SUMMARY OF MOTION

As a proxy for the State of California pursuant to the Labor Code Private Attorneys General Act of 2004, Lab. Code §§ 2698 et seq. ("PAGA"), Plaintiff, Natalia Tan, sues Defendant, Asurion Insurance Services, Inc., for Labor Code claims arising from Defendant's alleged failures to pay wages, to pay overtime wages, to provide meal periods, to timely pay all wages during employment or upon termination of employment, to provide complete and accurate itemized wage statements, and to reimburse business expenses. The claims arose from alleged failures (i) to provide sufficient ability for employees to actually take duty-free meal periods, (ii) to compensate employees for travel time incurred after visiting their final customer location of the workday, and (iii) to reimburse employees for mileage incurred after visiting their final customer location of the workday.

Through the litigation, Plaintiff asserts that the alleged Labor Code violations affected approximately 1,444 employees in about 19,947 relevant pay periods from December 21, 2022, through March 26, 2026. Declaration of Simon L. Yang ("Yang Decl.") ¶ 6. Plaintiff negotiated a proposed settlement submitted for the Court here, which requires Defendant to pay $575,000.00 for the resolution of the alleged PAGA claims—or approximately $28.83 gross for each of the relevant pay periods at issue at the time of mediation. Significantly, the entire settlement amount is non-reversionary; none of the settlement amount will revert back to Defendant. The terms of the settlement are memorialized in the Joint Stipulation of PAGA Settlement ("Agreement"), which is attached as Exhibit 1 to the concurrently filed Declaration of Simon L. Yang.

Under PAGA, the Court must review and approve the proposed settlement. Lab. Code § 2699(s)(2). Plaintiff thus moves for approval of the Agreement:

- The Agreement provides for an award of Attorneys' Fees and Costs in the amount of $191,666.67 in fees, plus $9,682.17 in actual litigation costs.
- It also provides for a $10,000.00 General Release Payment to Plaintiff (i) as consideration for Plaintiff's additional general release of claims and waiver of Civil Code section 1542 and (ii) in recognition of Plaintiff's efforts and work in prosecuting the lawsuit on behalf of the State.
- It also provides for $9,000.00 in Administration Costs to a settlement administrator for effectuating the payments contemplated by the Agreement.

- Finally, it provides for all remaining funds to constitute a PAGA Penalty Fund, 75% of which would be distributed to the Labor and Workforce Development Agency ("LWDA") and 25% of which would be distributed to allegedly aggrieved employees.[2]

The terms of the Agreement are fundamentally fair, adequate, and reasonable. In light of PAGA's policies and in furtherance of PAGA's purposes, the Court should approve the settlement.

RELEVANT BACKGROUND

On January 2, 2024, Plaintiff filed the initial complaint in this matter alleging class action and PAGA claims for Defendant's alleged failures to pay wages, to pay overtime wages, to provide meal periods, to timely pay all wages during employment or upon termination of employment, to provide complete and accurate itemized wage statements, and to reimburse business expenses. Yang Decl. ¶ 3.[3] The claims arose from alleged failures (i) to provide sufficient ability for employees to actually take duty-free meal periods, (ii) to compensate employees for travel time incurred after visiting their final customer location of the workday, and (iii) to reimburse employees for mileage incurred after visiting their final customer location of the workday. Id.

The Parties met and conferred about the claims and Defendant's defenses, including those based on an arbitration agreement. Yang Decl. ¶ 4. Based on a class action waiver within the arbitration agreement, Plaintiff agreed to voluntarily dismiss class action claims without prejudice, stay litigation of representative PAGA claims, and arbitrate individual PAGA and non-PAGA claims. Id. On July 25, 2024, Plaintiff initiated arbitration with AAA as AAA Case No. 01-24-0006-6734, and Peter S. Rukin, Esq. was appointed as the Parties' Arbitrator. Id.

The Parties continued to meet and confer about the alleged claims and also about Defendant's defenses. Yang Decl. ¶ 5. The Parties also engaged in extensive discovery, including the depositions of both Plaintiff and Plaintiff's manager. Id. The Parties also engaged in motion practice, including a motion for summary adjudication. Id. Ultimately, the Parties agreed to schedule a mediation to potentially resolve both the individual claims in arbitration and the representative PAGA claims stayed in this Action. Id.

[2] The 75% LWDA / 25% Employee settlement allocation was required in the version of PAGA that existed prior to the June 2024 PAGA Reforms. See AB 2288, SB 92. Given that the PAGA notice and this Action were filed prior to the PAGA Reforms, the Parties agreed to use the 75%/25% allocation that applies to this Action.

Plaintiff requested (and Defendant provided) additional informal discovery to enable the Parties to explore the possibility of an informal resolution. Yang Decl. ¶ 6. For example, Defendant provided the relevant numbers of pay periods in which alleged Labor Code violations occurred, among other things—enabling Plaintiff to assess the full value of the PAGA claims. Id. Defendant's willingness to produce this information enabled Plaintiff to evaluate the full scope of Defendant's potential liability. Id.

On March 26, 2026, the Parties attended a mediation with Michael Mandel, an experienced mediator knowledgeable of both the wage and hour laws and PAGA claims at issue in the Action. Yang Decl. ¶ 7. With the mediator's assistance and based on a mediator's proposal, the Parties were able to agree to settlement terms, which were negotiated in light of all known facts and circumstances including the uncertainty associated with litigation, the risks of significant delay, and numerous potential appellate issues. Id. The settlement was achieved only after extensive arm's length negotiations. Id. The settlement terms are memorialized in the Joint Stipulation of PAGA Settlement. Id. Ex. 1 (the "Agreement").

SUMMARY OF PROPOSED SETTLEMENT

I. Settlement Payments

The Agreement requires Defendant to pay a non-reversionary Settlement Amount of $575,000.00. Agreement § 3.1. From the Settlement Amount, the Parties will request that the Court approve a PAGA Penalty Fund, Administration Costs, General Release Payment, and Attorneys' Fees and Costs Award. Id. §§ 3.1.1-3.1.4. It is expected that the PAGA Penalty Fund will be $354,651.16, which amounts to approximately $17.78 net per pay period; the LWDA would receive $265,988.37 as its share of PAGA Penalties, and employees would split $88,662.79 as their share of PAGA Penalties. Yang Decl. ¶ 13.[4] [4] Based on 1.444 PAGA Settlement Members, each individual employee is estimated to receive approximately $61.40. Yang Decl. ¶ 13.

II. Settlement Releases

Only Plaintiff is subject to a general release. Agreement § 5.2. PAGA Settlement Members release "any and all PAGA claims arising during the PAGA Period that are based on Labor Code violations pled in the Action." Id. § 5.1.[5]

LEGAL STANDARD

PAGA requires courts to "review and approve" the settlement of any action filed under PAGA. Lab. Code §2699(s)(2). The California Supreme Court has explained that a court's review of a PAGA settlement is to ensure "that any negotiated resolution is fair to those affected." Williams v. Superior Court, 3 Cal. 5th 531, 549 (2017). But "PAGA does not establish a standard for evaluating PAGA settlements." Griffin v. Consolidated Commc'ns, 2023 WL 3853643, at *3 (E.D. Cal. June 6, 2023) (quoting Smith v. H.F.D. No. 55, Inc., 2018 WL 1899912, at *2 (E.D. Cal. Apr. 20, 2018)). Indeed, the Legislature, California Supreme Court, California Courts of Appeal, and LWDA have not definitively established the standards for review. E.g., Haralson v. U.S. Aviation Servs. Corp., 383 F. Supp. 3d 959, 971 (N.D. Cal. 2019) (noting the absence of a "definitive" guidance for approval of a PAGA settlement). The LWDA acknowledges the lack of a "specific benchmark" and has stated only that the relief provided under PAGA must be "genuine and meaningful," "consistent with the underlying purpose of the statute to benefit the public" and, in the context of a class action, "meet[] the standards of being 'fundamentally fair, reasonable, and adequate' with reference to the public policies underlying the PAGA." See O'Connor v. Uber Techs., Inc., 201 F. Supp. 3d 1110, 1133 (N.D. Cal. 2016) (quoting California Labor and Workforce Development Agency's Comments on Proposed PAGA Settlement).

Federal district courts have typically followed the LWDA's limited guidance by requiring settlements to be "fundamentally fair, adequate, and reasonable in light of PAGA's policies and purposes." See Haralson, 383 F. Supp. 3d at 972 (collecting cases). When applying this test, federal district courts often consider factors such as strength of a Plaintiffs' case; the risk, expense, complexity, and likely duration of further litigation; the amount offered in settlement; the extent of discovery completed; and the expertise and views of counsel. See Smith, 2018 WL 1899912, at *3. Federal district courts have also been mindful of the fact that trial courts have broad discretion to award civil penalties in amounts that are less than the maximum amounts authorized by PAGA. Id. at *3; see also Lab. Code § 2699(e)(2).[6]

"Given PAGA's purpose to protect the public interest, [authoritative California courts] also agree with the LWDA and federal district courts that have found it appropriate to review a PAGA settlement to ascertain whether a settlement is fair in view of PAGA's purposes and policies." Moniz v. Adecco USA, Inc., 72 Cal. App. 5th 56, 77 (2021).

DISCUSSION

I. The Settlement Complies with Statutory Requirements.

PAGA states that any "proposed settlement shall be submitted to the agency at the same time that it is submitted to the court." Lab. Code. § 2699(s)(2). In satisfaction of that requirement, Plaintiff submitted a copy of the Agreement and this motion to the LWDA through the LWDA's online filing system in conjunction with filing this motion. Yang Decl. ¶ 22, Ex. 5.

II. The Settlement Should Be Approved as Fair in Light of PAGA's Purposes and Policies.

A. The Settlement Is Entitled to a Presumption of Fairness.

In the class action context, a trial court must determine a class action settlement is fair to "prevent fraud, collusion or unfairness to the class." Consumer Advocacy Grp., Inc. v. Kintetsu Enters. of America, 141 Cal. App. 4th 46, 60 (2006). Courts presume the absence of fraud or collusion in the negotiation of settlement unless there is evidence to the contrary. Priddy v. Edelman, 883 F.2d 438, 447 (6th Cir. 1989); Mars Steel Corp. v. Continental Illinois Nat'l Bank & Trust Co., 834 F.2d 677, 682 (7th Cir. 1987); In re Chicken Antitrust Litig., 560 F. Supp. 957, 962 (N.D. Ga. 1980).

[6] A party asserting a PAGA claim is not required to meet the requirements of a class action. Arias v. Superior Court, 46 Cal. 4th 969, 984 (2009). Due process concerns with respect to absent class members are not present in a PAGA action. Williams, 3 Cal. 5th at 547 n.4. Unnamed employees need not be given notice of the PAGA claim, nor do they have the ability to opt out of the representative PAGA claim. E.g., Baumann v. Chase Inv. Servs. Corp., 747 F.3d 1117, 1123 (9th Cir. 2014) (noting that unnamed employees need not be given notice of the PAGA claim or settlement approval) (citing Ochoa-Hernandez v. Cjaders Foods, Inc., 2010 WL 1340777, at *4 (N.D. Cal. Apr. 2, 2010)). "The court does not have to approve the named PAGA plaintiff, nor does the court inquire into the adequacy of counsel's ability to represent the unnamed employees." Ochoa-Hernandez, 2010 WL 1340777, at *4. "[T]he purpose of PAGA is to incentivize private parties to recover civil penalties for the government that otherwise may not have been assessed and collected by overburdened state enforcement agencies." Id.

While the recommendations of counsel proposing the settlement are not conclusive, the Court can properly take them into account, particularly where, as here, they have been involved in thorough investigation, are experienced with this type of litigation, and agreed to a resolution through arm's length negotiation. See 4 Alba Conte & Herbert B. Newberg, Newberg on Class Actions § 11.47 (4th ed. 2002); National Rural Telecomms. Coop. v. DIRECTV, Inc., 221 F.R.D. at 528 (C.D. Cal. 2004) ("So long as the integrity of the arm's length negotiation process is preserved, however, a strong initial presumption of fairness attaches to the proposed settlement … and 'great weight' is accorded to the recommendations of counsel, who are most closely acquainted with the facts of the underlying litigation.") (citations omitted). In such circumstances, courts do not substitute their judgment for that of the proponents. National Rural Telecomms. Coop., 221 F.R.D. at 528; accord Hammon v. Barry, 752 F. Supp. 1087 (D.D.C. 1990); Steinberg v. Carey, 470 F. Supp. 471 (S.D.N.Y. 1979); In re Armored Car Antitrust Litig., 472 F. Supp. 1357 (N.D. Ga. 1979); Sommers v. Abraham Lincoln Federal Sav. & Loan Ass'n, 79 F.R.D. 571 (E.D. Pa. 1978).

The factors that would give rise to a presumption of fairness in the context of a class action settlement are present in this PAGA action. Here, both Plaintiff's counsel and Defendant's counsel have a great deal of experience in wage and hour and PAGA litigation. Plaintiff's counsel have extensive class action and PAGA litigation experience and have been approved as class counsel in numerous wage and hour class actions. Yang Decl. ¶¶ 14-17; Declaration of Larry W. Lee ("Lee Decl.") ¶¶ 4-6; Declaration of William L. Marder ("Marder Decl.") ¶¶ 3-10. Each side has apprised the other of their respective factual contentions and legal theories, and each side has considered the other's contentions and theories. Yang Decl. ¶ 10. Defendant provided the relevant numbers of pay periods in which alleged Labor Code violations occurred, among other things—enabling Plaintiff to assess the full value of the PAGA claims and further enabling negotiations to take place between the Parties. Id. ¶ 6. As the settlement is the result of extensive arm's length negotiations between the Parties and their counsel, it is entitled to a presumption of fairness. Id. ¶ 7.

B. The Settlement Obtains an Excellent Result for the State.

1. The Settlement Amount Is Reasonable.

At mediation Plaintiff contended that Defendant's alleged Labor Code violations implicated a $50, $100, and $100 PAGA penalty for each of approximately 19,947 relevant pay periods that potentially had Labor Code violations. Yang Decl. ¶ 8; Lab. Code §§ 558, 210, 2699(f). The Agreement requires Defendant to pay $575,000.00—or approximately $28.83 per pay period gross for the 19,947 relevant pay periods in which Plaintiff contended Labor Code violations occurred. Id.

Of course, Defendant contested the merits and denied it was liable at all, and neither the arbitrator nor any factfinder has not made any determinations of liability prior to the proposed settlement, or at all. Yang Decl. ¶ 9. For example, Defendant contended that there was no potential liability for failures to pay wages, to pay overtime wages, to provide meal periods, to timely pay all wages during employment or upon termination of employment, to provide complete and accurate itemized wage statements, or to reimburse business expenses. Id. Defendant continues to maintain that it has lawful meal period policies, does not need to compensate employees for travel time incurred after visiting their final customer location of the workday, and does not need to reimburse employees for mileage incurred after visiting their final customer location of the workday. Id. Moreover, even if Plaintiff prevailed on the merits, Defendant contested the extent of liability. Id. Specifically, Defendant contended that PAGA penalties would be subject to discretionary reductions. Id.

While the Parties disagree on the application of the law to the facts, each Party recognized in negotiations that, if taken to trial, the other Party would at least have reasonable arguments, such that the Settlement Amount to which the Parties eventually agreed was reasonable. Yang Decl. ¶ 10. Ultimately, as referenced above, based on a review of Defendant's records, even when stacking a $50 civil penalty with two $100 civil penalties in 19,947 pay periods, the total potential penalty recovery amounted to $4,986,750.00. Id. ¶ 8. Plaintiff contends that the Settlement Amount of $575,000.00—approximately 11.53% of the potential penalty recovery—is an excellent result. Id.

Although Plaintiff and her counsel are confident that litigation of the claims would result in a judgment against Defendant, they recognize the inherent risks in litigation, including the specific risks that the applicable law could change, that liability could not be established at arbitration or trial, or that penalties awarded after trial would be reduced. Yang Decl. ¶ 11. The settlement is fair, reasonable, and adequate, given the inherent risks of litigation, as well as the potential for appeals and the costs of pursuing litigation. Id.

2. The Settlement Releases Are Appropriate.

As discussed above, only Plaintiff is subject to a general release. Agreement § 5.2. PAGA Settlement Members release "any and all PAGA claims arising during the PAGA Period that are based on Labor Code violations pled in the Action" only. Id. § 5.1.

Plaintiff alleged targeted claims in the Action, and any settlement releases also are specifically tailored to the targeted claims alleged. The settlement releases are thus appropriate. Cf. Carter v. City of Los Angeles, 224 Cal. App. 4th 808, 820 (2014) ("A general release—covering 'all claims' that were or could have been raised in the suit—is common in class action settlements.").

C. The Requested Payments and Allocations Are Reasonable and Should Be Approved.

The Agreement provides for a Settlement Amount of $575,000.00. Agreement § 3.1. From the Settlement Amount, attorneys' fees will be no more than $191,666.67, and Plaintiff's Counsel also seeks reimbursement of $9,682.17 in actual litigation costs only. Id. §§ 3.1.1-3.1.2; Yang Decl. ¶ 12, Ex. 2. The requested Administration Costs are $9,000.00. Id. § 3.1.3. The PAGA Penalty Fund thus will be $354,651.16, and pursuant to statute, 75% of the PAGA Penalty Fund (or $265,988.37) would constitute the LWDA Payment, and 25% of the PAGA Penalty Fund (or $88,662.79) would be payable to PAGA Settlement Members based on the number of relevant pay periods worked by each PAGA Settlement Member. Id. § 3.1.3.[7]

1. The Requested Attorneys' Fees and Costs Award Is Reasonable.

Plaintiff requests an attorneys' fees award of 33⅓% of the Settlement Amount. Agreement § 3.1.1. Further, the Parties have agreed to reimbursement of Plaintiff's Counsel's litigation costs. Id. Plaintiff's Counsel have incurred costs at their own risk, for example, for filing the lawsuit, service of process, mediation fees, and payment of other litigation related costs. Yang Decl. ¶ 12.

[7] Plaintiff files this motion with the Court and with the LWDA via online submission. Yang Decl. ¶ 21.

a. The percentage of the fund method supports the requested fees.

PAGA allows a prevailing Plaintiff to recover reasonable attorneys' fees. Lab. Code § 2699(k)(1). As discussed below, the requested attorneys' fees of $191,666.67 are reasonable in light of the standards established in the class action context. There, California state and federal courts have recognized that an appropriate method for determining award of attorneys' fees is based on a percentage of the total value of benefits to settlement beneficiaries. Wershba v. Apple Computer, Inc., 91 Cal. App. 4th 224, 254 (2001); Serrano v. Priest, 20 Cal. 3d 25, 34 (1977); Boeing Co. v. Van Gemert, 444 U.S. 472, 478 (1980); Vincent v. Hughes Air West, Inc., 557 F.2d 759, 769 (9th Cir. 1997).

Indeed, under California law, the award of attorneys' fees in common fund wage and hour class action settlements should start with the percentage method. See Laffitte v. Robert Half Int'l, 1 Cal. 5th 480, 503 (2016) ("We join the overwhelming majority of federal and state courts in holding that when class action litigation establishes a monetary fund for the benefit of the class members, and the trial court in its equitable powers awards class counsel a fee out of that fund, the court may determine the amount of a reasonable fee by choosing an appropriate percentage of the fund created"). Under the percentage of the fund method, a court's objective remains to "mimic the market" in fixing a reasonable fee. See Gaskill v. Gordon, 160 F.3d 361, 363 (7th Cir. 1998) (Posner, J.) ("When a fee is set by a court rather than by contract, the object is to set it at a level that will approximate what the market will set … . The judge, in other words, is trying to mimic the market in legal services.").

The requested attorneys' fees of $191,666.67 should be awarded for several reasons:

First, the fee award representing 33⅓% of the fund clearly falls within the accepted range and is consistent with other rulings of other courts and comprehensive surveys of fee awards. Attorneys' fees awards of 35% of the fund are within the expected range in the "market in legal services." See Fitzpatrick, An Empirical Study of Class Action Settlements and Their Fee Award, 7 J. Empirical Leg. Stud. 811, 833 (2010) (analyzing 444 cases between 2006-2007 and concluding that "[m]ost fee awards were between 25 percent and 35 percent"); see also Chavez v. Netflix, Inc., 162 Cal. App. 4th 43, 66

n.11 (2008) ("[E]mpirical studies [that] show that … fee awards in class actions average around one-third of the recovery.").[8]

Second, it is recognized that one of the primary factors justifying an enhanced attorney's fees reward is the attendant risks inherent in the litigation. As observed in City of Detroit v. Grinnell Corp.:

> No one expects a lawyer whose compensation is contingent upon his success to charge, when successful, as little as he would charge a client who had agreed to pay for his services, regardless of success. Nor, particularly in complicated cases producing large recoveries, is it just to make a fee depend solely on the reasonable amount of time expended.

495 F.2d 448, 470 (2d Cir. 1974). Here, it is clear that a settlement fund of $575,000.00 has been created. For Plaintiff's Counsel, the fees here were wholly contingent in nature and the case presented substantial risk, as Defendant could have eliminated Plaintiff's ability to recover anything on the representative PAGA claims by prevailing at the individual arbitration. Nonetheless, despite the possibility of recovering nothing on the representative PAGA claims, Plaintiff's Counsel did not accept a too heavily discounted settlement. Instead, Plaintiff's Counsel continued litigating the claims to obtain what she submits is an excellent result for the State.

b. The lodestar cross-check supports the requested fees.

The amount requested is reasonable for an additional reason. While the primary method employed to determine fees is the percentage method, courts have discretion to use the lodestar method to "cross-check" the amount of fees calculated by way of percentage. The Laffitte court emphasized, however, that "the lodestar calculation, when used in this manner, does not override the trial court's primary determination of the fee as a percentage of the common fund and thus does not impose an absolute maximum or minimum on the potential fee award." Laffitte, 1 Cal. 5th at 505 (emphasis added); In re Rite Aid Corp. Secs. Litig., 396 F.3d 294, 306-07 (3d Cir. 2005) ("[T]he lodestar cross-check does not trump the primary reliance on the percentage of common fund method").

[8] Such a fee award mimics the market and "is supported by the fact that typical contingency fee agreements provide that class counsel will recover 33% if the case is resolved before trial and 40% if the case is tried." Fernandez v. Victoria Secret Stores LLC, 2008 WL 8150856, at *16 n.59 (C.D. Cal. July 21, 2008) (citing Brickman, Effective Hourly Rates of Contingency-Fee Lawyers: Competing Data and Non-Competitive Fees (Fall 2003) 81 Wash U. L. Q. 653, 659 n. 11).

Courts find reasonable multipliers in a lodestar cross-check can "range from 2 to 4 or even higher." Wershba v. Apple Computer, Inc., 91 Cal. App. 4th 224, 255 (2001).[9] Indeed, the intermediate court in Laffitte—after finding that "2 to 4" is a reasonable range for multipliers on a cross-check—affirmed a 2.13 multiplier. Laffitte, 231 Cal. App. 4th at 881-82.[10] Moreover, the Ninth Circuit has cited with approval a comprehensive study of fees awarded by the percentage method showing that the majority of multipliers awarded are "in the 1.5-3.0" range. See Vizcaino v. Microsoft Corp., 290 F.3d 1043, 1051 (9th Cir. 2002) (affirming a multiplier of 3.65 in an employment class action case and analyzing the multiplier awarded in over 30 cases).[11]

With respect to Plaintiff's Counsel's lodestar, at least 164.3 hours have been expended by Plaintiff's Counsel in litigating this case. Yang Decl. ¶ 18, Ex. 3; Lee Decl. ¶ 9, Ex. A; Marder Decl. ¶ 14, Ex. A. Moreover, Plaintiff's Counsel expects to incur approximately 3.0 hours of anticipated time spent to attend the settlement approval hearing, secure approval, and respond to post-approval phone calls and correspondence from the Administrator and defense counsel to effectuate the terms of the settlement. Yang Decl. ¶ 18. Courts are quite liberal in the evidence required to prove an attorney's hours; an attorney's testimony alone may suffice. Martino v. Denevi, 182 Cal. App. 3d 553, 559 (1986) ("Testimony of an attorney as to the number of hours worked on a particular case is sufficient evidence to support an award of attorney fees, even in the absence of detailed time records.").

Reasonable hours include, in addition to time spent during litigation, the time spent before the action is filed, including time spent interviewing the clients, investigating the facts and the law, and preparing the initial pleadings. New York Gaslight Club, Inc. v. Carey, 447 U.S. 54, 62 (1980). The fee

[9] Accord Chavez, 162 Cal. App. 4th at 60 (applying a 2.5 multiplier on a lodestar cross-check); Sutter Health Uninsured Pricing Cases, 171 Cal. App. 4th 495, 512 (2009) (applying a 2.52 multiplier on a cross-check); City of Oakland v. Oakland Raiders, 203 Cal. App. 3d 78 (1988) (affirming a 2.34 multiplier without remand).

[10] The intermediate court opinion was affirmed in full upon review by the California Supreme Court.

[11] Federal district courts applying California law have likewise routinely approved cross-check multipliers between 2.0 and 3.0 in employment cases. See, e.g., Willner v. Manpower Inc., 2015 WL 3863625, at *7 (N.D. Cal. June 22, 2015) (affirming a 2.10 multiplier on settlement of California Labor Code violations); Dyer v. Wells Fargo Bank, N.A., 303 F.R.D. 326, 334 (N.D. Cal. 2014) (approving attorneys' fees that resulted in lodestar multiplier of 2.83); Hopkins v. Stryker Sales Corp., 2013 WL 496358, at *5 (N.D. Cal. Feb. 6, 2013) (approving a multiplier of 2.76 in settlement of Labor Code violations). Other courts have found even higher multipliers to be reasonable by comparison to other cases. See Craft v. County of San Bernardino, 624 F. Supp. 2d 1113, 1125-26 (C.D. Cal. 2008) (approving a 5.2 multiplier after surveying a large body of cases affirming a higher multiplier).

award should also include fees incurred to establish and defend the attorneys' fee claim. Serrano v. Unruh, 32 Cal. 3d 621, 639 (1982). The hours for which Plaintiff's Counsel seeks compensation involve only these types of tasks. Thus, the number of hours for which fees are sought is reasonable.

A reasonable hourly rate is the prevailing rate charged by attorneys of similar skill and experience in the relevant community. PLCM Group, Inc. v. Drexler, 22 Cal. 4th 1084, 1095 (2000). The court may consider other factors when determining a reasonable hourly rate, e.g., the attorney's skill and experience, the nature of the work performed, the relevant area of expertise and the attorney's customary billing rates. Flannery v. California Highway Patrol, 61 Cal. App. 4th 629, 632-33 (1998).

Here, Mr. Yang's hourly rate is $800. Yang Decl. ¶ 19. Mr. Lee's hourly rate is $1,000. Lee Decl. ¶ 8. Mr. Marder's hourly rate is $900. Marder Decl. ¶ 13. Plaintiff's Counsel's skill and experience justify the requested rates. As shown in the supporting declarations, Plaintiff's Counsel has significant experience in the area of employment and wage and hour class and representative actions. Yang Decl. ¶¶ 14-17; Lee Decl. ¶¶ 4-6; Marder Decl. ¶¶ 7-10. Plaintiff's Counsel's practices focus on representing employees in employment matters, particularly wage and hour cases on a contingency basis. Id.

Based on the rates and 167.3 total hours, the lodestar for Plaintiff's Counsel through the finalization of this settlement will be approximately $142,570.00. Yang Decl. ¶ 20; Lee Decl. ¶ 9; Marder Decl. ¶ 14. The requested attorneys' fees result in a modest multiplier of 1.34. Again, the requested fees are reasonable and fair, based on the factors described above. The cross-check also supports the requested fees.

c. The requested litigation costs are reasonable.

PAGA also allows a prevailing plaintiff to recover litigation costs. Lab. Code § 2699(k)(1). The Agreement permits Plaintiff's Counsel to request actual litigation costs of up to $25,000.00. Agreement § 3.1.1. Plaintiff's Counsel now seeks $9,682.17 in costs only. Yang Decl. ¶ 12, Ex. 2. As set forth in accompanying declarations of Plaintiff's counsel, these costs were all directly incurred it the prosecution of this action, including filing fees and service fees. Id. As such, Plaintiff's Counsel's request for costs in the amount of $9,682.17 is fair, adequate, reasonable, and consistent with PAGA's policies.

2. The Requested General Release Payment Should Be Approved.

Plaintiff, Natalia Tan, requests a modest General Release Payment of $10,000.00. Agreement § 3.1.2. The request is reasonable in light of the general release (and waiver of Civil Code section 1542) that the Agreement requires of Plaintiff. Id. § 5.2. Independently, the request is also appropriate in recognition of Plaintiff's efforts on behalf of the State. Declaration of Natalia Tan ("Tan Decl.") ¶¶ 2-3.

With respect to the general release, Plaintiff did not proceed with litigation of all of Plaintiff's potential claims and instead strategically pursued the targeted claims in this lawsuit to maximize Plaintiff's ability to recover penalties for the State. Nonetheless, Plaintiff was required to agree to a general release as part of this settlement, though in any other context, Plaintiff would have sought at least a $10,000.00 payment in exchange for a general release of additional claims that Plaintiff did not pursue.

Independently, courts have held that named plaintiffs in private attorney general actions can request a service award. Rodriguez v. W. Publ'g Corp., 563 F.3d 948, 958-59 (9th Cir. 2009) (explaining that service awards "are intended to compensate class representatives for work done on behalf of the class, to make up for financial or reputational risk undertaken in bringing the action, and, sometimes, to recognize their willingness to act as a private attorney general") (emphasis added).

As part of Plaintiff's duties as a private attorney general, Plaintiff provided the necessary information and evidence that resulted in this settlement. Tan Decl. ¶¶ 2-3. Plaintiff met and conferred with Plaintiff's counsel on a number of occasions to discuss the case. Id. ¶ 3. Plaintiff participated in discovery generally and appeared in person for deposition. Id. Plaintiff provided information and documents to her counsel and made herself available to answer any other questions. Id. Ultimately, Plaintiff's efforts secured an exceptional result.

In addition to the invaluable services that Plaintiff provided, Plaintiff also took a significant risk. Tan Decl. ¶ 4. Plaintiff risks prejudice in the future from other potential employers that may be less willing to hire an individual who has filed suit against a prior employer. Plaintiff took this risk upon herself and the State benefited. No other allegedly aggrieved employees had to face potential prejudice in future employment. Nor did the State have to allocate its limited resources to ensure compliance with the Labor Code.

3. The Administration Costs Should Be Awarded.

Because the Agreement requires payments not only to Plaintiff's Counsel and the LWDA but also to other current and former employees, time and effort will be required to administer the Agreement if it is approved by this Court. Among other things, the Administrator will prepare and mail each absent employee's share and prepare appropriate tax forms for all parties who receive payments under the Agreement. Similarly, any uncashed checks must be voided so that the unclaimed amounts can be forwarded to the State Controller Unclaimed Property Fund. Agreement § 4.7.

Phoenix Settlement Administrators, a well-recognized settlement administrator, has quoted Administration Costs not to exceed $9,000.00 to administer the settlement. Agreement § 3.1.2. The Administration Costs are reasonable and should be approved.

CONCLUSION

The proposed settlement would result in a monetary benefit to the State, consistent with PAGA's purpose. It was the result of informed, arm's length negotiations conducted by counsel experienced in wage and hour class and representative action litigation. Its terms appear to be fair, adequate, and reasonable, and there is no reason to believe the proposal is outside the range of reasonableness for such a settlement. Accordingly, for the benefit of the State and in furtherance of PAGA's policies, Plaintiff respectfully requests that the Court grant approval of the settlement.
