MEMORANDUM OF POINTS AND AUTHORITIES

I. INTRODUCTION

Plaintiffs Leonardo Soto and Mariela Valdez ("Plaintiffs") seek preliminary approval of a proposed $700,000.00 non-reversionary, wage-and-hour class action settlement with Defendant Hyponex Corporation ("Defendant") (together with Plaintiffs, the "Parties") pursuant to the Class and PAGA Action Settlement Agreement (the "Settlement Agreement" or "Settlement"). The Settlement will provide substantial monetary payments to an estimated 285 Class Members who worked an estimated aggregate of 25,826 Workweeks. As set forth more fully below, the proposed Settlement satisfies all the criteria for settlement approval under California law. The Settlement was reached after extensive investigation, formal and informal discovery, and negotiations between the Parties. The negotiations were at arm's-length and were facilitated through private mediation by an experienced and neutral class action mediator, Lisa Klerman, Esq. Accordingly, Plaintiffs request the Court preliminarily approve the Settlement, certify the proposed Class, approve the proposed Class Notice to Class Members, and set a final approval hearing no earlier than 130 days from the date of preliminary approval.

II. SUMMARY OF THE LITIGATION AND SETTLEMENT

A. Plaintiffs' Claims and Procedural History

This is a wage-and-hour class action and representative action for alleged Labor Code violations and claims for civil penalties pursuant to the California Private Attorneys General Act, Labor Code sections 2698, et seq. ("PAGA"). (Declaration of Kane Moon in Support of Plaintiffs' Motion for Preliminary Approval of Class and PAGA Action Settlement ["Moon Decl."], ¶ 2.) Plaintiffs seek to represent a class of all current and former non-exempt, hourly-paid employees who were employed by Defendant and worked for Defendant in California at any time during the period from April 6, 2019, to March 1, 2026. (Id.)

Defendant Hyponex Corporation specializes in lawn and garden care products and is a brand and wholly owned subsidiary of The Scotts Miracle-Gro Company. (Id. at ¶ 3.) Defendant employed Plaintiffs and other non-exempt, hourly-paid employees in California during the relevant period. (Declaration of Mariela Valdez in Support of Plaintiffs' Motion for Preliminary Approval of Class Action Settlement ["Valdez Decl."], ¶ 2; Declaration of Leonardo Soto in Support of Plaintiffs' Motion for Preliminary Approval of Class and PAGA Action Settlement ["Soto Decl."], ¶ 2.) Throughout their employment, Plaintiffs were classified as non-exempt and were subjected to the same alleged unlawful labor practices as their coworkers, including the failure to pay wages for all hours worked. (Moon Decl., ¶ 3.)

Plaintiffs' claim for unpaid minimum and overtime wages stems from allegations that Defendant failed to compensate Plaintiffs and other Class Members for off-the-clock work, including time spent changing into and out of uniforms before clocking in and after clocking out and time spent filling out timecards through a timekeeping application, and that Defendant failed to incorporate all non-discretionary bonuses and other remuneration into employees' regular rate of pay for purposes of paying overtime, meal period premiums, and sick pay. (Id. at ¶ 4.) Plaintiffs' meal and rest period claims are based on allegations that, due to the nature of their work, Class Members' breaks were often short, late, interrupted, and sometimes missed altogether, and that Defendant did not pay all premium wages for non-compliant breaks. (Id.) Plaintiffs further bring a claim for unreimbursed necessary business expenses based on allegations that Class Members were required to use their personal cellphones to clock in and out through a time tracking application without reimbursement from Defendant. (Id.) Finally, Plaintiffs also bring derivative claims for waiting time penalties, wage statement violations, unfair business practices, and civil penalties under PAGA. (Id.)

Because of the foregoing alleged violations of various provisions of the Labor Code, Plaintiff Soto filed a class action on April 6, 2023, which alleges Defendant systematically: (1) failed to pay minimum wages, (2) failed to pay overtime compensation, (3) failed to provide meal periods, (4) failed to authorize and permit rest periods, (5) failed to indemnify necessary business expenses, (6) failed to timely pay final wages at termination, (7) failed to provide accurate itemized wage statements, and (8) engaged in unfair business practices. (Id. at ¶ 5.) On June 8, 2023, Plaintiff Soto filed a First Amended Class Action and Representative Action Complaint adding a ninth cause of action for civil penalties under PAGA. (Id.)

Pursuant to PAGA, on April 4, 2023, Plaintiff Soto gave written notice by online submission to the California Labor and Workforce Development Agency (the "LWDA") of the alleged Labor Code violations, with certified mail service on Defendant, and paid the required filing fee. (Id. at ¶ 6, Ex. 2.)

On January 11, 2024, Plaintiff Valdez filed a class action against Defendant in the Riverside County Superior Court, Case No. CVRI2400157, and on March 19, 2024, Plaintiff Valdez filed a PAGA representative action against Defendant in the Riverside County Superior Court, Case No. CVRI2401506 (collectively, the "Valdez Actions"). (Id. at ¶ 7.) In connection with the Valdez Actions, Plaintiff Valdez gave written notice to the LWDA and Defendant of the alleged Labor Code violations. (Id.; Declaration of James Hawkins in Support of Plaintiffs' Motion for Preliminary Approval of Class and PAGA Action ["Hawkins Decl."], ¶ 2, Ex 1.)

More than 65 days elapsed after Plaintiffs provided their respective PAGA notices, and the LWDA did not indicate its intent to investigate the alleged violations or intervene in this action. (Moon Decl., ¶ 8.) On April 30, 2026, pursuant to the Settlement, Plaintiffs filed a Second Amended Class Action and Representative Action Complaint, which added Plaintiff Valdez as an additional named plaintiff and proposed Class Representative and incorporated the claims alleged in the Valdez Actions into this action for purposes of settlement and Court approval (the "Operative Complaint"). (Id.)

Defendant denies Plaintiffs' factual allegations and the merits of this case. (Id. at ¶ 9.) Defendant asserts it complied with all of its compensation obligations, including compensating Class Members for any and all off-the-clock work and overtime work, and therefore, Plaintiffs and other Class Members were paid all wages owed. (Id.) Defendant argues it did not fail to incorporate any non-discretionary bonuses or other remuneration into the regular rate of pay for purposes of paying overtime, meal period premiums, and sick pay, and that all bonuses were discretionary. (Id.) Defendant maintains compliance with all of its meal and rest period obligations and contends that Plaintiffs and other Class Members were provided the opportunity to take all meal and rest periods to which they were entitled or otherwise voluntarily waived breaks. (Id.) Defendant asserts it complied with all of its reimbursement obligations. With respect to the wage statement claim, Defendant asserts that employees suffered no actual injury or harm, and with respect to the waiting time penalty claim, Defendant asserts that any failure to pay all final wages at the time of separation was not willful. (Id.) For these reasons, among others, Defendant denies all of Plaintiffs' claims and allegations, denies that it engaged in any unfair business practices, and denies liability under PAGA. (Id.) Defendant also maintains the claims are improper for class treatment, in part, due to the individualized and testimony-intensive nature of the wage claims that could bar class certification or significantly reduce Defendant's overall liability. (Id.)

B. Discovery and Investigation

The Parties agreed to mediate this action with Lisa Klerman, Esq., a professional, neutral mediator. (Id. at ¶ 10.) In preparation for mediation, the parties engaged in both formal and informal discovery. (Id.) On August 22, 2023, Plaintiff Soto served Defendant with a set of Requests for Production of Documents and a set of Special Interrogatories, and Defendant served its responses on October 13, 2023. (Id.) The parties thereafter met and conferred regarding Defendant's discovery responses and agreed to use the Belaire-West notice process and data sampling. (Id.) Through this process, Plaintiffs obtained from Defendant documents and data that were necessary and helpful to evaluate the claims asserted in this action, including a class list, a sample of time and payroll records, Defendant's policy documents, and information regarding the estimated number of current and former Class Members, Workweeks, Aggrieved Employees, and PAGA Pay Periods. (Id.)

In preparation for mediation, Plaintiffs' Counsel reviewed and analyzed all of the information and documents Defendant produced, including the sample time and pay records and documents regarding Defendant's wage-and-hour policies. (Id. at ¶ 11.) Plaintiffs' Counsel retained a statistics expert, Berger Consulting Group, to analyze the sample records and prepare a damage analysis prior to mediation. (Id.) The time and pay records analyzed contained 119,938 shifts worked and covered 228 of the approximately 285 Class Members (approximately 80% of the putative class), which allowed Plaintiffs' expert to prepare an analysis with a high degree of certainty. (Id.) In conjunction with their extensive factual investigation, Plaintiffs' Counsel also investigated the applicable law regarding the claims and defenses asserted in the litigation. (Id.) Accordingly, Plaintiffs' Counsel were able to evaluate the probability of class certification, success on the merits, and Defendant's maximum and realistic monetary exposure for all claims. (Id.) Thus, Plaintiffs' and their Counsel's familiarity with the facts of the case and the legal issues raised by the pleadings allowed them to act intelligently in negotiating the Settlement. (Id.)

C. Settlement Negotiations and Notice of Settlement to the LWDA

On June 6, 2025, the Parties participated in mediation with Lisa Klerman, Esq., an experienced and neutral class and PAGA action mediator. (Id. at ¶ 13.) The negotiations were at arm's length and, although conducted in a professional manner, were adversarial. (Id.) The parties went into the mediation willing to explore the potential for a settlement of the dispute, but each side was also prepared to litigate their position through trial and appeal if a settlement had not been reached. (Id.) The Parties subsequently reached a global resolution of the Actions, as memorialized in the Settlement. (Id., Ex. 1.)

In compliance with Labor Code section 2699, notice of settlement and a copy of the proposed Settlement has been submitted to the LWDA along with a copy of Plaintiffs' preliminary approval motion. (Id. at ¶ 14, Ex. 3.) To date, the LWDA has not indicated any objection to the Settlement. (Id. at ¶ 14.)

D. Key Terms of the Proposed Settlement

Under the Settlement, Defendant will pay a non-reversionary amount of $700,000.00 ("GSA") to resolve this action. (Settlement, ¶ 3.1.) Defendant will separately pay its employer-share of payroll taxes owed on the Wage Portion of Individual Class Payments. (Id.) Other key terms of the Settlement are outlined in the counsel declaration submitted concurrently herewith. (Moon Decl., ¶¶ 15–25.) The proposed Administrator— Phoenix Class Action Administration Solutions —was jointly selected by the Parties based on its bid of $8,250.00. (Id. at ¶ 17, Ex. 5; Settlement, ¶¶ 1.2, 3.2.3.)

The Class is defined as all current and former non-exempt employees of Defendant who worked for Defendant in California at any time during the Class Period. (Settlement, ¶ 1.5.) The Class Period is the period from April 6, 2019, to March 1, 2026. (Id. at ¶ 1.12.) "Aggrieved Employee" means all current and former non-exempt employees of Defendant who worked for Defendant in California at any time during the PAGA Period. (Id. at ¶ 1.4.) The PAGA Period is April 6, 2022 to March 1, 2026. (Id. at ¶ 1.31.) The Settlement allocates $50,000.00 for PAGA Penalties, with $37,500.00, or 75%, allocated to the LWDA and $12,500.00, or 25%, allocated to Aggrieved Employees. (Id. at ¶ 3.2.5.) The Administrator will calculate each Individual PAGA Payment based on each Aggrieved Employee's PAGA Pay Periods during the PAGA Period. (Id. at ¶ 3.2.5.1.) As a result, the estimated average Individual PAGA Payment is $72.25 ($12,500 / 173 Aggrieved Employees).[1] (Moon Decl., ¶ 18.) The estimated average PAGA Pay Period value is $1.20 ($12,500 / 10,380 PAGA Pay Periods). (Id.)

After deducting the Class Representative Enhancement Awards, the Class Counsel Fees and Litigation Costs Payments, the PAGA Penalties, and the Administration Expenses Payment from the GSA, in the amounts specifically approved by the Court, any difference in the amounts requested and the amounts awarded will be allocated to the Net Settlement Amount for distribution to Participating Class Members. (Settlement, ¶ 1.27.) The Net Settlement Amount is estimated to be $343,416.67.[2] (Moon Decl., ¶ 19.) Each Individual Class Payment will be calculated by dividing the Net Settlement Amount by the total number of Workweeks worked by all Participating Class Members during the Class Period and multiplying that result by the number of Workweeks worked by each individual Participating Class Member. (Settlement, ¶ 3.2.5.) The estimated average Individual Class Payment is $1,204.97 ($343,416.67 Net Settlement Amount / 285 Class Members). (Moon Decl., ¶ 21.) The estimated average Workweek value is $13.30 ($343,416.67 Net Settlement Amount / 25,826 Workweeks). (Id.)

III. THE COURT SHOULD GRANT PRELIMINARY APPROVAL

The law favors the settlement of lawsuits, particularly in class actions and other complex cases. (See, e.g., Neary v. Regents of Univ. of Cal. (1992) 3 Cal.4th 272, 277–81.) To prevent fraud, collusion, or unfairness to the class, the settlement of a class action requires court approval. (Dunk v. Ford Motor Co. (1996) 48 Cal.App.4th 1794, 1800–01 [citing authority omitted].) To approve a settlement, the Court must find "the settlement is fair, adequate, and reasonable." (Id.) This Court has wide discretion

[1] At this time, the actual amounts to Class Members and/or Aggrieved Employees are unknown and will be calculated by the Administrator following preliminary approval and receipt and processing of the Class Data. (Moon Decl., ¶ 18, n.1.) The high and low range of payments will be provided to the Court in a motion for final approval. (Id.)

[2] The estimated Net Settlement Amount was calculated by deducting the following from the $700,000.00 Gross Settlement Amount: $15,000.00 for the Class Representative Enhancement Awards ($7,500.00 to each Plaintiff); $233,333.33 for the Class Counsel Fees Payment; $50,000.00 for the Class Counsel Litigation Costs Payment; $8,250.00 for the Administration Expenses Payment; and $50,000.00 for the PAGA Penalties.

in making this determination. (Mallick v. Super. Ct. (1979) 89 Cal.App.3d 434, 438.) Fairness, adequacy, and reasonableness are presumed, as here, when: "(1) the settlement is reached through arm's-length bargaining; (2) investigation and discovery are sufficient to allow counsel and the court to act intelligently; (3) counsel is experienced in similar litigation; and (4) the percentage of objectors is small." (Dunk, 48 Cal.App.4th at p. 1802 [citing Newberg, Newberg on Class Actions (3rd ed. 1992) § 11.41].)

In evaluating a settlement, the trial court considers the following factors: (1) the strength of plaintiff's case; (2) the risk, expense, complexity, and likely duration of further litigation; (3) the risk of maintaining class action status through trial; (4) the settlement amount offered; (5) the extent of discovery completed and the stage of the proceedings; (6) counsel's experience and views; (7) the presence of a governmental participant; and (8) the class members' reaction to the proposed settlement. (Kullar v. Foot Locker Retail, Inc. (2008) 168 Cal.App.4th 116, 128.) To approve a class action settlement, "the court must satisfy itself that the class settlement is within the 'ballpark' of reasonableness." (Id. at p. 133.) The record need not contain an explicit statement of the maximum theoretical recovery. (Munoz v. BCI Coca-Cola Bottling Co. of L.A. (2010) 186 Cal.App.4th 399, 408–09 [holding that Kullar does not require "an explicit statement of the maximum amount the plaintiff class could recover if it prevailed on all its claims," but instead, only an "understanding of the amount that is in controversy and the realistic range of outcomes of the litigation"].)

As discussed below, Plaintiffs' Counsel have provided materials and information exceeding the threshold required for this Court to conclude the Settlement is fair, reasonable, and adequate.

A. The Settlement Is Fair, Reasonable, Adequate, and the Product of Investigation, Litigation, and Negotiation

1. The Settlement Is the Product of Discovery, Investigation, Informed and Non-Collusive Arm's-Length Negotiations, and Realistic Claims Analysis

Courts presume the absence of fraud or collusion in the negotiation of a settlement, unless evidence to the contrary is offered. (Newberg, Newberg on Class Actions (3rd ed. 1992) § 11.51.) Settlement is favored, and settlement agreements are realistically assessed. (Stamburgh v. Super. Ct. (1976) 62 Cal.App.3d 231, 236; Priddy v. Edelman (6th Cir. 1989) 883 F.2d 438, 447 ["The fact that the plaintiff might have received more if the case had been fully litigated is no reason not to approve the settlement."].) Thus, there is a presumption here that negotiations were conducted in good faith.

Here, Plaintiffs' Counsel have conducted a thorough investigation into the facts of this case. (Moon Decl., ¶ 28.) The Settlement at issue was reached through arms'-length negotiations, private mediation, and the assistance of a statistics expert. (Id.) Based on Defendant's formal and informal discovery production, on Plaintiffs' Counsel's independent investigation and evaluation, and on counsel's extensive experience in wage-and-hour litigation, Plaintiffs' Counsel are of the opinion that the proposed Settlement is fair, reasonable, and adequate. (Id.)

Based on Plaintiffs' Counsel's review of the time, payroll, and additional data provided by Defendant, on Plaintiffs' expert's analysis of the sample records provided by Defendant, and on information from Plaintiffs, Plaintiffs' Counsel evaluated the estimated maximum and risk-adjusted exposure that Defendant faced. (Id. at ¶ 29.) Specifically, based on the information provided for mediation, the total estimated realistic recovery (adjusted for risks at certification and proof on the merits) for the alleged claims, including penalties, is estimated to be $844,834.60. (Moon Decl., ¶¶ 29, 36.) This amount was calculated as follows: $35,470.10 (90% discount) for the off-the-clock claim; $13,852.75 (75% discount) for the regular rate claim; $362,361.00 (50% discount) for the meal period claim; $293,098.70 (90% discount) for the rest period claim; $9,294.00 (90% discount) for the unreimbursed business expenses claim; $44,258.05 (95% discount) for the waiting time penalties claim; $34,600.00 (95% discount) for the wage statement claim; and $51,900.00 (95% discount) for the PAGA penalties claim. (Id. at ¶¶ 30–35.) The foregoing discounts were based on the evidence presented for mediation and arguments made during arm's-length settlement negotiations. (Id.)

The $700,000.00 gross settlement figure represents approximately 83% of the total realistic recovery. (Id. at ¶ 36.) This is an excellent result for the Class, particularly because, under the Settlement, Class Members will receive timely and guaranteed relief, avoiding the risk of not being able to recover anything. (Id.)

2. The Class Settlement Is Fair Considering the Parties' Respective Positions and Significant Risks to Certification and Proof on the Merits

A settlement is not judged against what a plaintiff might recover had he prevailed at trial, nor does the settlement have to provide 100% of the damages sought to be fair and reasonable. (Wershba v. Apple Comp., Inc. (2001) 91 Cal.App.4th 224, 246, 250 ["Compromise is inherent and necessary in the settlement process . . . even if 'the relief afforded by the proposed settlement is substantially narrower than it would be if the suits were to be successfully litigated,' this is no bar to a class settlement because 'the public interest may indeed be served by a voluntary settlement in which each side gives ground in the interest of avoiding litigation.'"] [quoting Air Line Stewards v. Am. Airlines, Inc. (7th Cir. 1972) 455 F.2d 101, 109].)

Here, considering all known facts and circumstances, the risk of significant delay, trial risk, appellate risk, and the defenses Defendant may assert both to certification and on the merits, the Settlement is in the best interest of the Class and LWDA. (Moon Decl., ¶ 28.) While Plaintiffs are confident in the merits of their claims, a legitimate controversy exists as to each cause of action. (Id. at ¶ 38.) Plaintiffs also recognize that proving the amount owed to each Class Member would be an expensive, time-consuming, and uncertain proposition. (Id.)

The Settlement obviates the significant risk that this Court may deny certification of all or some of Plaintiffs' claims. (Id. at ¶ 39.) Even if Plaintiffs were able to obtain certification, continued litigation would be expensive, involving a trial and possible appeals, and would substantially delay and reduce any recovery by the Class. (Id.) Although the Parties have engaged in a significant amount of investigation, discovery, and class-wide data analysis, they have not completed extensive formal discovery or depositions, and preparation for class certification and trial would remain. (Id.) In sum, this Settlement avoids the risks, burdens, and accompanying expense of further litigation. (Id.)

The proposed $700,000.00 Settlement therefore represents a substantial recovery when compared to the reasonably forecasted recovery for the Class. (Id. at ¶ 40.) When considering the risks of litigation, the uncertainties involved in continued litigation, the burdens of proof necessary to establish liability, and the probability of appeal, it is clear the Settlement amount is within the "ballpark" of reasonableness, and that preliminary settlement approval is appropriate. (Id.; Kullar, supra, 168 Cal.App.4th at p. 133; see Munoz, supra, 186 Cal.App.4th at pp. 408–09.)

3. The PAGA Settlement Is Fair Considering the Parties' Respective Positions and Significant Risks

With regards to the PAGA claims, the Settlement is a fair and reasonable resolution that satisfies PAGA's dual statutory purposes of deterrence and punishment, on the one hand, and providing Aggrieved Employees with genuine and meaningful relief, on the other. (Moon Decl., ¶ 37; Lab. Code §§ 2698, et seq.) As a result of this litigation, Defendant has had to hire legal counsel, engage in informal class-wide discovery, and participate in mediation. (Moon Decl., ¶ 37.) Defendant will also have to pay civil penalties to the LWDA under the Settlement, assuming final settlement approval is granted. (Id.; Settlement, ¶ 3.2.4.) Not including its own attorneys' fees and costs as well as the employer's share of payroll taxes, Defendant will pay $700,000.00 to resolve this matter—of which $50,000.00 is allocated toward the PAGA claims and will be distributed, in compliance with Labor Code section 2699 as 75% ($37,500.00) to the LWDA and 25% ($12,500.00) to Aggrieved Employees. (Moon Decl., ¶ 37.)

Moreover, because the issues here are fairly contested, there is a possibility of the Court not awarding the PAGA penalties even if Plaintiffs prevailed on the merits, due to the largely discretionary nature of awarding PAGA penalties. (Id.) Indeed, under PAGA, a Court can reduce penalties "if, based on the facts and circumstances of the particular case, to do otherwise would result in an award that is unjust, arbitrary and oppressive, or confiscatory." (Lab. Code § 2699(e)(2).) In other words, were this matter to go to trial, any award granted would be at the discretion of the Court and subject to a substantial reduction. (Moon Decl., ¶ 37.) Further, Plaintiffs' Counsel took into account the risk of not being able to proceed on a representative basis due to the potential manageability issues and that even if Plaintiffs prevailed at trial, penalties would likely be limited due to the largely discretionary nature of awarding PAGA penalties and in light of other defenses available to Defendant. (Id.) Thus, it is entirely possible that even if Plaintiffs would be successful at trial, assuming they are first able to certify the claims and defeat the manageability issues presented at litigation, Plaintiffs could be awarded substantially less than what was obtained through the Settlement. (Id.)

In sum, the $50,000 PAGA Penalties allocation under the Settlement constitutes "genuine and meaningful" relief that is "consistent with the underlying purpose of the statute to benefit the public."

(See O'Connor v. Uber Tech., Inc. (N.D. Cal. 2016) 201 F.Supp.3d 1110, 1133–35 [denying settlement approval where allocation for PAGA claims was 0.1% of the estimated full worth].)

4. Plaintiffs' Counsel Have Extensive Experience in Class and PAGA Action Litigation, Which Was Integral to Negotiating the Settlement

The Settlement negotiations were conducted by highly capable counsel with considerable experience and demonstrated competence with litigating wage-and-hour class actions. (Moon Decl., ¶¶ 45-63; Hawkins Decl., ¶¶ 12-22.) Plaintiffs' Counsel have a strong record of vigorous and effective advocacy for their clients and are experienced in handling complex wage-and-hour class action litigation. (Moon Decl., ¶¶ 45-63; Hawkins Decl., ¶¶ 12-22.) Their experience was helpful in assessing the reasonableness of the Settlement at issue here, and from this experience they concluded that this litigation could not have been settled on better terms than provided under the Settlement. (Moon Decl., ¶ 61.) Although Plaintiffs and their counsel were prepared to try the claims alleged in the litigation, they support the proposed Settlement as being in the best interest of the Class based on objective evidence that has been considered and weighed against the risks, expenses, and time consumption to both sides of continued litigation. (Id. at ¶ 28; Hawkins Decl., ¶ 4.)

B. The Proposed Attorneys' Fees and Costs Are Reasonable

Subject to the Court's approval, the Settlement provides a fee application of one-third of the GSA for Class Counsel's attorneys' fees or $233,333.33, plus reimbursement for out-of-pocket litigation costs not to exceed $50,000.00. (Settlement, ¶ 3.2.2.) These amounts are disclosed to Class Members in the proposed Class Notice and are reasonable. (Id. at Ex. A.)

1. Counsel Request a Fees Award Based On the "Common Fund" Method

California courts have long awarded attorneys' fees as a percentage of the benefit created by counsel in pursuing claims on behalf of a class. (See, e.g., Serrano v. Priest (1977) 20 Cal.3d 25.) The California Supreme Court has held, "when a number of persons are entitled in common to a specific fund, and an action brought by a plaintiff or plaintiffs for the benefit of all results in the creation or preservation of that fund, such plaintiff or plaintiffs may be awarded attorney's fees out of the fund." (Id. at p. 34.)

Plaintiffs' Counsel seek an award of attorneys' fees on the "percentage of recovery/common fund" theory. (Moon Decl., ¶ 68.) The purpose of this approach is to "spread litigation costs proportionately among all the beneficiaries so that the active beneficiary does not bear the entire burden alone." (Vincent v. Hughes Air W., Inc. (9th Cir. 1977) 557 F.2d 759, 769.) In Quinn v. State of California (1975) 15 Cal.3d 162, the California Supreme Court stated, "one who expends attorneys' fees in winning a suit which creates a fund from which others derive benefits, may require those passive beneficiaries to bear a fair share of the litigation costs." (Id. at p. 167.) Similarly, in City and County of San Francisco v. Sweet (1995) 12 Cal.4th 105, the California Supreme Court recognized that the common fund doctrine has been applied "consistently in California when an action brought by one party creates a fund in which other persons[ ] are entitled to share." (Id. at pp. 110–11 [pincite omitted].)

The California Supreme Court affirmed in Laffitte v. Robert Half International Inc. (2016) 1 Cal.5th 480 that, "when class action litigation establishes a monetary fund for the benefit of the class members, and the trial court in its equitable powers awards class counsel a fee out of that fund, the court may determine the amount of a reasonable fee by choosing an appropriate percentage of the fund created." (Id. at p. 503.) The court explained: "The recognized advantages of the percentage method—including relative ease of calculation, alignment of incentives between counsel and the class, a better approximation of market conditions in a contingency case, and the encouragement it provides counsel to seek an early settlement and avoid unnecessarily prolonging the litigation[ ]—convince us the percentage method is a valuable tool that should not be denied our trial courts." (Id. [internal citations omitted].) This line of legal authority supports a request for attorneys' fees based on the percentage of recovery/common fund method.

2. The Requested Fee Award Is in Line with Typical Cases

According to a leading treatise on class actions: "No general rule can be articulated on what is a reasonable percentage of a common fund. Usually 50% of the fund is the upper limit on a reasonable fee award from a common fund in order to assure that the fees do not consume a disproportionate part of the recovery obtained for the class, although somewhat larger percentages are not unprecedented." (Newberg, Newberg on Class Actions (3rd ed. 1992) § 14.03.) Attorneys' fees that are fifty percent of the fund are typically considered the upper limit, with thirty to forty percent commonly awarded in cases where the settlement is relatively small. (Id.; see also Van Vranken v. Atlantic Richfield Co. (N.D. Cal. 1995) 901 F.Supp. 294, 297 [stating that most cases where 30–50% was awarded involved "smaller" settlement funds of under $10 million].)

Here, Plaintiffs' Counsel's fees request for one-third of the GSA, is in line with the prevailing guidelines established in California case law and academic literature and is consistent with awards in California. (Compare Settlement, ¶ 3.2.2, with Chavez v. Netflix, Inc. (2008) 162 Cal.App.4th 43, 66, n.11 ["Empirical studies show that, regardless whether the percentage method or the lodestar method is used, fee awards in class actions average around one-third of the recovery."].) Accordingly, Plaintiffs requests the Court preliminarily approve the attorneys' fees as negotiated by the Parties.

3. This Matter Involves a "Fee-Shifting" Provision of the Labor Code

Labor Code sections 218.5, 226, 1194, 2699, and 2802 provide for the recovery of reasonable fees and costs of suit, for the claims made in this action. (Lab. Code §§ 218.5, 226, 1194, 2699(k)(1), 2802(d).) Under these sections, Plaintiffs would be permitted to recover their actual attorneys' fees, even if those fees were larger than the total class recovery at the conclusion of this case. (Id.) This Settlement is beneficial in that it limits the risk of continued expenses and consumption of time, energy, and resources facing Defendant while at the same time rewarding Plaintiffs' Counsel for their decision to assume risk by taking on this matter on a contingent basis with no guarantee of recovery. (Moon Decl., ¶¶ 69-74.) In fact, prosecution of this action involved significant financial risk for Plaintiffs' Counsel. (Id. at ¶ 71.) Once Plaintiffs' Counsel undertook this litigation, they committed to pursue it to its conclusion, placing their fiduciary duty to the Class ahead of all other concerns. (Id.)

4. Counsel's Experience, Reputation, and Ability Support the Fees Request

As demonstrated by their past experience in pursuing class actions on behalf of consumers and employees, Plaintiffs' Counsel possess considerable expertise in litigating class actions. (Moon Decl., ¶¶ 45-63; Hawkins Decl., ¶¶ 12-22.) Plaintiffs' Counsel have been involved as lead counsel or co-counsel in numerous class actions that resulted in millions in recovery. (Moon Decl., ¶¶ 45-63; Hawkins Decl., ¶¶ 12-22.) As noted above, their experience in wage-and-hour litigation was integral in evaluating the strengths and weaknesses of the case against Defendant and the reasonableness of the Settlement. (Moon Decl., ¶ 61.) Practice in the narrow field of wage-and-hour litigation requires skill and knowledge concerning the rapidly evolving substantive law (state and federal) as well as the procedural law of class action litigation. (Id. at ¶ 59.) Based on these and other factors, Plaintiffs' Counsel have frequently received fee awards of this percentage from the gross recovery for the class. (See id. at ¶¶ 49, 54, 59.) Because it is reasonable to compensate counsel commensurate with their skill, reputation, and experience, the requested fee award is supported here.

C. The Enhancement Awards to Plaintiffs Are Reasonable

Named plaintiffs in class action lawsuits "are eligible for reasonable incentive payments to compensate them for the expense or risk they have incurred in conferring a benefit on other members of the class." (Munoz, supra, 186 Cal.App.4th at p. 412.) Courts routinely grant approval of class action settlement agreements containing enhancements for the class representatives, which are necessary to provide incentive to represent the class and are appropriate given the benefit the class representatives help to bring about for the class. (See Rodriguez v. W. Publ'g Corp. (9th Cir. 2009) 563 F.3d 948, 958–59.) Service awards are particularly important to plaintiffs in wage-and-hour cases because they promote the important public policies underlying the wage-and-hour laws. This strong policy is codified in California Labor Code section 90.5, which provides, "[i]t is the policy of this state to vigorously enforce minimum labor standards in order to ensure employees are not required or permitted to work under substandard unlawful conditions . . ." (Lab. Code § 90.5.) Nonetheless, the California Supreme Court has noted that "retaliation against employees for asserting statutory rights under the Labor Code is widespread," despite anti-retaliation statutes designed to protect employees. (Gentry v. Super. Ct. (2007) 42 Cal.4th 443, 460–61.) In this context, class representatives should be rewarded for assuming the risk of retaliation for the sake of class members. (See Frank v. Eastman Kodak Co. (W.D.N.Y. 2005) 228 F.R.D. 174, 187.)

Under the Settlement here, subject to the Court's approval, a Class Representative Enhancement Award of $7,500.00 will go to each Plaintiff, in addition to their amount as a Class Member. (Settlement, ¶ 3.2.1.) This award is in recognition of having initiated the Actions, provided services in support thereof, and incurred risks inherent in the role of named Plaintiffs. (Id. at ¶ 1.14.) Plaintiffs have devoted a great deal of time and work assisting counsel in the case and communicated with counsel frequently for litigation and to prepare for mediation. (Moon Decl., ¶¶ 41-44; Hawkins Decl., ¶ 23; Soto Decl., ¶¶ 19-21; Valdez Decl., ¶¶ 5-10.) The requested awards are fair and reasonable, particularly considering the substantial benefits Plaintiffs generated for all Class Members. (Moon Decl., ¶ 41-44; Hawkins Decl., ¶ 23.)

When compared with the amounts awarded in typical class action cases, the amount requested here is particularly reasonable. A 2006 study examining the average incentive award given to class action plaintiffs from 1993 to 2002 found that the "average award per class representative was $15,992 and the median award per class representative was $4357." (Eisenberg & Miller, Incentive Awards to Class Action Plaintiffs: An Empirical Study (2006) 53 UCLA L. Rev. 1303, 1307–08.) The same study found that named plaintiffs in employment discrimination class actions received an average award of $69,850 and a median award of $31,081, while named plaintiffs in other employment class actions received an average award of $12,121 and a median award of $13,059. (Id. at p. 1333.) The authors of the study found that higher awards in employment cases reflected the "courts' wish to make representative plaintiffs whole by compensating them for the high costs of their service to the class, including risks of stigmatization or retaliation on the job." (Id. at p. 1308.)

IV. CERTIFICATION FOR SETTLEMENT PURPOSES IS WARRANTED

A. Legal Standard

The proposed Settlement Class is well suited for class certification. The claims all derive from a core set of alleged violations of California's wage and hour laws and regulations. (Moon Decl., ¶¶ 4–5.) For the reasons set forth more fully below, the Class, for purposes of Settlement, satisfies the prerequisites for certification under Code of Civil Procedure section 382. (Code Civ. Proc. § 382.) Section 382 provides that "when the question is one of a common or general interest, of many persons, or when the parties are numerous, and it is impracticable to bring them all before the court, one or more may sue or defend for the benefit of all." (Id.) There are two requirements to section 382: "(1) there must be an ascertainable class[ ]; and (2) there must be a well-defined community of interest in the questions of law and fact involved affecting the parties to be represented." (Daar v. Yellow Cab Co. (1967) 67 Cal. 2d 695, 704 [internal citations omitted].) To clarify these requirements, the California Supreme Court has looked to Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 23 to explain that the community-of-interest requirement itself embodies three factors: "(1) predominant common questions of law or fact;

(2) class representatives with claims or defenses typical of the class; and (3) class representatives who can adequately represent the class." (Richmond v. Dart Indus., Inc. (1981) 29 Cal. 3d 462, 470.)

California law and policy favor the fullest and most flexible use of the class action device. (Id. at pp. 469–73.) Indeed, "Courts long have acknowledged the importance of class actions as a means to prevent a failure of justice in our judicial system" particularly where the rights of consumers are at issue. (Linder v. Thrifty Oil Co. (2000) 23 Cal. 4th 429, 434.) Any doubt as to the appropriateness of class treatment should be resolved in favor of certification. (Richmond, supra, 29 Cal.3d at pp. 473–75.)

B. The Criteria for Class Certification Are Satisfied

1. The Class Is Ascertainable and Numerous

When determining whether a class is ascertainable, California courts focus on the following three factors: "(1) the class definition, (2) the size of the class and (3) the means of identifying class members." (Miller v. Woods (1983) 148 Cal.App.3d 862, 873.) Here, Plaintiffs maintain there are an easily ascertainable Class, defined by objective and precise criteria. (Settlement, ¶¶ 1.5, 1.12.) The proposed Class that Plaintiffs seek to represent is ascertainable because (1) the Class definition is sufficiently precise, (2) the Class consists of about 285 individuals, and (3) Class Members can be readily identified by Defendant's records. (Id. at ¶¶ 1.5, 1.8, 1.12.) Because Class Members are identified using specific criteria in the regular business records of Defendant—their employment by Defendant in California, non-exempt classification, hourly wage, and actual work during the Class Period—the Class is ascertainable. (See Wilner v. Sunset Life Ins. Co. (2000) 78 Cal.App.4th 952, 959–60 [class membership defined by ownership of product that is the subject of the lawsuit is sufficient to make the class ascertainable].) "The requirement of Code of Civil Procedure section 382 that there be 'many' parties to a class action suit is indefinite and has been construed liberally." (Rose v. City of Hayward (1981) 126 Cal.App.3d 926, 934.) "Where a question is of common interest to 'many' persons, an action may be maintained as a class action even where the parties are numerous and it is in fact practicable to join them all." (Id.) "No set number is required as a matter of law for the maintenance of a class action." (Id.) "Thus, our Supreme Court has upheld a class representing the 10 beneficiaries of a trust in an action for removal of the trustees." (Id. [citing Bowles v. Super. Ct. (1955) 44 Cal.2d 574]; see also Collins v. Rocha (1972) 7 Cal.3d 232 [upholding a class of 9 plaintiffs and 35 members].) Therefore, numerosity is plainly satisfied.

2. There Are Many Common Issues of Law and Fact Which Predominate

To satisfy the community of interest requirement, a proponent must show (1) common questions of law and fact that predominate over individual issues, (2) class representatives have claims or defenses typical of the class, and (3) class representatives adequately represent the class. (Dunk, supra, 48 Cal.App.4th at p. 1806.) This inquiry tests whether proposed classes are sufficiently cohesive to rationally warrant adjudication by representation. (See, e.g., Clothesrigger, Inc. v. GTE Corp. (1987) 191 Cal.App.3d 605, 611–12.)

Here, Plaintiffs' claims satisfy all three requirements. The employment practices at issue include whether Defendant: paid employees all minimum, and overtime pay wages owed; reimbursed employees for necessary business expenses; provided employees with and authorized meal and rest periods or paid premiums for non-compliant breaks; paid all final wages to employees at the time of termination; intentionally failed to pay all final wages; provided inaccurate itemized wage statements and whether Class Members were harmed; engaged in unfair business practices; and violated civil penalty provisions under PAGA. (Moon Decl., ¶¶ 4–5.) Plaintiffs contend the factual and legal issues are the same for all Class Members, and further that all Class Members suffered from and seek redress for the same alleged injuries. (Soto Decl., ¶¶ 5–6; Valdez Decl., ¶ 3.) Considering Class Members would need to prove the same issues of law and fact to prevail, and their legal remedies are identical, it would be preferable to resolve all claims through a settlement than to force each Class Member to litigate their own individual claims. Thus, the Court should grant conditional class certification for settlement purposes because common questions of law and fact predominate over any individual questions within the Class.

3. Plaintiffs' Claims Are Typical of the Claims of the Class

The typicality requirement does not focus on the individual characteristics or circumstances of the representative plaintiff compared to those of the remainder of the class, but rather, upon the typicality of the proposed representative's claims as they relate to the defendant's conduct and activities. (Classen v. Weller (1983) 145 Cal.App.3d 27, 47 ["The only requirements are [sic] that common questions of law and fact predominate and that the class representative be similarly situated" vis-à-vis the class.] [emphasis in original].) A representative plaintiff's claims are typical of the class if they arise from the same event, practice, or course of conduct, and if the claims rest on the same legal theories. (Id.) That is precisely the case here. Plaintiffs are former employees of Defendant and allege they were subject to the same policies and practices as other similarly situated employees. (Soto Decl., ¶¶ 2–6; Valdez Decl., ¶¶ 2-3.)

4. Plaintiffs and Their Counsel Meet the Adequacy Requirement

The adequacy of representation requirements is met by fulfilling two conditions: (1) a named plaintiff must be represented by counsel qualified to conduct the pending litigation, and (2) a named plaintiff's interests cannot be antagonistic to those of the class. (McGhee v. Bank of Am. (1976) 60 Cal.App.3d 442, 450.)

Here, all requirements are met. Plaintiffs retained counsel with extensive experience in prosecuting complex class actions, including similar class actions that previously settled. (Moon Decl., ¶¶ 45-63; Hawkins Decl., ¶¶ 12-22.) Based on their experience, Plaintiffs' Counsel unquestionably are "qualified, experienced and generally able to conduct the proposed litigation." (Miller, supra, 148 Cal.App.3d at p. 874.) Plaintiffs have, with counsel, litigated this case and diligently reviewed the settlement terms, showing dedication, and with full knowledge and acceptance of duties, they have committed to their role as Class Representatives. (Soto Decl., ¶¶ 11–21; Valdez Decl., ¶¶ 3-12.) In addition, Plaintiffs and their Counsel have no conflicts with one another, other Class Members, or the proposed Administrator. (Valdez Decl., ¶ 10; Soto Decl., ¶¶ 9-11; Moon Decl., ¶ 67; Hawkins Decl., ¶ 3.)

5. A Class Action Is Superior to a Multiplicity of Litigation

Finally, in making its class certification decision, the Court must determine that a class action would be superior to alternative means for the fair and efficient adjudication of the litigation. (See Leyva v. Medline Indus. Inc. (9th Cir. 2013) 716 F.3d 510, 514–15.) By consolidating many potential individual actions into a single proceeding, this Court's use of the class action device enables it to manage this litigation in a manner that serves the economics of time, effort, and expense for the litigants and the judicial system. (Id.) Absent class treatment, similarly situated employees with small, but nevertheless meritorious, claims for damages would, as a practical matter, have no means of redress because of the time, effort, and expense required to prosecute individual actions. (Id. at p. 515; Gentry, supra, 42 Cal.4th at pp. 457–62.) Moreover, in the context of settlement, the superiority concerns are essentially non-existent. (See generally, e.g., Stamburgh, supra, 62 Cal.App.3d.)

V. THE PROPOSED CLASS NOTICE IS CONSTITUTIONALLY SOUND AND SATISFIES RULES OF COURT

Class Notice requirements are set forth in the California Rules of Court. (Cal. Rules of Court, rule 3.766 (e)–(f), rule 3.769(f).) Here, the proposed Class Notice, in the form attached to the Settlement as Exhibit A, meets all the requirements of California Rules of Court. The Class Notice summarizes the proceedings to date and the terms and conditions of the proposed Settlement in an informative and coherent manner. (Settlement, ¶ 7.4, Ex. A.) It also states that the final approval decision has yet to be made, and provides the date, time, and location of the Final Approval Hearing. (Id.) It explains the right and procedures to opt-out or submit any written objections and/or arrange to appear at the Final Approval Hearing and verbally state any objections. (Settlement, ¶¶ 7.5, 7.8.) It makes clear the Settlement does not constitute an admission of liability by Defendant, who denies all liability, and it recognizes that this Court has not ruled on the merits of the action. (Settlement, Ex. A.) Thus, the proposed Notice meets all the requirements of California Rule of Court 3.769(f). (Cal. Rules of Court, rule 3.769(f).)

The Class Notice also fulfills the requirement of neutrality in class notices. (Newberg, Newberg on Class Actions (3rd ed. 1992) § 8.39.) Accordingly, the Class Notice complies with the standards of fairness, completeness, and neutrality required of a combined settlement-certification class notice.

California law vests the Court with broad discretion in fashioning an appropriate notice program. (Cartt v. Super. Ct. (1975) 50 Cal.App.3d 960, 970, 973–74.) There is no statutory or due process requirement that all class members receive actual notice, but in this matter, Class Members will receive direct mailed notice, which is the best possible form of notice under the circumstances. (Settlement, ¶ 7.4.2.) As the Court of Appeals has explained, "[t]he notice given should have a reasonable chance of reaching a substantial percentage of the Class Members . . ." (Cartt, 50 Cal.App.3d at p. 974.)

VI. CONCLUSION

For the foregoing reasons, Plaintiffs respectfully request the Court grant this motion, enter the proposed order submitted herewith regarding preliminary approval, and set a final approval hearing no earlier than 130 days from the preliminary approval order.
