I. INTRODUCTION

Plaintiffs Samuel Kenneth Porter, Julio Acevedo, and April Luckett respectfully request that the Court preliminarily approve the Joint Stipulation of Class Action and PAGA Settlement and Release ("Agreement") entered into between Plaintiffs and Defendant Absolute Security International, Inc. ("Absolute") or "Defendant"). The proposed settlement seeks to resolve claims in this matter in exchange for a non-reversionary $1,000,000 Total Settlement Amount. The settlement class consists of all current and former hourly-paid or nonexempt employees of Defendant in California who worked during the Class Period of January 7, 2021 through January 15, 2026. The Agreement and Notice distribution plan are the products of adversarial, arm's-length negotiations by informed counsel and parties, facilitated by an experienced mediator. The settlement is fair, reasonable, and adequate to all. Plaintiffs analyzed the strengths and vulnerabilities of the claims with Defendants' potential exposure and determined the $1,000,000 proposed settlement is well within the range of reasonableness and is in the Settlement Class Members' best interests. The length and risks of continued litigation and trial that affect the values of the claims were all carefully weighed. In addition, the defenses asserted by Defendants, the uncertainty of class certification, the difficulties of complex litigation, the lengthy process of establishing specific damages and possible delays and appeals, were also considered by Plaintiffs and counsel in negotiating the proposed settlement. Further, the proposed settlement satisfies the criteria for preliminary approval under California Rules of Court, Rule 3.769.

Accordingly, Plaintiffs seek: (1) preliminary approval of the settlement; (2) provisional certification of the Settlement Class; (3) appointment of Plaintiffs as the Class Representatives; (4) appointment of Crosner Legal, PC and Lawyers for Justice, PC as Class Counsel; (5) approval of the Parties' proposed Notice of Class Action Settlement ("Notice") and method of notifying the Settlement Class Members; (6) a hearing date for Plaintiffs' Motion for Final Approval of Class Action and PAGA Settlement; and (7) entry of an Order Granting Preliminary Approval of Class Action and PAGA Settlement.

II. BACKGROUND/LITIGATION HISTORY

Absolute is a licensed Private Patrol Operator with the Bureau of Security and Investigative Service. They are a bonded security firm providing multi-level customized security protection to federal, state, and local governments. Defendants currently serve over 80 private and public contract accounts throughout Southern California, specializing in armed & unarmed security, vehicle patrols, receptionist & concierge services, access control, dignitary protection, alarm response, and more. Employees were expected to perform a variety of tasks, including, but not limited to, driving, patrolling, filling in incident reports, and ensuring that individuals entered and left locations being patrolled safely. Plaintiffs Porter, Luckett, and Acevedo are former employees who worked for Defendants from approximately April 2021 to approximately March 2022, February 2023 to approximately July 2024, and March 2024 to approximately April 2024, respectively, as security guards. (Brouillette Decl., ¶ 16.)

On October 25, 2024, Plaintiff Luckett filed a Representative Complaint for Violation of the Private Attorneys General Act, Cal. Labor Code Sections 2698, et seq., thereby commencing a PAGA representative action entitled April Luckett v. Absolute International Security, Inc., in the Superior Court of California for the County of Riverside, Case No. OVME2404348 ("Luckett Action"). On May 12, 2025, Plaintiff Luckett transferred her Complaint to the Superior Court of California for the County of Los Angeles, thereby commencing a PAGA representative action entitled April Luckett v. Absolute International Security, Inc., in the Superior Court of California for the County of Los Angeles, Case No. 25STCV13792. (Brouillette Decl., ¶ 17.)

On. November 13, 2024, Plaintiff Porter filed a Class Action Complaint for Damages, thereby commencing a putative class action entitled Samuel Kenneth Porter v. Absolute International Security, Inc., in the Superior Court of California for the County of Los Angeles, Case No. 24STCV29888 ("Porter Action") against Defendant for alleged violations of the California Labor Code. (Brouillette Decl., ¶ 18.)

On March 7, 2025, Plaintiff Acevedo provided notice by electronic upload to the Labor and Workforce Development Agency and written notice by certified mail to Defendant of his intent to pursue civil penalties under PAGA for Defendant's alleged violations of the California Labor Code sections 201, 202, 203, 204, 226(a), 226.7, 510, 512(a), 551, 552, 558, 1174(d), 1194, 1197, 1197.1, 1198, 2800 and 2802, and Industrial Welfare Commission Wage Orders including inter alia, Wage Order 4-2001 ("Acevedo PAGA Notice") (together with Luckett PAGA Notice, the "PAGA Notices"). (Brouillette Decl., ¶ 19.)

On May 12, 2025, Plaintiff Acevedo filed a Complaint for Enforcement Under the Private Attorneys General Act, California Labor Code §§ 2698, et seq., thereby commencing a representative action entitled Julio Acevedo v. Absolute International Security, Inc.; Absolute Security Intl Corp, in the Superior Court of California for the County of Los Angeles, Case No. 25PSCV01730 ("Acevedo Action") against Defendant for alleged violations of the California Labor Code. (Brouillette Decl., ¶ 20.)

In October 2025, the Parties participated in a global mediation with Steve Rottman, Esq., respected wage and hour class action mediator. The mediation lasted a full day and with the mediator's assistance the Parties ultimately reached agreement on all major issues to resolve the matters on a global basis. They then formally reduced the proposed settlement to the Agreement now before the Court for approval. The Agreement meets the requirements in the LASC Checklist for Preliminary Approval. The Agreement has also been uploaded to the LWDA. (Brouillette Decl., ¶ 21; Exh. 5.)

Finally, in order to fully effect a global settlement of the above cases, the Parties stipulated that Plaintiff Porter would file a First Amended Complaint in this matter to include all plaintiffs and claims alleged in complaints at issue. Plaintiffs filed the operative FAC on August 14, 2026.[1] (Brouillette Decl., ¶ 22.)

III. INVESTIGATION

Prior to the mediations, Defendant provided Plaintiffs with extensive informal discovery, including Plaintiffs' personnel, time, and payroll records, time records and payroll records for the entire population of Settlement Class Members, wage statement exemplars, Defendant's employee handbooks, including policies and procedures regarding the payment of wages, the provision of meal and rest breaks, timekeeping policies (including recording hours), issuance of wage statements, and termination wages, as well as information regarding the number of putative Settlement Class Members who are current and former employees, sample arbitration agreements,

[1] Plaintiffs uploaded the FAC to the LWDA. (Brouillette Decl., Exh. 5.)

the number of PAGA Aggrieved Employees, the number of workweeks throughout the Class Period, and the number of pay periods throughout the PAGA Period. From this information, Plaintiffs were able to analyze Defendant's liability for the claims asserted in this case and, with the assistance of Plaintiffs' experts at Berger Consulting Group, the potential exposure and damages. (Brouillette Decl., ¶ 23.)

Based on this informal discovery, Plaintiffs contend the Settlement Class Members were not paid all minimum or overtime wages, did not receive proper expense reimbursement, were not provided with legally compliant meal and rest periods, did not receive compliant wage statements, and did not receive all wages due on separation of employment. In considering the reasonableness of the proposed settlement, Plaintiffs considered each of Defendant's counterarguments, which sharply contested Plaintiffs' claims. Plaintiffs' Counsel weighed the strength of Defendant's arguments, including the risks posed by the various arbitration agreements, the risks of prevailing in the underlying individual arbitrations and on the merits of the representative claims, and determined that the proposed settlement is in the best interests of the Settlement Class. Although remaining confident in the strength of their claims, all these factors led Plaintiffs to discount the exposure analysis, discussed in detail below. (Brouillette Decl., ¶ 24.)

IV. TERMS OF THE PROPOSED SETTLEMENT

A. Deductions from the Settlement

The Parties have agreed (subject to Court approval) that this action be settled and compromised for the non-reversionary sum of $1,000,000.00 ("Total Settlement Amount" or "TSA"). (Agreement, § 12.pp.) The TSA includes: (a) attorney's fees of up to $350,000 (35% of the TSA)[2] to compensate Class Counsel for work already performed and all work remaining to be performed (Agreement, § 17. ); (b) actual litigation expenses not to exceed $60,000[3] (Agreement, § 17.); (c) Administration Costs to Simpluris, Inc. in an amount not to exceed $21,000 (Agreement,

[2] The percentage method, with or without a lodestar cross-check, may be used in common fund cases like this one. Laffitte v. Robert Half Int'l., Inc. (2016) 1 Cal.5th 480, 503. In support of their fee request at Final Approval, Class Counsel will provide the Court with lodestar information to permit the Court to do a lodestar cross-check in connection with Class Counsel's request for attorney's fees. Additionally, any fees awarded will be split 50/50 between Class Counsel, and both Plaintiffs have been informed of the fee split and consented thereto in writing.

[3] At Final Approval, Class Counsel will provide documentation regarding actual expenses incurred to support Class Counsels' request for reimbursement of actual expenses.

§ 19.); (d) Enhancement Awards to Plaintiffs in an amount not to exceed $10,000 each ($30,000 total) (Agreement, § 18.) and (e) PAGA penalties to the LWDA of $130,000 (which is 65% of the $200,000.00 PAGA Payment, with the remaining 35% or $70,000 to the Aggrieved Employees) (Agreement, § 20.). Employer-side payroll taxes (including FICA, FUTA, and SDI) will be paid by Defendant separate and apart from the TSA. (Agreement, § 16.)

B. Calculation of the Individual Settlement Payments to Settlement Class and PAGA Aggrieved Employees

After all Court-approved deductions from the TSA, it is estimated that $339,000 ("Net Settlement Amount" or "NSA"), less all applicable employee-side taxes, will be distributed to the estimated 2,557[4] Settlement Class Members, with an average individual settlement amount of around $132. Additionally, it is estimated that the 35% PAGA Payment ($70,000) will be distributed to the estimated 1,314 Aggrieved Employees, resulting in an average payment of $53.27[5] per Aggrieved Employee. (Brouillette Decl., ¶ 26.)

Subject to the terms and conditions of the Settlement, Simpluris will calculate and issue Individual Settlement Payments to Participating Settlement Class Members based on the following formula: (a) dividing the Net Settlement Amount by the total number of Workweeks worked by all Participating Settlement Class Members during the Class Period and (b) multiplying the result by each Participating Settlement Class Member's Workweeks. (Agreement, § 21.)

Additionally, Simpluris will calculate and issue payments to Aggrieved Employees based on the following formula: (a) dividing the amount of the Aggrieved Employees' 35% share of PAGA Penalties ($70,000) by the total number of PAGA Period Pay Periods worked by all PAGA Aggrieved Employees during the PAGA Period and (b) multiplying the result by each PAGA Aggrieved Employee's PAGA Period Pay Periods. Therefore, the value of each PAGA Aggrieved Employee's share of the PAGA Payment ties directly to the amount of pay periods that he or she worked. (Agreement, § 22.)

The number of pay periods and weeks worked by each Participating Class Member and PAGA Aggrieved Employee will be derived from Defendants' records. Each Class Member's [4] $339,000 NSA / 2,557 class members.

[5] $70,000 (35% PAGA Payment) / 1,314 Aggrieved Employees.

gross settlement award will be apportioned as follows: 20% wages and 80% penalties and interest. Simpluris will be responsible for issuing Form W-2s for amounts deemed "wages" and Form 1099s for the portions allocated to penalties and interest. (Agreement, § 32.)

C. Uncashed Funds to Unclaimed Property Fund

Settlement checks must be cashed or deposited within 180 days after the checks are mailed to them. (Agreement, § 27.c.) In the event a settlement check remains uncashed, such uncashed funds shall be transmitted to the State Controller's Office Unclaimed Property Fund in the name of the Participating Class Member and/or PAGA Member for later claim. (Agreement, § 27.c.) Because this lawsuit benefits Class Members/PAGA Members who release claims by participating in the lawsuit, the funds representing their settlement payments should remain their property. By sending the uncashed funds to the Unclaimed Property Fund in the name of the Class Member/PAGA Member, he or she can claim his or her property at a future date convenient to the Class Member. Therefore, there will be no unpaid residue or unclaimed or abandoned Class Member funds under California Code of Civil Procedure section 384(a).

D. Notice and Extended Response Deadline for Re-Mailed Notices

Within 21 days after entry of the Preliminary Approval Order, Defendants will provide Simpluris with the Class List, containing each Class Member's first and last name, last known mailing address, Social Security number, total number of weeks worked during the Class Period, and total number of pay periods worked during the PAGA Period. (Agreement, § 25.) Prior to mailing, Simpluris will perform a search for updated addresses in the National Change of Address Database. (Agreement, § 26.) Simpluris will use the NCOA and skip traces to attempt to find current addresses for any Notice returned as undeliverable. For any re-mailed Notice, Simpluris will extend the Class Member's Response Deadline by 14 calendar days. If Simpluris is unable to obtain a better address for a Class Member, the Notice will be deemed undeliverable. No later than 15 days after receiving the class data, Simpluris will mail via regular First-Class mail the Notice to all Settlement Class Members. (Agreement, §§ 12.ll, 26.)

The contents of the Notice are consistent with the terms of the Agreement. The Notice informs Settlement Class Members how and when to request exclusion from or object to the settlement and of their estimated payment amount which they will automatically receive a settlement payment if they do nothing. The Notice further advises Settlement Class Members how to obtain documents filed in the case from the Court, Simpluris or Class Counsel, how to check the Court's website to find out whether the Final Approval hearing date/location has been changed, directs the Class Member to Simpluris's website and the Court's website to find out whether final judgment has been entered. (Brouillette Decl., ¶ 29, Exh. 2.)

E. Responses to the Settlement

Settlement Class Members will have 45 days from the initial mailing of the Notice to respond to the settlement by submitting a challenge to the number of weeks or pay periods attributed to them, submitting an objection, or requesting to be excluded from the settlement and the consequences of each choice. (Agreement, § 12.ll.) Settlement Class Members can submit a written request for exclusion from the settlement by mailing, faxing, or emailing a signed written request, including his or her name, address, and phone number, and a statement demonstrating his or her intent to opt out of the settlement. (Agreement, § 28.)

The Notice also informs the Class Member/PAGA Aggrieved Employees that they can dispute the number of weeks/pay periods allotted to them to calculate their settlement payments by contacting Simpluris before the Response Deadline and include any documentation supporting the dispute. Simpluris will investigate the dispute, request additional information from Defendants and make a final decision as to the number of eligible work weeks/pay periods. (Agreement, § 26.c.)

Participating Class Members and Aggrieved Employees also can object to the settlement in writing via mail or fax by submitting a document with their name, the words "Notice of Objection" or "Formal Objection" and a description of the arguments supporting their objection. Settlement Class Members are informed that the Court will hear any objections from any Class Member who attends the Final Approval Hearing. (Agreement, § 29.)

F. Funding and Distribution of the Settlement

Defendant shall fund the Total Settlement Amount within three years after the date the Court grants preliminary approval. Simpluris shall disburse all payments under this Settlement within 7 days after Defendant fully funds the Total Settlement Amount. (Agreement, § 16.)

G. Release of Claims

Upon Defendant's payment funding the TSA, Participating Settlement Class Members shall forever release the Released Parties[6] for the Released Claims for the Class Period. (Agreement, §§ 12.hh, 37.) Likewise, upon Defendant's payment funding the TSA, Plaintiffs, the PAGA Aggrieved Employees, and the State of California shall forever release the Released Parties for the PAGA Released Claims for the PAGA Period. (Agreement, §§ 12.ii, 38.)

As discussed below, Plaintiffs' Counsel is convinced that the proposed settlement is in the Settlement Class Members' best interests based on the negotiations and a detailed knowledge of the issues present in this action. The length and risks continued litigation that affect the value of the claims were all carefully weighed. In addition, the affirmative defenses asserted by Defendant, the uncertainty of class certification, the difficulties of complex litigation, the lengthy process of establishing specific damages and various possible delays and appeals were also carefully considered by Plaintiffs' Counsel in arriving at the proposed settlement. (Brouillette Decl., ¶ 38.)

IV. ARGUMENT

In deciding whether to approve a proposed class action settlement under Code of Civil Procedure section 382, the Court must find that a proposed settlement is "fair, adequate and reasonable." Dunk v. Ford Motor Co. (1996) 48 Cal.App.4th 1794, 1801 quoting Officers for Justice v. Civil Serv. Comm'n (9th Cir. 1982) 688 F.2d 615, 625, cert. den. (1983) 459 U.S. 1217. A proposed class action settlement is presumed fair under the following circumstances: (1) the parties reached settlement after arms-length negotiations; (2) investigation and discovery were sufficient to allow counsel and the court to act intelligently; (3) counsel is experienced in similar litigation; and (4) the percentage of objectors is small. Id. at 1802. As the following shows, all of these elements are present here and the Court should grant of preliminary approval.

[6] "Released Parties" means Defendant Absolute International Security, Inc. and any of its former and/or current parents, subsidiaries, affiliates, and any other entities that could be considered to have jointly employed the Class Members or PAGA Members as well as each of their officers, directors, managers, owners, executives, partners, executive-level employees, shareholders, agents, attorneys, and any other predecessors, successors, assigns or legal representatives. (Agreement, § 12.jj.)

A. The Settlement was Reached as a Result of Arm's Length Negotiations

The proposed settlement was reached as a result of arm's-length negotiations. Though cordial and professional, the settlement negotiations have been, at all times, adversarial and non-collusive in nature. Following mediation, Counsel for the Parties further negotiated regarding the settlement terms memorialized in the Agreement. While Plaintiffs believe in the merits of their case, they also recognize the inherent risks of litigation and understand the benefit of Settlement Class Members receiving significant settlement funds immediately as opposed to risking continued litigation in achieving class certification, the merits of the case before and after trial, the damages awarded and/or an appeal that can take several more years to litigate. (Brouillette Decl., ¶ 39.)

B. The Settlement is the Result of Thorough Investigation and Discovery

The Parties thoroughly investigated and evaluated the factual strengths and weaknesses of their arguments before reaching the proposed settlement, and engaged in sufficient investigation, research and discovery, referenced above, to support the settlement. The proposed settlement was only possible following significant analysis and evaluation of Defendants' relevant policies and procedures, as well as the data it produced for the putative Class, which permitted Plaintiffs' Counsel and experts to engage in a comprehensive analysis of liability and potential damages to prepare for mediation. (Brouillette Decl., ¶ 40.) This litigation has reached the stage where "the Parties certainly have a clear view of the strengths and weaknesses of their cases" sufficient to support the Settlement. Boyd v. Bechtel Corp. (N.D. Cal. 1979) 485 F. Supp. 610, 617.

C. Counsel for the Parties are Experienced in Similar Litigation

Counsel for the Parties are particularly experienced in wage and hour employment law, class actions and PAGA actions. Plaintiffs' Counsel have prosecuted numerous cases on behalf of employees for wage and hour violations and thus are experienced and qualified to evaluate the class and PAGA claims, evaluate settlement versus trial on a fully informed basis, and to evaluate the viability of the defenses. This experience informed Plaintiffs' Counsel on the risks and uncertainties of further litigation and guided their determination to endorse the proposed settlement.[7] (Brouillette Decl. ¶¶ 4-15; Declaration Ryan Slinger ("Slinger Decl."), ¶¶ 3, 9-15, Exh.

[7] The final factor mentioned in Dunk - the number of objectors - is not determinable until the Notice of

D. The Proposed Settlement is a Reasonable Compromise of Claims

An understanding of the amount in controversy is an important factor into whether the settlement "of the Settlement Class Members' claims is reasonable in light of the strengths and weaknesses of the claims and the risks of the particular litigation." Kullar v. Foot Locker Retail, Inc. (2008) 168 Cal.App.4th 116; 129; Munoz v. BCI Coca-Cola Bottling Co. of Los Angeles (2010) 186 Cal.App.4th 399, 409. The most important factor in this regard is "the strength of the case for plaintiffs on the merits, balanced against the amount offered in settlement." Kullar, 168 Cal.App.4th at 129.

In weighing the strength of Plaintiffs' case, Kullar instructs that the court is not to "decide the merits of the case or to substitute its evaluation of the most appropriate settlement for that of the attorneys." 168 Cal.App.4th at 133. Further, this analysis does not require an explicit statement of the maximum amount the plaintiff class could recover if it prevailed on all its claims, provided there is a record which allows "an understanding of the amount that is in controversy and the realistic range of outcomes of the litigation." Munoz, 186 Cal. App. 4th at 409. Put differently, "as the court does when it approves a settlement as in good faith under Code of Civil Procedure section 877.6, the court must at least satisfy itself that the class settlement is within the 'ballpark' of reasonableness." Kullar, 168 Cal. App. 4th at 133 citing Tech-Bilt v. Woodward-Clyde & Associates (1985) 38 Cal. 3d 488, 499-500. As shown below, the Parties' investigation and discovery revealed several reasons to discount claims and agree to this settlement.

E. The Settlement is Fair and Reasonable Based on the Strengths of Plaintiffs' Case and the Risks and Costs of Further Litigation

The proposed settlement was only possible following significant analysis and evaluation of Defendant's relevant policies and procedures, as well as the data that Defendants produced for the Class. This permitted Plaintiffs' Counsel to engage in a comprehensive analysis of liability and potential damages. The discovery conducted resulted in Plaintiffs' central theories of liability, which are based on Plaintiffs' claims that Defendant failed to provide compliant meal and rest periods, failed to pay all minimum and overtime wages at the correct rate, failed to provide accurate, itemized wage statements and failed to pay all wages due on separation of employment. On the other hand, Defendant maintained that Plaintiffs and the majority of the Class Members are union employees and that the applicable CBAs would substantially impact Plaintiffs ability to pursue their claims due to federal preemption and arbitration issues. Defendant argued strongly that the discovery produced demonstrates they would succeed at both class certification and on the merits. (Brouillette Decl., ¶ 41.)

Plaintiffs believe this case is suitable for certification on the claimed basis that there are company-wide policies that Plaintiffs contend violate California law and uniformly affect the Settlement Class Members. However, Defendant's counterarguments raise uncertainties with respect to both class certification and success on the merits. As the California Supreme Court emphasized in Sav-On v. Superior Court (2004) 34 Cal.4th 319 (2004), class certification is always a matter of the trial court's sound discretion, and decisions following Sav-On have reached different conclusions with respect to certification of wage and hour claims.[8] While remaining confident in the strengths of their claims, all of these factors led Plaintiffs to discount the following maximum potential damage claims. (Brouillette Decl., ¶ 42.)

1. The Settlement Amount is Reasonable

Defendants provided Plaintiffs with class-wide data from which Plaintiffs' Counsel could extrapolate a damage analysis in preparation of mediation. These extrapolations suggested there are about 2,557 putative class members and  work weeks in the Class Period, and approximately 1,314 Aggrieved Employees and 41,448 pay periods within the PAGA Period. (Brouillette Decl., ¶ 43.)

On their unpaid wage claims, Plaintiffs assert Defendants maintained a practice of paying hourly-paid employees based on a predetermined number of hours rather than actual hours worked, and further had an off the clock policy and practice that that required all employees to be on the job site prior to the beginning of their scheduled start times. In response Defendant argued their timekeeping and payroll policies accurately tracked and paid for all hours worked at the correct hourly rates. They further argued their policies strictly prohibited "off the clock" work, and contend that if any such work occurred it was aberrational and done without management's authorization or knowledge. White v. Starbucks Corp. (N.D. Cal. 2007) 497 F.Supp.2d 1080, 1083 (employer must have actual or constructive knowledge of the off the clock work). Defendants likewise argued these issues would render the claims uncertifiable since innumerable individualized inquiries would be necessary to determine if and why a class member worked off the clock. After consideration of all Defendant's various defenses, Plaintiffs estimate a risk-discounted exposure of around $173,250 in unpaid minimum and overtime wages for off the clock work. (Brouillette Decl., ¶ 44; Slinger Decl., ¶ 31.a-b.)

[8] E.g., Harris v. Superior Court, 154 Cal.App.4th 164 (2007) (reversing decertification of class claiming misclassification and ordering summary adjudication in favor of employees), review granted, 171 P.3d 545 (2007) (not cited as precedent, but rather for illustrative purposes only); Walsh v. IKON Solutions, Inc., 148 Cal.App.4th 1440 (2007) (affirming decertification of class claiming misclassification); Aguilar v. Cintas Corp. No. 2, 144 Cal.App.4th 121 (2006) (reversing denial of certification); Dunbar v. Albertson's Inc., 141 Cal.App.4th 1422 (2006) (affirming denial of certification).

Plaintiffs next contend Defendants failed to provide legally compliant meal and rest breaks. Plaintiffs allege employees regularly suffered short, late, interrupted or missed meal and rest periods due to the demands of the job to constantly stay on duty. Additionally, Plaintiffs and other employees were expected to carry their personal cell phones or company-provided walkie-talkies and to respond to any text or calls from Defendants at all times--even while on meal or rest breaks, thereby always under Defendants' control and never fully relieved to take compliant meal or rest breaks. Plaintiffs argued these factors resulted in numerous "de facto" meal period violations for missed, untimely, and short meal periods. On the rest break claims, Plaintiffs argued that rest periods were regularly missed, later, shortened, and/or interrupted, that Class Members were required to remain on premises during rest breaks, readily available to assist with work tasks, and that Defendant failed to properly pay premiums for all non-compliant meal and rest periods. (Brouillette Decl., ¶ 45.)

Defendant denies Plaintiffs' contentions, and argued it made meal and rest breaks available to Settlement Class Members in compliance with California law and their fully compliant meal and rest break policies. Defendants contended Class Members were provided with all required breaks, or that they paid appropriate meal period premiums on the rare occasions a violation did occur. Absolute further pointed out that its security guards signed valid "on duty" meal period waivers and also signed valid second meal period waivers and accordingly many of the alleged violations were properly waived by the class members. Defendants further argued Plaintiffs' meal and rest break claims are not susceptible to common proof, as the claims would require individualized inquiry, including whether there was an unlawful companywide policy, whether employees had the opportunity to take meal and rest periods, whether they voluntarily chose to forego their meal and rest periods, and whether Defendants ever prevented them from taking meal and rest periods. Accordingly, Defendants contend these claims are vulnerable to a ruling that class treatment is not appropriate. After accounting for Defendants' multiple counterarguments, Plaintiffs estimated the risk-discounted exposure for meal violations at about $192,500, and further estimated the risk-discounted exposure for rest breaks at about 128,333. (Brouillette Decl., ¶ 46; Slinger Decl., ¶ 31.c-d.)

For their expense reimbursement claims, Plaintiffs alleged Absolute had a policy and practice of requiring class members use their personal cell phones for business purposes. Specifically, Plaintiffs contended class members were required to use their personal cell phones to communicate with each other and their supervisors, were put in a group chat to discuss policies, scheduling and other work-related matters, and to communicate with each other throughout the day. On the other hand Defendants argued their policies prohibited use of personal phones while working and not on a break, and that other means of communicating were available at job sites, such as company-issued cell phones. Thus, per Defendants any use of personal phones would have been purely for personal convenience and not reimbursable as a "reasonable" or "necessary" business expense under Labor Code section 2802. Here, Plaintiffs estimated the risk-discounted liability at about $12,833. (Brouillette Decl., ¶ 47; Slinger Decl., ¶ 31.i.)

Plaintiffs also alleged derivative violations of Labor Code sections 226 (failure to provide accurate wage statements) and §§ 201-203 (failure to timely pay final wages), in addition to the alleged facial violations above. As far as the derivative claims, they will rise or fall along with the primary unpaid wage claims, in addition to being subject to "good faith" and other defenses available to Defendants. Amaral v. Cintas Corp. No. 2 (2008) 163 Cal.App.4th 1157, 1203-04

(holding employer did not willfully fail to pay wages under Labor Code § 203 even though the class prevailed on the merits on the underlying claim for failing to pay living wages). Without accounting for any of Defendants' counterarguments, Plaintiffs estimated the risk-discounted wage statement penalties at about $161,806, and the risk-discounted waiting time penalties at about $330,039. (Brouillette Decl., ¶ 48; Slinger Decl., ¶ 31.f-g.)

As far as potential PAGA liability, the theoretical civil penalties likely exceed $2.4 million should Plaintiffs prevail on all claims and establish violations of the multiple Labor Code sections at issue, and recover the maximum penalty for every single pay period at issue. (Brouillette Decl., ¶ 49; Slinger Decl., ¶ 31.j.) As with the class claims, Plaintiffs discounted the potential PAGA penalties based on Defendants' various defenses on the merits and also accounted for the Court's wide discretion to reduce such penalties, or to decline to award penalties at all. Labor Code § 2699(e)(2); Carrington v. Starbucks Corp. (2018) 30 Cal.App.5th 504 (trial court awarded penalties of $5 per pay period after a bench trial, which decision was upheld on appeal); In re Taco Bell Wage and Hour Actions (E.D. Cal. Apr. 8, 2016) 2016 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 48557 (PAGA penalties denied after trial). Accordingly, the Parties allocated $200,000 to PAGA penalties, which is the approximate amount of potential penalties Plaintiffs estimated they could secure on a risk-discounted basis.

Plaintiffs submit this amount is reasonable under the circumstances and in line with comparable settlements in other wage and hour class actions in California. E.g., Van Kempen v. Matheson Tri-Gas, Inc. (N.D. Cal. Aug. 25, 2017) 2017 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 137182 (granting final approval of $5,000 PAGA penalty from $370,000 settlement, or 1.4 percent of total settlement); Slavkov v. First Water Heater Partners I (N.D. Cal. July 25, 2017) 2017 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 116303 (finding a $7,500 PAGA payment reasonable when measured against the overall settlement of $345,000 and the possible weaknesses in plaintiffs' case, or 2.2 percent of total settlement). Additionally, the LWDA has been informed of the terms of the PAGA portion of the settlement, and will be able to weigh in as necessary. Jennings v. Open Door Mktg. Inc. (N.D. Cal. Oct. 3, 2018) 2018 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 171356, at *27 (approving settlement with PAGA penalties of 0.6% where "[p]laintiffs [have] submitted the settlement agreement to the LWDA, and the LWDA has not objected to the settlement.

Thus, Plaintiffs and their counsel discounted the value of the class claims consistent with the risks discussed above, as well as the potential applicability of arbitration agreements signed by many Settlement Class Members. They carefully weighed the likelihood of the class receiving substantially greater benefit if the litigation continued, and concluded – in light of these very real and substantial risks – settlement on the proposed terms and without prolonged and costly litigation was in the best interests of the class. The overall $1,000,000 recovery represents a significant percentage of Defendants' potential exposure and, given Defendants' multi-layered defenses and all other potential risks of continued litigation, a total recovery for the class of $1,000,000, which will result in average award of some $132 per class member, plus additional sums under PAGA, is a significant result well within the range of reasonableness considering all potential outcomes, and it will provide direct monetary awards to all Settlement Class Members without further delay. (Brouillette Decl., ¶ 50; Slinger Decl., ¶¶ 31-33.)

Importantly, the mere fact that a settlement does not provide the same recovery as might be achieved at trial is not a proper indicator of whether the settlement is fair, reasonable, and adequate. Wershba, 91 Cal.App.4th at 246, 250 ("Compromise is inherent and necessary in the settlement process…even if the relief afforded by the proposed settlement is substantially narrower than it would be if the suits were to be successfully litigated, this is no bar to a class settlement because the public interest may indeed be served by a voluntary settlement in which each side gives ground in the interest of avoiding litigation"); 7-Eleven Owners for Fair Franchising v. Southland Corp. (2000) 85 Cal.App.4th 1135, 1150 ("The fact that a proposed settlement may amount to only a fraction of the potential recovery does not, in and of itself, mean that the proposed settlement is grossly inadequate and should be disapproved"); White v. Experian Information Solutions, Inc. (C.D. Cal. 2011) 803 F.Supp.2d 1086, 1098 (rejecting contention settlement was not fair and reasonable even though it represented 99% discount off the maximum value of the claims); Lane v. Facebook, Inc. (9th Cir. 2012) 696 F.3d 811, 819 ("[T]he question whether a settlement is fundamentally fair . . . is different from the question whether the settlement is perfect in the estimation of the reviewing court"). Importantly as well, the proposed settlement is nonreversionary and will provide immediate benefits to the Settlement Class Members without a claims process. White, 803 F.Supp.2d at 1098; c.f., Federal Judicial Center, Managing Class Action Litigation: A Pocket Guide for Judges (3d ed. 2010) at 20, available at http://www.fjc.gov/sites/default/files/2012/ClassGd3.pdf (reversionary provisions and/or cumbersome claims process may indicate lack of fairness). Plaintiffs and their counsel submit the settlement is within the "range of reasonableness," and is fair and adequate for the Class.

F. Provisional Class Certification Should be Granted

A class action is appropriate when the class is ascertainable and there is "a well-defined community of interest in the questions of law and fact involved affecting the parties to be represented." Code Civ. Proc. § 382. Class certification requirements under Section 382 follow Rule 23 of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, and require: numerosity, typicality of the class representatives' claims, adequacy of representation, predominance of common issues, and superiority. Fed.R.Civ.Pro. 23(b)(3); Hanlon v. Chrysler Corp. (9th Cir. 1998) 150 F.3d 1011, 1019. While a court must certify a class for settlement purposes if a class has not already been certified, "it is well established that trial courts should use different standards to determine the propriety of a settlement class, as opposed to a litigation class certification. Specifically, a lesser standard of scrutiny is used for settlement cases." Glob. Minerals & Metals Corp. v. Superior Court (2013) 113 Cal.App.4th 836, 859 citing Dunk, Cal.App.4th 1794, 1807, n.19; Wershba v. Apple Computer (2001) 91 Cal.App.4th 224, 237-38.

1. The Proposed Class is Sufficiently Numerous and Ascertainable

First, the class is both sufficiently numerous, consisting of approximately 2,557 individuals, and ascertainable by reference to Defendants' personnel and payroll records. (Brouillette Decl., ¶ 51; Slinger Decl., ¶¶ 12-13.) "There is no set number required to maintain a class action, and the statutory test is whether a class is so numerous that 'it is impracticable to bring them all before the court.'" Hebbard v. Colgrove (1972) 28 Cal. App. 3d 1017, 1030 (noting that there is no set minimum to meet the numerosity prerequisite, but that a class of as few as 28 is acceptable); Bowles v. Superior Court (1995) 44 Cal. 2d 574 (upholding a class of ten members); Rose v. City of Hayward (1981) 126 Cal. App. 3d 926, 932 (finding that "Settlement Class Members are 'ascertainable' where they may be readily identified without unreasonable expense or time by reference to official records."). Thus, the ascertainability requirement is met.

2. The Typicality and Adequacy Requirements Are Met

The typicality requirement is met if the claims of the named representative are typical of those of the Class, though, "they need not be substantially identical." Classen v. Weller (1983) 145 Cal.App.3d 27, 46-47. Here, Plaintiffs contends their claims all are typical of the Settlement Class Members' claims because they arise from the same factual basis and are based on the same legal theories applicable to the Settlement Class Members. Plaintiffs further contend Defendants' policies applied to all Settlement Class Members and each Class Member is challenging the same policies and practices. As such, the typicality requirement is satisfied for purposes of settlement. (Brouillette Decl., ¶ 52; Luckett Decl., ¶¶ 2-9; Porter Decl., ¶ 7; Acevedo Decl. ¶ 7)

Adequacy requires that the Plaintiffs have no interests adverse to the interests of the proposed Settlement Class Members and be committed to vigorously prosecuting the case on behalf of the Class. McGhee v. Bank of America (1976) 70 Cal.App.3d 442, 450-51. Plaintiffs all have been and will continue to be committed to vigorously prosecuting this case, and they have no conflicts of interest with the Class. (Broillette Decl., ¶ 53; Luckett Decl., ¶¶ 2-9; Porter Decl., ¶¶ 3-5 & 7-10; Acevedo Decl. ¶¶ 3-5 & 7-10.) Further, their counsel are experienced class action counsel. (Brouillette Decl. ¶¶ 4-15; Slinger Decl., ¶¶ 16-20.) For these reasons, Plaintiffs contend they are adequate class representatives.

3. The Commonality Requirement is Met

Next, common questions of law and fact predominate – particularly for purposes of a settlement class – as the Settlement Class Members all were subject to the same meal and rest break policies and alleged "de facto" policies resulting in meal period violations, and similarly subject to the same alleged time keeping policies that resulted in off the clock work. Since the focus of the claims against Defendants concern the legality of common policies applied uniformly to the entire class, common issues predominate over individualized inquiries concerning liability. For instance, Defendants' meal and rest break policy is company-wide policy applied equally and consistently to all Settlement Class Members, and this policy is either compliant with California law or it is not. Regardless of that determination, it will decide liability for all Settlement Class Members one way or another. (Brouillette Decl., ¶ 54Slinger Decl., ¶ 14.)

By now it is well-settled a theory of recovery asserting the existence of a uniform policy violating California law is sufficient to satisfy the requirements for class certification. Jones v. Farmers Ins. Exch. (2013) 221 Cal.App.4th 986, 996 ("Claims alleging that a uniform policy consistently applied to a group of employees is in violation of the wage and hour laws are of the sort routinely, and properly, found suitable for class treatment"); Williams v. Superior Court (2013) 221 Cal.App.4th 1353 ("A company-wide practice can sustain a common question of fact or law that supports commonality for class certification"). Lastly, a class action is superior to other means for the fair and efficient adjudication of this controversy. (Brouillette Decl., ¶ 55.)

G. Simpluris, Inc. Should be Appointed as the Settlement Administrator

The Parties agreed to use Simpluris, Inc. as the Settlement Administrator in this matter. (Agreement, § 12.mm.) Simpluris is highly qualified and experienced as a settlement administrator, committed to the security of data (having experienced no data breaches at all), carries insurance for the theft of money or data, and has no relationship with Counsel. (Declaration of Michael Bui, ¶¶ 2-9; Exhs. A-C; Brouillette Decl., ¶ 56.)

H. Notice to Settlement Class Members Complies With California Rule of Court 3.769(f)

California Rule of Court 3.769(f), provides: "If the court has certified the action as a class action, notice of the final approval hearing must be given to Settlement Class Members in the manner specified by the court. The notice must contain an explanation of the proposed settlement and procedures for Settlement Class Members to follow in filing written objections to it and in arranging to appear at the settlement hearing and state any objections to the proposed settlement." Here, the proposed Notice meets all of these requirements, as it advises Settlement Class Members of their rights to participate in the settlement, how to and when to object to or request exclusion from the settlement, and the date, time, and location of the final approval hearing. Settlement Class Members need not do anything to receive their pro rata share of the settlement. (Brouillette Decl., ¶ 57; Exh. 2.)

V. CONCLUSION

Plaintiffs respectfully submit that the proposed settlement is in the best interests of the Settlement Class Members, as it is fair, adequate, and reasonable. Plaintiffs accordingly request the Court certify the class for settlement purposes, appoint Plaintiffs as the Class Representatives, appoint Plaintiffs' Counsel as Class Counsel, appoint Simpluris, Inc. as Settlement Administrator, approve the method of notice and the Notice to be sent to the Class, preliminarily approve the Settlement Agreement, enter the proposed order filed herewith, and set a Final Approval hearing date.
