FIRST AMENDED CLASS AND REPRESENTATIVE ACTION COMPLAINT

1. Failure to Pay All Wages Owed
2. Failure to Pay All Overtime Wages
3. Meal Period Violations
4. Rest Period Violations
5. Paid Sick Leave Violations
6. Untimely Payment of Wages
7. Wage Statement Violations
8. Waiting Time Penalties
9. Unfair Competition
10. Civil Penalties under the Private Attorneys
General Act (Labor Code §§ 2698 et seq.)

Action Filed: April 2, 2025

1 Plaintiffs MARCUS SMITH and ERIC KIBBLE, on behalf of all others similarly situated and
2 the State of California under the Private Attorneys General Act (“Plaintiffs”) brings this FIRST
3 AMENDED CLASS AND REPRESENTATIVE ACTION COMPLAINT against Defendants
4 INTEGRITY STAFFING SOLUTIONS, INC.; FLEXPORT, INC. and DOES 1 through 50, inclusive
5 (collectively “Defendants”), alleging as follows:

6 INTRODUCTION

7 1. This is a class action brought under the California Code of Civil Procedure section 382
8 for Defendants’ violations of the California Labor Code and Business Professions Code.

9 2. Defendants failed to compensate Plaintiffs and the class members for all hours suffered 10 or permitted to work in violations of the applicable IWC Wage Order.

11 3. Defendants’ underpayment of wages was facilitated by their company-wide practices
12 of permitting off-the-clock work.

13 4. Plaintiffs and the class members were not always given adequate opportunity to take
14 complaint meal and rest breaks, yet Defendants failed to pay Plaintiffs and the class members for meal
15 or rest period premiums.

16 5. Defendants’ employment policies, practices, and payroll administration systems
17 enabled and facilitated these violations on a company-wide basis with respect to the class members.

18 6. Defendants are further liable for derivative claims for wage statements, untimely 19 payment, and other associated violations.

20 7. Plaintiffs seek to recover the unpaid damages, plus associated penalties, interests,
21 attorney’s fees and costs.

22 JURISDICTION & VENUE

23 8. Jurisdiction of this action is proper in this Court under Article VI, Section 10 of the 24 California Constitution as the causes of action are premised upon violations of California law.

25 9. The monetary damages and restitution sought exceed the minimal jurisdiction limits of 26 the Superior Court.

27 10. This Court has jurisdiction over Defendants because, upon information and belief,
28 Defendants have sufficient minimum contacts in California, or otherwise intentionally avail

1 themselves to the California economy so as to render the exercise of jurisdiction over them by the
2 California courts consistent with traditional notions of fair play and substantial justice.

3 11. Venue is proper in this Court under Code of Civil Procedure sections 393(a), 395,
4 and/or 395.5 because, upon information and belief, Defendants conducted business and committed
5 some of the alleged violations in this County.

6 PARTIES

7 A. Plaintiffs

8 12. Plaintiff Marcus Smith is an individual over 18 years of age who worked for 9 Defendants in California as a non-exempt employee from about November 2024 to December 2024.
10 Plaintiff Smith worked as a Picker.

11 13. Plaintiff Eric Kibble is an individual over 18 years of age who worked for Defendants
12 in California as a non-exempt employee from about February 2025 to March 2025. Plaintiff Kibble
13 worked as a Picker.

14 14. The State of California, via the Labor and Workforce Development Agency
15 (“LWDA”), is the real party in interest in this action. (Kim v. Reins Int’l California, Inc. (2020) 9 Cal.
16 5th 73, 81 [The “government entity on whose behalf the plaintiff files suit is always the real party in 17 interest.”]). To the extent permitted by law, including pursuant Balderas v. Fresh Start Harvesting, Inc.
18 (2024) 101 Cal. App. 5th 533 and Rodriguez v. Packers Sanitation Services Ltd. (Feb. 26, 2025, 19 D083400) ___ Cal.Rptr.3d ___ [2025 WL 615064], the PAGA claim is brought exclusively as a 20 representative action and does not include arbitrable claims.

21 B. Defendants

22 15. Defendant Integrity Staffing Solutions, Inc. is a Delaware corporation that maintains 23 operations and conducts business throughout the State of California, including in this county.

24 16. Defendant Flexport, Inc. is a Delaware corporation that maintains operations and 25 conducts business throughout the State of California, including in this county.

26 17. The true names and capacities, whether individual, corporate, or otherwise, of the 27 parties sued as DOES 1 through 50, are presently unknown, unascertainable, or uncertain, and are sued
28 by such fictitious names under Code of Civil Procedure section 474. Upon information and belief, each of DOES 1 through 50 constitutes a legal employer or is otherwise legally responsible in some manner for the acts and omissions alleged herein. This Complaint may be amended to reflect their true names and capacities once ascertained.

18. Upon information and belief, Defendants in this action are employers, co-employers, joint employers, and/or part of an integrated employer enterprise, as each of the Defendants exercised control over the wages, hours, and working conditions of the employees, suffered and permitted them to work, and otherwise engaged them as employees under California law. Upon information and belief, at least some of the Defendants have common ownership, common management, interrelationship of operations, and centralized control over labor relations and are therefore part of an integrated enterprise and thus jointly and severally responsible for the acts and omissions alleged herein, including pursuant to Labor Code sections 558, 558.1, and 1197.1.

19. Upon information and belief, Defendants acted in all respects pertinent to this action as an alter-ego, agent, servant, joint employer, joint venturer, co-conspirator, partner, in an integrated enterprise, or in some other capacity on behalf of all other co-defendants, such that the acts and omissions of each defendant may be legally attributable to all others.

CLASS ALLEGATIONS

20. This action is brought individually and on behalf of the following class pursuant to Code of Civil Procedure section 382:

- a. All current and former non-exempt employees who worked for Defendants in California at any time from four years (plus the additional 178-day statutory tolling period under Emergency Rule 9) prior to the filing of this action through date of class certification.

21. Plaintiffs reserve the right to establish various subclass definitions as appropriate at the class certification stage, according to proof.

22. The class is ascertainable and shares a well-defined community of interest in this litigation:

- a. Numerosity: The class is estimated to exceed 50 individuals, although the precise membership of the entire class is unknown at this time. The class is so

1 numerous that joinder of all class members is impracticable. The identities of 2 class members are ascertainable by inspection of Defendants' employment and 3 payroll records.

4 b. Typicality: Plaintiff's claims are typical of the claims of the other class
5 members. They were subject to the same policies and practices of Defendants,
6 which resulted in losses to the class. Proof of common unlawful business
7 practices, which Plaintiffs experienced, will establish the right of the class to 8 recover on the causes of action alleged herein.

9 c. Adequacy: Plaintiff is an adequate class representative; will take all necessary
10 steps to protect the class members' interests adequately and fairly; has no
11 interest antagonistic to other class members; and is represented by attorneys 12 who have substantial experience prosecuting, defending, resolving, and 13 litigating wage and hour class, collective, and representative actions in 14 California state and federal courts.

15 d. Superiority: A class action is superior to other means for adjudicating this 16 dispute. Individual joinder is impractical. Class treatment will allow for 17 common issues to be resolved in a single forum, simultaneously, and without 18 duplication of effort and expense.

19 e. Public Policy Considerations: Certification of this lawsuit as a class action
20 advances the State of California's strong public interest in ensuring its 21 approximately millions of employed residents are properly paid the wages they 22 earned for the hours they worked. Class actions provide a mechanism for 23 enforcement of labor laws and allow for vindication of employee rights by 24 unnamed class members.

25 23. Common questions of law and fact as to the class members predominate over questions
26 affecting only individual members. The common questions of law and fact exist as to whether the 27 employment policies and practices formulated by Defendants and applied to the class members
28 constitute violations of California law.

GENERAL ALLEGATIONS

24. Plaintiffs and the class members worked for Defendants as non-exempt employees, compensated on an hourly basis.

25. Defendants failed to pay Plaintiffs and the class members at the lawful minimum wage rate for all hours worked, resulting in unpaid minimum wages.

26. Specifically, Defendants engaged in an unlawful policy and practice of permitting off-the-clock work when Plaintiffs and the class members were required to undergo unpaid security checks when entering and exiting the premises.

27. The California Supreme Court has held “time spent on the employer's premises waiting for, and undergoing, required exit searches of packages, bags, or personal technology devices voluntarily brought to work purely for personal convenience was compensable as ‘hours worked’ within the meaning of wage order No. 7-2001” reasoning that “[a]ccording to the ‘hours worked’ control clause in the wage order, such employee[s] must be paid. Frlekin v. Apple Inc. (2020) 8 Cal. 5th 1038.

28. Plaintiffs and the class members were required to go through metal detectors and undergo bag checks daily.

29. This practice resulted in unpaid minimum wage and overtime for the associated hours worked.

30. Defendants failed to pay Plaintiffs and the class members overtime wages and the lawful rate of pay for overtime hours worked, resulting in unpaid overtime wages

31. To the extent Defendants’ unlawful practice requiring unpaid off-the-clock work due to mandatory security checks resulted in unpaid hours over 8 hours in a day or 40 hours in a week, this resulted in unpaid overtime wages.

32. Defendants failed to comply with California’s paid sick leave laws with respect to the class members.

33. Due to Defendants’ unlawful policy of requiring off-the-clock work, Defendants failed to properly credit Plaintiffs and the class members with their full accrued sick leave. Therefore, Plaintiffs and the class members were underpaid sick pay whenever Defendant rounded time.

1 34. Plaintiffs and the class members routinely experienced missed, late, short, and 2 interrupted meal periods due to understaffing and in order to keep up with the high demands of the 3 job.

4 35. Specifically, due to the high demands of the job Plaintiffs and the class members
5 experienced the pressure from Defendants to take a non-compliant meal period in order to complete
6 all work duties.

7 36. Defendant failed to provide all meal periods to which employees were entitled and 8 failed to pay meal period premiums to Plaintiffs and other class members at the lawful regular rate of 9 compensation for each premium owed.

10 37. Each time Plaintiffs and the class members experienced a noncompliant meal period,
11 they were owed a meal period premium. As a matter of policy and practice, Plaintiffs and the class 12 members were not provided meal period premiums for each non-compliant meal period as required by 13 Labor Code section 226.7.

14 38. An illustrative example of this violation is found on Plaintiff Smith's time records on 15 November 14, 2024 and November 19, 2024. Here, the time records provided and maintained by 16 Defendants confirm Plaintiff Smith experienced two short (less than 30 minute) meal periods.
17 However, the corresponding wage statement shows that no meal period premiums were paid. Further,
18 Plaintiff Smith and the class members often worked over 10 hours a day (sometimes even over 12 19 hours a day) without a compliant second meal period.

20 39. As a matter of common policy and practice, Defendants failed to pay the Plaintiffs and 21 class members all owed meal period premiums for all non-compliant first and second meal periods.

22 40. To the extent Plaintiffs and the aggrieved employees maintained first and second meal
23 period waivers, these waivers were inapplicable where inapplicable when Plaintiffs and aggrieved 24 employees worked shifts of 6 or more hours (for first meal periods) or worked over 10 hours (for 25 second meal periods) without a compliant first meal period.

26 41. Further, Defendants consistently prevented and failed to authorize or allow Plaintiffs
27 and the class members to take their full, 10-minute, uninterrupted rest periods and failed to pay rest
28 period premiums to Plaintiffs and the class members.

1 42. To the extent that Plaintiffs and the class members were able to take rest periods, they
2 were not permitted to leave the premises. For example, Plaintiff Kibble recalls another class member
3 being written up for going to his car during his rest period.

4 43. Each time Plaintiffs and the class members experienced a noncompliant rest period,
5 they were owed a rest period premium at the lawful rate. However, as a matter of policy and practice,
6 Defendants failed to do so.

7 44. Defendants failed to provide accurate itemized wage statements to the class members
8 each pay period as a result of the policies and practices set forth in this notice. Defendant violated
9 Labor Code section 226(a)(1) and (5) by not listing the correct “gross wages earned” or “net wages
10 earned,” as the employees earned wages and premiums that were not paid, resulting in an inaccurate
11 reflection, and recording of “gross wages earned” on those wage statements.

12 45. Likewise, in violation of Labor Code section 226(a)(9), Defendants failed to state on 13 employee wage statements each pay period the applicable hourly rates in effect and the number of 14 hours worked at that rate, as Defendants failed to pay all wages and premiums owed to employees.
15 The amounts stated are instead depreciated and underpaid, resulting in an inaccurate reflection on the 16 pay stub.

17 46. Defendant violated Labor Code section 226(a)(2) by failing to accurately list
18 employees’ “total hours worked,” as a result of their unpaid off-the-clock work due to mandatory 19 security checks , rendering the total hours listed as an inaccurate reflection of hours worked.

20 47. Because of these policies and practices set forth in this notice, including the failure to 21 accurately account for wages earned or hours worked, Defendant failed to accurately maintain records
22 in accordance with Labor Code section 1174 and the IWC Wage Orders.

23 48. These violations create derivative liability for failure to pay all wages owed each 24 payday or upon separation of employment.

1 FIRST CAUSE OF ACTION

2 FAILURE TO PAY ALL WAGES OWED

3 Violation of Labor Code §§ 200, 218, 1194, 1194.2 and 1197

4 (All Claims Alleged by Plaintiffs and Class Members Against All Defendants)

5 49. All outside paragraphs of this Complaint are incorporated into this section.

6 50. This cause of action is brought pursuant to the IWC Wage Orders and Labor Code
7 §§ 200, 218, 1182.12, 1194, 1194.2, 1197, 1197.1 and 1198 and the IWC Wage Orders (the “Hours
8 and Days of Work” and “Minimum Wages” sections of the applicable orders), which require non-
9 exempt employees be timely paid at least the state or local minimum wage (if higher) for each hour of 10 work, and further provide a private right of action for an employer’s failure to pay all minimum wages
11 (plus liquidated damages). In addition to minimum wages, Labor Code § 200 states that “wages”
12 includes all amounts for labor performed by employees of every description, whether the amount is 13 fixed or ascertained by the standard of time, task, piece, commission basis, or other method of 14 calculation.”

15 51. Defendants willfully failed in their affirmative obligation to pay Plaintiffs and class
16 members at least the lawful minimum wage for each hour worked in violation of Labor Code sections
17 1182.12, 1194, 1194.2, 1197, 1197.1 and 1198 and the IWC Wage Orders (the “Hours and Days of 18 Work” and “Minimum Wages” sections of the applicable orders), including payment at the lawful
19 local and county minimum wage ordinances in effect. As a result, Defendants are liable for all
20 associated damages, including liquidated damages for the minimum wage violations pursuant to Labor
21 Code § 1194.2.

22 52. Defendants’ unlawful acts and omissions deprived Plaintiffs and class members of 23 minimum, regular and overtime wages in amounts to be determined at trial. Plaintiffs and class 24 members are entitled to recover the full amount of the unpaid wages, plus liquidated damages in an
25 amount equal to the wages unlawfully unpaid (and interest thereon), in addition to interest, attorneys’
26 fees, and costs to the extent permitted by law, including under Labor Code sections 1194 and 1194.2, 27 218.6 and any other applicable statutes.

59. Defendants willfully failed in their affirmative obligation to consistently provide Plaintiffs and class members compliant, duty-free meal periods of not less than 30 minutes beginning before the fifth hour of hour for each work period of more than five hours per day and a second duty-free meal period of not less than 30 minutes beginning before the tenth hour of hour of work in violation of Labor Code sections 226.7, 512, 558, 1198 and the IWC Wage Orders (the “Meal Periods” sections of the applicable orders).

60. Further, Defendants willfully failed in their affirmative obligation to consistently pay Plaintiffs and class members one additional hour of pay at the respective regular rate of compensation for each workday that a fully compliant meal period was not provided, in violation of Labor Code sections 226.7, 512, 558, and 1198 and the IWC Wage Orders (the “Meal Periods” sections of the applicable orders).

61. Plaintiffs and class members are entitled to recover the full amount of the meal period premiums owed, in addition to interest, statutory and civil penalties, and attorneys' fees, and costs to the extent permitted by law.

FOURTH CAUSE OF ACTION

REST PERIOD VIOLATIONS

Violation of Labor Code §§ 226.7 and 516

62. All outside paragraphs of this Complaint are incorporated into this section.

63. This cause of action is brought pursuant to the IWC Wage Orders and Labor Code §§ 226.7 and 516, which require non-exempt employees be authorized to take complaint rest periods (or rest period premiums in lieu thereof), and which further provide a private right of action for an employer's failure to lawfully provide all rest periods and/or pay rest period premiums at the lawful regular rate of compensation.

64. Defendants willfully failed in their affirmative obligation to consistently authorize and permit Plaintiffs and class members to receive compliant, duty-free rest periods of not less than ten (10) minutes for every four hours worked (or major fraction thereof) in violation of Labor Code sections 226.7, 516, 558, and 1198 and the IWC Wage Orders (the “Rest Periods” sections of the applicable orders).

65. Further, Defendants willfully failed in their affirmative obligation to consistently pay Plaintiffs and class members one additional hour of pay at the respective regular rate of compensation for each workday that a fully compliant rest period was not provided, in violation of Labor Code sections 226.7, 516, 558, and 1198 and the IWC Wage Orders.

FIFTH CAUSE OF ACTION

FAILURE TO PAY ALL PAID SICK LEAVE WAGES

Violation of Labor Code §§ 200, 218, 246 et seq.

66. All outside paragraphs of this Complaint are incorporated into this section.

67. Defendants knowingly and intentionally failed in their affirmative obligation to pay sick leave wages to Plaintiffs and a paid sick leave subclass in violation of Labor Code section 246 et seq. Paid sick leave earnings constitute wages for purposes of California wage and hour law. (Murphy v. Kenneth Cole Productions, Inc. (2007) 40 Cal.4th 1094, 1103 [“Courts have recognized that ‘wages’ also include those benefits to which an employee is entitled as a part of his or her compensation, including money, room, board, clothing, vacation pay, and sick pay”].)

68. Labor Code section 246(l), in conjunction with Labor Code section 248 et seq., 248.1, 248.2, and 248.6, in addition to the applicable County sick pay ordinances in locales worked by class members, govern how Defendants were required to calculate paid sick leave.

69. Defendants failed to pay Plaintiffs and class members their paid sick leave wages at one of the lawful rates set forth in the statute or ordinance because Defendants failed to include in their sick leave calculation the additional remuneration received by Plaintiffs and class members (i.e., at the regular rate of pay and/or calculated based on total wages earned).

70. Furthermore, to the extent the paid sick leave paid constitutes Covid-related paid sick leave, Defendants knowingly and intentionally failed in their affirmative obligation to pay Covid-19 Supplemental Sick Leave wages to class members at the correct accrual rate or hourly pay rate in violation of Labor Code sections 246, 248.1, 248.2, and 248 et seq.

71. As a result, Defendants violated the Labor Code and are liable to Plaintiffs and class members for underpaid sick leave wages, in addition to interest, attorneys’ fees, and costs.

1 78. Defendants knowingly and intentionally failed in their affirmative obligation to provide
2 accurate itemized wage statements to Plaintiffs and class members resulting in injury to Plaintiffs and
3 class members. Specifically, the wage statements issued to Plaintiffs and class members did not
4 accurately state each pay period all of the information required by Labor Code § 226(a)(1)-(9).

5 79. Defendants' unlawful acts and omissions deprived Plaintiffs and class members of 6 accurate itemized wage statements, causing confusion and concealing wage and premium
7 underpayments.

8 80. As a result, Plaintiffs and class members are entitled to recover the statutory penalty of 9 $50 per employee for the initial pay period in which a violation occurred and $100 per employee for 10 each violation in a subsequent pay period, up to an aggregate penalty of $4,000 per employee, in 11 addition to interest, attorneys' fees, and costs to the extent permitted by law, including under Labor
12 Code section 226(e).

13 EIGHTH CAUSE OF ACTION

14 WAITING TIME PENALTIES

15 Violation of Labor Code §§ 201 *et seq.

16 81. All outside paragraphs of this Complaint are incorporated into this section.

17 82. This cause of action is brought by a waiting time subclass pursuant to Labor Code 18 §§ 201 through 203, which require an employer to timely pay all wages earned upon termination of 19 employment, and which further provide a private right of action to recover statutory waiting time
20 penalties each day an employer fails to comply with this obligation, up to a maximum of 30 days 21 wages.

22 83. Defendants willfully failed and continue to fail in their affirmative obligation to pay all
23 wages earned and unpaid to Plaintiffs and class members immediately upon termination of 24 employment or within 72 hours thereafter for employees who did not provide at least 72 hours prior 25 notice of his or her intention to quit, and further failed to pay those sums for 30 days thereafter in 26 violation of Labor Code sections 201 through 203 and the IWC Wage Orders.

27 84. Plaintiffs and class members are entitled to recover a waiting time penalty for a period
28 of up to 30 days, in addition to interest, attorneys' fees, and costs to the extent permitted by law.

1 NINTH CAUSE OF ACTION

2 UNFAIR COMPETITION

3 Violation of Business and Professions Code §§ 17200 *et seq.

4 85. All outside paragraphs of this Complaint are incorporated into this section.

5 86. Defendants have engaged and continue to engage in unfair and/or unlawful business
6 practices in the State of California in violation of California Business and Professions Code § 17200
7 by committing the foregoing wage and hour violations alleged throughout this Complaint.

8 87. Defendants' dependence on these unfair and/or unlawful business practices deprived
9 Plaintiffs and continue to deprive other class members of compensation to which they are legally 10 entitled, constitutes unfair and/or unlawful competition, and provides an unfair advantage to 11 Defendants over competitors who have been and/or are currently employing workers in compliance
12 with California's wage and hour laws. These failures constitute unlawful, deceptive, and unfair
13 business acts and practices in violation of Business and Professions Code section 17200 et seq.

14 88. Plaintiffs are victims of Defendants' unfair and/or unlawful conduct alleged in this 15 Complaint, and Plaintiffs, as an individual and on behalf of others similarly situated, seeks full 16 restitution of the moneys as necessary and according to proof to restore all monies withheld, acquired,
17 and/or converted by Defendants pursuant to Business and Professions Code §§ 17203 and 17208.

18 89. Plaintiffs does not have an adequate remedy at law for past or future violations, to the 19 extent the statute of limitations on each of the alleged causes of action do not extend to the four year
20 limitation provided under the UCL or to the extent the underlying Labor Code and IWC Wage Order 21 violations do not provide a private right of action.

22 90. Plaintiffs and class members are entitled to injunctive relief against Defendants,
23 restitution, and other equitable relief to return all funds over which Plaintiffs and class members have 24 an ownership interest and to prevent future damage and the public interest under Business and 25 Professions Code § 17200 et seq. Plaintiffs and class members are further entitled to recover interest,
26 attorneys' fees, and costs to the extent permitted by law, including under Code of Civil Procedure
27 § 1021.5.

1 TENTH CAUSE OF ACTION

2 CIVIL PENALTIES UNDER THE PRIVATE ATTORNEYS GENERAL ACT

3 Violation of Labor Code §§ 2698 *et seq.

4 (By Plaintiffs on Behalf of the State and the Aggrieved Employees Against All Defendants)

5 91. All outside paragraphs of this Complaint are incorporated into this section.

6 92. Plaintiffs bring this cause of action as a proxy for the State of California on behalf of 7 the following “aggrieved employees” pursuant to the Private Attorneys General Act (“PAGA”),
8 codified as Labor Code section 2698 et seq.:

9 a. All current and former non-exempt employees who worked for Defendants in 10 California at any time from one year prior to the postmark date of the initial 11 PAGA notice through date of trial.

12 93. Plaintiffs reserve the right to amend, supplement, or add to this description of the 13 aggrieved employees, according to proof.

14 94. The State of California, via the Labor and Workforce Development Agency
15 (“LWDA”), is the real party in interest in this action with respect to this cause of action. (Kim v. Reins
16 Int’l California, Inc. (2020) 9 Cal. 5th 73, 81 [The “government entity on whose behalf the plaintiff 17 files suit is always the real party in interest.”])

18 95. Labor Code section 2699(a) provides: “Notwithstanding any other provision of law,,
19 any provision of this code that provides for a civil penalty to be assessed and collected by the Labor
20 and Workforce Development Agency or any of its departments, divisions, commissions, boards,
21 agencies, or employees, for a violation of this code, may, as an alternative, be recovered through a civil 22 action brought by an aggrieved employee on behalf of the employee and other current or former 23 employees against whom a violation of the same provision was committed pursuant to the procedures
24 specified in Section 2699.3. “

25 96. Any allegations regarding violations of the IWC Wage Orders are enforceable as 26 violations of Labor Code section 1198, which states: “[t]he employment of any employee for longer 27 hours than those fixed by the order or under conditions of labor prohibited by the order is unlawful.”
28

1 97. Labor Code section 2699.3 sets forth the procedure for commencing an action for civil
2 penalties under the PAGA.

3 98. On or about March 25, 2025, Plaintiff Smith paid the requisite PAGA filing fee and
4 provided written notice (by online electronic filing with the LWDA and by certified mail to
5 Defendants) of Defendants' alleged Labor Code violations, including the facts and theories to support
6 the alleged violations.

7 99. A true and correct copy of Plaintiff Smith's written PAGA notice, entitled "Notice of
8 Labor Code Violations" is attached hereto as Exhibit 1 and incorporated by reference as though fully
9 set forth herein (the "PAGA notice").

10 100. On or about April 2, 2025, Plaintiff Kibble paid the requisite PAGA filing fee and 11 provided written notice (by online electronic filing with the LWDA and by certified mail to 12 Defendants) of Defendants' alleged Labor Code violations, including the facts and theories to support
13 the alleged violations.

14 101. A true and correct copy of Plaintiff Kibble's written PAGA notice, entitled "Notice of 15 Labor Code Violations" is attached hereto as Exhibit 2 and incorporated by reference as though fully
16 set forth herein (the "PAGA notice").

17 102. To date, neither Plaintiffs nor Plaintiffs' counsel have received a response to Plaintiffs'
18 written PAGA notice from the LWDA.

19 103. Within 33 calendar days of the postmark date of the notice sent by Plaintiffs, neither
20 Plaintiffs nor Plaintiffs' counsel has received written notice by certified mail from any defendant
21 providing a description of any actions taken to cure the alleged violations.

22 104. Now that at least 65 days have passed from Plaintiffs notifying Defendants of these
23 violations, without notice of cure from Defendants or notice from the LWDA of its intent to investigate
24 the alleged allegations and issue the appropriate citations to Defendants, Plaintiffs exhausted all 25 prerequisites and commenced this civil action under Labor Code section 2699 et seq.

26 105. As set forth in the PAGA notice attached as Exhibit 1 and Exhibit 2 and incorporated
27 into this Complaint, Defendants committed the following violations and are liable for all 28 corresponding civil penalties:

- a. Unpaid Hours Worked/Minimum Wage. Violation of Labor Code §§ 1194, 1197, 1198; IWC Wage Orders.
- b. Unpaid Overtime. Violation of Labor Code §§ 510, 1194, 1198; IWC Wage Orders.
- c. Unpaid Paid Sick Leave. Violation of Labor Code §§ 246 through 248.7.
- d. Unpaid Meal Period Premium Wages. Violation of Labor Code §§ 226.7, 512, 1198; IWC Wage Orders.
- e. Unpaid Rest Period Premium Wages. Violation of Labor Code §§ 226.7, 516, 1198; IWC Wage Orders.
- f. Untimely Payment of Wages During Employment. Violation of Labor Code §§ 204, 204b, 210.
- g. Untimely Payment of Wages Upon Separation of Employment. Violation of Labor Code §§ 201, 202, 203, 256.
- h. Non-Compliant Wage Statements. Violation of Labor Code §§ 226, 226.3.
- i. Failure to Maintain Accurate Records. Violation of Labor Code § 1174; IWC Wage Orders.

106. Plaintiffs seeks to collect all recoverable civil penalties for the Labor Code violations alleged in this Complaint and the PAGA notice (including amendments thereto) against Defendants pursuant to Labor Code section 2699(a) and (f), in addition to attorneys' fees, costs, and interest to the extent permitted by law, including under Labor Code section 2699(k).

PRAYER

Plaintiffs pray for judgment as follows:

- a. For certification of this action as a class action;
- b. For appointment of Plaintiffs as class representatives;
- c. For appointment of above-captioned counsel for Plaintiffs as Class Counsel;
- d. For division of class members into appropriate classes and/or subclasses according to proof;
- e. For recovery of all statutory penalties and liquidated damages;

- f. For disgorgement of all amounts wrongfully obtained to the extent permitted by law;
- g. For restitution and injunctive relief;
- h. For attorneys' fees and costs of suit, including expert fees, to the extent permitted by law, including (without limitation) under Labor Code §§ 218.5, 226, 1194, and Code of Civil Procedure § 1021.5.
- i. For recovery of damages in amount according to proof;
- j. For all recoverable pre- and post-judgment interest;
- k. For this action to be maintained as a representative action under the PAGA;
- l. For Plaintiffs and counsel of record to be provided with all enforcement capability as if the action were brought by the State of California or the California Division of Labor Enforcement;
- m. For recovery of all civil penalties and other recoverable amounts under the PAGA;
- n. For reasonable attorneys' fees and costs of suit, including expert fees, to the extent permitted by law, associated with the PAGA claims pursuant to Labor Code § 2699, and Code of Civil Procedure section 1021.5 and any other applicable sections; and
- o. For such other relief the Court deems just and proper.

- PAGA Notice & Filing Fee -
Submitted electronically to the Labor and Workforce Development Agency

Dear LWDA Officer and Company Representatives:

This letter serves as written notice under Labor Code section 2699.3 on behalf of MARCUS SMITH (“Plaintiff(s)”) and all other “aggrieved employees” of the following “Defendant(s)”:

INTEGRITY STAFFING SOLUTIONS, INC.;
FLEXPORT, INC.

Defendant(s) shall mean and include the foregoing in addition to any other related employer entities, individuals under Labor Code sections 558 and 558.1, and all others who may be later added upon further investigation and discovery as liable employers.

This office serves as legal counsel for Plaintiff. If the California Labor and Workforce Development Agency (“LWDA”) does not investigate the facts, allegations, and violations set forth in this notice within the statutorily prescribed 65-day period under Labor Code section 2699.3, Plaintiff intends to commence a civil action against Defendants as a proxy and agent of the State of California under the Private Attorneys General Act (“PAGA”). “PAGA allows an ‘aggrieved employee’—a person affected by at least one Labor Code violation committed by an employer—to pursue penalties for all the Labor Code violations committed by that employer.” Huff v. Securitas Security Services USA, Inc. (2018) 23 Cal.App.5th 745, 751; Kim v. Reins International California, Inc. (2020) 9 Cal.5th 73, 79. Plaintiff maintains standing to pursue these claims against Defendants as an aggrieved employee.

Through this notice, Plaintiff requests that Defendants complete an internal investigation and audit of the wage and hour and employment practices at issue and make a good faith effort to correct any violations. Plaintiff attempts to identify the non-compliant policies and practices affecting the aggrieved employees so that the parties may resolve the underlying damages and penalties in judgment or settlement approved by the Superior Court of California under Labor Code section 2699(s). Defendants are notified that any attempt to resolve this case should be conducted in coordination with Plaintiff’s counsel to protect the interests of Plaintiff, the aggrieved employees, and the State of California via the LWDA. Plaintiff advises Defendants this letter should be also considered a reasonable attempt at settlement of this matter, subject to an exchange of additional documents and information. Graham v. Daimler Chrysler Corp. (2004) 24 Cal.4th 553, 561.

- BACKGROUND -

Defendants employed Plaintiff during the PAGA Period in the position of Picker from about December 2024 to November 2024. During their employment Plaintiff and the other aggrieved employees were subject to the wage and hour and employment protections set forth in the California Labor Code and IWC Wage Orders.

Through this notice, Plaintiff informs the LWDA of the Labor Code violations set forth herein. The “aggrieved employees” include Plaintiff and the following individuals:

All current and former non-exempt employees who worked for Defendants in the State of California during one-year period preceding the date of this notice through the current date and the date of trial in any pending action (the “aggrieved employees” and the “PAGA Period”).

Plaintiff reserves the right to expand or narrow the definition of the “aggrieved employees” in the forthcoming civil action. Furthermore, Plaintiff seeks all recoverable civil penalties for Defendants’ violations and reserves the right to supplement this notice as further investigation is completed and further facts, witnesses, and violations are uncovered.

- PAGA CLAIMS –

Unpaid Hours Worked/Minimum Wage Violation of Labor Code §§ 1194, 1197, 1198; IWC Wage Orders

Defendants violated Labor Code sections 1194, 1197, and 1198, along with the California Minimum Wage Order, the applicable local minimum wage ordinances, and the “Hours and

Days of Work” and “Minimum Wages” sections of the applicable IWC Wage Orders with respect to the aggrieved employees.

Labor Code section 1194 renders it unlawful for an employee to receive less than the legal minimum wage for hours worked in California. Labor Code section 1197 further mandates that “[t]he minimum wage for employees fixed by the commission is the minimum wage to be paid to employees, and the payment of a lower wage than the minimum so fixed is unlawful.” Labor Code section 1198 renders “employment of any employee for longer hours than those fixed by the order or under conditions of labor prohibited by the [IWC Wage Orders]” unlawful. The California Minimum Wage Order and the applicable sections of the IWC Wage Orders further require payment of minimum wages for all hours worked. The “Minimum Wages” sections of the applicable IWC Wage Order provide that “[e]very employer shall pay to each employee, on the established payday for the period involved, not less than the applicable minimum wage for all hours worked in the payroll period, whether the remuneration is measured by time, piece, commission, or otherwise.” The foregoing California wage laws require payment of “not less than the applicable minimum wage for all hours worked in the payroll period” and California law does not allow averaging of pay over the hours worked in the pay period, even if the total pay results in an average above the minimum wage. Armenta v. Osmose, Inc. (2005) 135 Cal.App.3d 314, 324.

Defendants failed to pay Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees at the lawful minimum wage rate for all hours worked, resulting in unpaid minimum wages.

Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees were required to undergo unpaid security checks when entering and exiting the premises. The California Supreme Court has held “time spent on the employer's premises waiting for, and undergoing, required exit searches of packages, bags, or personal technology devices voluntarily brought to work purely for personal convenience was compensable as ‘hours worked’ within the meaning of wage order No. 7-2001” reasoning that “[a]ccording to the ‘hours worked’ control clause in the wage order, such employee[s] must be paid. Frlekin v. Apple Inc. (2020) 8 Cal. 5th 1038. Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees were required to go through metal detectors and undergo bag checks daily. This practice resulted in unpaid minimum wage and overtime for the associated hours worked.

As a result, Plaintiff may recover civil penalties as an individual and on behalf of the State of California and the aggrieved employees, up to the maximum amount allowed as set forth under the Labor Code.

Unpaid Overtime

Violation of Labor Code §§ 510, 1194, 1198; IWC Wage Orders

Defendants violated Labor Code sections 510, 1194, and 1198, along with the “Hours and Days of Work” sections of the applicable IWC Wage Orders with respect to the aggrieved employees.

Labor Code section 510 requires “[a]ny work in excess of eight hours in one workday and any work in excess of 40 hours in any one workweek and the first eight hours worked on the seventh day of work in any one workweek shall be compensated at the rate of no less than one and one-half times the regular rate of pay for an employee;” and “any work in excess of 12 hours in one day shall be compensated at the rate of no less than twice the regular rate of pay for an employee;” and “any work in excess of eight hours on any seventh day of a workweek shall be compensated at the rate of no less than twice the regular rate of pay of an employee.” Labor Code section 1194 renders it unlawful for an employee to receive less than the legal overtime rate for overtime hours worked in California. Labor Code section 1198 renders “employment of any employee for longer hours than those fixed by the order or under conditions of labor prohibited by the [IWC Wage Orders]” unlawful. The IWC Wage Orders further require payment of overtime wages for all overtime hours worked, including the “Hours and Days of Work” sections.

Defendants failed to pay Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees overtime wages and the lawful rate of pay for overtime hours worked, resulting in unpaid overtime wages.

Defendants failed to pay Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees overtime wages and the lawful rate of pay for overtime hours worked, resulting in unpaid overtime wages. To the extent that Defendant’s unlawful practice requiring unpaid off-the-clock work due to mandatory security checks resulted in unpaid hours over 8 hours in a day or 40 hours in a week, this resulted in unpaid overtime wages.

As a result, Plaintiff may recover civil penalties as an individual and on behalf of the State of California and the aggrieved employees, up to the maximum amount allowed as set forth under the Labor Code.

Unpaid Paid Sick Leave Violation of Labor Code §§ 246 through 248.7

Defendants violated Labor Code sections 246 through 248.7 with respect to the aggrieved employees.

Labor Code section 246 requires employers to provide paid sick leave to its workforce on the terms set forth in the statute. Employers must comply with the accrual, use, and notice provisions of Labor Code sections 246, 246.5, 247, and must further ensure that they maintain the paid sick leave records required by Labor Code section 247.5. Employers have the option of providing 40 hours of paid sick leave to employees or to allow employees to accrue paid sick leave each pay period. If an employer chooses the accrual method, employees must accrue sick leave at a rate of one hour for every thirty hours worked in a given pay period as set forth in Labor Code section 246(b)(1). Under the accrual method, employees must begin accruing paid sick leave at the commencement of employment.

Employers must pay sick leave in accordance with one of the three permissible methods provided in Labor Code section 246(l): (1) “the same manner as the regular rate of pay for the workweek;” (2) “by dividing the employee’s total wages, not including overtime premium pay, by the employee’s total hours worked in the full pay periods of the prior 90 days;” or (3) “for exempt employee ... in the same manner as the employer calculates wages for other forms of paid leave time.” Labor Code sections 248.6 and 248.7 similarly require paid sick leave to be paid at a regular rate-based calculation in excess of the base hourly rate and at the lawful accrual rate.

Under Labor Code section 246(i), employers must provide employees “with written notice of the amount of paid sick leave available ... for use on either the employee’s itemized wage statement ... or in a separate writing provided on the designated pay date with the employee’s payment of wages.”

Defendants failed to comply with California’s paid sick leave laws with respect to the aggrieved employees. Due to Defendants’ unlawful policy of requiring off-the-clock work, Defendants failed to properly credit Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees with their full accrued sick leave.

The failure to calculate and pay sick leave at one of the lawful rates set forth in Labor Code § 246(l)(1)-(3) and 247 et seq. was applied as a matter of common policy and practice to aggrieved employees.

As a result, Plaintiff may recover civil penalties as an individual and on behalf of the State of California and the aggrieved employees, up to the maximum amount allowed as set forth under the Labor Code.

Unpaid Meal Period Premium Wages Violation of Labor Code §§ 226.7, 512, 1198; IWC Wage Orders

Defendants violated Labor Code sections 226.7, 512, and 1198, along with the related sections of the IWC Wage Orders with respect to the aggrieved employees.

Labor Code section 512 and the IWC Wage Orders require that employers provide an uninterrupted 30-minute meal period after no more than five hours of work and a second meal period after no more than 10 hours of work. See Brinker Restaurant Corp. v. Superior Court (2012) 53 Cal.4th 1004, 1049. Labor Code section 226.7 requires that if a meal period is late, missed, short, or interrupted, the employer must pay one additional hour of pay at the employee’s “regular rate” of compensation. Ferra v. Loews Hollywood Hotel, LLC (2021) 11 Cal.5th 858, 862 (“We hold that the terms are synonymous: “regular rate of compensation” under section 226.7(c), like “regular rate of pay” under section 510(a), encompasses all nondiscretionary payments, not just hourly wages”). “[T]ime records showing noncompliant meal periods raise a rebuttable presumption of meal period violations, including at the summary judgment stage.” Donohue v. AMN Services, LLC (2021) 11 Cal.5th 58, 61. Labor Code section 1198 renders “employment of any employee for longer hours than those fixed by the order or under

Here, the time records provided and maintained by Defendants confirm Plaintiff experienced two short (less than 30 minute) meal periods, however the corresponding wage statement shows no meal period premiums were paid. Further, Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees often worked over 10 hours a day (sometimes even over 12 hours a day) without a compliant second meal period. As a matter of common policy and practice, Defendants failed to pay the aggrieved employees all owed meal period premiums for all non-compliant first and second meal periods.

To the extent Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees maintained first and second meal period waivers, these waivers were inapplicable where inapplicable when Plaintiff and aggrieved employees worked shifts of 6 or more hours (for first meal periods) or worked over 10 hours without a compliant first meal period.

As a result, Plaintiff may recover civil penalties as an individual and on behalf of the State of California and the aggrieved employees, up to the maximum amount allowed as set forth under the Labor Code.

Unpaid Rest Period Premium Wages
Violation of Labor Code §§ 226.7, 516, 1198; IWC Wage Orders

Defendants violated Labor Code sections 226.7, 516, and 1198, and the related sections of the IWC Wage Orders with respect to Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees.

Labor Code sections 226.7 and 516 and the IWC Wage Orders require that employers authorize and permit an uninterrupted 10-minute rest period for each four-hour period (or major fraction thereof) that an employee works. Labor Code section 226.7 requires that if a rest period is non-compliant, the employer must pay one additional hour of pay at the employee's "regular rate" of compensation. Ferra v. Loews Hollywood Hotel, LLC (2021) 11 Cal.5th 858, 862 ("We hold that the terms are synonymous: "regular rate of compensation" under section 226.7(c), like "regular rate of pay" under section 510(a), encompasses all nondiscretionary payments, not just hourly wages"). Labor Code section 1198 renders "employment of any employee for longer hours than those fixed by the order or under conditions of labor prohibited by the [IWC Wage Orders]" unlawful. The IWC Wage Orders, including Section 12 (Rest Periods), further require one uninterrupted 10-minute rest period for each four-hour period (or major fraction thereof) worked and an additional hour of pay at the employee's regular rate of compensation for each workday that a compliant rest period is not authorized or permitted.

Defendants failed to provide all rest periods to which employees were entitled and failed to pay rest period premiums to Plaintiff and other aggrieved employees. Plaintiff and other aggrieved employees were not always authorized or permitted to take all their rest periods. Further, when they were authorized to take a rest period, Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees were not permitted to leave the premises.

Each time Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees experienced a noncompliant rest period, they were owed a rest period premium at the lawful rate. However, as a matter of policy and practice, Defendants failed to pay Plaintiff and other aggrieved employees a rest period premium at the lawful rate of pay.

As a result, Plaintiff may recover civil penalties as an individual and on behalf of the State of California and the aggrieved employees, up to the maximum amount allowed as set forth under the Labor Code.

Untimely Payment of Wages During Employment
Violation of Labor Code §§ 204, 204b, 210

Defendants violated Labor Code sections 204 and/or 204b and 210, as applicable, with respect to Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees.

Labor Code section 204(a) requires payment of “all wages” for non-exempt employees at least twice each calendar month. Labor Code section 204(d) states all wages due must be paid “not more than seven calendar days following the close of the payroll period.” Labor Code section 204b applies to employees paid on a weekly basis and also requires the payment for all labor within the required pay periods. Labor Code section 210 provides “every person who fails to pay the wages of an employee as provided in Section ... 204 ... shall be subject to a civil penalty” of $100 for an initial violation and $200 plus 25% of the amount unlawfully withheld for a subsequent violation.

Because Defendants failed to pay all wages and premiums in each pay period in which such wages were earned at the lawful rate, Defendants violated Labor Code section 204 and/or 204b (for weekly employees, as applicable). Defendants violated Labor Code sections 204 and 204b by failing to pay all wages and premiums owed on the regular pay days scheduled each pay period within seven calendar days of the close of the payroll period, as a result of the policies and practices set forth in this notice.

As a result, Plaintiff may recover civil penalties as an individual and on behalf of the State of California and the aggrieved employees, up to the maximum amount allowed as set forth under the Labor Code.

Untimely Payment of Wages Upon Separation of Employment
Violation of Labor Code §§ 201, 202, 203, 256

Defendants violated Labor Code sections 201, 202, and 203 with respect to the aggrieved employees by failing to pay all wages and premiums owed upon termination of employment.

Labor Code section 201 requires that if an employer fires an employee, the wages must be paid immediately. Labor Code section 202 requires that if an employee quits without providing 72 hours’ notice, his or her wages must be paid no later than 72 hours thereafter.

Labor Code section 202 states that if an employee provides 72 hours' notice, the final wages are payable upon his or her final day of employment. Labor Code section 203 requires an employer who fails to comply with Labor Code sections 201 or 202 to pay a waiting time penalty for each employee, up to a period of 30 days additional compensation.

Defendants failed to pay all wages and premiums owed to aggrieved employees during their employment as set forth in this notice, and also failed to timely pay those amounts to departing employees upon separation of employment. Defendants did not pay waiting time penalties for the late payments. For example, Plaintiff was terminated however was not paid his final wages upon termination. Indeed, Plaintiff did not receive his final wages until approximately one week after his termination date and Defendant did not pay the associated waiting time penalties for this late payment. On information and belief this was part of a common policy and practice of failing to timely pay wages upon termination. As a result, Defendants violated Labor Code sections 201, 202, and 203.

As a result, Plaintiff may recover civil penalties as an individual and on behalf of the State of California and the aggrieved employees, up to the maximum amount allowed as set forth under the Labor Code.

Non-Compliant Wage Statements Violation of Labor Code §§ 226, 226.3

Defendants violated Labor Code sections 226(a) and 226.3 with respect to the aggrieved employees by failing to furnish itemized wage statements each pay period that accurately list all information required by Labor Code section 226(a)(1) through (9).

Labor Code section 226(a) requires an employer to furnish wage statements to employees semimonthly or at the time of each payment of wages, "an accurate itemized statement in writing showing:" (1) gross wages earned, (2) total hours worked, (3) the number of piece rate units earned and applicable piece-rate in effect, (4) all deductions, (5) net wages earned, (6) the inclusive dates of the pay period, (7) the name of the employee and last four digits of SSN or an EIN, (8) the name and address of the legal name of the employer, and (9) all applicable hourly rates in effect during the pay period and the number of hours worked at each hourly rate by the employee.

Defendants failed to provide accurate itemized wage statements to the aggrieved employees each pay period as a result of the policies and practices set forth in this notice. Defendants violated Labor Code section 226(a)(1) and (5) by not listing the correct "gross wages earned" or "net wages earned," as the employees earned wages and premiums that were not paid, resulting in an inaccurate reflection, and recording of "gross wages earned" on those wage statements. Likewise, in violation of Labor Code section 226(a)(9), Defendants failed to state on employee wage statements each pay period the applicable hourly rates in effect and the number of hours worked at that rate, as Defendants failed to pay all wages and premiums owed to employees. The amounts stated are instead depreciated and underpaid, resulting in an inaccurate reflection on the pay stub.

Plaintiff and other aggrieved employees cannot promptly and easily determine from the wage statement alone the wages paid or earned without reference to other documents or information. Indeed, these wage statement violations are significant because they sow confusion among Plaintiff and other aggrieved employees with respect to what amounts were owed and paid, at what rates, the number of hours worked, and how those amounts were or should be calculated. The wage statements reflect a false statement of earnings and concealed the underlying problems and underpayments of employee wages.

As a result, Plaintiff may recover civil penalties as an individual and on behalf of the State of California and the aggrieved employees, up to the maximum amount allowed as set forth under the Labor Code.

Failure to Maintain Accurate Records Violation of Labor Code § 1174; IWC Wage Orders

Defendants violated Labor Code sections 1174 and the IWC Wage Orders by failing to maintain accurate employee payroll records with respect to Plaintiff and other aggrieved employees.

Labor Code section 1174 requires that employers maintain accurate “payroll records showing the hours worked daily by and the wages paid to, and the number of piece-rate units earned by and any applicable piece rate paid to, employees employed at the respective plants or establishments.” Section 7(A) of the IWC Wage Orders, which may be enforced through Labor Code section 1198, mandates similar recordkeeping obligations.

Because of the policies and practices set forth in this notice, including the failure to accurately account for wages earned or hours worked, Defendants failed to accurately maintain records in accordance with Labor Code section 1174 and the IWC Wage Orders.

As a result, Plaintiff may recover civil penalties as an individual and on behalf of the State of California and the aggrieved employees, up to the maximum amount allowed as set forth under the Labor Code.

Attorneys’ Fees and Costs Labor Code § 2699(k)(1)

Plaintiff has been compelled to retain the services of counsel to protect the interests of other aggrieved employees and the State of California. Plaintiff continues to incur attorneys’ fees and costs, which are recoverable under California law, including Labor Code section 2699(k)(1).

- LITIGATION HOLD NOTICE -

This letter imposes a duty upon all defendants and their respective employees, officers, directors, executives, attorneys, human resource and payroll personnel, accountants, and other agents to preserve all physical and electronic evidence, including electronically stored information and emails, which relate to the employment of Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees specified in this notice. Evidence includes, but is not limited to, Defendants' written employment and payroll policies and handbooks; the aggrieved employees' personnel files and payroll records, such as paystubs, time records, wage statements, compensation reports, as well as the underlying electronically data in Excel or similar format. Memoranda and internal and external correspondence relating to the subject matter of this notice shall also be maintained. Failure to preserve and retain relevant evidence may constitute spoliation of evidence and result in an adverse inference or sanctions.

If you have any questions regarding the scope of your obligations to preserve evidence, please consult your legal counsel and always err on the side of caution. Periodic or regularly scheduled purges or deletions of information covered by this hold must be suspended immediately.

- CONCLUSION -

If the LWDA does not pursue enforcement, Plaintiff intends to bring representative claims on behalf of the State of California and the aggrieved employees seeking civil penalties for violations of the Labor Code and the IWC Wage Orders, along with attorneys' fees, costs, interest, and other appropriate relief.

Please advise if the LWDA intends to investigate any of the factual or legal allegations set forth in this notice. Defendants may contact Plaintiff's counsel with any questions regarding this letter or the forthcoming lawsuit.

Sincerely,

Elyssa Martinez

Daimler Chrysler Corp.* (2004) 24 Cal.4th 553, 561.

- BACKGROUND -

Defendants employed Plaintiff during the PAGA Period in the position of Picker from about February 2025 to March 2025. During their employment Plaintiff and the other aggrieved employees were subject to the wage and hour and employment protections set forth in the California Labor Code and IWC Wage Orders.

Through this notice, Plaintiff informs the LWDA of the Labor Code violations set forth herein. The “aggrieved employees” include Plaintiff and the following individuals:

All current and former non-exempt employees who worked for Defendants in the State of California during one-year period preceding the date of this notice through the current date and the date of trial in any pending action (the “aggrieved employees” and the “PAGA Period”).

Plaintiff reserves the right to expand or narrow the definition of the “aggrieved employees” in the forthcoming civil action. Furthermore, Plaintiff seeks all recoverable civil penalties for Defendants’ violations and reserves the right to supplement this notice as further investigation is completed and further facts, witnesses, and violations are uncovered.

- PAGA CLAIMS -

Unpaid Hours Worked/Minimum Wage Violation of Labor Code §§ 1194, 1197, 1198; IWC Wage Orders

Defendants violated Labor Code sections 1194, 1197, and 1198, along with the California Minimum Wage Order, the applicable local minimum wage ordinances, and the “Hours and Days of Work” and “Minimum Wages” sections of the applicable IWC Wage Orders with respect to the aggrieved employees.

Labor Code section 1194 renders it unlawful for an employee to receive less than the legal minimum wage for hours worked in California. Labor Code section 1197 further mandates that “[t]he minimum wage for employees fixed by the commission is the minimum wage to be paid to employees, and the payment of a lower wage than the minimum so fixed is unlawful.” Labor Code section 1198 renders “employment of any employee for longer hours than those fixed by the order or under conditions of labor prohibited by the [IWC Wage Orders]” unlawful. The California Minimum Wage Order and the applicable sections of the IWC Wage Orders further require payment of minimum wages for all hours worked. The “Minimum Wages” sections of the applicable IWC Wage Order provide that “[e]very employer shall pay to each employee, on the established payday for the period involved, not less than the applicable minimum wage for all hours worked in the payroll period, whether the remuneration is measured by time, piece, commission, or otherwise.” The foregoing California wage laws require payment of “not less than the applicable minimum wage for all hours worked in the payroll period” and California law does not allow averaging of pay over the hours worked in the pay period, even if the total pay results in an average above the minimum wage. Armenta v. Osmose, Inc. (2005) 135 Cal.App.3d 314, 324.

Defendants failed to pay Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees at the lawful minimum wage rate for all hours worked, resulting in unpaid minimum wages.

Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees were required to undergo unpaid security checks when entering and exiting the premises. The California Supreme Court has held “time spent on the employer's premises waiting for, and undergoing, required exit searches of packages, bags, or personal technology devices voluntarily brought to work purely for personal convenience was compensable as ‘hours worked’ within the meaning of wage order No. 7-2001” reasoning that “[a]ccording to the ‘hours worked’ control clause in the wage order, such employee[s] must be paid. Frlekin v. Apple Inc. (2020) 8 Cal. 5th 1038. Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees were required to go through metal detectors and undergo bag checks daily. This practice resulted in unpaid minimum wage and overtime for the associated hours worked.

As a result, Plaintiff may recover civil penalties as an individual and on behalf of the State of California and the aggrieved employees, up to the maximum amount allowed as set forth under the Labor Code.

Unpaid Overtime
Violation of Labor Code §§ 510, 1194, 1198; IWC Wage Orders

Defendants violated Labor Code sections 510, 1194, and 1198, along with the “Hours and Days of Work” sections of the applicable IWC Wage Orders with respect to the aggrieved employees.

Labor Code section 510 requires “[a]ny work in excess of eight hours in one workday and any work in excess of 40 hours in any one workweek and the first eight hours worked on the seventh day of work in any one workweek shall be compensated at the rate of no less than one and one-half times the regular rate of pay for an employee;” and “any work in excess of 12 hours in one day shall be compensated at the rate of no less than twice the regular rate of pay for an employee;” and “any work in excess of eight hours on any seventh day of a workweek shall be compensated at the rate of no less than twice the regular rate of pay of an employee.” Labor Code section 1194 renders it unlawful for an employee to receive less than the legal overtime rate for overtime hours worked in California. Labor Code section 1198 renders “employment of any employee for longer hours than those fixed by the order or under conditions of labor prohibited by the [IWC Wage Orders]” unlawful. The IWC Wage Orders further require payment of overtime wages for all overtime hours worked, including the “Hours and Days of Work” sections.

Defendants failed to pay Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees overtime wages and the lawful rate of pay for overtime hours worked, resulting in unpaid overtime wages.

Defendants failed to pay Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees overtime wages and the lawful rate of pay for overtime hours worked, resulting in unpaid overtime wages. To the extent that Defendant’s unlawful practice requiring unpaid off-the-clock work due to mandatory security checks resulted in unpaid hours over 8 hours in a day or 40 hours in a week, this resulted in unpaid overtime wages.

As a result, Plaintiff may recover civil penalties as an individual and on behalf of the State of California and the aggrieved employees, up to the maximum amount allowed as set forth under the Labor Code.

Unpaid Paid Sick Leave
Violation of Labor Code §§ 246 through 248.7

Defendants violated Labor Code sections 246 through 248.7 with respect to the aggrieved employees.

Labor Code section 246 requires employers to provide paid sick leave to its workforce on the terms set forth in the statute. Employers must comply with the accrual, use, and notice provisions of Labor Code sections 246, 246.5, 247, and must further ensure that they maintain the paid sick leave records required by Labor Code section 247.5. Employers have the option of providing 40 hours of paid sick leave to employees or to allow employees to accrue paid sick leave each pay period. If an employer chooses the accrual method, employees must accrue sick leave at a rate of one hour for every thirty hours worked in a given pay period as set forth in Labor Code section 246(b)(1). Under the accrual method, employees must begin accruing paid sick leave at the commencement of employment.

Employers must pay sick leave in accordance with one of the three permissible methods provided in Labor Code section 246(l): (1) “the same manner as the regular rate of pay for the workweek;” (2) “by dividing the employee’s total wages, not including overtime premium pay, by the employee’s total hours worked in the full pay periods of the prior 90 days;” or (3) “for exempt employee ... in the same manner as the employer calculates wages for other forms of paid leave time.” Labor Code sections 248.6 and 248.7 similarly require paid sick leave to be paid at a regular rate-based calculation in excess of the base hourly rate and at the lawful accrual rate.

Under Labor Code section 246(i), employers must provide employees “with written notice of the amount of paid sick leave available ... for use on either the employee’s itemized wage statement ... or in a separate writing provided on the designated pay date with the employee’s payment of wages.”

Defendants failed to comply with California’s paid sick leave laws with respect to the aggrieved employees. Due to Defendants’ unlawful policy of requiring off-the-clock work, Defendants failed to properly credit Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees with their full accrued sick leave.

The failure to calculate and pay sick leave at one of the lawful rates set forth in Labor Code § 246(l)(1)-(3) and 247 et seq. was applied as a matter of common policy and practice to aggrieved employees.

As a result, Plaintiff may recover civil penalties as an individual and on behalf of the State of California and the aggrieved employees, up to the maximum amount allowed as set forth under the Labor Code.

Unpaid Meal Period Premium Wages Violation of Labor Code §§ 226.7, 512, 1198; IWC Wage Orders

Defendants violated Labor Code sections 226.7, 512, and 1198, along with the related sections of the IWC Wage Orders with respect to the aggrieved employees.

Labor Code section 512 and the IWC Wage Orders require that employers provide an uninterrupted 30-minute meal period after no more than five hours of work and a second meal period after no more than 10 hours of work. See Brinker Restaurant Corp. v. Superior Court (2012) 53 Cal.4th 1004, 1049. Labor Code section 226.7 requires that if a meal period is late, missed, short, or interrupted, the employer must pay one additional hour of pay at the employee’s “regular rate” of compensation. Ferra v. Loews Hollywood Hotel, LLC (2021) 11 Cal.5th 858, 862

(“We hold that the terms are synonymous: “regular rate of compensation” under section 226.7(c), like “regular rate of pay” under section 510(a), encompasses all nondiscretionary payments, not just hourly wages”). “[T]ime records showing noncompliant meal periods raise a rebuttable presumption of meal period violations, including at the summary judgment stage.” Donohue v. AMN Services, LLC (2021) 11 Cal.5th 58, 61. Labor Code section 1198 renders “employment of any employee for longer hours than those fixed by the order or under conditions of labor prohibited by the [IWC Wage Orders]” unlawful. The IWC Wage Orders, including Section 11 (Meal Periods), further require one uninterrupted 30-minute meal period after no more than five hours of work and a second meal period after no more than 10 hours of work and an additional hour of pay at the employee’s regular rate of compensation for each workday that a compliant meal period is not provided. Pursuant to Section 11(A) of the IWC Wage Orders, the California Supreme Court has held that the on-duty meal period exception is “exceedingly narrow” and applies only when (1) “the nature of the work prevents the employee from being relieved of all duty” and (2) both “the employer and employee have agreed, in writing, to the on-duty meal period.” Augustus v. AMB Security Services, Inc. (2016) 2 Cal.5th 257, 266-276 (emphasis added). If these two requirements are not met, then the employer owes the employee one hour of premium pay for each non-compliant meal period taken under the purported on-duty meal arrangement. Naranjo v. Spectrum Security Services, Inc. (2019) 40 Cal.5th 444, 459.

Plaintiff and other aggrieved employees routinely experienced missed, late, short, and interrupted first and second meal periods due to pressure from Defendants to keep up with the high demands of the job. Specifically, due to the high demands of the job Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees experienced the pressure from Defendants to take a non-compliant meal period in order to complete all work duties. Each time Plaintiff and the class members experienced a noncompliant rest period, they were owed a rest period premium at the lawful rate. However, as a matter of policy and practice, Defendants failed to do so.

To the extent Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees maintained first and second meal period waivers, these waivers were inapplicable when Plaintiff and aggrieved employees worked shifts of 6 or more hours (for first meal periods) or worked over 10 hours (for second meal periods) without a compliant first meal period.

As a result, Plaintiff may recover civil penalties as an individual and on behalf of the State of California and the aggrieved employees, up to the maximum amount allowed as set forth under the Labor Code.

Unpaid Rest Period Premium Wages Violation of Labor Code §§ 226.7, 516, 1198; IWC Wage Orders

Defendants violated Labor Code sections 226.7, 516, and 1198, and the related sections of the IWC Wage Orders with respect to Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees.

Labor Code sections 226.7 and 516 and the IWC Wage Orders require that employers authorize and permit an uninterrupted 10-minute rest period for each four-hour period (or major fraction thereof) that an employee works. Labor Code section 226.7 requires that if a rest period is non-compliant, the employer must pay one additional hour of pay at the employee's "regular rate" of compensation. Ferra v. Loews Hollywood Hotel, LLC (2021) 11 Cal.5th 858, 862 ("We hold that the terms are synonymous: "regular rate of compensation" under section 226.7(c), like "regular rate of pay" under section 510(a), encompasses all nondiscretionary payments, not just hourly wages"). Labor Code section 1198 renders "employment of any employee for longer hours than those fixed by the order or under conditions of labor prohibited by the [IWC Wage Orders]" unlawful. The IWC Wage Orders, including Section 12 (Rest Periods), further require one uninterrupted 10-minute rest period for each four-hour period (or major fraction thereof) worked and an additional hour of pay at the employee's regular rate of compensation for each workday that a compliant rest period is not authorized or permitted.

Defendants failed to provide all rest periods to which employees were entitled and failed to pay rest period premiums to Plaintiff and other aggrieved employees. Plaintiff and other aggrieved employees were not always authorized or permitted to take all their rest periods. Further, when they were authorized to take a rest period, Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees were not permitted to leave the premises. For example, Plaintiff recalls another aggrieved employee for being written up for going to his car during his rest period.

Each time Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees experienced a noncompliant rest period, they were owed a rest period premium at the lawful rate. However, as a matter of policy and practice, Defendants failed to pay Plaintiff and other aggrieved employees a rest period premium at the lawful rate of pay.

As a result, Plaintiff may recover civil penalties as an individual and on behalf of the State of California and the aggrieved employees, up to the maximum amount allowed as set forth under the Labor Code.

Untimely Payment of Wages During Employment Violation of Labor Code §§ 204, 204b, 210

Defendants violated Labor Code sections 204 and/or 204b and 210, as applicable, with respect to Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees.

Labor Code section 204(a) requires payment of "all wages" for non-exempt employees at least twice each calendar month. Labor Code section 204(d) states all wages due must be paid "not more than seven calendar days following the close of the payroll period." Labor Code section 204b applies to employees paid on a weekly basis and also requires the payment for all labor within the required pay periods. Labor Code section 210 provides "every person who fails to pay the wages of an employee as provided in Section ... 204 ... shall be subject to a civil penalty” of $100 for an initial violation and $200 plus 25% of the amount unlawfully withheld for a subsequent violation.

Because Defendants failed to pay all wages and premiums in each pay period in which such wages were earned at the lawful rate, Defendants violated Labor Code section 204 and/or 204b (for weekly employees, as applicable). Defendants violated Labor Code sections 204 and 204b by failing to pay all wages and premiums owed on the regular pay days scheduled each pay period within seven calendar days of the close of the payroll period, as a result of the policies and practices set forth in this notice.

As a result, Plaintiff may recover civil penalties as an individual and on behalf of the State of California and the aggrieved employees, up to the maximum amount allowed as set forth under the Labor Code.

Untimely Payment of Wages Upon Separation of Employment
Violation of Labor Code §§ 201, 202, 203, 256

Defendants violated Labor Code sections 201, 202, and 203 with respect to the aggrieved employees by failing to pay all wages and premiums owed upon termination of employment.

Labor Code section 201 requires that if an employer fires an employee, the wages must be paid immediately. Labor Code section 202 requires that if an employee quits without providing 72 hours’ notice, his or her wages must be paid no later than 72 hours thereafter. Labor Code section 202 states that if an employee provides 72 hours’ notice, the final wages are payable upon his or her final day of employment. Labor Code section 203 requires an employer who fails to comply with Labor Code sections 201 or 202 to pay a waiting time penalty for each employee, up to a period of 30 days additional compensation.

Defendants failed to pay all wages and premiums owed to aggrieved employees during their employment as set forth in this notice, and also failed to timely pay those amounts to departing employees upon separation of employment. Defendants did not pay waiting time penalties for the late payments. For example, Plaintiff was terminated however was not paid his final wages upon termination. Indeed, Plaintiff did not receive his final wages until approximately days after his termination date. Defendant did not pay the associated waiting time penalties for this late payment. On information and belief this was part of a common policy and practice of failing to timely pay wages upon termination. As a result, Defendants violated Labor Code sections 201, 202, and 203.

As a result, Plaintiff may recover civil penalties as an individual and on behalf of the State of California and the aggrieved employees, up to the maximum amount allowed as set forth under the Labor Code.

Non-Compliant Wage Statements
Violation of Labor Code §§ 226, 226.3

Defendants violated Labor Code sections 226(a) and 226.3 with respect to the aggrieved employees by failing to furnish itemized wage statements each pay period that accurately list all information required by Labor Code section 226(a)(1) through (9).

Labor Code section 226(a) requires an employer to furnish wage statements to employees semimonthly or at the time of each payment of wages, “an accurate itemized statement in writing showing:” (1) gross wages earned, (2) total hours worked, (3) the number of piece rate units earned and applicable piece-rate in effect, (4) all deductions, (5) net wages earned, (6) the inclusive dates of the pay period, (7) the name of the employee and last four digits of SSN or an EIN, (8) the name and address of the legal name of the employer, and (9) all applicable hourly rates in effect during the pay period and the number of hours worked at each hourly rate by the employee.

Defendants failed to provide accurate itemized wage statements to the aggrieved employees each pay period as a result of the policies and practices set forth in this notice. Defendants violated Labor Code section 226(a)(1) and (5) by not listing the correct “gross wages earned” or “net wages earned,” as the employees earned wages and premiums that were not paid, resulting in an inaccurate reflection, and recording of “gross wages earned” on those wage statements. Likewise, in violation of Labor Code section 226(a)(9), Defendants failed to state on employee wage statements each pay period the applicable hourly rates in effect and the number of hours worked at that rate, as Defendants failed to pay all wages and premiums owed to employees. The amounts stated are instead depreciated and underpaid, resulting in an inaccurate reflection on the pay stub.

Plaintiff and other aggrieved employees cannot promptly and easily determine from the wage statement alone the wages paid or earned without reference to other documents or information. Indeed, these wage statement violations are significant because they sow confusion among Plaintiff and other aggrieved employees with respect to what amounts were owed and paid, at what rates, the number of hours worked, and how those amounts were or should be calculated. The wage statements reflect a false statement of earnings and concealed the underlying problems and underpayments of employee wages.

As a result, Plaintiff may recover civil penalties as an individual and on behalf of the State of California and the aggrieved employees, up to the maximum amount allowed as set forth under the Labor Code.

Failure to Maintain Accurate Records
Violation of Labor Code § 1174; IWC Wage Orders

Defendants violated Labor Code sections 1174 and the IWC Wage Orders by failing to maintain accurate employee payroll records with respect to Plaintiff and other aggrieved employees.

Labor Code section 1174 requires that employers maintain accurate “payroll records showing the hours worked daily by and the wages paid to, and the number of piece-rate units earned by and any applicable piece rate paid to, employees employed at the respective plants or establishments.” Section 7(A) of the IWC Wage Orders, which may be enforced through Labor Code section 1198, mandates similar recordkeeping obligations.

Because of the policies and practices set forth in this notice, including the failure to accurately account for wages earned or hours worked, Defendants failed to accurately maintain records in accordance with Labor Code section 1174 and the IWC Wage Orders.

As a result, Plaintiff may recover civil penalties as an individual and on behalf of the State of California and the aggrieved employees, up to the maximum amount allowed as set forth under the Labor Code.

Attorneys’ Fees and Costs
Labor Code § 2699(k)(1)

Plaintiff has been compelled to retain the services of counsel to protect the interests of other aggrieved employees and the State of California. Plaintiff continues to incur attorneys’ fees and costs, which are recoverable under California law, including Labor Code section 2699(k)(1).

- LITIGATION HOLD NOTICE -

This letter imposes a duty upon all defendants and their respective employees, officers, directors, executives, attorneys, human resource and payroll personnel, accountants, and other agents to preserve all physical and electronic evidence, including electronically stored information and emails, which relate to the employment of Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees specified in this notice. Evidence includes, but is not limited to, Defendants’ written employment and payroll policies and handbooks; the aggrieved employees’ personnel files and payroll records, such as paystubs, time records, wage statements, compensation reports, as well as the underlying electronically data in Excel or similar format. Memoranda and internal and external correspondence relating to the subject matter of this notice shall also be maintained. Failure to preserve and retain relevant evidence may constitute spoliation of evidence and result in an adverse inference or sanctions.

If you have any questions regarding the scope of your obligations to preserve evidence, please consult your legal counsel and always err on the side of caution. Periodic or regularly scheduled purges or deletions of information covered by this hold must be suspended immediately.

- CONCLUSION -

If the LWDA does not pursue enforcement, Plaintiff intends to bring representative claims on behalf of the State of California and the aggrieved employees seeking civil penalties for violations of the Labor Code and the IWC Wage Orders, along with attorneys' fees, costs, interest, and other appropriate relief.

Please advise if the LWDA intends to investigate any of the factual or legal allegations set forth in this notice. Defendants may contact Plaintiff's counsel with any questions regarding this letter or the forthcoming lawsuit.

Sincerely,

Elyssa Martinez
