MEMORANDUM OF POINTS AND AUTHORITIES

I. INTRODUCTION

Plaintiff Gil Cabalu ("Plaintiff") seeks preliminary approval of the Class Action and PAGA Settlement Agreement ("Settlement" or "Settlement Agreement") entered into between Plaintiff and Defendant Harvest Farms Solutions, Inc. ("Defendant") (together, with Plaintiff, the "Parties"). (Declaration of Alexandra Rose in Support of Plaintiff's Motion for Preliminary Approval of Class Action and PAGA Settlement ["Rose Decl."], Exh. 3). The Settlement terms are outlined as follows:

- Class Size: Nineteen (19) individuals.
- Gross Settlement Amount: One Hundred Fifteen Thousand Dollars and Zero Cents ($115,000.00).
- Class Counsel Fees Payment: One-Third (1/3) of the Gross Settlement Amount ($38,333.33 if the Gross Settlement Amount is $115,000.00), to be paid from the Gross Settlement Amount.
- Class Counsel Litigation Expenses Payment: Not to exceed Ten Thousand Dollars and Zero Cents ($10,000.00), to be paid from the Gross Settlement Amount.
- Class Representative Service Payment: Five Thousand Dollars and Zero Cents ($5,000.00), to be paid from the Gross Settlement Amount.
- Administration Expenses Payment: Not to exceed Four Thousand Two Hundred Fifty Dollars and Zero Cents ($4,250.00), to be paid from the Gross Settlement Amount.
- PAGA Penalties: Five Thousand Seven Hundred Fifty Dollars and Zero Cents ($5,750.00) from the Gross Settlement Amount, 65% of which will be paid to the Labor and Workforce Development Agency ("LWDA") and the remaining 35% to be paid to the Aggrieved Employees.
- Estimated Net Settlement Amount: Fifty-One Thousand Six Hundred Sixty-Six Dollars and Sixty-Seven Cents ($51,666.67) to be distributed to Participating Class Members.

As set forth herein, the Settlement is the product of informed discovery and arms-length negotiations, and provides a fair, adequate, and reasonable recovery for the Class. Plaintiff therefore respectfully requests that the Court grant preliminarily approval of the Settlement, conditionally certify the Class, approve the proposed Court Approved Notice of Class Action Settlement and Hearing Date for Final Court Approval ("Class Notice"), and set a hearing date for final settlement approval, among other requested relief.

II. FACTUAL AND PROCEDURAL BACKGROUND

Defendant is a USDA and FDA-certified food manufacturer and wholesale distributor. Plaintiff was employed by Defendant as an hourly-paid, non-exempt Maintenance Technician from approximately 2024 to approximately January 2026. (Declaration of Plaintiff Gil Cabalu in Support of Motion for Preliminary Approval of Class Action and PAGA Settlement ["Cabalu Decl."], ¶ 2).

On March 5, 2026, Plaintiff provided written notice to the LWDA by online submission and to Defendant by U.S. Certified Mail, pursuant to California Labor Code Section 2699.3, of the specified provisions of the California Labor Code alleged to have been violated by Defendant ("PAGA Notice"). (Rose Decl., ¶ 8 and Exh. 2).

On March 6, 2026, Plaintiff filed a Class Action Complaint in the action entitled Gil Cabalu v. Harvest Farms Solutions, Inc., Los Angeles County Superior Court Case No. 26STCV07454 ("Action"), thereby commencing a putative class action against Defendant. (Id., ¶ 9).

On May 11, 2026, Plaintiff filed a Complaint for Enforcement Action Under the Private Attorneys General Act, Cal. Labor Code §§ 2698 Et Seq. in the action entitled Gil Cabalu v. Harvest Farms Solutions, Inc., Los Angeles County Superior Court Case No. 26STCV15055 ("PAGA Action"), which alleged one cause of action under the Private Attorneys General Act of 2004 pursuant to California Labor Code Section 2698 et seq. ("PAGA") against Defendant. (Id., ¶ 10).

On July 24, 2026, the Parties reached a settlement following arm's-length negotiations between counsel for the Parties. (Id., ¶ 11). The Parties then worked diligently to negotiate and memorialize the terms in a long form settlement agreement. (Ibid).

On September 10, 2026, Plaintiff filed a First Amended Class and Representative Action Complaint ("Operative Complaint") in the Action. (Id., ¶ 12). The Operative Complaint alleges eleven (11) causes of action for violations of the California Labor Code for failure to pay minimum wages, failure to pay reporting time wages, failure to pay overtime wages, failure to provide compliant meal periods and premium payments in lieu thereof, failure to provide compliant rest periods and premiums payments in lieu thereof, failure to timely pay wages during employment, failure to provide accurate wage statements, failure to timely pay wages upon termination, and failure to reimburse necessary business expenses, for violations of California Business & Professions Code Section 17200, et seq. based on the aforementioned California Labor Code violations, and for civil penalties under PAGA based on the aforementioned California Labor Code violations. (Ibid).

On October 14, 2026, the Parties executed the Settlement Agreement. (Id., ¶ 13 and Exh. 3).

III. THE SETTLEMENT TERMS

A. Class Definition

For purposes of settlement only, the Parties have agreed that the Class shall be defined as "all persons employed by Defendant in California and classified as non-exempt who worked for Defendant during the Class Period" ("Class" or Class Member(s)"). (Rose Decl., ¶ 14; Settlement Agreement, ¶ 1.6). The Class Period is defined as the period from July 1, 2024 through May 22, 2026. (Rose Decl., ¶ 14; Settlement Agreement, ¶ 1.12). Based on information provided by Defendant, there are a total of nineteen (19) Class Members who worked one thousand two hundred and ninety-four (1,294) weeks for Defendant for at least one day during the Class Period ("Workweeks"). (Rose Decl., ¶ 14; Settlement Agreement, ¶¶ 1.43 and 4.1).

B. Amount of Settlement

The Parties have agreed to settle the class and PAGA claims at issue in the Operative Complaint for a non-reversionary Gross Settlement Amount of One Hundred Fifteen Thousand Dollars and Zero Cents ($115,000.00), exclusive of employer-side payroll taxes. (Rose Decl., ¶ 15; Settlement Agreement, ¶ 1.21).

C. Allocation and Funding of the Gross Settlement Amount

The Gross Settlement Amount is a common fund and therefore includes all requested costs, fees, and other allocations. (Rose Decl., ¶ 15; Settlement Agreement, ¶ 1.21). The Gross Settlement Amount includes: (1) Class Counsel's fees in the amount of one-third (1/3) of the Gross Settlement Amount (i.e., $38,333.33 if the Gross Settlement Amount is $115,000.00); (2) Class Counsel's actual litigation costs and expenses, not to exceed Ten Thousand Dollars and Zero Cents ($10,000.00); (3) Administration Expenses Payment, not to exceed Four Thousand Two Hundred Fifty Dollars and Zero Cents ($4,250.00); (4) Class Representative Service Payment in the amount of Five Thousand Dollars and Zero Cents

($5,000.00); and (5) PAGA Penalties in the amount of Five Thousand Seven Hundred Fifty Dollars and Zero Cents ($5,750.00). (Rose Decl., ¶ 15; Settlement Agreement, ¶¶ 1.21, 3.2.1, 3.2.2, 3.2.3, and 3.2.5). After the above-estimated amounts are deducted from the Gross Settlement Amount, the Net Settlement Amount that will be available for Class Members is currently estimated to be Fifty-One Thousand Six Hundred Sixty-Six Dollars and Sixty-Seven Cents ($51,666.67). (Rose Decl., ¶ 15).

Additionally, 35% of the PAGA Penalties, which is $2,012.50 out of $5,750.00, will be fully distributed to "all persons employed by Defendant in California and classified as non-exempt who worked for Defendant during the PAGA Period" ("Aggrieved Employee(s)"). (Rose Decl., ¶ 16; Settlement Agreement, ¶¶ 1.5, 1.33, and 3.2.5). The "PAGA Period" is defined as the period from March 5, 2025 through May 22, 2026. (Rose Decl., ¶ 16; Settlement Agreement, ¶ 1.30). Based on information provided by Defendant, there are a total of nineteen (19) Aggrieved Employees who worked five hundred and nine (509) pay periods for Defendant for at least one day during the PAGA Period ("PAGA Pay Periods"). (Rose Decl., ¶ 16; Settlement Agreement, ¶¶ 1.29 and 4.1).

The Net Settlement Amount will be distributed and paid to all Class Members who do not submit a valid and timely Request for Exclusion ("Participating Class Member(s)") on a pro rata basis based on their number of Workweeks. (Rose Decl., ¶ 17; Settlement Agreement, ¶¶ 1.34 and 3.2.4). The pro rata share of the Net Settlement Amount that a Class Member may be eligible to receive under the Settlement ("Individual Class Payment") will be calculated by the Administrator, in accordance with the Settlement Agreement. (Rose Decl., ¶ 17; Settlement Agreement, ¶¶ 1.22 and 3.2.4).

The thirty-five percent (35%) share of the PAGA Penalties will be distributed and paid to all Aggrieved Employees on a pro rata basis based on their number of PAGA Pay Periods. (Rose Decl., ¶ 18; Settlement Agreement, ¶ 3.2.5.1). The pro rata share of the thirty-five percent (35%) share of the PAGA Penalties that an Aggrieved Employee may be eligible to receive under the Settlement ("Individual PAGA Payment") will be calculated by the Administrator, in accordance with the Settlement Agreement. (Rose Decl., ¶ 18; Settlement Agreement, ¶ 3.2.5.1).

Each Individual Class Payment will be allocated twenty percent (20%) to the settlement of wage claims (the "Wage Portion") and eighty percent (80%) to the settlement of claims for interest and penalties (the "Non-Wage Portion"). (Rose Decl., ¶ 19; Settlement Agreement, ¶ 3.2.4.1). The Wage Portions are subject to tax withholding and will be reported on an IRS W-2 Form and the Non-Wage Portions are not subject to wage withholdings and will be reported on IRS 1099 Forms. (Rose Decl., ¶ 19; Settlement Agreement, ¶ 3.2.4.1). The Administrator will withhold the employee's share of taxes and withholdings with respect to the Wage Portion of the Individual Class Payments, and issue checks to Participating Class Members for their net payment of their Individual Class Payment. (Rose Decl., ¶ 19; Settlement Agreement, ¶ 3.2.4.1). The employer's share of taxes and contributions in connection with the Wage Portion of Individual Class Payments will be paid by Defendant separately and in addition to the Gross Settlement Amount. (Rose Decl., ¶ 19; Settlement Agreement, ¶ 3.1). Each Individual PAGA Payment will be allocated as one hundred percent (100%) penalties and will be reported on an IRS Form 1099 (if applicable) by the Administrator. (Rose Decl., ¶ 19; Settlement Agreement, ¶ 3.2.5.2).

The Settlement Agreement is a non-reversionary and non-claims made settlement. (Rose Decl., ¶ 20; Settlement Agreement, ¶ 3.1). The Net Settlement Amount will be fully distributed to Participating Class Members and the PAGA Penalties will be fully distributed to the LWDA and Aggrieved Employees, in accordance with the Settlement Agreement. (Rose Decl., ¶ 20; Settlement Agreement, ¶¶ 3.2.4 and 3.2.5). No money will revert to Defendant. (Rose Decl., ¶ 20; Settlement Agreement, ¶ 3.1).

Each Individual Class Payment and Individual PAGA Payment check will be valid and negotiable for one hundred and eighty (180) calendar days from the date the checks are issued, and thereafter, shall be canceled. (Rose Decl., ¶ 21; Settlement Agreement, ¶ 4.3.1). Any funds associated with such canceled checks will be distributed by the Administrator to the State of California's Unclaimed Property Fund in the name of the Participating Class Member and/or Aggrieved Employee. (Rose Decl., ¶ 21; Settlement Agreement, ¶ 4.3.3).

D. Released Claims

Effective on the Effective Date and date when Defendant fully funds the entire Gross Settlement Amount and funds all employer payroll taxes owed on the Wage Portion of the Individual Class Payments, all Participating Class Members, on behalf of themselves and their respective former and present representatives, agents, attorneys, administrators, successors, and assigns, release the Released Parties from all claims that were alleged, or reasonably could have been alleged, based on the facts and allegations in the Operative Complaint that are alleged to have occurred during the Class Period including any and all claims involving any alleged failure to pay overtime and minimum wages, failure to pay reporting time wages, failure to provide compliant meal and rest periods and associated premium payments, failure to timely pay wages during employment and upon termination, failure to provide accurate wage statements, and failure to reimburse necessary business-related expenses (collectively, "Released Class Claims"). (Settlement Agreement, ¶¶ 1.37, 5, and 5.2). Except as set forth in Section 5.3 of the Agreement, Participating Class Members do not release any other claims, including claims for vested benefits, wrongful termination, violation of the Fair Employment and Housing Act, unemployment insurance, disability, social security, or workers' compensation, or claims based on events occurring outside the Class Period. (Id., ¶ 5.2).

Effective on the Effective Date and date when Defendant fully funds the entire Gross Settlement Amount and funds all employer payroll taxes owed on the Wage Portion of the Individual Class Payments, all Aggrieved Employees, on behalf of themselves and their respective former and present representatives, agents, attorneys, administrators, successors, and assigns, release the Released Parties from all claims for PAGA Penalties that were alleged, or reasonably could have been alleged, based on the facts and allegations in the Operative Complaint that are alleged to have occurred during the PAGA Period and the PAGA Notice including any and all claims involving any alleged failure to pay overtime and minimum wages, failure to pay reporting time wages, failure to provide compliant meal and rest periods and associated premium payments, failure to timely pay wages during employment and upon termination, failure to provide accurate wage statements, and failure to reimburse necessary business-related expenses (collectively, "Released PAGA Claims"). (Id., ¶¶ 1.38, 5, and 5.3).

"Released Parties" means Defendant and each of its former and present directors, officers, shareholders, owners, members, attorneys, insurers, predecessors, successors, assigns, subsidiaries, and affiliates. (Id., ¶ 1.39).

IV. STANDARD OF REVIEW FOR PRELIMINARY APPROVAL

The settlement of a class action requires court approval. (See Dunk v. Ford Motor Co., 48 Cal. App. 4th 1794 (1996)). "In general, questions whether a settlement was fair and reasonable, whether notice to the class was adequate, whether certification of the class was proper, and whether the attorney fee award was proper are matters addressed to the trial court's broad discretion." (Wershba v. Apple Computer, Inc., 91 Cal.App.4th 224, 234-35 (2001) (disapproved on other grounds)).

The review and approval of a proposed class action settlement involves a two-step process. (See Cal. Rules of Court, Rule 3.769(c)). First, counsel submit the proposed terms of the settlement and the Court makes a preliminary assessment of whether the settlement appears to be sufficiently within the range of a fair settlement to justify providing notice of the proposed settlement to class members. After notice is provided to the class, the Court must conduct a second inquiry into whether the proposed settlement is fair, reasonable, and adequate. (Ibid).

The initial evaluation of the settlement at the preliminary approval step "is not a fairness hearing." (Armstrong v. Board of School Directors of City of Milwaukee, 616 F.2d 305, 314 (7th Cir. 1980)). Rather, the limited purpose of this initial inquiry is to determine, at a threshold level, only whether the proposed settlement is within the range of possible approval and, as a result, "whether there is any reason to notify the class members of the proposed settlement and to proceed with a fairness hearing." A presumption of fairness exists where: (1) the settlement is reached through arm's length bargaining; (2) investigation and discovery are sufficient to allow counsel and the court to act intelligently; (3) counsel is experienced in similar litigation; and (4) the percentage of objectors is small. (See In re Microsoft I-V Cases, 135 Cal. App. 4th 706, 723 (2006)).

Preliminary approval does not require a court to make a final determination that the settlement is fair, reasonable, and adequate. Rather, that decision is made only at the final approval stage, after notice of the settlement has been given to the class members and they have had an opportunity to object or exclude themselves from the settlement. (See Cal. Rules of Court, Rule 3.769(g)). In considering a potential class settlement, the court need not reach any ultimate conclusions on the issues of fact and law which underlie the merits of the dispute and need not engage in a trial on the merits. (See Officers for Justice v. Civil Service Commission, 688 F.2d 615, 625 (9th Cir. 1982)).

V. THE SETTLEMENT IS PRESUMED FAIR

A. The Settlement Was Reached as a Result of Arm's-Length Bargaining

California courts recognize that "a presumption of fairness exists where . . . [a] settlement is reached through arm's-length bargaining." (Wershba, 91 Cal.App.4th at 245; see also Clark v. Am. Residential Servs. LLC, 175 Cal.App.4th 785, 799 (2009)). Here, the Parties' settlement negotiations were at all times made at arm's-length and were adversarial. (Rose Decl., ¶ 22). The Settlement was reached after the Parties exchanged sufficient information to evaluate the strengths and weaknesses of the claims and defenses, and Plaintiff engaged in additional negotiations in order to finalize the long-form agreement presently before the Court. (Ibid).

B. Sufficient Investigation and Discovery by Experienced Class Counsel

Courts typically assess the status of discovery in determining whether a class action settlement agreement is fair, reasonable, and adequate. (Dunk, 48 Cal.App.4th at 1801). Defendant produced all of the putative class members' time and pay data as well as Defendant's relevant wage and hour policies, and information regarding the total number of putative class members, the number of current versus former employees, and the average rate of pay for the putative class members. (Rose Decl., ¶ 23).

This allowed Class Counsel to conduct an informed assessment and analysis of the strengths and weaknesses of the claims and the potential class-wide damages. (Id., ¶ 24). Based on the information exchanged, the Parties extensively briefed issues regarding class certification and liability. (Id., ¶ 25). At all times, Plaintiff was willing and prepared to litigate this matter through class certification and trial if the Parties had been unable to reach a favorable resolution. (Ibid). Additionally, settlement negotiations were conducted by highly capable and experienced counsel. (Id., ¶¶ 1-7). Accordingly, Class Counsel had sufficient information and experience to act intelligently in negotiating the Settlement.

C. The Settlement is Fair and Reasonable in Light of the Parties' Respective Legal Positions and Recovery Risks

A settlement is not judged against what might have been recovered had a plaintiff prevailed at trial, nor does the settlement have to obtain 100% of the damages sought to be fair and reasonable. (Wershba, 91 Cal.App.4th at 246, 250). In evaluating the reasonableness of a settlement, a trial court must consider "the strength of plaintiffs' case, the risk, expense, complexity and likely duration of further litigation, the risk of maintaining class action status through trial, the amount offered in settlement, the extent of discovery completed and the stage of the proceedings, the experience and views of counsel, the presence of a governmental participant, and the reaction of the class members to the proposed settlement." (Kullar v. Foot Locker Retail, Inc., 168 Cal.App.4th 116, 128 (2008)).

Here, the reasonableness of the Settlement is underscored by the fact that Defendant has legal and factual grounds for defending the Action. Based upon Class Counsel's experience litigating similar complex matters, Plaintiff reasonably expected a vigorous and lengthy defense to both class certification and the merits of the Action absent a settlement.

1. Class Counsel's Analysis of the Maximum Available Liability and Damages

Class Counsel analyzed all available data and estimated Defendant's maximum potential exposure for the class claims to be approximately $244,797, assuming the litigation was successful at trial on all claims at issue and every employee had a violation for each claim on every shift worked. (Rose Decl., ¶ 26). This maximum potential analysis was then reduced based on the challenges facing the likelihood of obtaining class certification, prevailing at trial, and other attendant risks. (Ibid). This estimate is based off an estimated maximum liability for all claims at issue and the total aggregate workweeks during the relevant time period, less interest, which included: $33,030 for meal period violations (less meal period premiums paid); $33,618 for rest period violations; $42,023 for unpaid off-the-clock work; $67,236 for reporting time pay; $6,470 for unreimbursed business expenses; $12,470 for waiting time penalties; and $49,950 for wage statement penalties. (Ibid). Plaintiff further estimated that Defendant faced an additional exposure of $50,900 in potential, non-stacked (i.e., one penalty, per employee, per pay period during the PAGA statutory period) PAGA penalties. (Ibid). Together with the PAGA penalties, Defendant's maximum potential exposure totaled $295,697 in damages. (Ibid).

2. Class Counsel's Risk-Based Analysis and Risk-Based Adjustments

While Plaintiff believes that Defendant faced significant exposure, substantial barriers to a recovery existed. Defendant contended that Plaintiff's claims are not suitable for class certification because individual issues and affirmative defenses would predominate should this case go to trial. (Rose Decl., ¶ 29; See Brinker Restaurant Corp. v. Superior Court, 53 Cal.4th 1004 (2012); Duran v. U.S. Bank Nat. Assn., 59 Cal.4th 1, 35-36 (2014); Wal-Mart Stores, Inc. v. Dukes, 131 S.Ct. 2541, 2551 (2011)). While Plaintiff and Class Counsel disagree with Defendant's predictions, they also recognize that there is a significant risk that the Court may deny class certification. (Rose Decl., ¶ 29; see also, Findings of the Study of California Class Action Litigation, 2000-2006, available at http://www.courts.ca.gov/documents/class-action-lit-study.pdf (finding that only 21.4% of all class actions were certified either as part of a settlement or as part of a contested certification motion)).

For example, Plaintiff's meal period claims, which were based on Defendant's alleged failure to provide lawful meal periods, have been increasingly difficult to certify in recent years. (Rose Decl., ¶ 30; See Brinker, 53 Cal. 4th at 1034-35). Plaintiff's theory of liability for meal period violations was based on allegations that Defendant had failed to implement its policies and that its practices failed to allow Class Members to take meal breaks in the manner required under California law. (Rose Decl., ¶ 30; See Bradley v. Networkers Int'l, LLC, 211 Cal.App.4th 1129, 1150 (2012) (holding that "the lack of a meal/rest break policy and the uniform failure to authorize such breaks are matters of common proof.")). Defendant contended that its policies and practices at all times during the Class Period were lawful. (Rose Decl., ¶ 30). Defendant further argued that the rate of purported meal period violations reflected in the data would require individualized inquiry and that such inquiry would prohibit a class from being certified. (Ibid). Class Counsel also had to consider the risk that the Court would find validity in an individualized proof defense to certification of Plaintiff's meal period claim. (Ibid).

Additionally, a large portion of Defendant's overall liability lies in Plaintiff's rest period allegations. (Id., ¶ 31). As with the meal period allegations, Defendant contended that it had a lawful written rest period policy, provided compliant rest breaks, and relieved Class Members of all duties as required under California law. (Ibid). Additionally, this claim was even more uncertain given the difficulties associated with proving the alleged rest period violations, as Defendant was not required to record these breaks. (Ibid). Given the lack of records demonstrating rest period violations, there were legitimate concerns Plaintiff would not be able to certify these claims or prove substantial damages with requisite certainty, which made the estimated value of this claim subject to much challenge. (Ibid).

Plaintiff also faced challenges certifying and proving liability for his minimum wage and overtime claims. (Id., ¶ 32). These claims were largely based on Defendant's unrecorded, off-the-clock work performed by the Class Members both before and after their shifts and during purported meal periods. (Ibid). For example, Plaintiff alleged that he and the other Class Members were required to arrive to work early and perform required security protocols prior to clocking in. (Ibid). However, the individualized nature of why this work was performed and the individualized nature of damages presented substantial concerns regarding the manageability of the case and the risk the Court could find these issues prevented certification. (Ibid).

Further, there were substantial risks associated with Plaintiff's reporting time pay claim. Plaintiff contended that during the relevant time period, Plaintiff and the other Class Members, who were required to report to work and did report to work, were not put to work or were furnished less than half of their usual or scheduled day's work. (Id., ¶ 33). The claim also faced significant problems of proof. Because employees who were sent home were often never clocked in, or had their time adjusted, Defendant's time and pay records would not reliably show when a reporting time violation happened. (Ibid). As a result, the occurrence, frequency, and length of these incidents would have to be proven largely through Class Members' recollections rather than documents. (Ibid). The frequency of canceled or shortened shifts, how much notice was given, and the reasons employees were sent home also likely varied from person to person, from shift to shift, and over time. (Ibid). Defendant argued that these individual questions, such as whether an employee was actually scheduled, whether notice was given, whether the employee left voluntarily, and whether the employee worked at least half the scheduled shift, would predominate over common questions and defeat certification. (Ibid). Even if a class were certified, proving class-wide liability and damages through testimony instead of records would have been costly, uncertain, and open to a strong defense challenge. (Ibid). Plaintiff's estimate of damages for this claim therefore rested on assumptions about how often violations occurred, and those assumptions might not have held up at certification or trial. (Ibid).

Plaintiff also contended that Defendant failed to reimburse Plaintiff and the other Class Members for necessary business-related expenses, such as the usage of personal cell phones for work-related purposes. (Id., ¶ 34). Defendant contended that it had a policy and practice of reimbursing employees for necessary business-related expenses in which it reimbursed Class Members $5 a pay period for cell phone reimbursement. (Ibid). Defendant further contended that, with respect to the alleged expenses for which Plaintiff and the other Class Members never requested reimbursement from Defendant, it did not know and had no reason to know that alleged business-related expenses had been incurred. (Ibid). Defendant further contended that the reason for why a Class Member undertook certain expenses, while not others, and failed to receive reimbursement for certain expenses while not others, would raise individual issues that could not be certified. (Ibid).

There are also substantial risks associated with Plaintiff's waiting time penalties and wage statement claims. (Id., ¶ 35). First, these claims were derivative of Plaintiff's claims for unpaid meal period premiums, unpaid rest period premiums, unpaid minimum wages, and unpaid overtime wages, and if certification was denied on those underlying claims, these derivative claims for penalties would also likely fail. (Ibid). Further, even if Plaintiff prevailed on his underlying claims, he would still be required to demonstrate that Defendant's violations of California Labor Code section 203 were willful violations. (Rose Decl., ¶ 35; See, e.g., Choate v. Celite Corp., 215 Cal App. 4th 1460, 1468 (2013) (holding that "an employer's reasonable, good faith belief that wages are not owed may negate a finding of willfulness")). Wage statement claims have also seen varying treatment at the appellate level because such claims have an element of discretion attached to them rather than a pure calculation of damages after liability is proven. (Rose Decl. ¶ 35; Jaimez v. DAIOHS USA, Inc., 181 Cal.App.4th 1286 (2010) with Price v. Starbucks Corp., 192 Cal.App.4th 1136 (2011)). Accordingly, these derivative claims, which comprised a substantial portion of Defendant's estimated liability, were therefore uncertain. (Rose Decl., ¶ 35).

Class Counsel also recognized that, even if Plaintiff prevailed at class certification, proving the amount of wages due to Class Members would be an expensive, time-consuming, and uncertain proposition. (Id., ¶ 36). In order to prove liability and damages, Class Counsel will need to request and analyze hundreds of pages of documents, obtain the Class Members' contact information, contact them, and obtain their declarations at great expense. (Ibid). Obtaining the cooperation of current employees would also be difficult, given the likely reluctance to aid prosecution of a lawsuit against a current employer. (Ibid). On the other hand, Defendant would likely be able to obtain the cooperation of its employees. (Ibid). Moreover, even if Plaintiff prevailed at class certification and trial, possible appeals would substantially delay any recovery by the Class. (Ibid).

Class Counsel also separately contemplated the risks of proceeding with the PAGA claims and potential liability Defendant could face from these claims as part of the global resolution. (Id., ¶ 37). Existing case law makes PAGA claims subject to the same defenses and risks as Plaintiff's underlying wage claims. (Rose Decl., ¶ 37; see, Elliot v. Spherion Pac. Work, LLC, 572 F.Supp.2d 1169, 1181-82 (C.D. Cal. 2008) ("Plaintiff's claim under [PAGA] is wholly dependent upon her other claims. Because all of Plaintiff's other claims fail as a matter of law, so does her PAGA claim")). Class Counsel also anticipated that even if successful on the merits at trial, the imposition of cumulative civil penalties based on the alleged wage and hour violations could be considered unjust, arbitrary and oppressive, or confiscatory, and that Defendant would argue that it made a good faith attempt to comply with its legal obligations warranting a reduction in penalties. (Rose Decl., ¶ 37).[1] Class Counsel also anticipated Defendant would argue that the violations per pay period were low, warranting an additional reduction in civil penalties. (Ibid). Finally, Class Counsel was also mindful of the fact that PAGA is fundamentally not intended to be compensatory in nature but is instead intended to facilitate enforcement of California's labor laws by financing state activities and educating and deterring non-compliance. (Ibid).

Accordingly, after considering this multitude of factors, Plaintiff and Class Counsel concluded that it was in the best interest of the State of California and the PAGA Employees to enter into the Settlement, and to allocate Five Thousand Seven Hundred Fifty Dollars and Zero Cents ($5,750.00) of the Gross Settlement Amount towards the PAGA claims, which represents approximately 5% of the Gross Settlement Amount. (Id., ¶ 38). This percentage of the settlement is well within the range of wage and hour settlements regularly approved in both state and federal court for cases that include both a class and PAGA action. (Ibid). Typically, such hybrid cases allocate only 1% of the gross settlement value to resolve PAGA claims, and, indeed, settlements allocations as little as 0.22% of the gross settlement amount have been approved as reasonable by courts. (Ibid). Moreover, the overall relief obtained by the Settlement is significant, not only from a monetary perspective, but also because it fulfills the public policy objectives of PAGA—to promote enforcement of California's labor laws, provide funds to the state, and deter future non-compliance by the employer. (Ibid).

[1] See, e.g., Thurman v. Bayshore Transit Management, Inc., 203 Cal.App.4th 1112, 1131 (2012) (imposition of both statutory and civil penalties for same conduct is impermissible double recovery) (disapproved on other grounds); Aguirre v. Genesis Logistics, 2013 WL 10936035, at *3 (C.D. Cal. 2013) ("duplicative effect" of penalties is a factor in favor of "reducing ...the PAGA penalty"); Smith v. Lux Retail North America, Inc., 2013 WL 2932243, at *3 (N.D. Cal. June 13, 2013) (declining to stack penalties based on the same conduct); Castillo v. ADT, LLC, 2017 WL 363108, at *4 (E.D. Cal. Jan. 25, 2017); Sanchez v. McDonalds Restaurants of California, Inc., 2017 WL 4620746 (LA Super. Ct. July 6, 2017) (declining to stack penalties arising out of the same conduct); Fleming v. Covidien, Inc., 2011 WL 756304718, at *4 (C.D. Cal. Aug. 12, 2011) (reducing PAGA penalties by 80%); Cotter v. Lyft, Inc., 193 F.Supp.3d 1030 (N.D. Cal. 2016) (indicating that a substantial reduction is warranted where good faith dispute exists in legal obligations); Carrington v. Starbucks Corp., 30 Cal.App.5th 504, 529 (2018) (approving reduction in penalties from $50 per pay period to $5 per pay period based on good faith attempts to comply with obligations and minimal violations).

Therefore, taking into account how each of the above risks potentially effected Plaintiff's ability to first obtain class certification, and then prove the underlying violations, the Court's broad discretion in civil penalties, plus the cost and delay in recovering the alleged potential damages, Class Counsel discounted Defendant's estimated liability based on the challenges facing his ability to succeed on class certification by 40% to $177,418. (Id., ¶ 39). The merits-based risk factors further reduced Defendant's estimated liability by an additional 30%. (Ibid). This resulted in an adjusted estimated liability of $124,193. (Ibid). In light thereof, the settlement amount of $115,000 is a significant settlement. (Ibid).

Class Counsel therefore submits that the Settlement is in the best interest of the Class Members, the Aggrieved Employees, and the State of California and is within the accepted range of recoveries for this type of litigation given the inherent risk of litigation, the risk of obtaining and maintaining class certification, and the costs of further litigation. (Id., ¶ 40).

VI. CERTIFICATION FOR SETTLEMENT PURPOSES IS WARRANTED

Code of Civil Procedure Section 382 provides that three basic requirements must be met in order to sustain any class action: (1) there must be an ascertainable class; (2) there must be a well-defined community of interest in the question of law or fact affecting the parties to be represented; and (3) certification will provide substantial benefits to litigants and the courts, i.e., proceeding as a class action is superior to other methods. (See Dunk, 48 Cal.App.4th at 1806). Plaintiff contends that the Action, which is based upon Defendant's wage and hour policies and practices, satisfies the class certification requirements under California Code of Civil Procedure section 382. Defendant denies Plaintiff's allegations, but for purposes of the Settlement only, Defendant has stipulated to certification of the Class.

A. An Ascertainable Class Exists Which is So Numerous That Joinder of All Members is Impracticable

Whether an ascertainable class exists turns on three factors: (1) the class definition, (2) the size of the class, and (3) the means of identifying the class members. (See Miller v. Woods, 148 Cal.App.3d 862, 873 (1983)). In this case, all three considerations strongly favor class certification. Here, the Class is defined as "all persons employed by Defendant in California and classified as non-exempt who worked for Defendant during the Class Period." (Rose Decl., ¶ 14; Settlement Agreement, ¶ 1.6). This provides a clear and definite scope for the proposed class.

Next, the Class is sufficiently numerous. There is no magic number that satisfies the numerosity requirement. Courts have certified classes with as few as ten or twenty-eight class members. (Rose v. City of Hayward, 126 Cal.App.3d 926, 934 (1981); Bowles v. Superior Court, 44 Cal. 2d 574 (1995); Hebbard v. Colgrove, 28 Cal.App.3d 1017, 1030 (1972)). Here, the Class size of nineteen (19) individuals meets the numerosity requirement.

Finally, the question of whether class members are easily identifiable turns on whether a plaintiff can establish "the existence of an ascertainable class." (Daar v. Yellow Cab Co., 67 Cal.2d 695 at 706 (1967)). The existence of an ascertainable class in this case can be established through Defendant's payroll records, and the Class definition is sufficiently specific to enable the Parties, Class Members, and the Court to determine the parameters of the Class. (See Clothesrigger, Inc. v. GTE Corp., 191 Cal.App.3d 605, 617 (1987)).

B. The Class Shares a Well-Defined Community of Interest

The community of interest requirement embodies three factors: (1) predominant questions of law and fact; (2) class representatives with claims or defenses typical of the class; and (3) class representatives who can adequately represent the class. (Dunk, 48 Cal.App.4th at 1806). Here, all three requirements are easily satisfied.

The commonality criterion requires the existence of common question of law or fact and is generally established with the issues of predominance and typicality. (See Daar, 67 Cal.2d 695, 706). What is required is that a common question of fact or law exists which predominates over issues unique to individual plaintiffs. The existence of individual issues or facts—generally present in any case arising from employment—is not a bar to class certification as long as they do not render class litigation unmanageable or predominate over the common issues. (See B.W.I. Custom Kitchen v. Owens-Illinois, Inc., 191 Cal.App.3d 1341, 1354 (1987)).

Here, Plaintiff's claims present common issues of law and fact that predominate and warrant class certification. Plaintiff alleges that Defendant denied compliant meal and rest periods to employees, required employees to perform work off-the-clock, failed to pay reporting time pay, and failed to fully compensate employees for all time actually worked. These policies and practices meant that Defendant allegedly failed to pay minimum and overtime wages, and other related claims. Plaintiff alleges that Defendant's policies and practices were uniform as to all Class Members. Thus, class treatment is appropriate.

To satisfy the typicality requirement, California law does not require that plaintiffs' claims be identical to the other class members. Rather, the test of typicality for a class representative is whether other members have the same or similar injury, whether the action is based on conduct which is not unique to the named plaintiff, and whether other class members have been injured by the same course of conduct. (See Seastrom v. Neways, Inc., 149 Cal.App.4th 1496, 1502 (2007)). The typicality requirement for a class representative refers to the nature of the claim or defense of the representative, and not to the specific facts from which it arose or the relief sought. (See Ibid).

Here, Plaintiff alleges that his claims are similar to that of the other Class Members and that Plaintiff's claims arise out of the same alleged course of conduct giving rise to the claims of the other Class Members. Because Plaintiff's claims are based upon the same alleged conduct and business practices as those of Class Members, the typicality requirement has been satisfied.

Finally, the question of adequacy of representation "depends on whether the plaintiff's attorney is qualified to conduct the proposed litigation and the plaintiff's interests are not antagonistic to the interests of the class." (McGee v. Bank of America, 60 Cal.App.3d 442, 450 (1976)). Here, these considerations are satisfied. Class Counsel is well-regarded and is qualified and experienced in employment-related, class-action litigation. (Rose Decl., ¶¶ 1-7). Plaintiff will vigorously, adequately, and fairly represent the interests of the Class. Plaintiff has, at all times, throughout the course of the litigation considered the interests of the Class and understood that he must take steps to adequately represent the Class and their interests. (Cabalu Decl., ¶ 10). Because Plaintiff's claims are typical of other Class Members and are not based on unique circumstances, there is no antagonism between the interests of Plaintiff and the Class.

C. A Class Action is Superior to a Multiplicity of Litigation

Under the circumstances, proceeding as a class action is a superior means of resolving this dispute, as the Class Members and the Court will derive substantial benefits. Class certification would serve as the only means to deter and redress the alleged violations. (See Linder v. Thrifty Oil Co., 23 Cal.4th 429, 434 (2000) (relevant considerations include the probability that each class member will come forward to prove his or her separate claim and whether the class approach would actually serve to deter and redress the alleged wrongdoing)). Further, individual actions arising out of the same operative facts would unduly burden the courts and could result in inconsistent results. Therefore, class action proceedings are superior to individual litigation.

VII. THE REQUESTED CLASS REPRESENTATIVE SERVICE PAYMENT IS REASONABLE

Plaintiffs in class action lawsuits are eligible for reasonable incentive payments as compensation "for the expense or risk they have incurred in conferring a benefit on other members of the class." (Munoz v. BCI Coca-Cola Bottling Co., 186 Cal.App.4th 399, 412 (2010)). Courts routinely grant approval of class action settlement agreements containing enhancements for the class representative, which are necessary to provide incentive to represent the class and are appropriate given the benefit the class representatives help to bring about for the class. (See In re Online DVD Rental, 779 F.3d 934, 947-948 (9th Cir. 2014) (approving incentive award 417 times larger than individual payments where incentive award made up a mere .17% of the settlement); Gaudin v. Saxon Mortgage Servs., Inc., 2015 WL 7454183, at *10 (N.D. Cal. Nov. 23, 2015) (finding service award of $15,000 to be "fair and reasonable")).

Plaintiff initiated this litigation on behalf of his former co-workers who will now be entitled to receive payment from the Settlement. Plaintiff invested substantial time and effort into litigation, including his own research, reviewing documents, and extensive discussions with Class Counsel. (Cabalu Decl., ¶¶ 3-5). Further, the requested amount for Plaintiff is also reasonable given the average award and the benefit gained by other Class Members. For these reasons, Plaintiff requests that a Class Representative Service Payment of Five Thousand Dollars and Zero Cents ($5,000.00) to Plaintiff be preliminarily approved by the Court. (Rose Decl., ¶ 41; Cabalu Decl., ¶ 12).

VIII. THE REQUESTED CLASS COUNSEL FEES PAYMENT AND CLASS COUNSEL LITIGATION EXPENSES PAYMENT ARE REASONABLE

Trial courts have "wide latitude" in assessing the value of attorneys' fees and their decisions are "not to be disturbed on appeal absent a manifest abuse of discretion." (Lealao v. Beneficial Cal, Inc., 82 Cal.App.4th 19, 41 (2000)). California law provides that attorney fee awards should be equivalent to fees paid in the legal marketplace to compensate for the result achieved and risk incurred. (Id. at 47). In cases where class members present claims against a common fund and the defendant agrees to a percentage of the fund as part of the settlement, use of the percentage method is appropriate. (Id. at 32).

Here, the requested attorneys' fees of one-third (1/3) of the Gross Settlement Amount (i.e., $38,333.33 if the Gross Settlement Amount is $115,000.00) is disclosed to Class Members in the proposed Class Notice. (Settlement Agreement, Exh. A). The requested fee was freely negotiated, is common in the legal marketplace, and is not opposed by Defendant. The Motion for Final Approval will elaborate on the nature of the legal services provided and will also support Class Counsel's request for the reimbursement of litigation costs and expenses not to exceed Ten Thousand Dollars and Zero Cents ($10,000.00). (Rose Decl., ¶¶ 42 and 44). The Class Counsel Fees Payment and Class Counsel Litigation Expenses Payment that are not ultimately approved by the Court shall instead be included in the Net Settlement Amount to be distributed to Participating Class Members. (Settlement Agreement, ¶ 3.2.2).

IX. THE CLASS NOTICE AND THE OPT-OUT AND OBJECTION PROCESS MEETS DUE PROCESS REQUIREMENTS

The Parties have jointly drafted the Class Notice, which will be mailed to the Class Members. (Id., Exh. A). The Class Notice will include information regarding the nature of the Action, a summary of the terms of the Settlement, the Class definition, information on how to object to and/or opt-out of the Class Settlement and to dispute Workweeks and/or PAGA Pay Periods, and the date of the Final Approval Hearing. (Ibid). The Class Notice will list each Class Member's total Workweeks and their estimated Individual Class Payment and each Aggrieved Employee's total PAGA Pay Periods and their estimated Individual PAGA Payment. (Ibid).

Within fourteen (14) calendar days after the Court grants preliminary approval, Defendant will provide a list in a formatted readable Microsoft Office Excel spreadsheet to the Administrator containing the following information for each Class Member: full name, last-known mailing address, Social Security number, and number of Workweeks and PAGA Pay Periods (collectively referred to as the "Class Data"). (Id., ¶¶ 1.9 and 7.4.1). Within fourteen (14) calendar days after receiving the Class Data from Defendant, the Administrator will perform a search based on the National Change of Address Database for information to update and correct for any known or identifiable address changes, and will mail a Class

Notice in English and Spanish to all Class Members via First-Class U.S. Mail, using the most current, known mailing addresses identified by the Administrator. (Id., ¶ 7.4.2). The Parties have agreed to use Phoenix Settlement Administrators as the Administrator. (Rose Decl., ¶ 45; Settlement Agreement, ¶ 1.3).

In determining whether to approve a settlement of a class action, a trial court has virtually complete discretion as to the manner of giving notice to class members, and review on appeal is governed by the abuse of discretion standard. (See In re Cellphone Fee Termination Cases, 186 Cal.App.4th 1380 (2010)). Here, Class Counsel is not aware of an alternative method of providing notice to the Class which would result in a higher likelihood of actual notice. (Rose Decl., ¶ 46). The original source of the mailing addresses is from Class Members, who provided the information to Defendant. (Ibid).

Class Members will have forty-five (45) calendar days from the initial mailing of the Class Notice by the Administrator to submit a Request for Exclusion, written objection, and/or challenge to the number of Workweeks and/or PAGA Pay Periods ("Response Deadline"). (Settlement Agreement, ¶ 1.41).

No later than three (3) business days after the Administrator's receipt of any Class Notice returned by the USPS as undeliverable, the Administrator shall re-mail the Class Notice using any forwarding address provided by the USPS. (Id., ¶ 7.4.3). If the USPS does not provide a forwarding address, the Administrator will promptly attempt to determine a correct address using a skip-trace or other search and re-mail the Class Notice to the most current address obtained. (Ibid). In the event that a Class Notice is re-mailed to a Class Member, the Response Deadline for that Class Member shall be extended fourteen (14) calendar days from the original Response Deadline. (Id., ¶ 1.41).

Class Members will have an opportunity to dispute the number of Workweeks and/or PAGA Pay Periods to which they have been credited, as reflected in their respective Class Notices, by submitting a timely and valid written challenge to the Administrator on or before the Response Deadline. (Id., ¶ 7.6).

Any Class Member wishing to be excluded from the Class Settlement must submit a written request to be excluded from the Class Settlement signed by the Class Member ("Request for Exclusion") to the Administrator on or before the Response Deadline. (Id., ¶¶ 1.40 and 7.5.1). A Request for Exclusion is a letter from a Class Member or the Class Member's representative that reasonably communicates the Class Member's election to be excluded from the Settlement and includes the Class

Member's full name, mailing address, and email address or telephone number. (Id., ¶ 7.5.1). To be valid, a Request for Exclusion must be timely emailed or postmarked by the Response Deadline. (Ibid.). Notwithstanding the above, all Aggrieved Employees will be bound by the PAGA Settlement and will be issued their Individual PAGA Payment, irrespective of whether they submit a Request for Exclusion. (Id., ¶ 7.5.4).

To object to the Class Settlement, Participating Class Members must submit a written objection to the Administrator, by email or mail, no later than the Response Deadline. (Id., ¶ 7.7.2). Participating Class Members, individually or through counsel, may also present their objection orally at the Final Approval Hearing, regardless of whether they have submitted a written objection. (Id., ¶ 7.7.2).

X. CONCLUSION

For all of the foregoing reasons, Plaintiff respectfully requests that this Court grant Plaintiff's Motion for Preliminary Approval of Class Action and PAGA Settlement and the relief requested herein.

Respectfully submitted,
