describing the terms of the settlement and the rights of Class members to opt-out or object to the settlement, and to appear at the final approval hearing. The Court adopted the notice procedures specified in the Settlement Agreement and ordered they be implemented. The Court determined that the Settlement Agreement fell within the range of reasonableness of a settlement that could ultimately be given final approval by this Court and appeared to be fair and reasonable to all Class members.

B. Class Members Were Provided Proper Notice of the Settlement.

1. The Class Received the Best Practicable Notice and the Form of Notice Satisfied Due Process.

The Court-approved Class Notice and the notice process have adequately protected the due process rights of the absent Class Members. "The principal purpose of notice to the class is the protection of the integrity of the class action process …." Cho v. Seagate Technology Holdings, Inc. (2009) 177 Cal. App. 4th 734, 745. Class action rules require, inter alia, the class notice to contain an explanation of the case, the procedures for class members to follow in requesting exclusion from the class, and a statement that a member who does not request exclusion may enter an appearance through counsel. Cal. Rules of Court 3.766(d); see also In re Vitamin Cases, (2003)

[12] Settlement Agreement, § 3.2.4.1.

107 Cal. App. 4th 820, 828. Similarly, Rule 3.769(f) states:

> If the court has certified the action as a class action, notice of the final approval hearing must be given to the class members in the manner specified by the court. The notice must contain an explanation of the proposed settlement and procedures for class members to follow in filing written objections to it and in arranging to appear at the settlement hearing and state any objections to the proposed settlement.

To satisfy due process, notice to class members must be "the best practicable, 'reasonably calculated, under all the circumstances, to apprise interested parties of the pendency of the action and afford them an opportunity to present their objections."' Consumer Cause, Inc. v. Mrs. Gooch's Natural Food Markets, Inc. (2005) 127 Cal. App. 4th 387, 399, n. 9. "The standard is whether the notice has a reasonable chance of reaching a substantial percentage of the class members." Wershba v. Apple Computer, Inc., 91 Cal. App. 4th 224, 251 (2001). The Class Notice, mailed to Class Members, which was previously approved by the Court, fully satisfies these standards. Mitzner Decl. ¶¶ 2-5. The Class Notice, which was approved in the Preliminary Approval Order, explained the proposed settlement and procedures for Class Members to follow when filing written objections to the settlement, in arranging to appear at the fairness hearing, and in stating any objections to the settlement.

2. The Settlement Administrator Implemented the Court Approved Notice.

The procedures for disseminating notice to the Class Members established by the Court's Order granting preliminary approval have been fully and properly executed. Mitzner Decl. ¶¶ 2-5. On July 27, 2026, Defendant provided the Settlement Administrator, Phoenix Class Action Administration Solutions ("Phoenix"), with a list containing the names, last known addresses, weeks worked during the Settlement Class Period, for 160 Class Members. Id., ¶ 3.

In compliance with the Court's Order granting Preliminary Approval, on August 10, 2026, after updating all addresses through the National Change of Address ("NCOA") database maintained by the U.S. Postal Service, the Settlement Administrator sent the Court-approved Class Notice, by first class mail to 160 Class Members for whom Defendant had addresses available and whom Defendant identified from their employment records as having worked as a non-exempt hourly employee at any time between January 25, 2019 to July 22, 2025 (hereinafter the "Class Members").[13] Mitzner Decl. ¶¶ 4-5. The NCOA contains requested changes of address filed with the U.S. Postal Service. Id. ¶ 4. In the event that any Class Member had filed a U.S. Postal Service change of address request, the address listed with the NCOA was utilized in connection with the mailing of the Class Notice. Id.

Forty-seven (47) Class Notices were returned to Phoenix. Mitzner Decl*.,* ¶ 6. Phoenix performed a skip trace using the services of a professional address search firm. Id. Through this skip trace procedure, Phoenix was able to locate forty-seven (47) updated addresses, and promptly mailed a Class Notice to those updated addresses. Id. Zero (0) Class Notices were undeliverable by the post office. Id. at ¶ 7.

No claim forms needed to be submitted by current or former employees who were mailed the Class Notice, because under the Settlement Agreement, all employees are automatically opted in, unless they request exclusion. Lipeles Decl., ¶ 28.

The Settlement Administrator used the information it received from Defendant regarding each Class Member's "Workweeks" during the Class Period to calculate each Class member's estimated settlement share. Mitzner Decl., ¶ 2. Each individual Class Member's Class Notice showed the data used to calculate that Class Member's estimated share. Id. at ¶ 5, Ex. A (Class Notice). Class Members had an opportunity to review and dispute the data used to calculate their estimated settlement share, and provide documentation to support those corrections. Id. ¶¶ 2, 5, Ex. A. Zero (0) Class Members contacted Phoenix to dispute the number of Workweeks worked stated in their Class Notice. Id. at ¶ 10.

The one hundred sixty (160) Settlement Class Members for whom Phoenix had valid mailing addresses account for 100% of the total Workweeks among the Class. Mitzner Decl. ¶ 11. Thus, if the Settlement is given final approval, the total $54,792.25 sum of the NSA will be distributed to the Class Members with valid mailing addresses, with no reversion to the Defendant.

[13] The time period from January 25, 2019 to July 22, 2025 is defined in the Settlement Agreement as, and is referred to hereinafter as the "Class Period." Settlement Agreement, §1.12. These dates for the Class Period were used by the Court to define the putative Class conditionally certified by the Court in its preliminary approval order dated June 6, 2026.

Lipeles Decl., ¶ 32. The average estimated Individual Class Payment per Settlement Class Member is $342.45, the maximum Individual Class Payment to be paid is $1,756.45 for Settlement Class Members who worked for the duration of the Class period, and the lowest Individual Class Payment is $7.60. Mitzner Decl., ¶ 14.[14]

Here, mailing the Class Notice via direct mail given in this action clearly satisfies the due process requirements of notice. The notice was reasonably calculated under all the circumstances, to apprise interested parties of the pendency of the action and afford them the opportunity to present their objections.

3. The Class Accepted the Settlement Without Objection.

There were no requests for exclusion and no objections to the settlement. Lipeles Decl., ¶ 37; Mitzner Decl., ¶¶ 8-9. This response speaks to the fairness, reasonableness and adequacy of the Settlement Agreement.

The Court should thus find that the notice was adequate, proceed to determine the fairness and adequacy of the Settlement Agreement, and order final approval, with the knowledge that absent Class members have been given the opportunity to participate fully in the claims, exclusion, and the approval process.

C. The Court Should Confirm Its Conditional Certification of the Settlement Class for Settlement Purposes Because the Class Meets All of the Requirements for Class Certification Under CCP § 382.

C.C.P. § 382 sets forth the class certification criteria:

> [W]hen the question is one of a common or general interest, of many persons, or when the parties are numerous, and it is impracticable to bring them all before the court, one or more may sue or defend for the benefit of all.

Under Code of Civil Procedure § 382, a class may be certified if: (1) it is ascertainable and its members are too numerous for joinder to be practical; (2) the representatives and absent class members share a community of interest and questions of law and fact common to the class predominate over questions unique to individual class members; (3) the representatives' claims are typical of the class' claims; and (4) the representatives will fairly and adequately represent the class' interests. See Richmond v. Dart Industries, Inc. (1981) 29 Cal.3d 462, 470.

Here, this Court found that the Settlement Class meets all the requirements for class certification for settlement purposes when it granted preliminary approval of the Settlement on June 6, 2026. The Parties request that the Court certify the Settlement Class, conditionally, only for purposes of the settlement.

1. The Proposed Class Is Ascertainable.

"The 'ascertainability' inquiry requires an examination of factors such as the class definition, the size of the class, the means of identifying class members, and the geographic dispersion of the class in order to determine whether the class is numerous and whether it is impractical to bring all the class members before the court." Richmond, 29 Cal. 3d at 478.

The proposed Settlement Class consists of all current and former individuals who were employed by Defendant Bel Aire Hospitality LLC dba Motel 6 Stanton in California at any time between January 25, 2019 through July 22, 2025. Here, the proposed Settlement Class is ascertainable, as they have been identified through Defendant's employment records. See Lipeles Decl. ¶14. See Rose v. City of Hayward (1981) 126 Cal. App. 3d 926, 932 ("Class Members are 'ascertainable' where they may be readily identified without unreasonable expense or time by reference to official records.").

2. The Proposed Class Is Sufficiently Numerous.

The numerosity requirement is met if the class is so large that joinder of all members would be impracticable. See Gay v. Waiters' & Dairy Lunchmen's Union, 549 F.2d 1330 (9th Cir. 1977). Here, Defendant's personnel records show that the proposed Settlement Class has approximately 160 members. Lipeles Decl., ¶ 32. Due to the size of this Settlement Class, joinder of all Settlement Class Members would be impracticable, and a class-wide proceeding is preferable. Hebbard v. Colgrove, (1972) 28 Cal. App. 3d 1017, 1030 (noting that there is no set minimum to meet the numerosity prerequisite, but that a class with as few as 28 members is acceptable).

3. The Commonality Requirement Is Satisfied for Class Certification for Purposes of Settlement.

The predominance of common issues criteria is a significant issue, in connection with contested motions for class certification because of the implications of trial management when such issues do not predominate. In a settlement context, that factor is eliminated.

The commonality requirement requires that there be questions of law or fact common to the class. See Brown v. The Regents of the Univ. of California (1984) 151 Cal. App. 3d 982, 989; Caro v. Proctor & Gamble Co. (1993) 18 Cal. App. 4th 644, 667-668. Here, all class members were subject to the common policies or practices regarding overtime/double time, meal/rest breaks, uniform maintenance allowance, payment of wages on termination and the issuance of wage statements. The main individualized differences between Settlement Class Members relate to the amount of compensation each Settlement Class Member would be entitled to receive. However, it is well-settled that mere differences as to the amount of damages among Settlement Class Members is not sufficient to prevent certification. Acree v. Gen. Motors Acceptance Corp. (2001) 92 Cal. App. 4th 385, 387 ("A class action may be maintained even if each class member must at some point individually show his or her eligibility for recovery or the amount of his or her damages ...). The Settlement Agreement offers an approach that satisfies commonality by reducing each and every Settlement Class Member's claim to one factor: the Workweeks/PAGA Pay Periods worked during the Settlement Class Period or PAGA Period.

4. The Typicality Requirement Is Met.

The typicality requirement requires that the claims of the class representatives be "typical of the claims or defenses of the class." See Classen v. Weller (1983) 145 Cal. App. 3d 27, 45; Caro, 18 Cal. App. 4th at 664. The typicality requirement does not focus on the individual characteristics or circumstances of the representative plaintiff compared to those of the remainder of the class, but rather upon the typicality of the proposed representative's claims as they relate to the defendant's conduct and activities. Classen, 145 Cal. App. 3d at 47. Typicality exists when the representative plaintiff's and the proposed class members challenge the same course of conduct. California Rural Legal Assistance, Inc. v. Legal Serv. Corp., 917 F.2d 1171, 1175 (9th Cir. 1990).

Here, typicality exists because the same course of conduct gave rise to the Class Representatives' and proposed Settlement Class members' claims, and the Class Representatives are similarly situated to the members of the proposed Settlement Class. See Declaration of Gregory Edgar Spencer ("Spencer Decl.") ¶ 5; Declaration of Jennifer Lynn Woodruff ("Woodruff Decl.") ¶ 5.

5. The Adequacy Requirement Is Satisfied.

The representative parties must fairly and adequately protect the interests of the class. See City of San Jose v. Super. Ct. (1974) 12 Cal. 3d 447, 463. The adequacy of representation requirement is met by fulfilling two conditions: first, a named plaintiff must be represented by counsel qualified to conduct the pending litigation; second, a named plaintiff's interests cannot be antagonistic to those of the class. McGhee v. Crocker-Citizens Nat. Bank (1976) 60 Cal. App. 3d 442, 451. Plaintiffs here meet both of these requirements. First, Plaintiffs' interests are co-extensive with those of the proposed Settlement Class since Plaintiffs seek relief identical to that sought by every other Settlement Class Member. See Spencer Decl. ¶ 5; Woodruff Decl. ¶ 5. Second, Plaintiffs have retained Class Counsel experienced in similar litigation and who have extensive class action litigation experience. Lipeles Decl. ¶¶ 4-10. Plaintiffs' Counsel has been appointed class counsel in a wide variety of wage and hour class action suits, including in cases similar to the instant case.

Accordingly, this Court should confirm the conditional granting of class certification for settlement purposes only.

V. THE SETTLEMENT MEETS THE CRITERIA FOR APPROVAL OF A CLASS ACTION SETTLEMENT SINCE IT IS FAIR, REASONABLE AND ADEQUATE.

A. The Settlement Is Presumed To Be Fair Based on the Process That Produced the Settlement and the Absence of Objections.

Settlement of a class action requires court approval. Cal. Civ. Code § 1781(f); Cal. Rules of Court Rule 3.769(g). California courts favor settlement. Stambaugh v. Superior Court (1976) 62 Cal. App. 3d 231, 236; Potter v. Pac. Coast Lumber Co. of Cal. (1951) 37 Cal. 2d 592, 602 ("The law wisely favors settlements ...") (citation and internal quotation marks omitted). Accordingly, the court must give "[due] regard to what is otherwise a private consensual agreement between the parties." Wershba, 91 Cal. App. 4th 224 at 245.

"[T]he trial court has broad powers to determine whether a proposed settlement in a class action is fair." Mallick v. Super. Ct., (1979) 89 Cal. App. 3d 434, 438. As a threshold matter, fairness is presumed when: (1) the settlement is reached through arm's-length bargaining, (2) investigation and discovery are sufficient to allow counsel and the court to act intelligently, (3) counsel is experienced in similar litigation, and (4) the percentage of objectors is low. Dunk v. Ford Motor Co. (1996) 48 Cal. App. 4th 1794, 1802.[15] "Where the settlement terms are fair and reasonable, the settlement is presumptively valid, subject only to objections that may be raised at a final hearing." Conte & Newberg, Newberg on Class Actions § 11.26 (4th ed. 2002). By granting preliminary approval, this Court has already determined that the Settlement is fair and reasonable.

The settlement in the case at bar carries a presumption of fairness. First, the settlement was negotiated at arms' length, and with the assistance an experienced mediator. Lipeles Decl. ¶ 24. Second, Class Counsel engaged in very extensive factual investigation, including informal discovery before settling, and obtained the following documents: a list of all putative class members (160), Plaintiffs' payroll and timekeeping records, Class lists showing rates of pay, employee statements, estimated number of Class workweeks and PAGA Pay Periods, and a random sampling of approximately 20% of the payroll and time records for the Class Members, among other information. The production of this data led to the creation of detailed damages and recovery models. The above data and documents informed the settlement negotiations. Id., ¶¶ 11, 14-15. Third, Class Counsel has significant experience in class actions and employment wage and hour matters. Id. ¶¶ 4-10. Class Counsel negotiated the proposed Settlement with ample knowledge as to the strengths and weaknesses of this case, the amounts necessary to compensate Class [15] In Kullar v. Foot Locker Retail, Inc. (2008) 168 Cal. App. 4th 116, the Court of Appeal emphasized that this is only an initial presumption; a trial court's approval of a class action settlement will be vacated if the court "is not provided with basic information about the nature and magnitude of the claims in question and the basis for concluding that the consideration being paid for the release of those claims represents a reasonable compromise." See Munoz v. BCI Coca-Cola Bottling Company of Los Angeles (2010 186 Cal. App. 4th 399, 408 (quoting Kullar, 168 Cal. App. 4th at 130). Munoz clearly held, however, that there is no obligation on parties seeking approval of a class action settlement to state a specific sum that would represent the maximum possible recovery if the class prevailed on all theories. Id. Rather, the Court must simply have, "an understanding of the amount that is in controversy and the realistic range of outcomes of the litigation." Munoz, 186 Cal. App. 4th at 409.

members for their damages, and the benefits of the proposed Settlement under the circumstances of this case. Lastly, not a single Class member has objected to the Settlement. Mitzner Decl. ¶ 9. Class Counsel has adequately analyzed the strengths of the case for Plaintiffs on the merits, balanced against the amount offered in settlement and the presumption of fairness applies. Lipeles Decl., ¶ 23. Thus, final approval is warranted.

B. Each of the Relevant California Criteria Support Final Approval of the Settlement.

Rule 3.769(f)-(h) of the California Rules of Court authorizes the Court to conduct an inquiry into the fairness of a class action settlement and finally approve such settlements. The court must determine whether the settlement is fair, adequate, and reasonable. Dunk., 48 Cal. App. 4th at 1801. The trial court has broad discretion to determine whether the settlement is fair. Rebney v. Wells Fargo Bank, (1990) 220 Cal. App. 3d 1117, 1138.

A settlement is fair, adequate and reasonable, and therefore merits final approval, when the "interests of the class are better served by the settlement, particularly in class actions and other complex cases where substantial resources can be conserved by avoiding the time, cost and rigors of formal litigation." Lealao v. Beneficial Cal, Inc. (2000) 82 Cal. App. 4th 19, 53.

The Court should grant final approval of the Settlement in this case, based on the following factors which evidence the fairness, reasonableness, and adequacy of the Settlement: (1) the value of the settlement; (2) the risks inherent in continued litigation; (3) the extent of discovery completed and the stage of the proceedings when settlement was reached; (4) the complexity, expense, and likely duration of the litigation in the absence of settlement; (5) the experience and views of class counsel; and (6) the reaction of the class members. See Wershba, 91 Cal. App. 4th at 244-45; Dunk, 48 Cal. App. 4th at 1801. The list of factors is not exhaustive and should be tailored to each case. The inquiry "must be limited to the extent necessary to reach a reasoned judgment that the agreement is not the product of fraud or overreaching by, or collusion between, the negotiating parties, and that the settlement, taken as a whole, is fair, reasonable and adequate to all concerned." Id.

Each of the relevant factors supports final approval of the class action settlement before this Court.

1. The Value of the Settlement Favors Final Approval.

The $150,000 GSA provides a significant monetary recovery to the Class warranting final approval. Class Counsel has provided the Court with sufficient information regarding the amount in controversy and potential outcomes of the case, including a detailed description of Plaintiffs' claims and Defendant's defenses and potential exposure, in the papers offered in support of this Motion as well as Plaintiffs' preliminary approval papers. Accordingly, the Court has the information it needs in order to evaluate the sufficiency of the Settlement. Plaintiffs estimated Defendant's potential liability to be $2,073,059.00, excluding interest and PAGA penalties, for all claims. Plaintiffs carefully vetted the claims at issue and reviewed extensive documents relating to overtime/double time, minimum wage, meal/rest break data and uniform maintenance allowance for the Settlement Class and conducted a detailed statistical analysis of the data to arrive at their estimated damages figures. Plaintiffs' Counsel negotiated the Settlement amount after conducting thorough discovery and independent investigation of the class claims. Lipeles Decl. ¶¶ 11, 14, 31. Plaintiffs' counsel acted efficiently in achieving a Settlement that is 7.2% of the reasonable value of the exposure. "It is well-settled law that a cash settlement amounting to only a fraction of the potential recovery will not per se render the settlement inadequate or unfair." Officers for Justice v. Civil Serv. Comm'n of the City and County of San Francisco, 688 F.2d 615, 628 (9th Cir. 1982); see also In re Omnivision Techs., Inc., 559 F. Supp. 2d 1036, 1042 (N.D. Cal. 2008) (approving settlement in which the class received payments totaling 6% of potential damages); Rebney, 220 Cal. App. 3d. at 1139 (a settlement need not obtain 100 percent of the damages sought in order to be fair and reasonable). Accordingly, considering the risks of potential recovery, the amount offered in settlement weighs heavily in favor of final approval.

The estimated potential liability includes penalties, other than PAGA penalties, derivative of the underlying violations alleged. The value of these penalties - which are derivative, discretionary, and subject to defenses of their own - could be substantial, but their recovery carried substantial risk.

Plaintiffs' Counsel, therefore, had to discount the value of the claims by Defendant's defenses, the chances of certification being denied, the chances of losing at trial, and the chances of winning at trial but being reversed on appeal. Here, while Plaintiffs maintain that the requirements of class certification are met, Defendant proffers various arguments why class treatment is not appropriate, including but not limited to, the fact that individualized inquires among class members predominate over common ones. The prospect of certifying a wage and hour action is always uncertain, and the risk of being denied class certification militates in favor of settlement. Consequently, the potential for a finding of liability for Plaintiffs' claims was far from certain and thus Defendant's overall liability had to be discounted.

The NSA is approximately $54,792.25, which shall be available for distribution to Class Members in its entirety since the proposed Settlement is non-reversionary and unclaimed amounts will be reallocated to Participating Class Members. Lipeles Decl., ¶ 37. The average estimated amount per Class Member is $342.45. Id. at ¶ 32.

Moreover, the State of California will receive $9,000.00, a sizable payment to use for education and enforcement of the State's labor laws. Mitzner Decl., ¶ 15. The remaining portion of the PAGA settlement amount, $3,000.00, will be part of the NSA distributed to Participating Class Members. Id. The monetary recoveries for both the Class and the State of California justify the final approval of the Settlement.

Because the settlement provides immediate and substantial relief, without the attendant risks and delay of continued litigation, Class Counsel believes that the settlement merits the Court's final approval.

2. The Settlement Is Reasonable Given the Strength of Plaintiffs' Claims and the Substantial Risks, Expense and Complexity of Further Litigation.

Of the many factors that courts consider in deciding whether to approve a class action settlement, "[t]he most important factor is the strength of the case for plaintiffs on the merits, balanced against the amount offered in settlement." Kullar, 168 Cal. App. 4th 116 at 130; see also Munoz, 186 Cal. App. 4th at 407-8.

Plaintiffs were cautiously optimistic about the chances of certifying the putative Class and of prevailing at trial. Nevertheless, Plaintiffs recognize that if the litigation had continued, they may have encountered significant legal and factual hurdles that could have prevented the Class from obtaining any recovery. Of particular relevance to the proposed Settlement's reasonableness is the fact that Defendant has legal and factual grounds for defending this action. See infra, V.B.1. Defendant consistently asserted that, throughout the relevant time period, it adhered to the legal requirements for affording overtime/double time, minimum wage, meal/rest breaks, and a maintenance allowance for uniforms to its employees and complied with California's labor laws at all times. Defendant also contended that a class action could not be properly maintained because Plaintiffs could not satisfy the criteria to certify a class under C.C.P. §382.

The complexity of the case also weighs in favor of the fairness of the Settlement, as it entails uncertain overtime/double time, minimum wage, meal/rest break, and uniform maintenance allowance claims and penalties derived therefrom, which are subject to reduction at the Court's discretion and are not subject to stacking under Labor Code § 2699(h)(3)(i), as amended.[16] For example, Defendant adamantly contended that they maintained compliant overtime/double time, minimum wage, meal/rest break and uniform maintenance allowance practices. If successful, Defendant's defenses could eliminate or substantially reduce any recovery to the Class. While Plaintiffs believe that these defenses could be overcome, Defendant maintains these defenses have merit and therefore present a serious risk to recovery. Thus, there was significant risk that, if the Action was not settled, Plaintiffs would be unable to obtain class certification and thereby not recover on behalf of any other employees.

[16] While the old PAGA statute applies to this case, under Labor Code §2699(h)(3)(i) as amended, stacking is prohibited. Even prior to the amendment of Labor Code §2699(h)(3)(i), courts generally did not allow penalties to be stacked. Plaintiff's Counsel is not aware of any published California appellate court decisions that have held that plaintiffs may "stack" PAGA penalties, and many federal courts have not allowed stacking. See, e.g., Hamilton v. Juul Labs, 20-cv-03710-EMC, at *14 (N.D. Cal. Nov. 16, 2021); see also Snow v. United Parcel Services, Inc., 2020 WL 1638250, *3 (C.D. Cal April 1, 2020) ("[P]laintiffs may only recover a set of civil penalties for each type of violation."); Smith v. Lux Retail North America, 2013 WL 2932243, *4 (N.D. Cal. June 13, 2013) ("Another necessary but equally flawed assumption undergirding the Luxottica calculation is the stacking of penalties . . no actual holding in any judicial decision has ever blessed such stacking."); Salazar v. PODS Enterprise, LLC, 2019 WL 2023726, *6 (C.D. Cal. May 8, 2019) ("[I]t is possible (although highly unlikely) that plaintiff could recover PAGA penalties for each separate type of Labor Code violation.").

In addition to these formidable risks, Plaintiffs would also have to prove various issues regarding damages. Moreover, an appeal would likely follow even if the Class were successful at trial, and any recovery would only be attained through litigation many years after Class Members suffered the violations alleged. Since the Settlement instead provides for prompt and substantial relief without the attendant risks and delay of continued litigation, it warrants this Court's final approval.

3. Sufficient Discovery and Investigation Has Been Completed

The stage of the proceedings and the amount of discovery completed is an important factor which the Courts consider in determining the fairness, reasonableness, and adequacy of a settlement. Boyd v. Bechtel Corp., 485 F. Supp. 610, 616-17 (N.D. Cal. 1979). Plaintiffs' counsel conducted meaningful informal discovery. The litigation reached a stage where "the parties certainly ha[d] a clear view of the strengths and weaknesses of their cases." Id. at 616-17.

Plaintiffs' Counsel and the Class Representatives have litigated this matter for over 3 and one half years. The parties engaged in substantial informal discovery prior to resolving the action including, but not limited to, analysis of data produced by Defendant, conferences between Class Counsel and Defendant's counsel and a formal mediation as part of the settlement process. The parties had a full day virtual mediation on May 22, 2025, with Gig Kyriacou, Esq. Lipeles Decl., ¶24. The fact that the settlement was negotiated with the assistance of a mediator supports approval. Alberto v. GMRI, Inc., 252 F.R.D. 652, 666 (E.D .Cal. Jun 24, 2008); Glass v. UBS Fin. Servs., 2007 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 8476 (N.D. Cal. 2007) ("The settlement was negotiated and approved by experienced counsel on both sides of the litigation, with the assistance of a well-respected mediator with substantial experience in employment litigation…this factor supports approval of the settlement."). The parties were able to reach an agreement at the May 22, 2025, mediation which culminated in this Settlement. Lipeles Decl., ¶ 25.

4. Class Counsel Is Experienced and Endorses the Settlement.

The settlement negotiations were conducted by highly capable and experienced counsel. The case was vigorously prosecuted by Kevin Lipeles and Thomas Schelly. Defendant has been represented by Alfred J. Landegger, Evelyn Zarraga[17] and James Bacon, Esq. of Landegger Davis, ALC, a renowned defense firm with a significant wage and hour defense practice. Thus, the firms representing the Parties in this case have extensive experience in similar wage and hour actions. See, for example, Lipeles Decl. ¶¶ 4-10. As such, Class Counsel is experienced, knowledgeable and qualified to evaluate the Class claims and viability of the defenses Id.

The endorsement of qualified and well-informed counsel of a settlement as fair, reasonable, and adequate is entitled to significant weight by the Court in its final approval determination. See Dunk, 48 Cal. App. 4th at 1802; Boyd, 485 F. Supp. at 622 (recommendations of plaintiff's counsel should be given a presumption of reasonableness). The recovery for each Class Member is substantial, given the risks inherent in litigation and the defenses asserted. Similarly, counsel for Defendant is also in favor of this settlement. Class Counsel supports the settlement as fair, reasonable and adequate, and in the best interest of the Class Members as a whole. Lipeles Decl., ¶¶ 28, 31-32, 34.

5. The Absence of Any Objections Confirms That the Settlement Is Fair, Adequate, and Reasonable.

The response of class members to a settlement is relevant in evaluating whether it merits final approval. Dunk, 48 Cal. App. 4th at 1801. Notably, the absence of objections and requests for exclusion supports the reasonableness of the Settlement. See 7-Eleven Owners for Fair Franchising v. Southland Corp. (2000) 85 Cal. App. 4th 1135, 1152-53 (finding that 9 objections and 80 opt-outs, from a class of 5,454, showed a "particularly impressive" favorable response from class members supporting final approval); Wershba, 91 Cal. App. 4th 250-51 (final approval granted despite 20 objectors).

Here, no Settlement Class member has opted-out of the Settlement. Mitzner Decl., ¶ 8. Importantly, after direct mail notice was provided to 160 Class Members of the estimated amount that each Class Member would receive, not a single member of the Settlement Class filed an objection to the Settlement. Id. at ¶ 9. Thus, the overwhelmingly positive response of the Settlement Class confirms that the Class Members themselves view the Settlement as fair, adequate, and reasonable and it therefore merits final approval.
