8 INTRODUCTION

9 1. This is a class action brought under the California Code of Civil Procedure section 382
10 for Defendants’ violations of the California Labor Code and Business Professions Code.

11 2. Defendants underpaid overtime, paid sick leave, and premiums by failing to include
12 incentives and all other forms of non-excludable remuneration in the regular rate of pay calculations.

13 3. Defendants failed to pay Plaintiff and the class members all minimum and overtime
14 wages due to unlawful policies and practices of requiring off-the-clock work.

15 4. Defendants failed to provide, authorize, and/or permit Plaintiff and the class members 16 to take all meal and rest periods to which they were entitled.

17 5. Defendants failed to pay all accrued and unused vacation wages upon separation of 18 employment.

19 6. Defendants failed to properly reimburse Plaintiff and the class members for using their 20 personal cell phones to complete work-related duties.

21 7. Defendants’ employment policies, practices, and payroll administration systems
22 enabled and facilitated these violations on a company-wide basis with respect to class members.

23 8. Defendants are further liable for derivative claims for wage statements, untimely 24 payment, and other associated violations.

25 9. Plaintiff seeks to recover the unpaid damages, plus associated penalties, interests,

11. The monetary damages and restitution sought exceed the minimal jurisdiction limits of the Superior Court.

13. Venue is proper in this Court under Code of Civil Procedure sections 393(a), 395, and/or 395.5 because, upon information and belief, Defendants conducted business and committed some of the alleged violations in this County.

A. Plaintiff Caleb Van Setten

15. The State of California, via the Labor and Workforce Development Agency (“LWDA”), is the real party in interest in this action. (Kim v. Reins Int’l California, Inc. (2020) 9 Cal. 5th 73, 81 [The “government entity on whose behalf the plaintiff files suit is always the real party in interest.”]) To the extent permitted by law, including pursuant Balderas v. Fresh Start Harvesting, Inc. (2024) 101 Cal. App. 5th 533 and Rodriguez v. Packers Sanitation Services Ltd. (Feb. 26, 2025, D083400) __ Cal.Rptr.3d __ [2025 WL 615064], the PAGA claim is brought exclusively as a representative action and does not include arbitrable claims.

16. Defendant Cox Automotive Corporate Services, LLC dba Manheim Riverside is a Delaware limited liability company that maintains operations and conducts business throughout the State of California, including in this county.

1 17. Defendant Cox Automotive Mobility Solutions, Inc., is a Delaware corporation that
2 maintains operations and conducts business throughout the State of California, including in this 3 county.

4 18. Defendant Manheim Remarketing, Inc., is a Delaware corporation that maintains
5 operations and conducts business throughout the State of California, including in this county.

6 19. Defendant Manheim Investments, Inc., is a Nevada corporation that maintains
7 operations and conducts business throughout the State of California, including in this county.

8 20. The true names and capacities, whether individual, corporate, or otherwise, of the 9 parties sued as DOES 1 through 50, are presently unknown, unascertainable, or uncertain, and are sued
10 by such fictitious names under Code of Civil Procedure section 474. Upon information and belief, 11 each of DOES 1 through 50 constitutes a legal employer or is otherwise legally responsible in some 12 manner for the acts and omissions alleged herein. This Complaint may be amended to reflect their 13 true names and capacities once ascertained.

14 21. Upon information and belief, Defendants in this action are employers, co-employers,
15 joint employers, and/or part of an integrated employer enterprise, as each of the Defendants exercised
16 control over the wages, hours, and working conditions of the employees, suffered and permitted them
17 to work, and otherwise engaged them as employees under California law.

18 22. Upon information and belief, at least some of the Defendants have common ownership, 19 common management, interrelationship of operations, and centralized control over labor relations and 20 are therefore part of an integrated enterprise and thus jointly and severally responsible for the acts and 21 omissions alleged herein, including pursuant to Labor Code sections 558, 558.1, and 1197.1.

22 23. Upon information and belief, Defendants acted in all respects pertinent to this action as 23 an alter-ego, agent, servant, joint employer, joint venturer, co-conspirator, partner, in an integrated 24 enterprise, or in some other capacity on behalf of all other co-defendants, such that the acts and 25 omissions of each defendant may be legally attributable to all others.

CLASS ALLEGATIONS

24. This action is brought individually and on behalf of the following class pursuant to Code of Civil Procedure section 382:

- a. All current and former non-exempt employees who worked for Defendants in California at any time from four years (plus the additional 178-day statutory tolling period under Emergency Rule 9) prior to the filing of this action through date of class certification.

25. Plaintiff reserves the right to establish various subclass definitions as appropriate at the class certification stage, according to proof.

26. The class is ascertainable and shares a well-defined community of interest in this litigation:

- a. Numerosity: The class is estimated to exceed 50 individuals, although the precise membership of the entire class is unknown at this time. The class is so numerous that joinder of all class members is impracticable. The identities of class members are ascertainable by inspection of Defendants' employment and payroll records.
- b. Typicality: Plaintiff's claims are typical of the claims of the other class members. They were subject to the same policies and practices of Defendants, which resulted in losses to the class. Proof of common unlawful business practices, which Plaintiff experienced, will establish the right of the class to recover on the causes of action alleged herein.
- c. Adequacy: Plaintiff is an adequate class representative; will take all necessary steps to protect the class members' interests adequately and fairly; has no interest antagonistic to other class members; and is represented by attorneys who have substantial experience prosecuting, defending, resolving, and litigating wage and hour class, collective, and representative actions in California state and federal courts.

1 d. Superiority: A class action is superior to other means for adjudicating this 2 dispute. Individual joinder is impractical. Class treatment will allow for 3 common issues to be resolved in a single forum, simultaneously, and without 4 duplication of effort and expense.

5 e. Public Policy Considerations: Certification of this lawsuit as a class action
6 advances the State of California's strong public interest in ensuring its 7 approximately millions of employed residents are properly paid the wages they 8 earned for the hours they worked. Class actions provide a mechanism for 9 enforcement of labor laws and allow for vindication of employee rights by 10 unnamed class members.

11 27. Common questions of law and fact as to the class members predominate over questions
12 affecting only individual members. The common questions of law and fact exist as to whether the 13 employment policies and practices formulated by Defendants and applied to the class members
14 constitute violations of California law.

15 GENERAL ALLEGATIONS

16 28. Plaintiff and the class members worked for Defendants as non-exempt employees, 17 compensated on an hourly basis.

18 29. Defendants failed to pay Plaintiff and the class members the lawful minimum wage for 19 all hours worked. Specifically, Defendants engaged in an unlawful policy and practice of requiring 20 Plaintiff and the class members to complete work while off-the-clock, without compensation.

21 30. For example, Defendants failed to pay Plaintiff and the class members for all hours
22 worked because of Defendants' practice of interrupting Plaintiff's meal breaks to ask for information,
23 have questions answered, or to assign tasks. Plaintiff is informed and believes that other employees
24 suffered the same violations. Thus, Plaintiff and the class members regularly worked through their 25 unpaid meal periods, while clocked out for lunch.

26 31. Furthermore, before clocking in for the day, Plaintiff was required to take COVID 27 surveys on his personal cell phone and show security that it was completed before being allowed to 28 clock in. This unlawful practice also resulted in off-the-clock work. Defendants failed to retroactively

1 input and compensate Plaintiff and the class members for all hours spent working off-the-clock. Due
2 to this unlawful practice, all hours were not directly compensated, resulting in the underpayment of 3 wages to Plaintiff and the class members.

4 32. Defendants failed to pay Plaintiff and the class members overtime wages and the lawful
5 rate of pay for overtime hours worked, resulting in unpaid overtime wages.

6 33. First, as discussed above, Defendants engaged in an unlawful policy and practice of 7 requiring off-the-clock work. To the extent that these unlawful practices resulted in unpaid hours
8 worked, over 8 hours in a day or 40 hours in a week, this resulted in unpaid overtime hours.

9 34. Second, Defendants failed to pay overtime and double time at the “regular rate of pay.”
10 Defendants paid Plaintiff and the class members incentives, bonuses, and other forms of remuneration
11 that Defendants failed to incorporate into the overtime and double time rates in the pay periods when 12 employees worked overtime and double time hours.

13 35. Defendants unlawfully paid overtime to Plaintiff and the class members at 1.5x their 14 straight hourly rate. For each overtime hour worked during the period in which Plaintiff and the class
15 members earned the additional forms of remuneration, Defendants should have (but failed to) pay
16 overtime “at a rate no less than one and one-half times the regular rate of pay for an employee” and 17 “twice the regular rate of pay” for double time hours as required by the plain language of Labor Code
18 section 510(a) and the ICW Wage Orders. An example of this violation is illustrated in Plaintiff’s
19 wage statement for the pay period of 07/21/2024 to 08/02/2024. There, Plaintiff earned an incentive
20 award (“Achievers”) in the amount of $108.31 in the same pay period he worked overtime. However,
21 Plaintiff’s overtime was paid at 1.5x his base hourly rate or an otherwise deficient rate. Thus,
22 Defendants failed to properly factor Plaintiff’s incentive pay into the overtime rate.

23 36. Additionally, Defendants failed to factor referral bonuses into the regular rate of pay
24 for overtime. Plaintiff and the class members would earn a $1,000.00 bonus for recommending a 25 potential employee who stayed with the company for over 60 days. An example of this violation is 26 illustrated in Plaintiff’s wage statement for the pay period of 03/31/2024 to 04/13/2024. During this 27 pay period, Plaintiff earned a referral bonus (“Refer Bns”) payment in the same period he worked
28 overtime. However, Plaintiff’s overtime was paid at 1.5x Plaintiff’s base rate or an otherwise deficient

1 rate. To the extent other class members earned bonuses or other forms of remuneration, Defendants as 2 a matter of policy and practice failed to properly factor these payments into the regular rate of pay
3 with respect to overtime.

4 37. Defendants failed to comply with California's paid sick leave laws with respect to the 5 class members. To the extent the class members earned sick pay in the same period they earned other
6 non-excludable remuneration, Defendants underpaid those wages due to the regular rate violations
7 addressed above. Specifically, Defendants did not pay the class members sick leave "in the same
8 manner as the regular rate of pay for the workweek in which the employee uses paid sick leave, 9 whether or not the employee actually worked overtime in that workweek," as the regular rate should 10 have included commissions and all other forms of additional non-excludable remuneration.

11 38. Additionally, due to Defendants' unlawful policy of requiring Plaintiff and the class
12 members to work off-the-clock, by regularly interrupting meal breaks, Defendants failed to provide 13 Plaintiff and the class members with all sick leave accrued. Consequently, Plaintiff and the class
14 members were systematically denied all owed paid sick leave hours.

15 39. Defendants maintained an unlawful policy and practice of failing to pay all accrued and 16 unused vacation wages upon separation of employment at the lawful rate of pay, resulting in forfeiture
17 of vested vacation time and wages. Consequently, any Plaintiff and class member's payment of vested 18 vacation wages upon termination was depreciated and underpaid.

19 40. Plaintiff and other class members routinely experienced missed, late, short, and 20 interrupted meal periods due to pressure from Defendants to keep up with high demands of the job.
21 For example, Plaintiff would suffer interrupted meal periods as often as two to three times a week
22 because supervisors would frequently ask him questions or provide him with instructions on inventory
23 tasks to complete. As such, Plaintiff and the class members would need to work during their unpaid 24 meal period, resulting in frequent non-compliant meal periods.

25 41. Each time Plaintiff and the class members experienced a noncompliant meal period,
26 they were owed a meal period premium. As a matter of policy and practice, Plaintiff and the class
27 members were not provided meal period premiums in lieu of non-compliant meal periods as required
28 by Labor Code section 226.7.

1 42. To the extent Defendants paid any meal period premium, the premiums were not paid
2 at the regular rate of compensation because the premium did not factor in bonuses, commissions, or 3 other forms of remuneration, instead electing to pay class members at their base hourly rate, in 4 violation of California law.

5 43. As a matter of common policy and practice, Defendants failed to provide all rest periods
6 to which Plaintiff and the class members were entitled.

7 44. Due to the reasons explained above, such as understaffing and the pressures to keep up
8 with the continuous demands of the job, Plaintiff and the class members were not always authorized
9 or permitted to take their rest periods. For example, due to high demands of the job, Plaintiff routinely
10 missed rest periods or had them interrupted in order to keep up with the frequent calls from supervisors
11 or employees from other locations needing prompt assistance. Due to the high pressures from 12 management, Plaintiff felt compelled to answer phone calls during his rest breaks. Defendants required
13 Plaintiff and the other class members to effectively waive or otherwise forego their rest periods
14 contrary to the law.

15 45. When Defendants did not provide compliant rest periods, Defendants failed to pay
16 Plaintiff and other class members a rest period premium in violation of Labor Code section 226.7. To 17 the extent Defendants ever paid a rest period premium, Defendants violated Labor Code section 226.7
18 because such premiums were not paid at the regular rate of compensation to class members, which 19 would have factored in commissions, bonuses, and other forms of remuneration.

20 46. Defendants required Plaintiff and the class members to incur costs for work-related
21 purposes without full reimbursement. In direct consequence of their job duties, Plaintiff and the class 22 members unavoidably and necessarily incurred these losses, expenditures, costs, and as a matter of 23 policy and practice.

24 47. Specifically, Defendants required Plaintiff and the class members to utilize their 25 personal cell phones for work-related purposes without full reimbursement. For example, Plaintiff and 26 the class members used their personal cell phones to login to the company intrant, where there was a
27 two factor authorization pin sent to their personal cell phones. Management would also contact
28 Plaintiff and the class members on their personal cell phones for work-related purposes.

1 48. Lastly, as mentioned above, Defendants required employees to use their personal cell
2 phones to complete COVID surveys in order to clock in for the day. Defendants did not reimburse
3 Plaintiff and the class members for expenses incurred from obtaining and using their personal cell
4 phones that were necessary for the job.

5 49. These violations create derivative liability for failure to timely pay all wages owed each
6 payday or upon separation of employment.

7 50. Defendants failed to provide accurate itemized wage statements to the class members
8 each pay period as a result of the policies and practices set forth in this notice. Defendants violated
9 Labor Code section 226(a)(1) and (5) by not listing the correct “gross wages earned” or “net wages
10 earned,” as the employees earned wages and premiums that were not paid, resulting in an inaccurate
11 reflection, and recording of “gross wages earned” on those wage statements.

12 51. Likewise, in violation of Labor Code section 226(a)(9), Defendants failed to state on 13 employee wage statements each pay period the applicable hourly rates in effect and the number of 14 hours worked at that rate, as Defendants failed to pay all wages and premiums owed to employees.
15 The amounts stated are instead depreciated and underpaid, resulting in an inaccurate reflection on the 16 pay stub.

17 52. Defendants violated Labor Code section 226(a)(2) by failing to accurately list 18 employees’ “total hours worked,” as the wage statements did not accurately include the 19 uncompensated time Plaintiff and other class members worked off-the-clock and during their meal 20 periods.

21 53. Plaintiff and other class members cannot promptly and easily determine from the wage
22 statement alone the wages paid or earned without reference to other documents or information. Indeed,
23 these wage statement violations are significant because they sow confusion among Plaintiff and other
24 class members with respect to what amounts were owed and paid, at what rates, the number of hours
25 worked, and how those amounts were or should be calculated. The wage statements reflect a false
26 statement of earnings and concealed the underlying problems and underpayments of employee wages.

27 54. Because of these policies and practices set forth above, Defendants failed to accurately
28 maintain records in accordance with Labor Code section 1174 and the IWC Wage Orders.

1 FIRST CAUSE OF ACTION

2 FAILURE TO PAY ALL WAGES OWED

3 Violation of Labor Code §§ 200, 218, 1194, 1194.2 and 1197

4 (All Claims Alleged by Plaintiff and Class Members Against All Defendants)

5 55. All outside paragraphs of this Complaint are incorporated into this section.

6 56. This cause of action is brought pursuant to the IWC Wage Orders and Labor Code
7 §§ 200, 218, 1182.12, 1194, 1194.2, 1197, 1197.1 and 1198 and the IWC Wage Orders (the “Hours
8 and Days of Work” and “Minimum Wages” sections of the applicable orders), which require non-
9 exempt employees be timely paid at least the state or local minimum wage (if higher) for each hour of 10 work, and further provide a private right of action for an employer’s failure to pay all minimum wages
11 (plus liquidated damages). In addition to minimum wages, Labor Code § 200 states that “wages”
12 includes all amounts for labor performed by employees of every description, whether the amount is 13 fixed or ascertained by the standard of time, task, piece, commission basis, or other method of 14 calculation.”

15 57. Defendants willfully failed in their affirmative obligation to pay Plaintiff and class
16 members at least the lawful minimum wage for each hour worked in violation of Labor Code sections 17 1182.12, 1194, 1194.2, 1197, 1197.1 and 1198 and the IWC Wage Orders (the “Hours and Days of 18 Work” and “Minimum Wages” sections of the applicable orders), including payment at the lawful
19 local and county minimum wage ordinances in effect. As a result, Defendants are liable for all
20 associated damages, including liquidated damages for the minimum wage violations pursuant to Labor
21 Code § 1194.2.

22 58. Defendants’ unlawful acts and omissions deprived Plaintiff and class members of 23 minimum, regular and overtime wages in amounts to be determined at trial. Plaintiff and class 24 members are entitled to recover the full amount of the unpaid wages, plus liquidated damages in an
25 amount equal to the wages unlawfully unpaid (and interest thereon), in addition to interest, attorneys’
26 fees, and costs to the extent permitted by law, including under Labor Code sections 1194 and 1194.2, 27 218.6 and any other applicable statutes.

65. Defendants willfully failed in their affirmative obligation to consistently provide Plaintiff and class members compliant, duty-free meal periods of not less than 30 minutes beginning before the fifth hour of hour for each work period of more than five hours per day and a second duty-free meal period of not less than 30 minutes beginning before the tenth hour of hour of work in violation of Labor Code sections 226.7, 512, 558, 1198 and the IWC Wage Orders (the “Meal Periods” sections of the applicable orders).

66. Further, Defendants willfully failed in their affirmative obligation to consistently pay Plaintiff and class members one additional hour of pay at the respective regular rate of compensation for each workday that a fully compliant meal period was not provided, in violation of Labor Code sections 226.7, 512, 558, and 1198 and the IWC Wage Orders (the “Meal Periods” sections of the applicable orders).

67. Plaintiff and class members are entitled to recover the full amount of the meal period premiums owed, in addition to interest, statutory and civil penalties, and attorneys' fees, and costs to the extent permitted by law.

FOURTH CAUSE OF ACTION

REST PERIOD VIOLATIONS

Violation of Labor Code §§ 226.7 and 516

68. All outside paragraphs of this Complaint are incorporated into this section.

69. This cause of action is brought pursuant to the IWC Wage Orders and Labor Code §§ 226.7 and 516, which require non-exempt employees be authorized to take complaint rest periods (or rest period premiums in lieu thereof), and which further provide a private right of action for an employer's failure to lawfully provide all rest periods and/or pay rest period premiums at the lawful regular rate of compensation.

70. Defendants willfully failed in their affirmative obligation to consistently authorize and permit Plaintiff and class members to receive compliant, duty-free rest periods of not less than ten (10) minutes for every four hours worked (or major fraction thereof) in violation of Labor Code sections 226.7, 516, 558, and 1198 and the IWC Wage Orders (the “Rest Periods” sections of the applicable orders).

71. Further, Defendants willfully failed in their affirmative obligation to consistently pay Plaintiff and class members one additional hour of pay at the respective regular rate of compensation for each workday that a fully compliant rest period was not provided, in violation of Labor Code sections 226.7, 516, 558, and 1198 and the IWC Wage Orders.

FIFTH CAUSE OF ACTION

FAILURE TO PAY ALL PAID SICK LEAVE WAGES

Violation of Labor Code §§ 200, 218, 246 et seq.

72. All outside paragraphs of this Complaint are incorporated into this section.

73. Defendants knowingly and intentionally failed in their affirmative obligation to pay sick leave wages to Plaintiff and a paid sick leave subclass in violation of Labor Code section 246 et seq. Paid sick leave earnings constitute wages for purposes of California wage and hour law. (Murphy v. Kenneth Cole Productions, Inc. (2007) 40 Cal.4th 1094, 1103 [“Courts have recognized that ‘wages’ also include those benefits to which an employee is entitled as a part of his or her compensation, including money, room, board, clothing, vacation pay, and sick pay”].)

74. Labor Code section 246(1), in conjunction with Labor Code section 248 et seq., 248.1, 248.2, and 248.6, in addition to the applicable County sick pay ordinances in locales worked by class members, govern how Defendants were required to calculate paid sick leave.

75. Defendants failed to pay Plaintiff and class members their paid sick leave wages at one of the lawful rates set forth in the statute or ordinance because Defendants failed to include in their sick leave calculation the additional remuneration received by Plaintiff and class members (i.e., at the regular rate of pay and/or calculated based on total wages earned).

76. Furthermore, to the extent the paid sick leave paid constitutes Covid-related paid sick leave, Defendants knowingly and intentionally failed in their affirmative obligation to pay Covid-19 Supplemental Sick Leave wages to class members at the correct accrual rate or hourly pay rate in violation of Labor Code sections 246, 248.1, 248.2, and 248 et seq.

77. As a result, Defendants violated the Labor Code and are liable to Plaintiff and class members for underpaid sick leave wages, in addition to interest, attorneys' fees, and costs.

85. Defendants willfully failed in their affirmative obligation to timely pay all wages, including paid sick leave and meal and rest premiums, earned by Plaintiff and class members twice during each calendar month on days designated in advance by the employer as regular paydays (for employees paid on a non-weekly basis) and on the regularly-scheduled weekly payday for weekly employees, if any, in violation of Labor Code sections 204 and 204b and the IWC Wage Orders (the “Minimum Wages” sections of the applicable orders).

86. Plaintiff and class members are entitled to recover the full amount of the unpaid wages, in addition to a statutory penalty in the amount of $100 for the initial violation for each failure to pay each employee and $200 for all subsequent violations and for all willful or intentional violations for each failure to pay each employee, plus 25 percent of the amount unlawfully withheld under provided in Labor Code § 210, in addition to interest, attorneys' fees, and costs to the extent permitted by law.

EIGHTH CAUSE OF ACTION

WAGE STATEMENT VIOLATIONS

Violation of Labor Code § 226

87. All outside paragraphs of this Complaint are incorporated into this section.

88. This cause of action is brought by a wage statement subclass pursuant to Labor Code § 226(a) which requires non-exempt employees be provided accurate itemized wage statements each pay period, and which further provide a private right of action for an employer's failure to comply with this obligation.

89. Defendants knowingly and intentionally failed in their affirmative obligation to provide accurate itemized wage statements to Plaintiff and class members resulting in injury to Plaintiff and class members. Specifically, the wage statements issued to Plaintiff and class members did not accurately state each pay period all of the information required by Labor Code § 226(a)(1)-(9).

90. Defendants' unlawful acts and omissions deprived Plaintiff and class members of accurate itemized wage statements, causing confusion and concealing wage and premium underpayments.

91. As a result, Plaintiff and class members are entitled to recover the statutory penalty of $50 per employee for the initial pay period in which a violation occurred and $100 per employee for

1 each violation in a subsequent pay period, up to an aggregate penalty of $4,000 per employee, in
2 addition to interest, attorneys' fees, and costs to the extent permitted by law, including under Labor
3 Code section 226(e).

Dear LWDA Officer and Company Representatives:

This letter serves as written notice under Labor Code section 2699.3 on behalf of CALEB VAN SETTEN (“Plaintiff(s)”) and all other “aggrieved employees” of the following “Defendant(s)”:

COX AUTOMOTIVE CORPORATE SERVICES, LLC DBA MANHEIM
RIVERSIDE; COX AUTOMOTIVE MOBILITY SOLUTIONS, INC.; MANHEIM
REMARKETING, INC.; MANHEIM INVESTMENTS, INC.

Defendant(s) shall mean and include the foregoing in addition to any other related employer entities, individuals under Labor Code sections 558 and 558.1, and all others who may be later added upon further investigation and discovery as liable employers.

This office serves as legal counsel for Plaintiff. If the California Labor and Workforce Development Agency (“LWDA”) does not investigate the facts, allegations, and violations set forth in this notice within the statutorily prescribed 65-day period under Labor Code section 2699.3, Plaintiff intends to commence a civil action against Defendants as a proxy and agent of the State of California under the Private Attorneys General Act (“PAGA”). “PAGA allows an ‘aggrieved employee’—a person affected by at least one Labor Code violation committed by an employer—to pursue penalties for all the Labor Code violations committed by that employer.” Huff v. Securitas Security Services USA, Inc. (2018) 23 Cal. App. 5th 745, 751; Kim v. Reins International California, Inc. (2020) 9 Cal. 73, 79. Plaintiff maintains standing to pursue these claims against Defendants as an aggrieved employee.

Through this notice, Plaintiff requests that Defendants complete an internal investigation and audit of the wage and hour and employment practices at issue and make a good faith effort to correct any violations. Plaintiff attempts to identify the non-compliant policies and practices affecting the aggrieved employees so that the parties may resolve the underlying damages and penalties in judgment or settlement approved by the Superior Court of California under Labor Code section 2699(s). Defendants are notified that any attempt to resolve this case should be conducted in coordination with Plaintiff’s counsel to protect the interests of Plaintiff, the aggrieved employees, and the State of California via the LWDA. Plaintiff advises Defendants this letter should be also considered a reasonable attempt at settlement of this matter, subject to an exchange of additional documents and information. Graham v. Daimler Chrysler Corp. (2004) 24 Cal. 4th 553, 561.

- BACKGROUND -

Defendants employed Plaintiff during the PAGA Period in the position of Inventory Control Coordinator from about November 1, 2017, to the Present. During their employment Plaintiff and the other aggrieved employees were subject to the wage and hour and employment protections set forth in the California Labor Code and IWC Wage Orders.

Through this notice, Plaintiff informs the LWDA of the Labor Code violations set forth herein. The “aggrieved employees” include Plaintiff and the following individuals:

All current and former non-exempt employees who worked for Defendants in the State of California during one-year period preceding the date of this notice through the current date and the date of trial in any pending action (the “aggrieved employees” and the “PAGA Period”).

Plaintiff reserves the right to expand or narrow the definition of the “aggrieved employees” in the forthcoming civil action. Furthermore, Plaintiff seeks all recoverable civil penalties for Defendants' violations and reserves the right to supplement this notice as further investigation is completed and further facts, witnesses, and violations are uncovered.

- PAGA CLAIMS -

Unpaid Hours Worked/Minimum Wage Violation of Labor Code §§ 1194, 1197, 1198; IWC Wage Orders

Defendants violated Labor Code sections 1194, 1197, and 1198, along with the California Minimum Wage Order, the applicable local minimum wage ordinances, and the "Hours and Days of Work" and "Minimum Wages" sections of the applicable IWC Wage Orders with respect to the aggrieved employees.

Labor Code section 1194 renders it unlawful for an employee to receive less than the legal minimum wage for hours worked in California. Labor Code section 1197 further mandates that "[t]he minimum wage for employees fixed by the commission is the minimum wage to be paid to employees, and the payment of a lower wage than the minimum so fixed is unlawful." Labor Code section 1198 renders "employment of any employee for longer hours than those fixed by the order or under conditions of labor prohibited by the [IWC Wage Orders]" unlawful. The California Minimum Wage Order and the applicable sections of the IWC Wage Orders further require payment of minimum wages for all hours worked. The "Minimum Wages" sections of the applicable IWC Wage Order provide that "[e]very employer shall pay to each employee, on the established payday for the period involved, not less than the applicable minimum wage for all hours worked in the payroll period, whether the remuneration is measured by time, piece, commission, or otherwise." The foregoing California wage laws require payment of "not less than the applicable minimum wage for all hours worked in the payroll period" and California law does not allow averaging of pay over the hours worked in the pay period, even if the total pay results in an average above the minimum wage. Armenta v. Osmose, Inc. (2005) 135 Cal. App. 3d 314, 324.

Defendants failed to pay Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees at the lawful minimum wage rate for all hours worked, resulting in unpaid minimum wages. Defendants engaged in an unlawful policy and practice of requiring Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees to complete work while off-the-clock, without compensation. For example, Defendants failed to pay Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees for all hours worked because of Defendants' practice of interrupting Plaintiff's lunch breaks to ask for information have questions answered or assign tasks. Plaintiff is informed and believes that other employees suffered the same violations. Thus, Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees regularly worked through their unpaid meal periods, while clocked out for lunch. Furthermore, before clocking in for the day, Plaintiff was required to take COVID surveys on his personal cell phone and show security that it was completed before being allowed to clock in. This unlawful practice also resulted in off-the-clock work. Defendants failed to retroactively input and compensate Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees for all hours spent working off-the-clock. Due to this unlawful practice, all hours were not directly compensated, resulting in the underpayment of wages to Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees.

As a result, Plaintiff may recover civil penalties as an individual and on behalf of the State of California and the aggrieved employees, up to the maximum amount allowed as set forth under the Labor Code.

Unpaid Overtime Violation of Labor Code §§ 510, 1194, 1198; IWC Wage Orders

Defendants violated Labor Code sections 510, 1194, and 1198, along with the “Hours and Days of Work” sections of the applicable IWC Wage Orders with respect to the aggrieved employees.

Labor Code section 510 requires “[a]ny work in excess of eight hours in one workday and any work in excess of 40 hours in any one workweek and the first eight hours worked on the seventh day of work in any one workweek shall be compensated at the rate of no less than one and one-half times the regular rate of pay for an employee;” and “any work in excess of 12 hours in one day shall be compensated at the rate of no less than twice the regular rate of pay for an employee;” and “any work in excess of eight hours on any seventh day of a workweek shall be compensated at the rate of no less than twice the regular rate of pay of an employee.” Labor Code section 1194 renders it unlawful for an employee to receive less than the legal overtime rate for overtime hours worked in California. Labor Code section 1198 renders “employment of any employee for longer hours than those fixed by the order or under conditions of labor prohibited by the [IWC Wage Orders]” unlawful. The IWC Wage Orders further require payment of overtime wages for all overtime hours worked, including the “Hours and Days of Work” sections.

Defendants failed to pay Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees overtime wages and the lawful rate of pay for overtime hours worked, resulting in unpaid overtime wages.

First, as discussed in the minimum wage section above, Defendants engaged in an unlawful policy and practice of requiring off-the-clock work. To the extent that these unlawful practices resulted in unpaid hours worked, over 8 hours in a day or 40 hours in a week, this resulted in unpaid overtime hours.

Second, Defendants failed to pay overtime and double time at the “regular rate of pay.” Defendants paid Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees incentives, bonuses, and other forms of remuneration that Defendants failed to incorporate into the overtime and double time rates in the pay periods when employees worked overtime and double time hours.

Defendants unlawfully paid overtime to Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees at 1.5x their straight hourly rate. For each overtime hour worked during the period in which Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees earned the additional forms of remuneration, Defendants should have (but failed to) pay overtime “at a rate no less than one and one-half times the regular rate of pay for an employee” and “twice the regular rate of pay” for double time hours as required by the plain language of Labor Code section 510(a) and the ICW Wage Orders.

Here, Plaintiff earned an incentive award (“Achievers”) in the amount of $108.31 in the same pay period he worked overtime. However, Plaintiff’s overtime was paid at 1.5x his base hourly rate or an otherwise deficient rate. Thus, Defendants failed to properly factor Plaintiff’s incentive pay into the overtime rate.

Additionally, Defendants failed to factor referral bonuses into the regular rate of pay for overtime. Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees would earn $1,000.00 for recommending a potential employee who stayed with the company for over 60 days. An illustrative example of this violation is also below:

Here, Plaintiff earned a referral bonus ("Refer Bns") payment in the same period he worked overtime; however, Plaintiff's overtime was paid at 1.5x Plaintiff's base rate or an otherwise deficient rate. To the extent other aggrieved employees earned bonuses or other forms of remuneration, Defendants as a matter of policy and practice failed to properly factor these payments into the regular rate of pay with respect to overtime

As a result, Plaintiff may recover civil penalties as an individual and on behalf of the State of California and the aggrieved employees, up to the maximum amount allowed as set forth under the Labor Code.

Unpaid Paid Sick Leave
Violation of Labor Code §§ 246 through 248.7

Defendants violated Labor Code sections 246 through 248.7 with respect to the aggrieved employees.

Labor Code section 246 requires employers to provide paid sick leave to its workforce on the terms set forth in the statute. Employers must comply with the accrual, use, and notice provisions of Labor Code sections 246, 246.5, 247, and must further ensure that they maintain the paid sick leave records required by Labor Code section 247.5. Employers have the option of providing 24 hours of paid sick leave to employees or to allow employees to accrue paid sick leave each pay period. If an employer chooses the accrual method, employees must accrue sick leave at a rate of one hour for every thirty hours worked in a given pay period as set forth in Labor Code section 246(b)(1). Under the accrual method, employees must begin accruing paid sick leave at the commencement of employment.

Employers must pay sick leave in accordance with one of the three permissible methods provided in Labor Code section 246(l): (1) "the same manner as the regular rate of pay for the workweek;" (2) "by dividing the employee's total wages, not including overtime premium pay, by the employee's total hours worked in the full pay periods of the prior 90 days;" or (3) "for exempt employee ... in the same manner as the employer calculates wages for other forms of paid leave time." Labor Code sections 248.6 and 248.7 similarly require paid sick leave to be paid at a regular rate-based calculation in excess of the base hourly rate and at the lawful accrual rate.

Under Labor Code section 246(i), employers must provide employees "with written notice of the amount of paid sick leave available ... for use on either the employee's itemized wage statement ... or in a separate writing provided on the designated pay date with the employee's payment of wages."

Defendants failed to comply with California's paid sick leave laws with respect to the aggrieved employees. To the extent the aggrieved employees earned sick pay in the same period they earned other non-excludable remuneration, Defendants underpaid those wages due to the regular rate violations addressed above. Specifically, Defendants did not pay the aggrieved employees sick leave "in the same manner as the regular rate of pay for the workweek in which the employee uses paid sick leave, whether or not the employee actually worked overtime in that workweek," as the regular rate should have included commissions and all other forms of additional non-excludable remuneration.

Additionally, due to Defendants' unlawful policy of requiring Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees to work off-the-clock, by regularly interrupting lunch breaks, Defendants failed to provide Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees with all sick leave accrued. Consequently, Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees were systematically denied all owed paid sick leave hours.

As a result, Plaintiff may recover civil penalties as an individual and on behalf of the State of California and the aggrieved employees, up to the maximum amount allowed as set forth under the Labor Code.

Unpaid Vacation Wages Violation of Labor Code § 227.3

Defendants violated Labor Code section 227.3 with respect to the aggrieved employees.

Labor Code section 227.3 requires "whenever a contract of employment or employer policy provides for paid vacations, and an employee is terminated without having taken off his vested vacation time, all vested vacation shall be paid to him as wages at his final rate in accordance with such contract of employment or employer policy respecting eligibility or time served; provided, however, that an employment contract or employer policy shall not provide for forfeiture of vested vacation time upon termination."

Defendants maintained an unlawful policy and practice of failing to pay all accrued and unused vacation wages upon separation of employment at the lawful rate of pay, resulting in forfeiture of vested vacation time and wages. Consequently, any Plaintiff and aggrieved employee's payment of vested vacation wages upon termination was depreciated and underpaid.

As a result, Plaintiff may recover civil penalties as an individual and on behalf of the State of California and the aggrieved employees, up to the maximum amount allowed as set forth under the Labor Code.

Unpaid Meal Period Premium Wages
Violation of Labor Code §§ 226.7, 512, 1198; IWC Wage Orders

Defendants violated Labor Code sections 226.7, 512, and 1198, along with the related sections of the IWC Wage Orders with respect to the aggrieved employees.

Labor Code section 512 and the IWC Wage Orders require that employers provide an uninterrupted 30-minute meal period after no more than five hours of work and a second meal period after no more than 10 hours of work. See Brinker Restaurant Corp. v. Superior Court (2012) 53 Cal. 4th 1004, 1049. Labor Code section 226.7 requires that if a meal period is late, missed, short, or interrupted, the employer must pay one additional hour of pay at the employee's "regular rate" of compensation. Ferra v. Loews Hollywood Hotel, LLC (2021) 11 Cal. 5th 858, 862 ("We hold that the terms are synonymous: "regular rate of compensation" under section 226.7(c), like "regular rate of pay" under section 510(a), encompasses all nondiscretionary payments, not just hourly wages"). "[T]ime records showing noncompliant meal periods raise a rebuttable presumption of meal period violations, including at the summary judgment stage." Donohue v. AMN Services, LLC (2021) 11 Cal. 5th 58, 61. Labor Code section 1198 renders "employment of any employee for longer hours than those fixed by the order or under conditions of labor prohibited by the [IWC Wage Orders]" unlawful. The IWC Wage Orders, including Section 11 (Meal Periods), further require one uninterrupted 30-minute meal period after no more than five hours of work and a second meal period after no more than 10 hours of work and an additional hour of pay at the employee's regular rate of compensation for each workday that a compliant meal period is not provided. Pursuant to Section 11(A) of the IWC Wage Orders, the California Supreme Court has held that the on-duty meal period exception is "exceedingly narrow" and applies only when (1) "the nature of the work prevents the employee from being relieved of all duty" and (2) both "the employer and employee have agreed, in writing, to the on-duty meal period." Augustus v. AMB Security Services, Inc. (2016) 2 Cal. 5th 257, 266-276 (emphasis added). If these two requirements are not met, then the employer owes the employee one hour of premium pay for each non-compliant meal period taken under the purported on-duty meal arrangement. Naranjo v. Spectrum Security Services, Inc. (2019) 40 Cal. 5th 444, 459.

Plaintiff and other aggrieved employees routinely experienced missed, late, short, and interrupted meal periods due to pressure from Defendants to keep up with high demands of the job. For example, Plaintiff would suffer interrupted meal periods as often as two to three times a week because supervisors would frequently ask him questions or provide him with instructions on inventory tasks to complete. As such, Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees would need to work during their unpaid meal period, resulting in frequent non-compliant meal periods.

Each time Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees experienced a noncompliant meal period, they were owed a meal period premium. As a matter of policy and practice, Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees were not provided meal period premiums in lieu of non-compliant meal periods as required by Labor Code section 226.7.

To the extent Defendants paid any meal period premium, the premiums were not paid at the regular rate of compensation because the premium did not factor in bonuses, commissions, or other forms of remuneration, instead electing to pay aggrieved employees at their base hourly rate, in violation of California law.

As a result, Plaintiff may recover civil penalties as an individual and on behalf of the State of California and the aggrieved employees, up to the maximum amount allowed as set forth under the Labor Code.

Unpaid Rest Period Premium Wages Violation of Labor Code §§ 226.7, 516, 1198; IWC Wage Orders

Defendants violated Labor Code sections 226.7, 516, and 1198, and the related sections of the IWC Wage Orders with respect to Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees.

Labor Code sections 226.7 and 516 and the IWC Wage Orders require that employers authorize and permit an uninterrupted 10-minute rest period for each four-hour period (or major fraction thereof) that an employee works. Labor Code section 226.7 requires that if a rest period is non-compliant, the employer must pay one additional hour of pay at the employee's "regular rate" of compensation. Ferra v. Loews Hollywood Hotel, LLC (2021) 11 Cal. 5th 858, 862 ("We hold that the terms are synonymous: "regular rate of compensation" under section 226.7(c), like "regular rate of pay" under section 510(a), encompasses all nondiscretionary payments, not just hourly wages"). Labor Code section 1198 renders "employment of any employee for longer hours than those fixed by the order or under conditions of labor prohibited by the [IWC Wage Orders]" unlawful. The IWC Wage Orders, including Section 12 (Rest Periods), further require one uninterrupted 10-minute rest period for each four-hour period (or major fraction thereof) worked and an additional hour of pay at the employee's regular rate of compensation for each workday that a compliant rest period is not authorized or permitted.

As a matter of common policy and practice, Defendants failed to provide all rest periods to which Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees were entitled. Due to the reasons explained in the "Unpaid Meal Period" section above, such as understaffing and the pressures to keep up with the continuous demands of the job, Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees were not always authorized or permitted to take their rest periods. For example, due to high demands of the job, Plaintiff routinely missed rest periods or had them interrupted in order to keep up with the frequent calls from supervisors or employees from other locations needing prompt assistance. Due to the high pressures from management, Plaintiff felt compelled to answer phone calls during his rest breaks. Defendants required Plaintiff and the other aggrieved employees to effectively waive or otherwise forego their rest periods contrary to the law.

When Defendants did not provide compliant rest periods, Defendants failed to pay Plaintiff and other aggrieved employees a rest period premium in violation of Labor Code section 226.7. To the extent Defendants ever paid a rest period premium, Defendants violated Labor Code section 226.7 because such premiums were not paid at the regular rate of compensation to aggrieved employees, which would have factored in commissions, bonuses, and other forms of remuneration.

As a result, Plaintiff may recover civil penalties as an individual and on behalf of the State of California and the aggrieved employees, up to the maximum amount allowed as set forth under the Labor Code.

Untimely Payment of Wages During Employment Violation of Labor Code §§ 204, 204b, 210

Defendants violated Labor Code sections 204 and/or 204b and 210, as applicable, with respect to Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees.

Labor Code section 204(a) requires payment of “all wages” for non-exempt employees at least twice each calendar month. Labor Code section 204(d) states all wages due must be paid “not more than seven calendar days following the close of the payroll period.” Labor Code section 204b applies to employees paid on a weekly basis and also requires the payment for all labor within the required pay periods. Labor Code section 210 provides “every person who fails to pay the wages of an employee as provided in Section ... 204 ... shall be subject to a civil penalty” of $100 for an initial violation and $200 plus 25% of the amount unlawfully withheld for a subsequent violation.

Because Defendants failed to pay all wages and premiums in each pay period in which such wages were earned at the lawful rate, Defendants violated Labor Code section 204 and/or 204b (for weekly employees, as applicable). Defendants violated Labor Code sections 204 and 204b by failing to pay all wages and premiums owed on the regular pay days scheduled each pay period within seven calendar days of the close of the payroll period, as a result of the policies and practices set forth in this notice. Indeed, Defendant failed to pay all premiums, overtime, regular, sick leave, and other earning on time each payday. As explained above, Defendant underpaid Plaintiff and other aggrieved employees’ minimum, regular, overtime wages, paid sick leave, and premium pay. Defendant is separately liable for not paying the full amount owed to Plaintiff and other aggrieved employees each payday in violation of Labor Code sections 204 and/or 204b.

As a result, Plaintiff may recover civil penalties as an individual and on behalf of the State of California and the aggrieved employees, up to the maximum amount allowed as set forth under the Labor Code.

Untimely Payment of Wages Upon Separation of Employment
Violation of Labor Code §§ 201, 202, 203, 256

Defendants violated Labor Code sections 201, 202, and 203 with respect to the aggrieved employees by failing to pay all wages and premiums owed upon termination of employment.

Labor Code section 201 requires that if an employer fires an employee, the wages must be paid immediately. Labor Code section 202 requires that if an employee quits without providing 72 hours' notice, his or her wages must be paid no later than 72 hours thereafter. Labor Code section 202 states that if an employee provides 72 hours' notice, the final wages are payable upon his or her final day of employment. Labor Code section 203 requires an employer who fails to comply with Labor Code sections 201 or 202 to pay a waiting time penalty for each employee, up to a period of 30 days additional compensation.

Defendants failed to pay all wages and premiums owed to aggrieved employees during their employment as set forth in this notice, and also failed to timely pay those amounts to departing employees upon separation of employment. Defendants did not pay waiting time penalties for the late payments. As a result, Defendants violated Labor Code sections 201, 202, and 203.

As a result, Plaintiff may recover civil penalties as an individual and on behalf of the State of California and the aggrieved employees, up to the maximum amount allowed as set forth under the Labor Code.

Non-Compliant Wage Statements
Violation of Labor Code §§ 226, 226.3

Defendants violated Labor Code sections 226(a) and 226.3 with respect to the aggrieved employees by failing to furnish itemized wage statements each pay period that accurately list all information required by Labor Code section 226(a)(1) through (9).

Labor Code section 226(a) requires an employer to furnish wage statements to employees semimonthly or at the time of each payment of wages, "an accurate itemized statement in writing showing:" (1) gross wages earned, (2) total hours worked, (3) the number of piece rate units earned and applicable piece-rate in effect, (4) all deductions, (5) net wages earned, (6) the inclusive dates of the pay period, (7) the name of the employee and last four digits of SSN or an EIN, (8) the name and address of the legal name of the employer, and (9) all applicable hourly rates in effect during the pay period and the number of hours worked at each hourly rate by the employee.

Defendants failed to provide accurate itemized wage statements to the aggrieved employees each pay period as a result of the policies and practices set forth in this notice. Defendants violated Labor Code section 226(a)(1) and (5) by not listing the correct “gross wages earned” or “net wages earned,” as the employees earned wages and premiums that were not paid, resulting in an inaccurate reflection, and recording of “gross wages earned” on those wage statements. Likewise, in violation of Labor Code section 226(a)(9), Defendants failed to state on employee wage statements each pay period the applicable hourly rates in effect and the number of hours worked at that rate, as Defendants failed to pay all wages and premiums owed to employees. The amounts stated are instead depreciated and underpaid, resulting in an inaccurate reflection on the pay stub.

Defendants violated Labor Code section 226(a)(2) by failing to accurately list employees’ “total hours worked,” as the wage statements did not accurately include the uncompensated time Plaintiff and other aggrieved employees worked off-the-clock and during their meal periods.

Plaintiff and other aggrieved employees cannot promptly and easily determine from the wage statement alone the wages paid or earned without reference to other documents or information. Indeed, these wage statement violations are significant because they sow confusion among Plaintiff and other aggrieved employees with respect to what amounts were owed and paid, at what rates, the number of hours worked, and how those amounts were or should be calculated. The wage statements reflect a false statement of earnings and concealed the underlying problems and underpayments of employee wages.

As a result, Plaintiff may recover civil penalties as an individual and on behalf of the State of California and the aggrieved employees, up to the maximum amount allowed as set forth under the Labor Code.

Unreimbursed Employee Expenses Violation of Labor Code §§ 2802, 2804

Defendants violated Labor Code section 2802 with respect to the aggrieved employees by failing to reimburse the aggrieved employees for all necessary expenditures or losses incurred as part of their job duties.

Labor Code section 2802 requires an employer to “indemnify his or her employee for all necessary expenditures or losses incurred by the employee in direct consequence of the discharge of his or her duties, or of his or her obedience to the directions of the employer, even though unlawful, unless the employee, at the time of obeying the directions, believed them to be unlawful.” See, e.g., Espinoza v. West Coast Tomato Growers, LLC, 2016 WL 4468175 at *4, n.2 (S.D. Cal. Aug. 24, 2016, No. 14-CV-2984 W (KSC)).

Labor Code section 2804 affirms that “[a]ny contract or agreement, express or implied, made by any employee to waive the benefits of this article or any part thereof, is null and void, and this article shall not deprive any employee or his personal representative of any right or remedy to which he is entitled under the laws of this State.”

Defendants required Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees to incur costs for work-related purposes without full reimbursement. In direct consequence of their job duties, Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees unavoidably and necessarily incurred these losses, expenditures, costs, and as a matter of policy and practice. Specifically, Defendants required Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees to utilize their personal cell phones for work-related purposes without full reimbursement. For example, Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees used their personal cell phones to login to the company intranet, where there was a two factor authorization pin sent to their personal cell phones. Management would also contact Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees on their personal cell phones for work-related purposes. Lastly, as mentioned above, Defendants required employees to use their personal cell phones to complete COVID surveys in order to clock in for the day. Defendants did not reimburse Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees for expenses incurred from obtaining and using their personal cell phones that were necessary for the job.

As a result, Plaintiff may recover civil penalties as an individual and on behalf of the State of California and the aggrieved employees, up to the maximum amount allowed as set forth under the Labor Code.

Failure to Maintain Accurate Records Violation of Labor Code § 1174; IWC Wage Orders

Defendants violated Labor Code sections 1174 and the IWC Wage Orders by failing to maintain accurate employee payroll records with respect to Plaintiff and other aggrieved employees.

Labor Code section 1174 requires that employers maintain accurate “payroll records showing the hours worked daily by and the wages paid to, and the number of piece-rate units earned by and any applicable piece rate paid to, employees employed at the respective plants or establishments.” Section 7(A) of the IWC Wage Orders, which may be enforced through Labor Code section 1198, mandates similar recordkeeping obligations.

Because of the policies and practices set forth in this notice, including the failure to accurately account for wages earned or hours worked, Defendants failed to accurately maintain records in accordance with Labor Code section 1174 and the IWC Wage Orders.

As a result, Plaintiff may recover civil penalties as an individual and on behalf of the State of California and the aggrieved employees, up to the maximum amount allowed as set forth under the Labor Code.

Plaintiff has been compelled to retain the services of counsel to protect the interests of other aggrieved employees and the State of California. Plaintiff continues to incur attorneys' fees and costs, which are recoverable under California law, including Labor Code section 2699(k)(1).
