1 Plaintiff ACCORD MENDOZA, on behalf of all others similarly situated and the State of
2 California under the Private Attorneys General Act (“Plaintiff”) brings this FIRST AMENDED
3 CLASS AND REPRESENTATIVE ACTION COMPLAINT against Defendants PACIFIC
4 WESTERN PAINTING AND CONSTRUCTION, INC. and DOES 1 through 50, inclusive
5 (collectively “Defendants”), alleging as follows:

6 INTRODUCTION

7 1. This is a class action for wage and hour violations of the California Labor Code.

8 2. Defendants failed to compensate Plaintiff and class members for all hours suffered or 9 permitted to work in violation of the applicable IWC Wage Orders.

10 3. Defendants’ underpayment of wages was facilitated by their unlawful policy and 11 practice of requiring off-the-clock work.

12 4. Defendants also underpaid the class members’ wages by failing to include all forms of 13 remunerations, including bonuses, into the regular rate of pay calculation for overtime, sick pay, and 14 premiums.

15 5. Plaintiff and class members were not always authorized or permitted to take compliant
16 meal and rest breaks, yet Defendants did not pay the class members all corresponding meal or rest
17 period premiums.

18 6. Defendants failed to properly reimburse Plaintiff and class members for costs incurred
19 for work-related purposes in direct consequence of their job duties.

20 7. Defendants’ employment policies, practices, and payroll administration systems
21 enabled and facilitated these violations on a company-wide basis with respect to the class members.

22 8. Defendants are further liable for derivative claims for wage statements, untimely 23 payment, and other associated violations.

24 9. Plaintiff seeks to recover the damages, wages, interest, and penalties, in addition to 25 attorneys’ fees and costs, according to proof.

26 JURISDICTION & VENUE

27 10. Jurisdiction of this action is proper in this Court under Article VI, Section 10 of the 28 California Constitution as the causes of action are premised upon violations of California law.

11. The monetary damages and restitution sought exceed the minimal jurisdiction limits of the Superior Court.

12. This Court has jurisdiction over Defendants because, upon information and belief, Defendants have sufficient minimum contacts in California, or otherwise intentionally avail themselves to the California economy so as to render the exercise of jurisdiction over them by the California courts consistent with traditional notions of fair play and substantial justice.

13. Venue is proper in this Court under Code of Civil Procedure sections 393(a), 395, and/or 395.5 because, upon information and belief, Defendants conducted business and committed some of the alleged violations in this County.

PARTIES

A. Plaintiff Accord Mendoza

14. Plaintiff Mendoza is an individual over 18 years of age who worked for Defendants in California as a non-exempt employee from about December 2020 to March 2025. Plaintiff worked as a Foreman.

15. The State of California, via the Labor and Workforce Development Agency (“LWDA”), is the real party in interest in this action. (Kim v. Reins Int’l California, Inc. (2020) 9 Cal. 5th 73, 81 [The “government entity on whose behalf the plaintiff files suit is always the real party in interest.”]). To the extent permitted by law, including pursuant Balderas v. Fresh Start Harvesting, Inc. (2024) 101 Cal. App. 5th 533 and Rodriguez v. Packers Sanitation Services Ltd. (Feb. 26, 2025, D083400) ___ Cal.Rptr.3d ___ [2025 WL 615064], the PAGA claim is brought exclusively as a representative action and does not include arbitrable claims.

B. Defendants

16. Defendant Pacific Western Painting and Construction, Inc. is a California corporation that maintains operations and conducts business throughout the State of California, including in this county.

17. The true names and capacities, whether individual, corporate, or otherwise, of the parties sued as DOES 1 through 50, are presently unknown, unascertainable, or uncertain, and are sued by such fictitious names under Code of Civil Procedure section 474. Upon information and belief, each of DOES 1 through 50 constitutes a legal employer or is otherwise legally responsible in some manner for the acts and omissions alleged herein. This Complaint may be amended to reflect their true names and capacities once ascertained.

18. Upon information and belief, Defendants in this action are employers, co-employers, joint employers, and/or part of an integrated employer enterprise, as each of the Defendants exercised control over the wages, hours, and working conditions of the employees, suffered and permitted them to work, and otherwise engaged them as employees under California law.

19. Upon information and belief, at least some of the Defendants have common ownership, common management, interrelationship of operations, and centralized control over labor relations and are therefore part of an integrated enterprise and thus jointly and severally responsible for the acts and omissions alleged herein, including pursuant to Labor Code sections 558, 558.1, and 1197.1.

20. Upon information and belief, Defendants acted in all respects pertinent to this action as an alter-ego, agent, servant, joint employer, joint venturer, co-conspirator, partner, in an integrated enterprise, or in some other capacity on behalf of all other co-defendants, such that the acts and omissions of each defendant may be legally attributable to all others.

CLASS ALLEGATIONS

21. This action is brought individually and on behalf of the following class pursuant to Code of Civil Procedure section 382:

- a. All current and former non-exempt employees who worked for Defendants in California at any time from four years (plus the additional 178-day statutory tolling period under Emergency Rule 9) prior to the filing of this action through date of class certification.

22. Plaintiff reserves the right to establish various subclass definitions as appropriate at the class certification stage, according to proof.

23. The class is ascertainable and shares a well-defined community of interest in this litigation:

- a. Numerosity: The class is estimated to exceed 50 individuals, although the precise membership of the entire class is unknown at this time. The class is so

1 numerous that joinder of all class members is impracticable. The identities of 2 class members are ascertainable by inspection of Defendants' employment and 3 payroll records.

4 b. Typicality: Plaintiff's claims are typical of the claims of the other class
5 members. They were subject to the same policies and practices of Defendants,
6 which resulted in losses to the class. Proof of common unlawful business
7 practices, which Plaintiff experienced, will establish the right of the class to 8 recover on the causes of action alleged herein.

9 c. Adequacy: Plaintiff is an adequate class representative; will take all necessary
10 steps to protect the class members' interests adequately and fairly; has no
11 interest antagonistic to other class members; and is represented by attorneys 12 who have substantial experience prosecuting, defending, resolving, and 13 litigating wage and hour class, collective, and representative actions in 14 California state and federal courts.

15 d. Superiority: A class action is superior to other means for adjudicating this 16 dispute. Individual joinder is impractical. Class treatment will allow for 17 common issues to be resolved in a single forum, simultaneously, and without 18 duplication of effort and expense.

19 e. Public Policy Considerations: Certification of this lawsuit as a class action
20 advances the State of California's strong public interest in ensuring its 21 approximately millions of employed residents are properly paid the wages they 22 earned for the hours they worked. Class actions provide a mechanism for 23 enforcement of labor laws and allow for vindication of employee rights by 24 unnamed class members.

25 24. Common questions of law and fact as to the class members predominate over questions
26 affecting only individual members. The common questions of law and fact exist as to whether the 27 employment policies and practices formulated by Defendants and applied to the class members
28 constitute violations of California law.

GENERAL ALLEGATIONS

25. Defendants failed to pay Plaintiff and the class members at the lawful minimum wage rate for all hours worked, resulting in unpaid minimum wages.

26. Defendants required Plaintiff and the class members to complete work while off-the-clock. Defendants expected Plaintiff and the class members to always be available to respond to text messages, phone calls, and emails regarding work-related issues such as providing status updates on projects, discussing project logistics, and schedule changes. Plaintiff and class members were required to answer these calls, text messages, and emails, even on their days off from work. Failure to respond could result in Plaintiff and the class members being reprimanded.

27. Additionally, Defendant expected Plaintiff and the class members to arrive fifteen to thirty minutes before their shift to load their work trucks before clocking in. Defendant did not allow Plaintiff and the class members to clock in before their exact shift start time. Therefore, all the time spent loading the trucks was completed off-the-clock.

28. Further, Defendant required Plaintiff and the class members to submit their timesheets at the end of the work week on Fridays. However, the timekeeping systems did not allow Plaintiff and the class members to submit their timesheets on Fridays or when they were still clocked in. Therefore, Plaintiff and the class members were required to review and submit their timesheets on their days off and when off-the-clock.

29. Moreover, Defendants, despite requiring Plaintiff and the class members to travel to different job sites, Defendants did not allow Plaintiff and the class members to refuel their vehicles while on the clock. Rather, Defendants directed Plaintiff and the class members to refuel while off-the-clock. Refueling while on the clock was discouraged. Defendants' unlawful practice of requiring off-the-clock work resulted in unpaid minimum wages.

30. Despite requiring Plaintiff and the class members to complete work while off-the-clock, such as answering work-related text messages, phone calls, emails while off-the-clock, submit timesheets, and refuel while off-the-clock, Defendants did not compensate employees for all their off-the-clock work. When these unlawful practices resulted in more than 8 hours worked in a day or 40 hours worked in a week, this also resulted in unpaid overtime.

1 31. Further, Defendants paid Plaintiff and the class members non-discretionary bonuses
2 and incentive pay. Plaintiff and class members earned bonuses when they achieved a gross margin of 3 30% or more on a work project. When Plaintiff and the class members earned bonuses and overtime
4 wages in the same pay periods, Defendants failed to properly factor in the bonuses and other non-
5 discretionary income into the “regular rate of pay” for overtime wages. Instead, Defendants unlawfully
6 paid overtime based on a multiple of only the class members’ base hourly rate, without including other
7 nonexcludable forms of income earned in the same pay period.

8 32. Defendants failed to comply with California’s paid sick leave laws with respect to the 9 class members. Defendants failed to provide Plaintiff and class members with all sick leave accrued.
10 Plaintiff and class members worked off the clock, overtime hours that were not accounted for when 11 calculating an employee’s accrued paid sick leave. Therefore, Plaintiff and other class members were 12 not awarded the total accrued sick leave time they had earned.

13 33. Further, Defendants failed to pay sick leave at the correct rate because they failed to 14 factor in bonuses, commissions, and/or other forms of remuneration. Instead, Defendants paid sick
15 leave to Plaintiff and the class members at their base hourly rate, resulting in inaccurate sick leave 16 accrual.

17 34. Defendants failed to provide compliant meal periods. Plaintiff and the class members
18 routinely experienced interrupted meal periods. Specifically, Defendants maintained an unlawful auto-
19 deduct practice for meal periods that logged a meal period regardless of whether Plaintiff and the class
20 members actually took a compliant meal period. This practice resulted in inaccurate time records and 21 enabled Defendants to avoid paying corresponding meal period premiums when Plaintiff and the class
22 members experienced a non-compliant meal period.

23 35. In fact, Plaintiff regularly worked through meal periods or experienced interrupted
24 meal periods to keep up with the demands of the job. Defendants frequently required Plaintiff to work
25 through or end his lunch prematurely to complete walk throughs of the job site with the client or the 26 project manager. Additionally, Plaintiff and the class members were required to always be available.
27 Therefore, if they received a phone call or text message regarding a project that they were working on 28

1 during their meal period, they were required to respond to the interruption immediately. This practice
2 resulted in non-compliant meal periods.

3 36. To the extent Defendants paid meal period premiums, Defendants failed to pay Plaintiff
4 and the other class members a meal period premium at the “regular rate of compensation” because
5 premiums paid did not factor in all forms of remuneration and instead paid class members at their base
6 hourly rate.

7 37. Plaintiff and other class members routinely experienced missed and non-compliant rest
8 periods to keep up with the high demands of the job. Defendants had a practice of requiring employees
9 to work through rest periods or on the occasion that they would take a meal period, combine their rest
10 period with a meal period. This practice resulted in non-compliant rest periods. On information and 11 belief, Defendants had a policy and practice of not paying rest period premiums to employees who 12 were not authorized to take rest periods.

13 38. Defendants required Plaintiff and the class members to incur costs for work-related
14 purposes without full reimbursement. In direct consequence of their job duties, Plaintiff and the class 15 members unavoidably and necessarily incurred these losses, expenditures, costs, and as a matter of 16 policy and practice. Defendants required Plaintiff and the class members to use their personal cell
17 phones to download the Buildertrends and Exaktime mobile time clock applications to clock in and 18 out. Plaintiff and the class members also relied on their personal cell phones to communicate with 19 managers and coworkers. However, Defendants did not reimburse Plaintiff and the class members for 20 these work-related expenses.

21 39. Further, Plaintiff and the class members were required to use their personal vehicles
22 for work purposes. However, Defendants did not pay Plaintiff and the class members for any mileage
23 expenses they incurred when using their personal vehicles for work. Additionally, Defendants required
24 Plaintiff to travel to pick up coworkers and drive them to job sites that were outside of San Diego.
25 Despite requiring Plaintiff to use his vehicle to pick up other employees, he was not reimbursed for 26 mileage incurred during these trips.

27 40. Because Defendants failed to pay all wages and premiums in each pay period in which 28 such wages were earned at the lawful rate, Defendants violated Labor Code section 204 and/or 204b

1 (for weekly employees, as applicable). Defendants violated Labor Code sections 204 and 204b by
2 failing to pay all wages and premiums owed on the regular pay days scheduled each pay period within
3 seven calendar days of the close of the payroll period, as a result of the policies and practices set forth
4 in this notice.

5 41. Defendants failed to pay all wages and premiums owed to class members during their
6 employment as set forth in this notice, and also failed to timely pay those amounts to departing
7 employees upon separation of employment. Defendants did not pay waiting time penalties for the late
8 payments. As a result, Defendants violated Labor Code sections 201, 202, and 203.

9 42. Defendants failed to provide accurate itemized wage statements to the class members
10 each pay period as a result of the policies and practices set forth in this notice. Defendants violated
11 Labor Code section 226(a)(1) and (5) by not listing the correct “gross wages earned” or “net wages 12 earned,” as the employees earned wages and premiums that were not paid, resulting in an inaccurate
13 reflection, and recording of “gross wages earned” on those wage statements. Likewise, in violation of 14 Labor Code section 226(a)(9), Defendants failed to state on employee wage statements each pay period
15 the applicable hourly rates in effect and the number of hours worked at that rate, as Defendants failed
16 to pay all wages and premiums owed to employees. The amounts stated are instead depreciated and 17 underpaid, resulting in an inaccurate reflection on the pay stub.

18 43. Plaintiff and other class members cannot promptly and easily determine from the wage
19 statement alone the wages paid or earned without reference to other documents or information. Indeed,
20 these wage statement violations are significant because they sow confusion among Plaintiff and other
21 class members with respect to what amounts were owed and paid, at what rates, the number of hours
22 worked, and how those amounts were or should be calculated. The wage statements reflect a false
23 statement of earnings and concealed the underlying problems and underpayments of employee wages.

24 44. Because of the policies and practices set forth in this notice, including the failure to 25 accurately account for wages earned or hours worked, Defendants failed to accurately maintain records
26 in accordance with Labor Code section 1174 and the IWC Wage Orders.

1 FIRST CAUSE OF ACTION

2 FAILURE TO PAY ALL WAGES OWED

3 Violation of Labor Code §§ 200, 218, 1194, 1194.2 and 1197

4 (All Claims Alleged by Plaintiff and Class Members Against All Defendants)

5 45. All outside paragraphs of this Complaint are incorporated into this section.

6 46. This cause of action is brought pursuant to the IWC Wage Orders and Labor Code
7 §§ 200, 218, 1182.12, 1194, 1194.2, 1197, 1197.1 and 1198 and the IWC Wage Orders (the “Hours
8 and Days of Work” and “Minimum Wages” sections of the applicable orders), which require non-
9 exempt employees be timely paid at least the state or local minimum wage (if higher) for each hour of 10 work, and further provide a private right of action for an employer’s failure to pay all minimum wages
11 (plus liquidated damages). In addition to minimum wages, Labor Code § 200 states that “wages”
12 includes all amounts for labor performed by employees of every description, whether the amount is 13 fixed or ascertained by the standard of time, task, piece, commission basis, or other method of 14 calculation.”

15 47. Defendants willfully failed in their affirmative obligation to pay Plaintiff and class
16 members at least the lawful minimum wage for each hour worked in violation of Labor Code sections
17 1182.12, 1194, 1194.2, 1197, 1197.1 and 1198 and the IWC Wage Orders (the “Hours and Days of 18 Work” and “Minimum Wages” sections of the applicable orders), including payment at the lawful
19 local and county minimum wage ordinances in effect. As a result, Defendants are liable for all
20 associated damages, including liquidated damages for the minimum wage violations pursuant to Labor
21 Code § 1194.2.

22 48. Defendants’ unlawful acts and omissions deprived Plaintiff and class members of 23 minimum, regular and overtime wages in amounts to be determined at trial. Plaintiff and class 24 members are entitled to recover the full amount of the unpaid wages, plus liquidated damages in an
25 amount equal to the wages unlawfully unpaid (and interest thereon), in addition to interest, attorneys’
26 fees, and costs to the extent permitted by law, including under Labor Code sections 1194 and 1194.2, 27 218.6 and any other applicable statutes.

55. Defendants willfully failed in their affirmative obligation to consistently provide Plaintiff and class members compliant, duty-free meal periods of not less than 30 minutes beginning before the fifth hour of hour for each work period of more than five hours per day and a second duty-free meal period of not less than 30 minutes beginning before the tenth hour of hour of work in violation of Labor Code sections 226.7, 512, 558, 1198 and the IWC Wage Orders (the “Meal Periods” sections of the applicable orders).

56. Further, Defendants willfully failed in their affirmative obligation to consistently pay Plaintiff and class members one additional hour of pay at the respective regular rate of compensation for each workday that a fully compliant meal period was not provided, in violation of Labor Code sections 226.7, 512, 558, and 1198 and the IWC Wage Orders (the “Meal Periods” sections of the applicable orders).

57. Plaintiff and class members are entitled to recover the full amount of the meal period premiums owed, in addition to interest, statutory and civil penalties, and attorneys' fees, and costs to the extent permitted by law.

FOURTH CAUSE OF ACTION

REST PERIOD VIOLATIONS

Violation of Labor Code §§ 226.7 and 516

58. All outside paragraphs of this Complaint are incorporated into this section.

59. This cause of action is brought pursuant to the IWC Wage Orders and Labor Code §§ 226.7 and 516, which require non-exempt employees be authorized to take complaint rest periods (or rest period premiums in lieu thereof), and which further provide a private right of action for an employer's failure to lawfully provide all rest periods and/or pay rest period premiums at the lawful regular rate of compensation.

60. Defendants willfully failed in their affirmative obligation to consistently authorize and permit Plaintiff and class members to receive compliant, duty-free rest periods of not less than ten (10) minutes for every four hours worked (or major fraction thereof) in violation of Labor Code sections 226.7, 516, 558, and 1198 and the IWC Wage Orders (the “Rest Periods” sections of the applicable orders).

61. Further, Defendants willfully failed in their affirmative obligation to consistently pay Plaintiff and class members one additional hour of pay at the respective regular rate of compensation for each workday that a fully compliant rest period was not provided, in violation of Labor Code sections 226.7, 516, 558, and 1198 and the IWC Wage Orders.

FIFTH CAUSE OF ACTION

FAILURE TO PAY ALL PAID SICK LEAVE WAGES

Violation of Labor Code §§ 200, 218, 246 et seq.

62. All outside paragraphs of this Complaint are incorporated into this section.

63. Defendants knowingly and intentionally failed in their affirmative obligation to pay sick leave wages to Plaintiff and a paid sick leave subclass in violation of Labor Code section 246 et seq. Paid sick leave earnings constitute wages for purposes of California wage and hour law. (Murphy v. Kenneth Cole Productions, Inc. (2007) 40 Cal.4th 1094, 1103 [“Courts have recognized that ‘wages’ also include those benefits to which an employee is entitled as a part of his or her compensation, including money, room, board, clothing, vacation pay, and sick pay”].)

64. Labor Code section 246(l), in conjunction with Labor Code section 248 et seq., 248.1, 248.2, and 248.6, in addition to the applicable County sick pay ordinances in locales worked by class members, govern how Defendants were required to calculate paid sick leave.

65. Defendants failed to pay Plaintiff and class members their paid sick leave wages at one of the lawful rates set forth in the statute or ordinance because Defendants failed to include in their sick leave calculation the additional remuneration received by Plaintiff and class members (i.e., at the regular rate of pay and/or calculated based on total wages earned).

66. Furthermore, to the extent the paid sick leave paid constitutes Covid-related paid sick leave, Defendants knowingly and intentionally failed in their affirmative obligation to pay Covid-19 Supplemental Sick Leave wages to class members at the correct accrual rate or hourly pay rate in violation of Labor Code sections 246, 248.1, 248.2, and 248 et seq.

67. As a result, Defendants violated the Labor Code and are liable to Plaintiff and class members for underpaid sick leave wages, in addition to interest, attorneys’ fees, and costs.

Violation of Labor Code §§ 204, 210, 218

69. This cause of action is brought pursuant to the IWC Wage Orders and Labor Code , 204b, and 210 which require non-exempt employees be timely paid all wages owed each pay and which further provide a private right of action for an employer's failure to comply with litigation. Labor Code § 218 authorizes individuals to sue directly for wages and penalties due these sections, including Labor Code § 210(c)'s statutory late payment penalties.

71. Plaintiff and class members are entitled to recover the full amount of the unpaid wages, in addition to a statutory penalty in the amount of $100 for the initial violation for each failure to pay each employee and $200 for all subsequent violations and for all willful or intentional violations for each failure to pay each employee, plus 25 percent of the amount unlawfully withheld under provided in Labor Code § 210, in addition to interest, attorneys' fees, and costs to the extent permitted by law.

WAGE STATEMENT VIOLATIONS

raphs of this Complaint are incorporated into this section.

73. This cause of action is brought by a wage statement subclass pursuant to Labor Code § 226(a) which requires non-exempt employees be provided accurate itemized wage statements each pay period, and which further provide a private right of action for an employer's failure to comply with this obligation.

1 74. Defendants knowingly and intentionally failed in their affirmative obligation to provide
2 accurate itemized wage statements to Plaintiff and class members resulting in injury to Plaintiff and
3 class members. Specifically, the wage statements issued to Plaintiff and class members did not
4 accurately state each pay period all of the information required by Labor Code § 226(a)(1)-(9).

5 75. Defendants' unlawful acts and omissions deprived Plaintiff and class members of
6 accurate itemized wage statements, causing confusion and concealing wage and premium
7 underpayments.

8 76. As a result, Plaintiff and class members are entitled to recover the statutory penalty of 9 $50 per employee for the initial pay period in which a violation occurred and $100 per employee for 10 each violation in a subsequent pay period, up to an aggregate penalty of $4,000 per employee, in
11 addition to interest, attorneys' fees, and costs to the extent permitted by law, including under Labor
12 Code section 226(e).

13 EIGHTH CAUSE OF ACTION

14 WAITING TIME PENALTIES

15 Violation of Labor Code §§ 201 *et seq.

16 77. All outside paragraphs of this Complaint are incorporated into this section.

17 78. This cause of action is brought by a waiting time subclass pursuant to Labor Code
18 §§ 201 through 203, which require an employer to timely pay all wages earned upon termination of 19 employment, and which further provide a private right of action to recover statutory waiting time
20 penalties each day an employer fails to comply with this obligation, up to a maximum of 30 days 21 wages.

22 79. Defendants willfully failed and continue to fail in their affirmative obligation to pay all
23 wages earned and unpaid to Plaintiff and class members immediately upon termination of employment
24 or within 72 hours thereafter for employees who did not provide at least 72 hours prior notice of his
25 or her intention to quit, and further failed to pay those sums for 30 days thereafter in violation of Labor
26 Code sections 201 through 203 and the IWC Wage Orders.

27 80. Plaintiff and class members are entitled to recover a waiting time penalty for a period
28 of up to 30 days, in addition to interest, attorneys' fees, and costs to the extent permitted by law.

1 NINTH CAUSE OF ACTION

2 FAILURE TO REIMBURSE BUSINESS EXPENSES

3 Violation of Labor Code § 2802

4 81. All outside paragraphs of this Complaint are incorporated into this section.

5 82. Defendants willfully failed in their affirmative obligation to reimburse Plaintiff and a
6 reimbursement subclass for all necessary expenditures, losses, expenses, and costs incurred by them
7 in direct discharge of the duties of their employment, in violation of Labor Code section 2802.

8 83. Defendants' unlawful acts and omissions deprived Plaintiff and class members of 9 lawful reimbursements for business expenses in amounts to be determined at trial. Plaintiff and class
10 members are entitled to recover the amount unreimbursed expenses of Plaintiff and class members in
11 addition to interest, attorneys' fees, and costs to the extent permitted by law, including under Labor
12 Code section 2802.

13 TENTH CAUSE OF ACTION

14 UNFAIR COMPETITION

15 Violation of Business and Professions Code §§ 17200 *et seq.

16 84. All outside paragraphs of this Complaint are incorporated into this section.

17 85. Defendants have engaged and continue to engage in unfair and/or unlawful business
18 practices in the State of California in violation of California Business and Professions Code § 17200
19 by committing the foregoing wage and hour violations alleged throughout this Complaint.

20 86. Defendants' dependence on these unfair and/or unlawful business practices deprived
21 Plaintiff and continue to deprive other class members of compensation to which they are legally 22 entitled, constitutes unfair and/or unlawful competition, and provides an unfair advantage to
23 Defendants over competitors who have been and/or are currently employing workers in compliance
24 with California's wage and hour laws. These failures constitute unlawful, deceptive, and unfair
25 business acts and practices in violation of Business and Professions Code section 17200 et seq.

26 87. Plaintiff is a victim of Defendants' unfair and/or unlawful conduct alleged in this
27 Complaint, and Plaintiff, as an individual and on behalf of others similarly situated, seeks full 28

1 restitution of the moneys as necessary and according to proof to restore all monies withheld, acquired,

3 88. Plaintiff does not have an adequate remedy at law for past or future violations, to the
4 extent the statute of limitations on each of the alleged causes of action do not extend to the four year

6 violations do not provide a private right of action.

7 89. Plaintiff and class members are entitled to injunctive relief against Defendants,
8 restitution, and other equitable relief to return all funds over which Plaintiff and class members have 9 an ownership interest and to prevent future damage and the public interest under Business and 10 Professions Code § 17200 et seq. Plaintiff and class members are further entitled to recover interest,
11 attorneys' fees, and costs to the extent permitted by law, including under Code of Civil Procedure
12 § 1021.5.

17 90. All outside paragraphs of this Complaint are incorporated into this section.

18 91. Plaintiff brings this cause of action as a proxy for the State of California on behalf of 19 the following “aggrieved employees” pursuant to the Private Attorneys General Act (“PAGA”),
20 codified as Labor Code section 2698 et seq.:

- 21 a. All current and former non-exempt employees who worked for Defendants in 22 California at any time from one year prior to the postmark date of the initial 23 PAGA notice through date of trial.

24 92. Plaintiff reserves the right to amend, supplement, or add to this description of the 25 aggrieved employees, according to proof.

26 93. The State of California, via the Labor and Workforce Development Agency
27 (“LWDA”), is the real party in interest in this action with respect to this cause of action. (Kim v. Reins
28

1 Int'l California, Inc. (2020) 9 Cal. 5th 73, 81 [The “government entity on whose behalf the plaintiff
2 files suit is always the real party in interest.”])

3 94. Labor Code section 2699(a) provides: “Notwithstanding any other provision of law,,
4 any provision of this code that provides for a civil penalty to be assessed and collected by the Labor
5 and Workforce Development Agency or any of its departments, divisions, commissions, boards,
6 agencies, or employees, for a violation of this code, may, as an alternative, be recovered through a civil 7 action brought by an aggrieved employee on behalf of the employee and other current or former
8 employees against whom a violation of the same provision was committed pursuant to the procedures
9 specified in Section 2699.3. “

10 95. Any allegations regarding violations of the IWC Wage Orders are enforceable as 11 violations of Labor Code section 1198, which states: “[t]he employment of any employee for longer 12 hours than those fixed by the order or under conditions of labor prohibited by the order is unlawful.”

13 96. Labor Code section 2699.3 sets forth the procedure for commencing an action for civil 14 penalties under the PAGA.

15 97. On or about April 15, 2025, Plaintiff paid the requisite PAGA filing fee and provided
16 written notice (by online electronic filing with the LWDA and by certified mail to Defendants) of 17 Defendants’ alleged Labor Code violations, including the facts and theories to support the alleged 18 violations.

19 98. A true and correct copy of Plaintiff’s written PAGA notice, entitled “Notice of Labor
20 Code Violations” is attached hereto as Exhibit 1 and incorporated by reference as though fully set
21 forth herein (the “PAGA notice”).

22 99. To date, neither Plaintiff nor Plaintiff’s counsel has received a response to Plaintiff’s
23 written PAGA notice from the LWDA.

24 100. Within 33 calendar days of the postmark date of the notice sent by Plaintiff, neither
25 Plaintiff nor Plaintiff’s counsel has received written notice by certified mail from any defendant
26 providing a description of any actions taken to cure the alleged violations.

27 101. Now that at least 65 days have passed from Plaintiff notifying Defendants of these 28 violations, without notice of cure from Defendants or notice from the LWDA of its intent to investigate the alleged allegations and issue the appropriate citations to Defendants, Plaintiff exhausted all prerequisites and commenced this civil action under Labor Code section 2699 et seq.

VIA CERTIFIED U.S. MAIL
- Electronic Return Receipt -

Pacific Western Painting and Construction, Inc.
350 Mulberry Drive
San Marcos, CA 92069

- PAGA Notice & Filing Fee -
Submitted electronically to the Labor and Workforce Development Agency

Dear LWDA Officer and Company Representatives:

This letter serves as written notice under Labor Code section 2699.3 on behalf of ACCORD MENDOZA (“Plaintiff(s)”) and all other “aggrieved employees” of the following “Defendant(s)”:

PACIFIC WESTERN PAINTING AND CONSTRUCTION, INC.;

Defendant(s) shall mean and include the foregoing in addition to any other related employer entities, individuals under Labor Code sections 558 and 558.1, and all others who may be later added upon further investigation and discovery as liable employers.

This office serves as legal counsel for Plaintiff. If the California Labor and Workforce Development Agency (“LWDA”) does not investigate the facts, allegations, and violations set forth in this notice within the statutorily prescribed 65-day period under Labor Code section 2699.3, Plaintiff intends to commence a civil action against Defendants as a proxy and agent of the State of California under the Private Attorneys General Act (“PAGA”). “PAGA allows an ‘aggrieved employee’—a person affected by at least one Labor Code violation committed by an employer—to pursue penalties for all the Labor Code violations committed by that employer.” Huff v. Securitas Security Services USA, Inc. (2018) 23 Cal.App.5th 745, 751; Kim v. Reins International California, Inc. (2020) 9 Cal.5th 73, 79. Plaintiff maintains standing to pursue these claims against Defendants as an aggrieved employee.

Through this notice, Plaintiff requests that Defendants complete an internal investigation and audit of the wage and hour and employment practices at issue and make a good faith effort to correct any violations. Plaintiff attempts to identify the non-compliant policies and practices affecting the aggrieved employees so that the parties may resolve the underlying damages and penalties in judgment or settlement approved by the Superior Court of California under Labor Code section 2699(s). Defendants are notified that any attempt to resolve this case should be conducted in coordination with Plaintiff's counsel to protect the interests of Plaintiff, the aggrieved employees, and the State of California via the LWDA. Plaintiff advises Defendants this letter should be also considered a reasonable attempt at settlement of this matter, subject to an exchange of additional documents and information. Graham v. Daimler Chrysler Corp. (2004) 24 Cal.4th 553, 561.

- BACKGROUND -

Defendants employed Plaintiff during the PAGA Period in the position of Foreman from about December 2020 to March 2025. During their employment Plaintiff and the other aggrieved employees were subject to the wage and hour and employment protections set forth in the California Labor Code and IWC Wage Orders.

Through this notice, Plaintiff informs the LWDA of the Labor Code violations set forth herein. The “aggrieved employees” include Plaintiff and the following individuals:

All current and former non-exempt employees who worked for Defendants in the State of California during one-year period preceding the date of this notice through the current date and the date of trial in any pending action (the “aggrieved employees” and the “PAGA Period”).

Plaintiff reserves the right to expand or narrow the definition of the “aggrieved employees” in the forthcoming civil action. Furthermore, Plaintiff seeks all recoverable civil penalties for Defendants’ violations and reserves the right to supplement this notice as further investigation is completed and further facts, witnesses, and violations are uncovered.

- PAGA CLAIMS -

Unpaid Hours Worked/Minimum Wage Violation of Labor Code §§ 1194, 1197, 1198; IWC Wage Orders

Defendants violated Labor Code sections 1194, 1197, and 1198, along with the California Minimum Wage Order, the applicable local minimum wage ordinances, and the “Hours and Days of Work” and “Minimum Wages” sections of the applicable IWC Wage Orders with respect to the aggrieved employees.

Labor Code section 1194 renders it unlawful for an employee to receive less than the legal minimum wage for hours worked in California. Labor Code section 1197 further mandates that “[t]he minimum wage for employees fixed by the commission is the minimum wage to be paid to employees, and the payment of a lower wage than the minimum so fixed is unlawful.” Labor Code section 1198 renders “employment of any employee for longer hours than those fixed by the order or under conditions of labor prohibited by the [IWC Wage Orders]” unlawful. The California Minimum Wage Order and the applicable sections of the IWC Wage Orders further require payment of minimum wages for all hours worked. The “Minimum Wages” sections of the applicable IWC Wage Order provide that “[e]very employer shall pay to each employee, on the established payday for the period involved, not less than the applicable minimum wage for all hours worked in the payroll period, whether the remuneration is measured by time, piece, commission, or otherwise.” The foregoing California wage laws require payment of “not less than the applicable minimum wage for all hours worked in the payroll period” and California law does not allow averaging of pay over the hours worked in the pay period, even if the total pay results in an average above the minimum wage. Armenta v. Osmose, Inc. (2005) 135 Cal.App.3d 314, 324.

Defendants failed to pay Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees at the lawful minimum wage rate for all hours worked, resulting in unpaid minimum wages.

Defendant required Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees to complete work while off-the-clock. Defendant expected Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees to always be available to respond to text messages, phone calls, and emails regarding work-related issues such as providing status updates on projects, discussing project logistics, and schedule changes. Plaintiff and aggrieved employees were required to answer these calls, text messages, and emails, even on their days off from work. Failure to respond could result in Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees’ being reprimanded. However, despite requiring Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees to complete work while off-the-clock, Defendant did not compensate employees for their off-the-clock work.

Additionally, Defendant expected Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees to arrive fifteen to thirty minutes before their shift to load their work trucks before clocking in. Defendant did not allow Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees to clock in before their exact shift start time. Therefore, all the time spent loading the trucks was completed off-the-clock.

Further, Defendant required Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees to submit their timesheets at the end of the work week on Fridays. However, the timekeeping systems did not allow Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees to submit their timesheets on Fridays or when they were still clocked in. Therefore, Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees were required to review and submit their timesheets on their days off and when off-the-clock.

Moreover, Defendant despite requiring Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees to travel to different job sites, Defendant did not allow Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees to refuel their vehicles while on the clock. Rather, Defendant directed Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees to refuel while off-the-clock. Refueling while on the clock was discouraged.

Defendant's unlawful practice of requiring off-the-clock work resulted in unpaid minimum wages.

As a result, Plaintiff may recover civil penalties as an individual and on behalf of the State of California and the aggrieved employees, up to the maximum amount allowed as set forth under the Labor Code.

Unpaid Overtime
Violation of Labor Code §§ 510, 1194, 1198; IWC Wage Orders

Defendants violated Labor Code sections 510, 1194, and 1198, along with the "Hours and Days of Work" sections of the applicable IWC Wage Orders with respect to the aggrieved employees.

Labor Code section 510 requires "[a]ny work in excess of eight hours in one workday and any work in excess of 40 hours in any one workweek and the first eight hours worked on the seventh day of work in any one workweek shall be compensated at the rate of no less than one and one-half times the regular rate of pay for an employee;" and "any work in excess of 12 hours in one day shall be compensated at the rate of no less than twice the regular rate of pay for an employee;" and "any work in excess of eight hours on any seventh day of a workweek shall be compensated at the rate of no less than twice the regular rate of pay of an employee." Labor Code section 1194 renders it unlawful for an employee to receive less than the legal overtime rate for overtime hours worked in California. Labor Code section 1198 renders "employment of any employee for longer hours than those fixed by the order or under conditions of labor prohibited by the [IWC Wage Orders]" unlawful. The IWC Wage Orders further require payment of overtime wages for all overtime hours worked, including the "Hours and Days of Work" sections.

Defendants failed to pay Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees overtime wages and the lawful rate of pay for overtime hours worked, resulting in unpaid overtime wages. As discussed in the "Unpaid Hours Worked" section, Defendants required Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees to complete off-the-clock work when it expected Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees to answer work-related text messages, phone calls, and emails while off-the-clock, submit timesheets, and refuel off-the-clock. When these unlawful practices resulted in more than 8 hours worked in a day or 40 hours worked in a week, this resulted in unpaid overtime.

Further, Defendant paid Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees non-discretionary bonuses and incentive pay. Plaintiff and aggrieved employees earned bonuses when they achieved a gross margin of 30% or more on a work project. When Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees earned bonuses and overtime wages in the same pay periods, Defendant failed to properly factor in the bonuses and other non-discretionary income into the "regular rate of pay" for overtime wages. Instead, Defendant unlawfully paid overtime based on a multiple of only the aggrieved employees' base hourly rate, without including other nonexcludable forms of income earned in the same pay period.

As a result, Plaintiff may recover civil penalties as an individual and on behalf of the State of California and the aggrieved employees, up to the maximum amount allowed as set forth under the Labor Code.

Unpaid Paid Sick Leave Violation of Labor Code §§ 246 through 248.7

Defendants violated Labor Code sections 246 through 248.7 with respect to the aggrieved employees.

Labor Code section 246 requires employers to provide paid sick leave to its workforce on the terms set forth in the statute. Employers must comply with the accrual, use, and notice provisions of Labor Code sections 246, 246.5, 247, and must further ensure that they maintain the paid sick leave records required by Labor Code section 247.5. Employers have the option of providing 40 hours of paid sick leave to employees or to allow employees to accrue paid sick leave each pay period. If an employer chooses the accrual method, employees must accrue sick leave at a rate of one hour for every thirty hours worked in a given pay period as set forth in Labor Code section 246(b)(1). Under the accrual method, employees must begin accruing paid sick leave at the commencement of employment.

Employers must pay sick leave in accordance with one of the three permissible methods provided in Labor Code section 246(l): (1) "the same manner as the regular rate of pay for the workweek;" (2) "by dividing the employee's total wages, not including overtime premium pay, by the employee's total hours worked in the full pay periods of the prior 90 days;" or (3) "for exempt employee ... in the same manner as the employer calculates wages for other forms of paid leave time." Labor Code sections 248.6 and 248.7 similarly require paid sick leave to be paid at a regular rate-based calculation in excess of the base hourly rate and at the lawful accrual rate.

Under Labor Code section 246(i), employers must provide employees "with written notice of the amount of paid sick leave available ... for use on either the employee's itemized wage statement ... or in a separate writing provided on the designated pay date with the employee's payment of wages."

Defendant failed to comply with California's paid sick leave laws with respect to the aggrieved employees. Defendant failed to provide Plaintiff and aggrieved employees with all sick leave accrued. Plaintiff and aggrieved employees worked off the clock, overtime hours that were not accounted for when calculating an employee's accrued paid sick leave. Therefore, Plaintiff and other aggrieved employees were not awarded the total accrued sick leave time they had earned.

Further, Defendant failed to pay sick leave at the correct rate because they failed to factor in bonuses, commissions, and/or other forms of remuneration, as required by section 246. Instead, Defendant paid sick leave to Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees at their base hourly rate, resulting in inaccurate sick leave accrual.

As a result, Plaintiff may recover civil penalties as an individual and on behalf of the State of California and the aggrieved employees, up to the maximum amount allowed as set forth under the Labor Code.

Unpaid Meal Period Premium Wages
Violation of Labor Code §§ 226.7, 512, 1198; IWC Wage Orders

Defendants violated Labor Code sections 226.7, 512, and 1198, along with the related sections of the IWC Wage Orders with respect to the aggrieved employees.

Labor Code section 512 and the IWC Wage Orders require that employers provide an uninterrupted 30-minute meal period after no more than five hours of work and a second meal period after no more than 10 hours of work. See Brinker Restaurant Corp. v. Superior Court (2012) 53 Cal.4th 1004, 1049. Labor Code section 226.7 requires that if a meal period is late, missed, short, or interrupted, the employer must pay one additional hour of pay at the employee's "regular rate" of compensation. Ferra v. Loews Hollywood Hotel, LLC (2021) 11 Cal.5th 858, 862 ("We hold that the terms are synonymous: "regular rate of compensation" under section 226.7(c), like "regular rate of pay" under section 510(a), encompasses all nondiscretionary payments, not just hourly wages"). "[T]ime records showing noncompliant meal periods raise a rebuttable presumption of meal period violations, including at the summary judgment stage." Donohue v. AMN Services, LLC (2021) 11 Cal.5th 58, 61. Labor Code section 1198 renders "employment of any employee for longer hours than those fixed by the order or under conditions of labor prohibited by the [IWC Wage Orders]" unlawful. The IWC Wage Orders, including Section 11 (Meal Periods), further require one uninterrupted 30-minute meal period after no more than five hours of work and a second meal period after no more than 10 hours of work and an additional hour of pay at the employee's regular rate of compensation for each workday that a compliant meal period is not provided. Pursuant to Section 11(A) of the IWC Wage Orders, the California Supreme Court has held that the on-duty meal period exception is "exceedingly narrow" and applies only when (1) "the nature of the work prevents the employee from being relieved of all duty" and (2) both "the employer and employee have agreed, in writing, to the on-duty meal period." Augustus v. AMB Security Services, Inc. (2016) 2 Cal.5th 257, 266-276 (emphasis added). If these two requirements are not met, then the employer owes the employee one hour of premium pay for each non-compliant meal period taken under the purported on-duty meal arrangement. Naranjo v. Spectrum Security Services, Inc. (2019) 40 Cal.5th 444, 459.

Defendants failed to provide compliant meal periods. Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees routinely experienced interrupted meal periods. Specifically, Defendant maintained an unlawful auto-deduct practice for meal periods that logged a meal period regardless of whether Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees actually took a compliant meal period. This practice resulted in inaccurate time records and enabled Defendant to avoid paying corresponding meal period premiums when Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees experienced a non-compliant meal period.

In fact, Plaintiff regularly worked through meal periods or experienced interrupted meal periods to keep up with the demands of the job. Defendant frequently required Plaintiff to work through or end his lunch prematurely to complete walk throughs of the job site with the client or the project manager. Additionally, Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees were required to always be available. Therefore, if they received a phone call or text message regarding a project that they were working on during their meal period, they were required to respond to the interruption immediately. This practice resulted in non-compliant meal periods.

To the extent Defendant paid meal period premiums, Defendant failed to pay Plaintiff and the other aggrieved employees a meal period premium at the “regular rate of compensation” because premiums paid did not factor in all forms of remuneration and instead paid aggrieved employees at their base hourly rate.

As a result, Plaintiff may recover civil penalties as an individual and on behalf of the State of California and the aggrieved employees, up to the maximum amount allowed as set forth under the Labor Code.

Unpaid Rest Period Premium Wages
Violation of Labor Code §§ 226.7, 516, 1198; IWC Wage Orders

Defendants violated Labor Code sections 226.7, 516, and 1198, and the related sections of the IWC Wage Orders with respect to Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees.

Labor Code sections 226.7 and 516 and the IWC Wage Orders require that employers authorize and permit an uninterrupted 10-minute rest period for each four-hour period (or major fraction thereof) that an employee works. Labor Code section 226.7 requires that if a rest period is non-compliant, the employer must pay one additional hour of pay at the employee’s “regular rate” of compensation. Ferra v. Loews Hollywood Hotel, LLC (2021) 11 Cal.5th 858, 862 (“We hold that the terms are synonymous: “regular rate of compensation” under section 226.7(c), like “regular rate of pay” under section 510(a), encompasses all nondiscretionary payments, not just hourly wages”). Labor Code section 1198 renders “employment of any employee for longer hours than those fixed by the order or under conditions of labor prohibited by the [IWC Wage Orders]” unlawful. The IWC Wage Orders, including Section 12 (Rest Periods), further require one uninterrupted 10-minute rest period for each four-hour period (or major fraction thereof) worked and an additional hour of pay at the employee’s regular rate of compensation for each workday that a compliant rest period is not authorized or permitted.

Plaintiff and other aggrieved employees routinely experienced missed and non-compliant rest periods to keep up with the high demands of the job. Defendant had a practice of requiring employees to work through rest periods or on the occasion that they would take a meal period, combine their rest period with a meal period. This practice resulted in non-compliant rest periods. On information and belief, Defendant had a policy and practice of not paying rest period premiums to employees who were not authorized to take rest periods

As a result, Plaintiff may recover civil penalties as an individual and on behalf of the State of California and the aggrieved employees, up to the maximum amount allowed as set forth under the Labor Code.

Untimely Payment of Wages During Employment Violation of Labor Code §§ 204, 204b, 210

Defendants violated Labor Code sections 204 and/or 204b and 210, as applicable, with respect to Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees.

Labor Code section 204(a) requires payment of “all wages” for non-exempt employees at least twice each calendar month. Labor Code section 204(d) states all wages due must be paid “not more than seven calendar days following the close of the payroll period.” Labor Code section 204b applies to employees paid on a weekly basis and also requires the payment for all labor within the required pay periods. Labor Code section 210 provides “every person who fails to pay the wages of an employee as provided in Section ... 204 ... shall be subject to a civil penalty” of $100 for an initial violation and $200 plus 25% of the amount unlawfully withheld for a subsequent violation.

Because Defendants failed to pay all wages and premiums in each pay period in which such wages were earned at the lawful rate, Defendants violated Labor Code section 204 and/or 204b (for weekly employees, as applicable). Defendants violated Labor Code sections 204 and 204b by failing to pay all wages and premiums owed on the regular pay days scheduled each pay period within seven calendar days of the close of the payroll period, as a result of the policies and practices set forth in this notice.

As a result, Plaintiff may recover civil penalties as an individual and on behalf of the State of California and the aggrieved employees, up to the maximum amount allowed as set forth under the Labor Code.

Untimely Payment of Wages Upon Separation of Employment Violation of Labor Code §§ 201, 202, 203, 256

Defendants violated Labor Code sections 201, 202, and 203 with respect to the aggrieved employees by failing to pay all wages and premiums owed upon termination of employment.

Labor Code section 201 requires that if an employer fires an employee, the wages must be paid immediately. Labor Code section 202 requires that if an employee quits without providing 72 hours' notice, his or her wages must be paid no later than 72 hours thereafter. Labor Code section 202 states that if an employee provides 72 hours' notice, the final wages are payable upon his or her final day of employment. Labor Code section 203 requires an employer who fails to comply with Labor Code sections 201 or 202 to pay a waiting time penalty for each employee, up to a period of 30 days additional compensation.

Defendants failed to pay all wages and premiums owed to aggrieved employees during their employment as set forth in this notice, and also failed to timely pay those amounts to departing employees upon separation of employment. Defendants did not pay waiting time penalties for the late payments. As a result, Defendants violated Labor Code sections 201, 202, and 203.

As a result, Plaintiff may recover civil penalties as an individual and on behalf of the State of California and the aggrieved employees, up to the maximum amount allowed as set forth under the Labor Code.

Non-Compliant Wage Statements Violation of Labor Code §§ 226, 226.3

Defendants violated Labor Code sections 226(a) and 226.3 with respect to the aggrieved employees by failing to furnish itemized wage statements each pay period that accurately list all information required by Labor Code section 226(a)(1) through (9).

Labor Code section 226(a) requires an employer to furnish wage statements to employees semimonthly or at the time of each payment of wages, "an accurate itemized statement in writing showing:" (1) gross wages earned, (2) total hours worked, (3) the number of piece rate units earned and applicable piece-rate in effect, (4) all deductions, (5) net wages earned, (6) the inclusive dates of the pay period, (7) the name of the employee and last four digits of SSN or an EIN, (8) the name and address of the legal name of the employer, and (9) all applicable hourly rates in effect during the pay period and the number of hours worked at each hourly rate by the employee.

Defendants failed to provide accurate itemized wage statements to the aggrieved employees each pay period as a result of the policies and practices set forth in this notice. Defendants violated Labor Code section 226(a)(1) and (5) by not listing the correct "gross wages earned" or "net wages earned," as the employees earned wages and premiums that were not paid, resulting in an inaccurate reflection, and recording of "gross wages earned" on those wage statements. Likewise, in violation of Labor Code section 226(a)(9), Defendants failed to state on employee wage statements each pay period the applicable hourly rates in effect and the number of hours worked at that rate, as Defendants failed to pay all wages and premiums owed to employees. The amounts stated are instead depreciated and underpaid, resulting in an inaccurate reflection on the pay stub.

Plaintiff and other aggrieved employees cannot promptly and easily determine from the wage statement alone the wages paid or earned without reference to other documents or information. Indeed, these wage statement violations are significant because they sow confusion among Plaintiff and other aggrieved employees with respect to what amounts were owed and paid, at what rates, the number of hours worked, and how those amounts were or should be calculated. The wage statements reflect a false statement of earnings and concealed the underlying problems and underpayments of employee wages.

As a result, Plaintiff may recover civil penalties as an individual and on behalf of the State of California and the aggrieved employees, up to the maximum amount allowed as set forth under the Labor Code.

Unreimbursed Employee Expenses Violation of Labor Code §§ 2802, 2804

Defendants violated Labor Code section 2802 with respect to the aggrieved employees by failing to reimburse the aggrieved employees for all necessary expenditures or losses incurred as part of their job duties.

Labor Code section 2802 requires an employer to “indemnify his or her employee for all necessary expenditures or losses incurred by the employee in direct consequence of the discharge of his or her duties, or of his or her obedience to the directions of the employer, even though unlawful, unless the employee, at the time of obeying the directions, believed them to be unlawful.” See, e.g., Espinoza v. West Coast Tomato Growers, LLC, 2016 WL 4468175 at *4, n.2 (S.D. Cal. Aug. 24, 2016, No. 14-CV-2984 W (KSC)).

Labor Code section 2804 affirms that “[a]ny contract or agreement, express or implied, made by any employee to waive the benefits of this article or any part thereof, is null and void, and this article shall not deprive any employee or his personal representative of any right or remedy to which he is entitled under the laws of this State.”

Defendants required Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees to incur costs for work-related purposes without full reimbursement. In direct consequence of their job duties, Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees unavoidably and necessarily incurred these losses, expenditures, costs, and as a matter of policy and practice.

Defendant required Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees to use their personal cell phones to download the Buildertrends and Exakttime mobile time clock applications to clock in and out. Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees also relied on their personal cell phones to communicate with managers and coworkers. However, Defendant did not reimburse Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees for these work-related expenses.

Further, Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees were required to use their personal vehicles for work purposes. However, Defendants did not pay Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees for any mileage expenses they incurred when using their personal vehicles for work. Additionally, Defendants required Plaintiff to travel to pick up coworkers and drive them to job sites that were outside of San Diego. Despite requiring Plaintiff to use his vehicle to pick up other employees, he was not reimbursed for mileage incurred during these trips.

As a result, Plaintiff may recover civil penalties as an individual and on behalf of the State of California and the aggrieved employees, up to the maximum amount allowed as set forth under the Labor Code.

Failure to Maintain Accurate Records
Violation of Labor Code § 1174; IWC Wage Orders

Defendants violated Labor Code sections 1174 and the IWC Wage Orders by failing to maintain accurate employee payroll records with respect to Plaintiff and other aggrieved employees.

Labor Code section 1174 requires that employers maintain accurate “payroll records showing the hours worked daily by and the wages paid to, and the number of piece-rate units earned by and any applicable piece rate paid to, employees employed at the respective plants or establishments.” Section 7(A) of the IWC Wage Orders, which may be enforced through Labor Code section 1198, mandates similar recordkeeping obligations.

Because of the policies and practices set forth in this notice, including the failure to accurately account for wages earned or hours worked, Defendants failed to accurately maintain records in accordance with Labor Code section 1174 and the IWC Wage Orders.

As a result, Plaintiff may recover civil penalties as an individual and on behalf of the State of California and the aggrieved employees, up to the maximum amount allowed as set forth under the Labor Code.

Attorneys’ Fees and Costs
Labor Code § 2699(k)(1)

Plaintiff has been compelled to retain the services of counsel to protect the interests of other aggrieved employees and the State of California. Plaintiff continues to incur attorneys’ fees and costs, which are recoverable under California law, including Labor Code section 2699(k)(1).
