DEMAND FOR JURY TRIAL

COMES NOW, Plaintiff JOSE LOZANO (“Plaintiff”), individually, and on behalf of other members of the general public similarly situated and on behalf of aggrieved employees pursuant to the Private Attorneys General Act (“PAGA”), alleges as follows:

JURISDICTION AND VENUE

1. This class action is brought pursuant to the California Code of Civil Procedure section 382. The monetary damages and restitution sought by Plaintiff exceeds the minimal jurisdiction limits of the Superior Court and will be established according to proof at trial.

2. This Court has jurisdiction over this action pursuant to the California Constitution, Article VI, Section 10, which grants the superior court “original jurisdiction in all other causes” except those given by statute to other courts. The statutes under which this action is brought do not specify any other basis for jurisdiction.

3. This Court has jurisdiction over Defendants because, upon information and belief, Defendants are citizens of California, have sufficient minimum contacts in California, or otherwise intentionally avail themselves of the California market so as to render the exercise of jurisdiction over them by the California courts consistent with traditional notions of fair play and substantial justice.

4. Venue is proper in this Court because, upon information and belief, Defendants maintain offices, have agents, and/or transact business in the State of California, including the County of Merced. The majority of the acts and omissions alleged herein relating to Plaintiff took place in the State of California, County of Merced. Defendants employed Plaintiff within the State of California. Labor Workforce Development Agency and the State of California has jurisdiction over all counties in which to enforce California’s labor laws, which makes this venue proper as well.

PARTIES

5. Plaintiff JOSE LOZANO is an individual residing in the State of California.

6. Defendant PETERSON BROTHERS CONSTRUCTION, INC., at all times herein mentioned, was and is, upon information and belief, a California corporation headquartered in the State of California, and at all times herein mentioned, was and is, an employer whose employees are engaged throughout the State of California, including the County of Santa Cruz.

7. At all relevant times, Defendant PETERSON BROTHERS CONSTRUCTION, INC.. and was the “employer” of Plaintiff within the meaning of all applicable California laws and statutes.

8. At all times herein relevant, Defendants PETERSON BROTHERS CONSTRUCTION, INC., and DOES 1 through 100, and each of them, were the agents, partners, joint venturers, joint employers, representatives, servants, employees, successors-in-interest, co-conspirators and assigns, each of the other, and at all times relevant hereto were acting within the course and scope of their authority as such agents, partners, joint venturers, joint employers, representatives, servants, employees, successors, co-conspirators and assigns, and all acts or omissions alleged herein were duly committed with the ratification, knowledge, permission, encouragement, authorization, and consent of each defendant designated herein.

9. The true names and capacities, whether corporate, associate, individual or otherwise, of Defendants DOES 1 through 100, inclusive, are unknown to Plaintiff, who sues said defendants by such fictitious names. Plaintiff is informed and believes, and based on that information and belief alleges, that each of the Defendants designated as a DOE is legally responsible for the events and happenings referred to in this Complaint, and unlawfully caused the injuries and damages to Plaintiff and the other class members as alleged in this Complaint. Plaintiff will seek leave of court to amend this Complaint to show the true names and capacities when the same have been ascertained.

10. Defendants PETERSON BROTHERS CONSTRUCTION, INC.. and DOES 1 through 100 will hereinafter collectively be referred to as “Defendants.”

1 11. Plaintiff further alleges that Defendants directly or indirectly controlled or 2 affected the working conditions, wages, working hours, and conditions of employment of 3 Plaintiff and the other class members so as to make each of said Defendants employers and 4 employers liable under the statutory provisions set forth herein.

5 CLASS ACTION ALLEGATIONS

6 12. Plaintiff brings this action on his own behalf and on behalf of all other members
7 of the general public similarly situated, and, thus, seeks class certification under Code of Civil 8 Procedure section 382.

9 13. The proposed class is defined as follows:

10 All current and former California-based (i.e., currently residing in California
11 with the intent to remain in California indefinitely) hourly-paid or non-exempt
12 employees of Defendants within the State of California at any time during the 13 period from July 12, 2017 to final judgment.

14 14. Plaintiff reserves the right to establish subclasses as appropriate.

15 15. The class is ascertainable and there is a well-defined community of interest in 16 the litigation:

17 a. Numerosity: The class members are so numerous that joinder of all class
18 members is impracticable. The membership of the entire class is 19 unknown to Plaintiff at this time; however, the class is estimated to be 20 greater than fifty (50) individuals and the identity of such membership is 21 readily ascertainable by inspection of Defendants' employment records.

22 b. Typicality: Plaintiff's claims are typical of all other class members'
23 claims as demonstrated herein. Plaintiff will fairly and adequately
24 protect the interests of the other class members with whom he has a well-
25 defined community of interest.

- c. Adequacy: Plaintiff will fairly and adequately protect the interests of each class member, with whom he has a well-defined community of interest and typicality of claims, as demonstrated herein. Plaintiff has no interest that is antagonistic to the other class members. Plaintiff's attorneys, the proposed class counsel, are versed in the rules governing class action discovery, certification, and settlement. Plaintiff has incurred, and during the pendency of this action will continue to incur, costs and attorneys' fees, that have been, are, and will be necessarily expended for the prosecution of this action for the substantial benefit of each class member.
 - d. Superiority: A class action is superior to other available methods for the fair and efficient adjudication of this litigation because individual joinder of all class members is impractical.
 - e. Public Policy Considerations: Certification of this lawsuit as a class action will advance public policy objectives. Employers of this great state violate employment and labor laws every day. Current employees are often afraid to assert their rights out of fear of direct or indirect retaliation. However, class actions provide the class members who are not named in the complaint anonymity that allows for the vindication of their rights.
16. There are common questions of law and fact as to the class members that predominate over questions affecting only individual members. The following common questions of law or fact, among others, exist as to the members of the class:
- a. Whether Defendants' failure to pay wages, without abatement or reduction, in accordance with the California Labor Code, was willful;
 - b. Whether Defendants failed to pay their hourly-paid or non-exempt employees within the State of California for all hours worked, missed meal periods and rest breaks in violation of California law;

- d. Whether Defendants properly calculated the regular rate for Plaintiff and the other class members to worked overtime and earned incentive pay;

- k. Whether Defendants’ conduct was willful or reckless;
- l. Whether Defendants engaged in unfair business practices in violation of California Business & Professions Code section 17200, et seq.;
- m. The appropriate amount of damages, restitution, and/or monetary penalties resulting from Defendants’ violation of California law; and
- n. Whether Plaintiff and the other class members are entitled to compensatory damages pursuant to the California Labor Code.

1 31. Plaintiff is informed and believes, and based thereon alleges, that Defendants
2 knew or should have known that Plaintiff and the other class members were entitled to receive
3 complete and accurate wage statements in accordance with California law, but, in fact, Plaintiff

14 34. Plaintiff is informed and believes, and based thereon alleges, that Defendants
15 knew or should have known that they had a duty to compensate Plaintiff and the other class
16 members pursuant to California law, and that Defendants had the financial ability to pay such 17 compensation, but willfully, knowingly, and intentionally failed to do so, and falsely
18 represented to Plaintiff and the other class members that they were properly denied wages, all 19 in order to increase Defendants' profits.

20 35. During the relevant time period set forth herein, Defendants failed to pay
21 overtime wages to Plaintiff and the other class members for all hours worked. Plaintiff and 22 other class members were required to work more than eight (8) hours per day and/or forty (40)
23 hours per week without overtime compensation.

24 36. During the relevant time period set forth herein, Defendants failed to provide the 25 requisite uninterrupted and timely meal and rest periods to Plaintiff and the other class 26 members.

27 37. During the relevant time period set forth herein, Defendants failed to pay
28 Plaintiff and the other class members at least minimum wages for all hours worked.

20 Commission ("IWC") Wage Order provide that it is unlawful to employ persons without 21 compensating them at a rate of pay either time-and-one-half or two-times that person's regular

27 the rate of time-and-one-half for all hours worked in excess of eight (8) hours in a day or more

51. Pursuant to California Labor Code section 1194, Plaintiff and the other class members are entitled to recover unpaid overtime compensation, as well as interest, costs, and attorneys' fees.

More specifically, Plaintiff and the other class members have been injured by Defendants' intentional and willful violation of California Labor Code section 226(a) because they were denied both their legal right to receive, and their protected interest in receiving, accurate and itemized wage statements pursuant to California Labor Code section 226(a).

90. Plaintiff and the other class members are entitled to recover from Defendants the greater of their actual damages caused by Defendants' failure to comply with California Labor Code section 226(a), or an aggregate penalty not exceeding four thousand dollars per employee.

91. Plaintiff and the other class members are also entitled to injunctive relief to ensure compliance with this section, pursuant to California Labor Code section 226(g).

SEVENTH CAUSE OF ACTION

(Violation of California Labor Code § 246)

(Against PETERSON BROTHERS CONSTRUCTION, INC.. and DOES 1 through 100)

92. Plaintiff incorporates by reference the allegations contained in paragraphs 1 through 91, and each and every part thereof with the same force and effect as though fully set forth herein.

93. Pursuant to California Labor Code section 246, an employer must provide employees with paid sick leave of not less than one hour per every 30 hours worked. California Labor Code section 246(l) also requires that paid sick leave be paid at a non-exempt employee's regular rate of pay for the workweek in which the employee uses paid sick time or at a rate calculated by dividing the employee's total wages, not including overtime premium pay, by the employee's total hours worked in the full pay periods of the prior 90 days of employment.

94. Defendants have intentionally and willfully failed to pay Plaintiff and the other class members paid sick leave that complied with California Labor Code section 246 at the non-exempt employees' regular rate of pay or at a rate calculated by dividing the employees' total wages, not including overtime premium pay, by the employee's total hours worked in the full pay periods of the prior 90 days of employment.

EIGHTH CAUSE OF ACTION

(Violation of California Labor Code §§ 2800 and 2802)

(Against PETERSON BROTHERS CONSTRUCTION, INC.. and DOES 1 through 100)

95. Plaintiff incorporates by reference the allegations contained in paragraphs 1 through 94, and each and every part thereof with the same force and effect as though fully set forth herein.

96. Pursuant to California Labor Code sections 2800 and 2802, an employer must reimburse its employee for all necessary expenditures incurred by the employee in direct consequence of the discharge of his or her job duties or in direct consequence of his or her obedience to the directions of the employer.

97. Defendants have intentionally and willfully failed to reimburse Plaintiff and the other class members for all necessary business-related expenses and costs. Plaintiff and the other class members are entitled to recover from Defendants their business-related expenses and costs incurred during the course and scope of their employment, plus interest accrued from the date on which the employee incurred the necessary expenditures at the same rate as judgments in civil actions in the State of California.

NINTH CAUSE OF ACTION

(Violation of California Labor Code §§ 2698, et seq.)

(Against PETERSON BROTHERS CONSTRUCTION, INC.. and DOES 1 through 100)

98. Plaintiff incorporates by reference the allegations contained in paragraphs 1 through 97, and each and every part thereof with the same force and effect as though fully set forth herein.

99. PAGA expressly establishes that any provision of the California Labor Code which provides for a civil penalty to be assessed and collected by the LWDA, or any of its departments, divisions, commissions, boards, agencies or employees for a violation of the California Labor Code, may be recovered through a civil action brought by an aggrieved employee on behalf of himself or herself, and other current or former employees.

1 100. On March 26, 2021, Plaintiff provided written notice to the LWDA and 2 Defendants of the specific provisions of the Labor Code he contends were violated, and the 3 theories supporting his contentions. Attached hereto as Exhibit 1 and incorporated by 4 reference is a copy of the March 26, 2021 written notice to the LWDA. Plaintiff believes that 5 on or about June 7, 2021, the sixty-five (65) day notice period expired as to all Defendants and 6 the LWDA will not take any action to investigate or prosecute this matter. Therefore, Plaintiff
7 exhausted the statutory time period to bring this action.

8 101. Plaintiff and the other hourly-paid or non-exempt employees are “aggrieved 9 employees” as defined by California Labor Code § 2699(c) in that they are all current and 10 former hourly-paid or non-exempt employees of Defendants within the State of California who 11 worked for Defendants at any time during the period from March 26, 2021 to the present, and 12 one or more of the alleged violations was committed against them.

13 Failure to Pay Minimum and Overtime Wages

14 102. At all times relevant herein, Defendants were required to compensate their non-
15 exempt employees minimum wages for all hours worked and overtime wages for all hours 16 worked in excess of eight (8) hours in a day or forty (40) hours in a workweek, pursuant to the 17 mandate of Labor Code §§ 510, 1194, 1197, and 1198.

18 103. As a policy and practice, Defendants failed to compensate Plaintiff and the other
19 aggrieved current and former employees for all hours worked, resulting in a failure to pay all 20 minimum wages and overtime wages, where applicable.

21 Failure to Provide Meal Periods and Rest Breaks

22 104. In accordance with the mandates of Labor Code §§ 226.7 and 512, Defendants
23 were required to authorize and permit their non-exempt employees to take a 10-minute rest 24 break for every four (4) hours worked or major fraction thereof, and were further required to 25 provide their non-exempt employees with a 30-minute meal period for every five (5) hours 26 worked.

27 ///

28 ///

1 105. As a policy and practice, Defendants failed to provide Plaintiff and the other
2 aggrieved current and former employees with legally-mandated meal periods and rest breaks
3 and failed to pay proper compensation for this failure.

4 Failure to Timely Pay Wages During Employment

5 106. At all times relevant herein, Defendants were required to pay their employees
6 within a specified time period pursuant to the mandate of Labor Code § 204.

7 107. As a policy and practice, Defendants failed to pay Plaintiff and the other
8 aggrieved current and former employees all wages due and owing them within the required
9 time period.

10 Failure to Timely Pay Wages Upon Termination

11 108. At all times relevant herein, Defendants were required to pay their employees all
12 wages owed in a timely fashion at the end of employment pursuant to California Labor Code
13 §§ 201 to 204.

14 109. As a result of Defendants' Labor Code violations alleged above, Defendants
15 failed to pay Plaintiff and the other aggrieved former employees their final wages pursuant to 16 Labor Code §§ 201 to 204 and accordingly owe waiting time penalties pursuant to Labor Code 17 § 203.

18 Failure to Provide Complete and Accurate Wage Statements

19 110. At all times relevant herein, Defendants were required to keep accurate records
20 regarding their California employees pursuant to the mandate of Labor Code §§ 226, 1174 and 21 1776.

22 111. As a result of Defendants' various Labor Code violations, Defendants failed to 23 keep accurate records regarding Plaintiff and the other aggrieved current and former 24 employees. For example, Defendants failed in their affirmative obligation to keep accurate
25 records regarding Plaintiff and the other aggrieved current and former employees' gross wages
26 earned, total hours worked, all deductions, net wages earned, and all applicable hourly rates
27 and the number of hours worked at each hourly rate.

Failure to Pay Sick Leave

112. At all times relevant herein, Defendants were required to provide employees with paid sick leave of not less than one hour per every 30 hours worked, pursuant to California Labor Code § 246.

113. As a result of Defendants’ Labor Code violation as alleged above, Defendants failed to pay paid sick leave at non-exempt employees’ regular rate of pay or at a rate calculated by dividing the employee’s total wages, not including overtime premium pay, by the employee’s total hours worked in the full pay periods of the prior 90 days of employment, pursuant to California Labor Code § 246.

Failure to Reimburse Business Expenses

114. At all times relevant herein, Defendants were required to reimburse its employees for any and all necessary expenditures or losses incurred by the employees in direct consequences of the discharge or his or her duties pursuant to the mandate of Labor Code §§ 2800 and 2802.

115. As a policy and practice, Defendants failed to reimburse Plaintiff and the other aggrieved current and former employees for all business expenses incurred and owing them within the required time period.

Penalties

116. Pursuant to California Labor Code § 2699, Plaintiff, individually, and on behalf of the other current and former aggrieved employees, requests and is entitled to recover from Defendants, and each of them, civil penalties, interest, attorneys’ fees, and costs, including but not limited to:

- a. Penalties under California Labor Code § 2699 in the amount of a hundred dollars ($100) for each aggrieved employee per pay period for the initial violation, and two hundred dollars ($200) for each aggrieved employee per pay period for each subsequent violation;

- c. Penalties under California Labor Code § 210 in addition to, and entirely independent and apart from, any other penalty provided in the California Labor Code in the amount of a hundred dollars ($100) for each aggrieved employee per pay period for the initial violation, and two hundred dollars ($200) for each aggrieved employee per pay period for each subsequent violation;
- d. Penalties under Labor Code § 1197.1 in the amount of a hundred dollars ($100) for each aggrieved employee per pay period for the initial violation, and two hundred fifty dollars ($250) for each aggrieved employee per pay period for each subsequent violation;
- e. Any and all additional penalties as provided by the Labor Code and/or other statutes; and
- f. Attorneys' fees and costs pursuant to Labor Code §§ 210, 1194, and 2699, and any other applicable statute.

Re: PETERSON BROTHERS CONSTRUCTION, INC.

Dear Representative:

We have been retained to represent Jose Lozano against Peterson Brothers Construction, Inc. (including any and all affiliates, managers, members, subsidiaries, and parents, and their shareholders, officers, directors, and employees), any individual, owner, officer and managing agent, DOES 1-10 as an "Employer" or person acting on behalf of an "Employer" pursuant to California Labor Code section 558.1, and DOES 11-20¹ for violations of California wage-and-hour laws (hereinafter collectively referred to as "PBC").

Mr. Lozano is pursuing his California Labor Code section 2698, et seq., the Private Attorneys General Act of 2004 ("PAGA") claim on a representative basis. Therefore, Mr. Lozano may seek penalties for violations of the Labor Code on behalf of the State of California and aggrieved employees, which are recoverable under PAGA. This letter is sent in compliance with the reporting requirements of California Labor Code section 2699.3.

Peterson Brothers Construction, Inc. is a California corporation located at 1560 W. Lambert Road, Brea, California 92821.

PBC employed Mr. Lozano as an hourly-paid non-exempt Cement Former within one year of the date of this letter (until in or about May of 2020²) in the State of California. PBC directly controlled the wages, hours and working conditions of Mr. Lozano and other aggrieved employees' employment, including direction, hiring, retention, supervision, and termination.

¹ Mr. Lozano does not know the true names or capacities, whether individual, partner or corporate, of DOES 1 through 20, inclusive, and for that reason, said DOES are designated under such fictitious names. Mr. Lozano will amend this notice when the true names and capacities are known. Mr. Lozano is informed and believes that each DOE was responsible in some way for the matters alleged herein and proximately caused Mr. Lozano and other current and former aggrieved employees to be subject to the illegal employment practices, wrongs and injuries complained of herein.

² Per Emergency Rule 9 (Tolling statute of limitations for civil causes of action) of the Judicial Council's Emergency Rules Related to COVID-19, all statute of limitations for civil causes of action that exceed 180 days are tolled from April 6, 2020 until October 1, 2020. Therefore, the one (1) year statute of limitations for Mr. Lozano's PAGA cause of action is tolled.

The “aggrieved employees” that Mr. Lozano may seek penalties on behalf of are all current and former hourly-paid or non-exempt employees (whether hired directly or through a staffing agency) of PBC within the State of California.

PBC failed to properly pay its hourly-paid or non-exempt employees for all hours worked, failed to properly provide or compensate minimum and overtime wages and for meal and rest breaks, failed to issue compliant wage statements and failed to reimburse for all necessary business-related costs and expenses, thus resulting in other Labor Code violations as stated below.

Pursuant to Huff v. Securitas Security Services, 23 Cal. App. 5th 745, 751 (2018), an employee who brings a representative action and was affected by at least one of the violations alleged in the complaint has standing to pursue penalties on behalf of the state not only for that violation, but for violations affecting other employees as well. Accordingly, Mr. Lozano has standing to pursue penalties on behalf of the state for violations affecting all the aggrieved employees at PBC, regardless of their classification, job title, locations, or whether they were hired directly or through a staffing agency.

PBC has violated and/or continues to violate, among other provisions of the California Labor Code and applicable wage law, California Labor Code sections 201, 202, 203, 204, 218.5, 221, 226(a), 226.3, 226.7, 510, 512(a), 558, 1174(d), 1194, 1197, 1197.1, 1198, 2800 and 2802, and the IWC Wage Orders.

California Labor Code sections 510, 1194, and 1198 require employers to pay at least minimum wage for all hours worked, pay time-and-a-half, or double time overtime wages, and make it unlawful to work employees for hours longer than eight hours in one day and/or over forty hours in one week without paying the premium overtime rates. During the relevant time period, Mr. Lozano and other aggrieved employees routinely worked in excess of 8 hours in a day and 40 hours in a week. PBC failed to compensate Mr. Lozano and other aggrieved employees for all hours worked and performing off-the-clock work, including pre- and post-shift (including donning and doffing uniforms, travelling to jobsites, setting up tools and equipment, and cleaning up jobsites), and during meal breaks. Additionally, PBC did not permit Mr. Lozano and other aggrieved employees to record their own time. Instead, PBC assigned that task to the company’s foremen who recorded scheduled hours instead of the actual hours worked by Mr. Lozano and other aggrieved employees to limit overtime. Moreover, PBC automatically deducted meal breaks from Mr. Lozano and other aggrieved employees’ time regardless whether they were provided with breaks. PBC further deducts time from Mr. Lozano and other aggrieved employees’ time if they arrive late to work. Lastly, PBC failed to pay Mr. Lozano and other aggrieved employees prevailing wages for working on government projects. Therefore, Mr. Lozano and other aggrieved employees were entitled to receive certain wages for overtime compensation, but they were not paid for all overtime hours worked.

California Labor Code section 246 requires that employers provide employees with paid sick leave of not less than one hour per every 30 hours worked. California Labor Code section 246(l) also requires that paid sick leave be paid at a non-exempt employee's regular rate of pay for the workweek in which the employee uses paid sick time or at a rate calculated by dividing the employee's total wages, not including overtime premium pay, by the employee's total hours worked in the full pay periods of the prior 90 days of employment. During the relevant time period, PBC failed to pay Mr. Lozano and other aggrieved employees with paid sick leave that complied with California Labor Code section 246, by, for example, failing to pay paid sick leave at non-exempt employee's regular rate of pay or at a rate calculated by dividing the employee's total wages, not including overtime premium pay, by the employee's total hours worked in the full pay periods of the prior 90 days of employment.

California Labor Code sections 226.7 and 512 require employers to pay an employee one additional hour of pay at the employee's regular rate for each workday that a meal or rest break is not provided. During the relevant time period, PBC routinely required Mr. Lozano and other aggrieved employees to work through, interrupt, cut short, and/or delay their meal and rest breaks to comply with PBC policies and expectations, work efficiently and meet project deadlines. PBC also failed to adequately staff its operations to provide coverage to Mr. Lozano and other aggrieved employees so they may be relieved of all work duties and take legally compliant meal and rest breaks. Lastly, PBC failed to authorize and permit Mr. Lozano and other aggrieved employees to take the requisite number of meal and rest breaks, including second meal breaks and third rest breaks, when working shifts exceeding 10 hours in length. Despite these facts, PBC failed to compensate Mr. Lozano and other aggrieved employees all the premium wages they were owed.

California Labor Code section 201 requires that if an employer discharges an employee, the wages earned and unpaid at the time of discharge are due and payable immediately. California Labor Code section 202 requires that if an employee not having a written contract for a definite period quits his or her employment, his or her wages shall become due and payable not later than 72 hours thereafter, unless the employee has given 72 hours previous notice of his or her intention to quit, in which case the employee is entitled to his or her wages at the time of quitting. California Labor Code section 203 provides that if an employer willfully fails to pay, without abatement or reduction, in accordance with Labor Code sections 201, 201.3, 201.5, 201.6, 201.8, 201.9, 202, and 205.5, any wages of an employee who is discharged or who quits, the wages of the employee shall continue as a penalty from the due date thereof at the same rate until paid or until an action therefor is commenced; but the wages shall not continue for more than 30 days. During the relevant time period, PBC failed to pay Mr. Lozano and other aggrieved employees all wages, including for uncompensated off-the-clock work, unpaid overtime premiums and premium wages for failing to provide legally mandated meal and rest breaks, due to them within any time period specified by California Labor Code sections 201 and 203 and therefore is liable under California Labor Code section 203.

California Labor Code section 204 requires that all wages earned by any person in any employment between the 1st and the 15th days, inclusive, of any calendar month, other than those wages due upon termination of an employee, are due and payable between the 16th and the 26th day of the month during which the labor was performed, and that all wages earned by any person in any employment between the 16th and the last day, inclusive, of any calendar month, other than those wages due upon termination of an employee, are due and payable between the 1st and the 10th day of the following month. California Labor Code section 204 also requires that all wages earned for labor in excess of the normal work period shall be paid no later than the payday for the next regular payroll period. During the relevant time period, PBC failed to pay Mr. Lozano and other aggrieved employees all wages due to them, including for uncompensated off-the-clock work, unpaid overtime premiums and premium wages for failing to provide legally mandated meal and rest breaks within any time period specified by California Labor Code section 204.

California Labor Code section 226 requires employers to make, keep and provide complete and accurate itemized wage statements to their employees. During the relevant time period, PBC did not provide Mr. Lozano and other aggrieved employees with complete and accurate itemized wage statements. The wage statements they received from PBC were in violation of California Labor Code section 226(a). The violations include, but are not limited to, the failure to include (1) gross wages earned by Mr. Lozano and other aggrieved employees, (2) total hours worked by Mr. Lozano and other aggrieved employees, (3) the number of piece-rate units earned and any applicable piece rate by Mr. Lozano and other aggrieved employees (4) all deductions for Mr. Lozano and other aggrieved employees, (5) net wages earned by Mr. Lozano and other aggrieved employees, (6) the inclusive dates of the period for which Mr. Lozano and other aggrieved employees are paid, (7) the name of the aggrieved employee and only the last four digits of his or her social security number or an employee identification number other than a social security number, (8) the name and address of the legal entity that is the employer and (9) all applicable hourly rates in effect during the pay period and the corresponding number of hours worked at each hourly rate by Mr. Lozano and other aggrieved employees.

California Labor Code section 558 allows recovery of penalties. (a) Any employer or other person acting on behalf of an employer who violates, or causes to be violated, a section of this chapter or any provision regulating hours and days of work in any order of the Industrial Welfare Commission shall be subject to a civil penalty as follows: (1) For any initial violation, fifty dollars ($50) for each underpaid employee for each pay period for which the employee was underpaid in addition to an amount sufficient to recover underpaid wages. (2) For each subsequent violation, one hundred dollars ($100) for each underpaid employee for each pay period for which the employee was underpaid in addition to an amount sufficient to recover underpaid wages. (3) Wages recovered pursuant to this section shall be paid to the affected employee. Mr. Lozano and other aggrieved employees have been denied their wages and premium wages and, therefore, are entitled to penalties.

California Labor Code sections 1174(d) requires an employer to keep, at a central location in the state or at the plants or establishments at which employees are employed, payroll records showing the hours worked daily by and the wages paid to, and the number of piece-rate units earned by and any applicable piece rate paid to, employees employed at the respective plants or establishments. These records shall be kept with rules established for this purpose by the commission, but in any case, shall be kept on file for not less than two years. During the relevant time period, PBC failed to keep accurate and complete payroll records showing the hours worked daily and the wages paid, to Mr. Lozano and other aggrieved employees.

California Labor Code sections 1194, 1197 and 1197.1 provide the minimum wage to be paid to employees, and the payment of a lesser wage than the minimum so fixed is unlawful. During the relevant time period, PBC did not provide Mr. Lozano and other aggrieved employees with the minimum wages to which they were entitled despite constructive and actual knowledge of off-the-clock work, including pre- and post-shift (including donning and doffing uniforms, travelling to jobsites, setting up tools and equipment, and cleaning up jobsites), and during meal breaks, automatically deducting time for meal breaks and for arriving late to work, and falsifying time records.

California Labor Code sections 2800 and 2802 require an employer to reimburse its employee for all necessary expenditures incurred by the employee in direct consequence of the discharge of his or her job duties or in direct consequence of his or her obedience to the directions of the employer. During their employment, Mr. Lozano and other aggrieved employees incurred necessary business-related expenses and costs that were not fully reimbursed by PBC, including for: (a) purchasing personal protective equipment, like gloves, safety glasses, and boots, they were required to wear as part of their uniform while working; (b) purchasing tools, like shovels, boots, gloves, cutting tools, measuring tools, and other tools to help flatten and shape cement, they needed to perform their jobs; (c) using their personal vehicles to travel to different jobsites and deliver tools and equipment; and (d) using their personal cellular phones to communicate with foremen and for navigation purposes.

We believe that Mr. Lozano and other current and former California-based hourly-paid or non-exempt employees are entitled to penalties and wages as allowed under California Labor Code section 2698, et seq. for violations of Labor Code sections 201, 202, 203, 204, 218.5, 221, 226(a), 226.3, 226.7, 510, 512(a), 558, 1174(d), 1194, 1197, 1197.1, 1198, 2800 and 2802, and the IWC Wage Orders.

California Labor Code section 2699.3 requires that a claimant send a certified letter to the employer in questions and the California Labor & Workforce Development Agency setting forth the claims, and the basis for the claims, thereby giving the California Labor & Workforce Development Agency an opportunity to investigate the claims and/or take any action it deems appropriate.

The purpose of this letter is to satisfy the requirement created by California Labor code section 2699 prior to seeking penalties allowed by law for the aforementioned statutory violations. We look forward to determining whether California Labor & Workforce Development Agency intends to take any action in reference to these claims. We kindly request that you respond to this notice according to the time frame contemplated by the California Labor Code.
