The Settlement Agreement sometimes refers to Plaintiffs and Defendants collectively as the “Parties” and from time to time individually as a “Party.”

M-I, LLC*, Case No. 1:20-cv-01205-KES-EPG, as well as all claims that were or could have been raised therein based on the facts alleged in the complaints filed in such actions by and against any of the Parties and any arbitrations contemplated or pending that are related thereto shall be resolved on terms set forth in this Settlement Agreement. II. BACKGROUND AND REASONS FOR SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT

1. On December 21, 2015, Plaintiff Scott Carney filed a Class Action Complaint in the Superior Court of the County of Kern, California against CRC and Geo, inter alia. On March 25, 2020, a First Amended Class Action Complaint was filed adding Romein Martinez as an additional Plaintiff. On March 9, 2021, a Second Amended Complaint was filed adding Donovan Last as an additional Plaintiff. The Parties agree and stipulate that Plaintiffs will file a Third Amended Complaint naming M-I as a defendant in the Carney Action and adding Michael Kaveler as a named plaintiff and Class Representative for the Last Class. The addition of Kaveler as a named Plaintiff and M-I as a defendant is intended to fully encompass the claims asserted against M-I in the Last Action and to fully resolve the Last Action through this Settlement Agreement.

CLASS ACTION AND PRIVATE ATTORNEYS GENERAL ACT SETTLEMENT
AGREEMENT AND RELEASE

2. On April 7, 2022, Defendant CRC filed a Cross-Complaint against M-I. On October 5, 2022, CRC filed its First Amended Cross-Complaint. On February 21, 2023, CRC filed its Second Amended Cross-Complaint.
3. On May 11, 2023, M-I filed its Cross-Complaint against CRC.
4. On May 20, 2020, Plaintiff Donovan Last filed a Class Action Complaint in the Superior Court of the County of Kern, California, against M-I, which M-I removed to the Eastern District of California. Named plaintiff Donovan Last sought to represent a class of all Drilling Fluid Specialists who were employed by or performed work for M-I in California during the four years preceding the filing of the complaint. The Last Action includes claims for failure to pay compensation due, meal and rest period violations, wage statement violations, failure to timely pay wages upon termination, violation of California Bus. and Prof. Code §§ 17200 et seq., and penalties pursuant to the PAGA.
5. On February 12, 2024, the United States District Court for the Eastern District of California in the Last Action granted M-I's motion to compel arbitration of Plaintiff Last's claims, denied his motion for certification as moot, and stayed further action in the case pending the outcome of that arbitration.
6. Plaintiffs allege that CRC, Geo, and M-I were the Class Members' joint employers and that each failed to pay the Class Members for all hours worked, failed to pay them the overtime to which they were entitled, failed to provide meal and rest periods, failed to provide legally compliant wage statements, and failed to pay all wages owed upon termination. Plaintiffs Carney and Last also allege claims under the PAGA.
7. Defendants deny all the Plaintiffs' allegations. CRC and M-I each further deny the allegations made against the other in their respective cross-complaints.
8. The Parties engaged in extensive litigation, including formal discovery requests, depositions of named plaintiffs and other putative class members and Defendants' witnesses, numerous discovery motions, Defendants' summary judgment motions, and the filing of motions for class certification in each of the Actions, which the Court granted in the Carney Action. As part of the discovery in the case, Defendants and/or third parties produced extensive data and documents, including personnel records for the named plaintiffs, company policies, and other related documents showing the number of shifts worked by the Class Members and Class Members' wage rates.
9. On February 16, 2018, CRC, GEO, and Counsel for Plaintiffs attended a mediation session with Hon. Linda Quinn, which ultimately failed. On January 19, 2022, the same parties attended a mediation session with Tripper Ortman, a mediator with significant experience in wage and hour class actions. Each party was represented by its respective counsel during the good-faith negotiations facilitated by Mr. Ortman. This mediation also failed. After much discussion, the same parties scheduled a second mediation session with Mr. Ortman on February 6, 2024. As a result of the mediation and Mr. Ortman's mediator's proposal, the Parties had extensive further negotiations and reached an agreement in principle to resolve the Actions.

10. Class Counsel have conducted a thorough investigation into the facts of these Actions and have diligently pursued an investigation of the Class Members' claims against Defendants, including: (1) interviewing Class Members, analyzing the results of Class Member interviews, and obtaining declarations of some Class Members; (2) reviewing thousands of pages of relevant documents; (3) researching the applicable law and the potential defenses; and (4) reviewing and analyzing millions of cells of data relating to the number of shifts worked by Class Members and pay data; and (5) retaining an expert to calculate damages and penalties exposure. Based on their own independent investigation and evaluation, Class Counsel believe that the Settlement Agreement is fair, reasonable, and adequate and is in the best interest of the Settlement Classes considering all known facts and circumstances, including the risk of significant delay, defenses asserted by Defendants and potential appellate issues.
11. The Parties desire to settle all claims raised in both the Carney Action and Last Action. The Parties agree to cooperate and take all steps necessary and appropriate to obtain preliminary and final approval of this Settlement Agreement and to effectuate its terms. The Parties agree that upon Final Approval of this Settlement Agreement, Plaintiff Donovan Last will dismiss the Last Action with prejudice.

III. NO ADMISSION

12. Nothing contained in this Settlement Agreement shall be construed or deemed an admission of liability, culpability, negligence, or wrongdoing on the part of Defendants, and Defendants deny liability therefor both with respect to Plaintiffs and as to each other. The Parties have entered into this Settlement Agreement intending to avoid further disputes and litigation with the attendant inconvenience and expenses between themselves. Settlement of both the Carney Action and the Last Action, the negotiation and execution of this Settlement Agreement, and all acts performed or documents executed pursuant to or in furtherance of this Settlement Agreement: (1) are not, shall not be deemed to be, and may not be used as, an admission or evidence of any wrongdoing or liability on the part of Defendants as to Plaintiffs or as to each other; (2) are not, shall not be deemed to be, and may not be used as, an admission or evidence of any fault or omission on the part of Defendants in any civil, criminal, administrative or arbitral proceeding in any court, administrative agency or other tribunal, either individually or as a group; and (3) are not, shall not be deemed to be, and may not be used as, an admission or evidence of the appropriateness of these or similar claims for class certification or administration other than for purposes of administering this Settlement Agreement. This Settlement Agreement is a settlement document and shall be inadmissible in evidence in any proceeding, except an action or proceeding to approve, interpret, or enforce the terms of the Settlement Agreement.

IV. FILING OF THIRD AMENDED COMPLAINT.

13. Solely for the purpose of settling the Carney Action and the Last Action, Plaintiffs, CRC, Geo, and M-I will stipulate to the filing of a Third Amended Complaint in the Carney Action adding M-I as a defendant and Michael Kaveler as a named plaintiff and Class Representative as to the Last Class and asserting the claims asserted in the Last Action. A copy of the Third Amended Complaint is attached to this Settlement Agreement as Exhibit 3.

V. CERTIFICATION OF A CODE OF CIVIL PROCEDURE SECTION 382 CLASS

14. For settlement purposes only, the Parties stipulate to the conditional certification of the CRC Class and the Last Class (hereinafter the “Settlement Classes”) as opt-out classes under California Code of Civil Procedure 382.
15. The Parties stipulate that Plaintiffs Scott Carney and Donovan Last shall be appointed as Class Representatives for the CRC Class and that Michael Kaveler will be appointed as Class Representative for the Last Class.
16. The Parties stipulate that Peter R. Dion-Kindem of Peter R. Dion-Kindem, P.C., Lonnie C. Blanchard III of The Blanchard Law Group, APC, and Jeffrey Holmes of the Holmes Law Group, APC shall be appointed Class Counsel for the Settlement Classes.
17. The stipulation to certify the CRC Class and the Last Class is completely contingent upon final approval of this Settlement Agreement by the Court and is made for settlement purposes only. If the Settlement Agreement is not approved by the Court, is overturned on appeal, or does not become final for any other reason, the Parties agree that the certification of the Settlement Classes is void ab initio and that, if necessary, they shall stipulate to decertification of the Settlement Classes without prejudice to the propriety of class certification being adjudicated on the merits. The Parties agree, however, that the previous certification order entered by the Court in the Carney Action shall remain in force. The Parties further agree that if the Settlement Agreement does not become final or is canceled, rescinded, terminated, voided, or nullified, however that may occur, Plaintiffs will withdraw the Third Amended Complaint and the amended notices to LWDA, reinstate the Second Amended Complaint and notices to LWDA dated November 18, 2015, and May 20, 2020, and dismiss their claims against M-I without prejudice in the Carney Action and that the claims in the Last Action may proceed as directed by the U.S. District Court in its February 22, 2024, Order. If the LWDA decides to investigate any of the claims set forth in the amended notices or take further action to prosecute the claims, this Settlement Agreement shall be null and void.

VI. TERMS OF THE SETTLEMENT

A. Total Gross Settlement Amount

18. The Total Gross Settlement Amount shall be funded by Defendants and the responsibility for funding the Total Gross Settlement Amount will be allocated and determined by the separate confidential Allocation Agreement among Defendants. Nothing herein shall obligate any Defendant to contribute more to the Total Gross Settlement Amount than as agreed in the Allocation Agreement. The Allocation Agreement is and shall remain confidential among Defendants on the terms set forth therein. For tax purposes, 10% of the portions of the individual payments to the Participating Class Members will be treated as wages. For the remaining 90% of the individual payments to the Participating Class Members and for the payment to the PAGA Employees, said amount will be treated by the Parties as additional, non-wage damages and interest will not be subject to payroll withholdings and shall be reported on an IRS Form 1099, divided evenly between Box 3 and Box 7, which is to be provided by the Settlement Administrator. The portions of the individual payments to the Participating Class Members that will be treated by the Parties as wages will be subject to applicable payroll withholdings and shall be reported on an IRS Form W-2, which is to be provided by the Settlement Administrator. Defendants shall agree between themselves and separately pay in addition to the Gross Settlement Amount employer-side payroll taxes with respect to the 10% allocated to wages.

19. Participating Class Members and PAGA Employees shall be solely and exclusively responsible for remitting to state and/or federal taxing authorities any other applicable taxes due by them because of their settlement payments.
20. The settlement payments to Participating Class Members will be non-reversionary and will not require Participating Class Members to submit claim forms. All Class Members who have not validly requested to be excluded will be bound by the Settlement Agreement.
21. The Escrow Account has been opened by the Settlement Administrator. No later than 60 days following the full and complete execution of this Settlement Agreement and Confidential Allocation Agreement, each of the Defendants shall pay into the Escrow Account their respective Settlement Share, as set forth in the Allocation Agreement.
22. The Settlement Administrator shall provide to Defendants within seven (7) days of the close of the Opt-Out Period the amount of employer's share of payroll taxes, which shall be proportionate to each Defendant's share of the Total Gross Settlement Amount. No later than sixty (60) days following (1) the close of the Opt-Out Period, (2) receipt of the Settlement Administrator's calculation of the employer's share of payroll taxes owed by that Defendants, (3) receipt of a fully and properly-executed Form W-9 reflecting the payee name and address and a valid taxpayer identification number, and (4) receipt from the Settlement Administrator of sufficient wiring instructions to include the bank name and ABA routing number, each Defendant shall additionally pay into the Escrow Account its portion of any payroll tax liabilities.
23. A Defendant breaches the conditions contained in either Paragraphs 21 or 22 by failing to timely pay its respective Settlement Share and/or its share of employer payroll tax liability to the Escrow Account and failing to timely cure after notice. In the event the Defendants' Settlement Shares are not fully funded at the time they are due under Paragraphs 21 and/or 22, Plaintiffs or any non-breaching Defendant(s) can provide written notice of the breach to the breaching Defendant. That notice shall be sent to each of:

M-I L.L.C. at Robert Lombardi, The Kullman Firm, 1100 Poydras Street, Suite 1600, New Orleans, Louisiana 70163, and email to rpl@kullmanlaw.com and hdh@kullmanlaw.com

CRC at Jon Hawk, c/o McDermott Will & Emery LLP, 2049 Century Park East, Suite 3200, Los Angeles, CA 90067, and email to jhawk@mwe.com, and Keith Jacoby, c/o Littler Mendelson P.C., 2049 Century Park East, Suite 500, Los Angeles, CA 90067, and email to kjacoby@littler.com.

Geo at John Egley and Peter Choi, c/o Call & Jensen, 610 Newport Center Dr., Suite 700, Newport Beach, CA 92660, and email to jegley@calljensen.com and pchoi@calljensen.com.

Any notice sent after 4 p.m. on a business day in the time zone of the recipient's business address (i.e., excluding weekends and holidays) shall be deemed to have been received the following business day. The notice must specify the obligation at issue, including if the breach is non-payment of an amount due, and the date on which it was due. The purportedly breaching Defendant will then have seven (7) business days from the date that notice is received via email to cure the purported breach, including, where applicable, by paying the Settlement Share and/or share of employer payroll tax liability as set forth in Paragraphs 21 and 22, above. If cure is not timely made by the breaching Defendant, or at its/their sole discretion, by any non-breaching Defendant(s), then only after that cure period has expired, any of the Plaintiffs can immediately void the agreement or any of the Plaintiffs or non-breaching Defendant(s) can apply ex parte to the court to have judgment entered against the breaching Defendant(s) only and this Settlement Agreement and the Allocation Agreement enforced against the breaching Defendant only, including, but not limited, as to any portion of its Settlement Share and/or its proportionate share of payroll tax liability that is unpaid into the Escrow Account as of that date, including by the Court entering the Stipulation for Entry of Judgment in the form attached hereto as Exhibit 4. For the avoidance of doubt, each of the Defendants agrees that, in the event any of them fails to timely comply with their obligations as set forth in Paragraphs 21 and 22 hereof, they stipulate to the entry of judgment being entered against the breaching Defendant in the form reflected in Exhibit 4. No Party is permitted to seek enforcement of the Settlement Agreement via ex parte application or otherwise if the Plaintiffs elect to void the Settlement Agreement. Any non-breaching Defendant(s) who contribute a breaching-

Defendant's Settlement Share or ER Payroll Taxes (or any portion thereof) retains the right to apply ex parte to the court to have judgment entered and the Settlement Agreement and the Allocation Agreement enforced against the breaching Defendant(s).

24. If the Settlement Agreement is canceled, rescinded, terminated, voided, or nullified, however that may occur, or the settlement of the Actions is barred by operation of law, is invalidated, is not approved or otherwise is ordered not to be carried out by the Court or any court of competent jurisdiction, Defendants will cease to have any obligation to pay or provide any portion of the Total Gross Settlement Amount or employer's payroll tax liability to anyone under the terms of this Settlement Agreement and any portions already paid will be refunded to each Defendant in full along with all interest accrued to date.
25. Defendants' respective shares of the Total Gross Settlement Amount (including employer payroll taxes) are set forth in the separate, confidential Allocation Agreement. The Settlement Administrator shall not inform Plaintiffs of the amount or proportion of each Defendant's respective share of the Total Gross Settlement Amount or employer payroll tax liabilities.

B. Attorneys' Fees and Costs

26. Class Counsel will apply for, and Defendants will not oppose, an award of attorneys' fees in an amount up to, but not to exceed, 33 and 1/3% of the Total Gross Settlement Amount and litigation costs and expenses in the maximum amount of $200,000, all of which shall be paid exclusively from the Total Gross Settlement Amount and will compensate Class Counsel for all of the work already performed in the Actions and all work remaining to be performed in documenting the Settlement Agreement, securing Court approval of the Settlement Agreement, administering the Settlement Agreement, ensuring that the Settlement Agreement is fairly administered and implemented, and litigating any appeals, as well as all associated expenses.
27. The amount, if any, by which the finally approved fees and costs are less than the maximum amount which can be sought pursuant to this Settlement Agreement shall be paid to the Participating Class Members in accordance with this Settlement Agreement.
28. Defendants shall not be responsible for any attorneys' fees or costs, including as to each other, other than as provided in this Settlement Agreement and the separate, confidential Allocation Agreement.
29. No later than fifteen (15) calendar days after the Court's approval of Class Counsels' application for attorneys' fees and costs, Class Counsel shall deliver to the Settlement Administrator written instructions that describe the manner and mode of payment of such attorneys' fees and costs (and, in the absence of such instructions, such attorneys' fees and costs shall be sent by U.S. mail as set forth below), and fully-executed Form W-9s with respect to all persons or entities to whom some or all of the attorneys' fees and costs shall be paid.

30. No later than seven (7) days following completion of all conditions precedent, including but not limited to expiration of the Effective Date and all conditions set forth in Paragraphs 21 and 22, the Settlement Administrator shall issue a payment to Class Counsel for the attorneys' fees and costs approved by the Court and in accordance with the instructions provided by Class Counsel.

C. Payment to Settlement Administrator

31. The Settlement Administrator has provided a "not to exceed" bid of $10,711.00. Assuming the conditions precedent have been met, including but not limited to expiration of the Effective Date and all conditions set forth in Paragraphs 21 and 22, at the time it issues payment to Class Counsel, the Settlement Administrator may issue a payment to itself for the fees and expenses approved by the Court.

D. Class Representative Payments and Payment to Plaintiff Martinez and Carney Wrongful Termination Payment

32. Defendants agree that Plaintiffs and Class Counsel will apply to the Court for Class Representative Payments, which will be determined by the Court at the Final Approval Hearing. Class Representatives and Class Counsel will apply for Class Representative Payments in amounts of up to $10,000 each, a payment to Plaintiff Martinez in the amount of $10,000, and a payment to Plaintiff Carney in the amount of $20,000 for the release of Carney Wrongful Termination Claim (Carney Wrongful Termination Payment), all of which shall be paid exclusively from the Total Gross Settlement Amount and will compensate the Class Representatives for their services as Class Representatives, Plaintiff Martinez for his service as a named plaintiff and his general release, and the release by Plaintiff Carney of his wrongful termination claim and general release. Defendants will not oppose Plaintiffs' application for Class Representative Payments or to Plaintiff Martinez and Plaintiff Carney up to the stated amounts. The amounts, if any, by which these payments are less than the maximum amount which can be sought pursuant to this Settlement Agreement shall be part of the Class Settlement Payment.
33. In consideration of the Class Representative Payment and Payment to Plaintiff Martinez and Plaintiff Carney, the Class Representatives and Plaintiff Martinez release the Class Representative and Plaintiff Martinez's Released Claims, and Scott Carney releases the Carney Wrongful Termination Claim.
34. Any Class Representative Payments and/or payment to Plaintiff Martinez and/or the Carney Wrongful Termination Payment to Plaintiff Carney awarded by the Court shall be in addition to the payment, if any, he/they may otherwise receive as a Participating Class Member and/or PAGA Employee and shall not be subject to payroll tax withholding and deductions.

CLASS ACTION AND PRIVATE ATTORNEYS GENERAL ACT SETTLEMENT
AGREEMENT AND RELEASE

35. No later than seven (7) calendar days after satisfaction of all conditions precedent, including but not limited to expiration of the Effective Date and all conditions set forth in Paragraphs 21 and 22, the Settlement Administrator shall issue the Class Representative Payments, the Payment to Plaintiff Martinez, and the Carney Wrongful Termination Payment to Plaintiff Carney as directed by Class Counsel in the amount approved by the Court, subject to all authorized and required deductions. The Settlement Administrator will issue IRS Form 1099-MISC to the Class Representatives for the Class Representative Payments and to Plaintiff Martinez and Plaintiff Carney for their respective payments.

E. Distribution to Participating Class Members

36. The maximum settlement distribution amount available to Participating Class Members shall be distributed as set forth below, using the Damages and Penalties Analysis attached as Exhibit 1 hereto. If any of the Class Members listed on Exhibit 1 opts out, Exhibit 1 will be revised to exclude the data for such Class Member.

F. Distribution of PAGA Payment

37. An amount totaling $375,000 of the PAGA Payment will be distributed to LWDA (75% of $500,000).
38. The remaining $125,000 of the PAGA Payment will be distributed to the PAGA Employees as set forth in Exhibit 1.

G. Second Distribution of Uncashed Checks

39. If any Participating Class Member or PAGA Employee does not cash his or her settlement check(s) within 180 days after issuance, the Settlement Administrator shall void the check 15 calendar days after the check-cashing deadline.
40. The sum of the uncashed checks to the Participating Class Members shall be distributed to the Participating Class Members who timely cashed their checks using the same formula used for the original distribution except only using the total Amounts for the Participating Class Members who cashed their checks as reflected on revised Exhibit 1 and using as the denominator the amount of the uncashed checks for the amounts.
41. The sum of the uncashed checks to the PAGA Employees shall be distributed to the PAGA Employees who timely cashed their checks using the same formula used for the original distribution except only using the data for the PAGA Employees who cashed their checks as reflected on Exhibit 1 and using as the denominator the amount of the uncashed checks to the PAGA Employees

H. Characterization of Payments

42. Ninety percent (90%) of each Gross Individual Settlement Payment will be allocated as non-wage payments consisting of interest, penalties, liquidated damages, and related aspects of the settlement (the "Non-Wage Income Settlement

CLASS ACTION AND PRIVATE ATTORNEYS GENERAL ACT SETTLEMENT
AGREEMENT AND RELEASE

Payment”), and ten percent (10%) of each Gross Individual Settlement Payment will be allocated as wages (“Wage Income Settlement Payment”).

43. PAGA Payments to PAGA Employees shall be treated as non-wage payments.
44. Neither Plaintiffs, Class Counsel, Defendants, nor counsel for Defendants intend anything contained in this Settlement Agreement to constitute advice regarding taxes or taxability, nor shall anything in this Settlement Agreement be relied upon as such. If the IRS or other taxing authority subsequently determines that payments under this Settlement Agreement were mischaracterized and that additional taxes are due, Defendants’ responsibility will be limited to any employer-side taxes found due (including, but not limited to, FICA, FUTA, and all other state and federal payroll taxes), and Participating Class Members and PAGA Employees will be responsible for any additional tax liability resulting from their individual awards.
45. Participating Class Members and PAGA Employees shall hold Defendants harmless for any liability resulting from the tax treatment of funds from the Total Gross Settlement they receive based upon the characterization of those funds negotiated by Class Counsel and approved by the Court.
46. No later than fifteen (15) calendar days following the close of the Opt-Out Period, the Settlement Administrator will provide counsel for Defendants and Class Counsel with a list of those members of the Class Members who did not submit timely requests for exclusion.
47. Within seven (7) calendar days after satisfaction of all conditions precedent, including but not limited to expiration of the Effective Date and all conditions set forth in Paragraphs 21 and 22, the Settlement Administrator will distribute to: (1) every Participating Class Member his or her Net Settlement Payment, which is the Individual Gross Settlement Payment less lawful taxes and withholdings on the Wage Income Settlement Payment, and (2) every PAGA Employee his/her Individual PAGA Payment. The Settlement Administrator shall make appropriate tax reporting in accordance with this Settlement Agreement and applicable law and regulations.
48. Within ten (10) calendar days after satisfaction of all conditions precedent, including but not limited to expiration of the Effective Date and all conditions set forth in Paragraphs 21, 22, and 47, the Settlement Administrator will remit 75% of the PAGA Payment to the California Labor and Workforce Development Agency.

I. Distribution of Uncashed Checks to California State Bar Impact Fund

49. If any Participating Class Member or PAGA Employee does not cash his or her settlement check(s) for the second distribution within 180 days after issuance, the Settlement Administrator shall void the check 15 calendar days after the check-cashing deadline. Any remaining funds shall be distributed to the California State Bar Impact Fund. Any interest payment required by CCP Section 384 shall be deducted from the proceeds of any uncashed checks and shall proportionally revert to the Defendants. In no event shall any interest result in an increase to the Total Gross Settlement Amount

CLASS ACTION AND PRIVATE ATTORNEYS GENERAL ACT SETTLEMENT
AGREEMENT AND RELEASE

50. The Parties believe that there is unlikely to be significant funds remaining after distribution and that distributing those funds in their entirety to California State Bar Impact Fund would better serve the interest of the Settlement Classes than the distribution apportionment contemplated under California Civil Procedure Code section 384. The Court shall set a date when the Parties shall report to the Court the total amount that was actually paid to Participating Class Members and a plan for distributing any remaining funds pursuant to section 384. The Parties agree that this obligation shall satisfy and fully discharge Defendants' obligations under California Code of Civil Procedure Section 384.

VII. APPOINTMENT AND DUTIES OF SETTLEMENT ADMINISTRATOR

51. The Settlement Administrator shall perform the following duties in connection with administration of the Settlement Agreement: (1) using the data provided by third parties to prepare the Class Notice for each Class Member as described in this Settlement Agreement; (2) address verification measures described herein; (3) mailing the Class Notice to Class Members; (4) tracking non-delivered Class Notices and taking reasonable steps to re-send them to Class Members' current addresses; (5) setting up a settlement website which contains copies of all papers and orders filed in connection with preliminary and final approval, including the final Settlement Agreement, operative complaint, and Final Approval Order and Judgment; (6) tracking and timely reporting to Class Counsel and Counsel for Defendants about the received requests for exclusion; (7) calculating and paying the amounts due to each Participating Class Member pursuant to the Settlement Agreement; (8) calculating each Defendant's share of the employer's payroll taxes in accordance with the terms of this Settlement Agreement and Defendants' separate confidential, Allocation Agreement; (9) transmitting funds to resolve the PAGA Claims to the Labor and Workforce Development Agency; (10) issuing payments to Class Counsel, the Class Representatives, Plaintiff Martinez, and Plaintiff Carney and associated tax forms; and (11) issuing any payments to the cy pres recipient.
52. All disputes relating to the Settlement Administrator's performance of its duties will be referred to the Court, if necessary, which will have continuing jurisdiction over this Settlement Agreement until all payments and obligations contemplated by this Settlement Agreement have been fully carried out.

VIII. NOTICE TO THE CLASS OF THE SETTLEMENT

A. Mailing the Notice Packets to the Class Members

53. Within seven (7) calendar days after the Court enters its Preliminary Approval Order, the Defendants will provide to the Settlement Administrator a database that lists, for each Class Member and PAGA Employee, the individual's name, Social Security Number (if known), last known reported address and telephone number (if known). If Defendants cannot provide to the Settlement Administrator such data within that seven-day period because all or some part of it is not available from the third party vendors from which Defendants contracted to obtain Class Members, such period (and any other necessary dates which are dependent upon such seven-day period) shall automatically be extended by a period up to 45 days so that the Parties may attempt to obtain such information from such vendors and provide it to the Settlement Administrator. If further extensions are required, the Parties will agree to them in writing.

CLASS ACTION AND PRIVATE ATTORNEYS GENERAL ACT SETTLEMENT

54. The data provided to the Settlement Administrator, Defendants, and Class Counsel will remain confidential and will not be disclosed to anyone, except as required to applicable tax authorities, pursuant to Defendants' express written consent, legal process, or by order of the Court.
55. Upon receipt of the database from the Parties, the Settlement Administrator will run the addresses through the USPS' National Change of Address database. Upon receipt of the updated addresses, the Settlement Administrator will apply address updates prior to mailing settlement notices via First-Class Mail.
56. Within ten (10) calendar days after the Parties provide the Settlement Administrator the contact information, the Settlement Administrator will mail, by first-class mail, the Class Notice to all Class Members at their last-known addresses, unless modified by any updated address information that the Settlement Administrator obtains during the administration of the Settlement Agreement.
57. The Settlement Administrator will use standard devices, including the National Change of Address database or equivalent, to obtain forwarding addresses prior to mailing and will use appropriate skip tracing to take appropriate steps to maximize the probability that the Class Notice will be received by all Class Members. Class Members to whom the Class Notice is resent after having been returned undeliverable to the Settlement Administrator shall have ten (10) additional calendar days following the Exclusion/Objection Deadline to mail, fax or email the request for exclusion or an objection. Class Notices that are re-sent shall inform the recipient of this adjusted deadline. If a Class Member's Class Notice is returned to the Settlement Administrator more than once as non-deliverable, no additional Class Notice shall be sent.
58. The Settlement Administrator shall provide regular reports to Class Counsel and Defendants' Counsel as to the mailings of Class Notice and the receipt of requests for exclusion and objections prior to the end of the period in which claims can be made. The Settlement Administrator shall also provide the report as set forth in Paragraph 67.

B. Settlement Website

59. The Settlement Administrator will create a settlement website containing copies of all papers and orders filed in connection with preliminary and final approval, including the final Settlement Agreement and operative complaint in the Carney

CLASS ACTION AND PRIVATE ATTORNEYS GENERAL ACT SETTLEMENT
AGREEMENT AND RELEASE

Action. These documents will be posted not later than the mailing of the Class Notice and will remain posted until the date of the Final Approval Order. The Settlement Administrator will also post on its website the Final Approval Order and Judgment.

C. Objections to Settlement Agreement

60. The Class Members will have 60 calendar days after the date on which the Settlement Administrator mails the Class Notice to object to the Settlement Agreement by serving on the Settlement Administrator a written objection to the Settlement Agreement that must be postmarked, emailed, or faxed on or before the 60-day deadline. Class Members to whom the Class Notice is resent after having been returned undeliverable to the Settlement Administrator shall have 10 additional calendar days following expiration of the Exclusion/Objection Deadline to mail, fax, or email an objection.
61. Only Participating Class Members may object to the Settlement Agreement, and any Class Member who has elected not to participate in the settlement pursuant to the procedure set forth below may not submit an objection to the settlement.
62. A Class Member who does not serve a written objection in the manner and by the deadline specified above will be deemed to have waived any objection and will be foreclosed from making any objections to the Settlement Agreement (whether by appeal or otherwise).
63. The Settlement Administrator shall provide the Parties with a copy of any objections received within one business day of receipt. Class Counsel shall file any objections and any response thereto at least seven calendar days before the Final Approval Hearing.

D. Election Not to Participate in the Class Settlement

64. For CRC Class Members that have had no previous opportunity to opt out of the CRC Class and for any/all Last Class Members to request exclusion validly and effectively from this Settlement Agreement, the Class Member must submit to the Settlement Administrator a request for exclusion from the settlement according to the procedures set forth in the Class Notice. If additional information is required, the Settlement Administrator will communicate with the Class Member. To be valid, the request for exclusion must be postmarked, emailed, or faxed no later than 60 calendar days after the date of mailing of the Class Notice (the "Opt-Out Period"). Class Members to whom the Class Notice is resent after having been returned undeliverable to the Settlement Administrator shall have ten (10) additional calendar days following expiration of the Exclusion/Objection Deadline, to mail, fax, or email the request for exclusion. No request for exclusion will be accepted if postmarked for delivery, emailed, or faxed to the Settlement Administrator after the deadline indicated. Class Members that previously had an opportunity to opt out of the CRC Class will have no further opportunity to opt out of the CRC Class.

CLASS ACTION AND PRIVATE ATTORNEYS GENERAL ACT SETTLEMENT
AGREEMENT AND RELEASE

- 65. If the Settlement Agreement is approved by the Court, any Class Member who does not properly and timely submit a request for exclusion will automatically be bound by all terms and conditions of the Settlement Agreement, including its release of claims, regardless of whether such Class Member has objected to the settlement.
- 66. A Class Member who properly and timely submits a request for exclusion will not be bound by the Settlement Agreement.

E. Reports and Declaration by Settlement Administrator

- 67. By not later than 20 calendar days after expiration of the 60-day deadline for submission of written requests not to participate in the Settlement, the Settlement Administrator will submit to Class Counsel and Counsel for Defendants a report setting forth the people (identified by name and the last four digits of their Social Security Number if available) who as of that date have submitted (a) valid requests for exclusion, and (b) invalid requests to be excluded from the settlement (the Opt-Out Report). If the Settlement Administrator subsequently receives a valid and timely request not to participate in the settlement, it will promptly distribute an updated Opt-Out Report.
- 68. By not later than 20 calendar days after the 60-day notice period expires (extended by re-mailings, if applicable), the Settlement Administrator will prepare and submit to the Parties' counsel for filing in support of their motion for final approval of the settlement a declaration attesting to its mailing of the Class Notice, its receipt of requests for exclusion and objections, and its inability to deliver the Class Notice to potential Class Members due to invalid addresses. As applicable, the Settlement Administrator will prepare and submit for filing in support of the motion for final approval, any supplemental declaration.
- 69. Class Counsel shall provide all notices of the settlement of PAGA Claims to the LWDA in accordance with California law.

IX. RIGHT TO RESCIND

- 70. If 10% or more of the Class Members submit valid requests not to participate in the settlement, each Defendant will have the exclusive right in its sole discretion to rescind the Settlement Agreement, and all actions taken in its furtherance will be null and void. Defendant(s) must exercise this right and notify all other Parties in writing of such election within 10 days after the date on which the Settlement Administrator first informs Defendants that at least 10% of the potential Class Members have made valid requests to be excluded from the settlement.
- 71. The amount of the Total Gross Settlement Amount is deemed a material term of this Settlement Agreement, and any of the Defendants may revoke the Settlement Agreement if the Court insists on a change that increases the obligation of Defendants to pay an amount in excess of the Total Gross Settlement Amount. Changes requested by the Court to the allocation of funds between PAGA Claims and the remaining class claims, or changes in the amount of attorneys' fees and costs or Class Representative Payments or payments to Plaintiff Martinez or Plaintiff Carney, or changes to the procedures accompanying the administration of the settlement will not form the basis for any party in the Actions to revoke this Settlement Agreement provided that such changes do not result in an increase of the Total Gross Settlement Amount.

AGREEMENT AND RELEASE

X. RELEASE OF CLAIMS

A. Release of Claims by Participating Class Members

72. As of the date the Final Approval Order is entered by the Court and except as to such rights or claims as may be created by this Settlement Agreement, to the maximum extent allowed by law, each Participating Class Member who has not timely and effectively opted out will be deemed to have released all Participating Class Member Released Claims as to the Released Parties.
73. Participating Class Members are not eligible for any benefits, and in any event, will be deemed to have waived all claims for benefits premised upon the Gross Individual Settlement Payments to them, whether known or unknown by them, as part of their Released Claims under this Settlement Agreement.

B. Release of Claims by the Class Representatives and Plaintiff Martinez

74. As of the date the Final Approval Order is entered by the Court and except as to such rights or claims as may be created by this Settlement Agreement, to the maximum extent allowed by law, the Class Representatives and Plaintiff Martinez will be deemed to have released the Class Representative and Plaintiff Martinez's Released Claims, and Plaintiff Carney will be deemed to have released the Carney Wrongful Termination Claim.

C. Release of PAGA Claims

75. PAGA Employees have no optout rights as to the settlement of the PAGA Claims. Accordingly, upon the effective date of this Settlement Agreement, Donovin Last and Scott Carney, on behalf of themselves, the State of California, and all PAGA Employees waive, fully release, and forever discharge the Released Parties from the PAGA Claims.

XI. DUTIES OF THE PARTIES PRIOR TO COURT APPROVAL

76. The Parties shall submit this Settlement Agreement to the Court in support of Plaintiffs' Motion for Preliminary Approval and determination by the Court as to its fairness, adequacy, and reasonableness. As soon as reasonably possible upon execution of this Settlement Agreement, the Parties shall apply to the Court for the entry of an order granting preliminary approval of the Settlement Agreement and Notice which shall provide for, among other things, the following:
- (a) Scheduling a Final Approval Hearing on the question of whether the proposed settlement should be finally approved as fair, reasonable and adequate as to the Settlement Classes.

CLASS ACTION AND PRIVATE ATTORNEYS GENERAL ACT SETTLEMENT
AGREEMENT AND RELEASE

- (b) Approving as to form and content the proposed Class Notice described herein;
 - (c) Directing the mailing of the Class Notice by first class mail to the Class Members;
 - (d) Preliminarily approving the Settlement Agreement;
 - (e) Preliminary certifying the CRC Class and Last Class for settlement purposes only; and
 - (f) Approving Peter R. Dion-Kindem, Lonnie C. Blanchard III, and Jeff Holmes as Class Counsel; Scott Carney, Donovan Last, and Michael Kaveler as Class Representatives, and Simpluris as Settlement Administrator.
77. After the Preliminary Approval Order is entered by the Court, Class Counsel shall apply to the Court for Class Counsel Attorneys' Fees Award and Class Counsel Cost Award to be heard on the same hearing date as set by the Court for the Final Approval Hearing.

XII. DUTIES OF THE PARTIES REGARDING FINAL APPROVAL

78. In connection with the final approval by the Court of the settlement, the Parties will submit a proposed Final Approval Order and Judgment which shall provide, among other things, as follows:
- (a) Approving the settlement, adjudging the terms thereof to be fair, reasonable and adequate, and directing consummation of its terms and provisions;
 - (b) Approving Class Counsels' Attorneys' Fees Award application and Class Counsels' Costs Award application;
 - (c) Approving the Class Representatives' Payments;
 - (d) Certifying the CRC Class and Last Class for purposes of this settlement only; and
 - (e) Entering judgment pursuant to California Rules of Court, rule 3.769(h) which retains jurisdiction.

Notice of the Final Approval Order and Judgment shall be given by Class Counsel to Defendants, which notice shall satisfy the requirements of California Rules of Court, Rule 3.771.

XIII. EFFECT OF NON-APPROVAL

79. If this Settlement Agreement is not preliminarily and finally approved by the Court, a Final Approval Order is not entered, or if a Party exercises the option to rescind pursuant to this Settlement Agreement, this Settlement Agreement shall be null and void. In such event, (1) nothing in this Settlement Agreement shall be construed as a determination, admission, or concession of any issue in the Actions, and nothing in this Settlement Agreement, including the Settlement Agreement itself, may be offered into evidence in any trial on the merits of the claims asserted in the Complaint filed in the Actions, in any subsequent pleading, or in any subsequent matter in order to demonstrate the appropriateness of class treatment and/or certification; (2) the Parties expressly reserve their rights with respect to the prosecution and defense of the Actions as if this Settlement Agreement never existed; and (3) only in the case of one or more Parties exercising their option to rescind, that/those Parties shall be responsible for any costs for Class Notice or claims administration incurred by the Settlement Administrator through that date; in all other scenarios where the Settlement Agreement is not approved, the costs shall be born equally among the Parties. If there is any reduction in the attorneys' fees or costs awards or the Class Representative Payment, such reduction may be appealed but is not a basis for rendering this Settlement Agreement void, voidable and/or unenforceable.

80. The Defendants' confidential Allocation Agreement is not subject to disclosure and will remain confidential.

XIV. CONFIDENTIALITY

81. Except for disclosures authorized by Defendants or as necessary to prepare the motion for preliminary approval, the terms of this Settlement Agreement shall remain confidential until it is presented to the Court in connection with the motion for preliminary approval. Specifically, the Parties agree that until the motion for preliminary approval of the Settlement Agreement is filed, they and each of them will not disclose, disseminate and/or publicize or cause or permit another person to disclose, disseminate or publicize, any of the terms of the Settlement Agreement directly or indirectly, specifically or generally, to any person, corporation, association, government agency, or other entity except: (1) to the Parties' attorneys, accountants, or spouses, all of whom will be instructed to keep this Settlement Agreement confidential; (2) counsel in a related matter; (3) to the extent necessary to report income to appropriate taxing authorities; (4) in response to a court order or subpoena; or (5) in response to an inquiry or subpoena issued by a state or federal government agency. Each Party agrees to immediately notify every other Party of any judicial or agency order, inquiry, or subpoena seeking such information. Representative Plaintiffs, Plaintiff Martinez, Class Counsel, Defendants, and counsel for Defendants separately agree not to, directly or indirectly, initiate any conversation or other communication before the filing of the motion for preliminary approval with any third party regarding this Settlement Agreement or the matters giving rise to this Settlement Agreement except to respond only that "the matter was resolved," or words to that effect. This Paragraph does not restrict Class Counsel's communications with Class Members.
82. Following the submission for preliminary approval and thereafter, the Parties shall not publicize the settlement of the Actions or the terms thereof via: (a) press releases; (b) internet postings except for simply posting publicly filed court documents; or (c) any form of communications with third parties.

XV. MUTUAL FULL COOPERATION

83. The Parties will fully cooperate with each other and use their best efforts, including all efforts contemplated by this Settlement Agreement and any other efforts that may become necessary or ordered by the Court, or otherwise, to accomplish the terms of this Settlement Agreement, including but not limited to, executing such documents and taking such other action as may reasonably be necessary to obtain preliminary and final approval of this Settlement Agreement and to implement its terms.

XVI. NOTICES

84. Unless otherwise specifically provided by this Settlement Agreement, all notices, demands or other communications given under this Settlement Agreement will be in writing and be deemed to have been duly given as of the third business day after mailing by United States registered or certified mail, return-receipt requested, addressed as follows:

XVII. CONSTRUCTION

85. This Settlement Agreement is the result of lengthy, arms-length negotiations between the Parties. 86. Paragraph and section titles, headings, or captions contained in this Settlement Agreement are inserted as a matter of convenience and for reference and in no way define, limit, extend, or describe the scope of this Settlement Agreement or any of its provisions.

XIX. MODIFICATION

87. This Settlement Agreement may not be changed, altered, or modified, except in writing and signed by the Parties and approved by the Court. This Settlement Agreement may not be discharged except by performance in accordance with its terms or by a writing signed by the Parties.

Third Amended Complaint

1 Plaintiffs Scott Carney, Romein Martinez, Donovan Last, and Michael Kaveler (“Plaintiffs”)
2 allege:

- 3 1. Defendant California Resources Corporation (“CRC”) is a business that was the primary operator
4 of wells in California.
- 5 2. Defendant Geo Drilling Fluids, Inc. (“Geo”) is a business operating in California that supplied 6 mud men to CRC and other customers.
- 7 3. Defendant M-I, LLC (“M-I”) is a business formerly operating in California that supplied mud men 8 to CRC and other customers.
- 9 4. CRC, Geo, and M-I shall herein be referred to together as “Defendants”
- 10 5. Geo, M-I, and CRC acted as employers, co-employers, and/or joint employers of Plaintiffs and 11 other class members.
- 12 6. Defendant Geo classified Plaintiff Carney and other CRC Class members as exempt employees 13 rather than non-exempt employees.
- 14 7. M-I classified Plaintiffs Martinez, Last, and Kaveler and other CRC and Last Class members as 15 exempt employees or independent contractors rather than non-exempt employees.
- 16 8. Defendant CRC treated Plaintiffs Carney, Last, and CRC Class members as independent 17 contractors rather than non-exempt employees.

18 CLASS ACTION ALLEGATIONS

- 19 9. Plaintiffs Carney and Last bring the first eight causes of action for themselves and on behalf of the 20 following class:

21 CRC Class

22 All persons who, at any time from December 29, 2011 to November 27, 2021 worked at 23 any of the drill sites operated by California Resources Corporation, including the California
24 operations of California Resources Production Corporation (formerly known as Vintage
25 Production California LLC), California Resources Petroleum, LLC (formerly known as 26 Vintage Petroleum LLC), OXY USA, Inc. and Occidental Petroleum Corporation) and all
27 other former California operations of Occidental Petroleum Corporation and its affiliates and who have not released CRC from the claims in this action for all periods during the Class Period and who are listed in Exhibit 1 under the table titled “CRC Class,” which is attached to the Settlement Agreement entered in this matter.

Third Amended Complaint

10. Plaintiff Kaveler brings the first eight causes of action for himself and on behalf of the following class:

Last Class

All persons who, at any time from May 20, 2016 to July 4, 2021 worked in California in job positions titled Drilling Fluid Specialist (Levels I-IV and mud man Senior), mud engineer, mud man, mud man Trainee, mud man consultant, and/or equivalent job titles who were employed by M-I or who were provided by M-I to any of M-I’s customers to provide drilling fluids related services who are not CRC class members and who have not released M-I from the claims in the Last action for all periods during the Last Class Period and who are listed in Exhibit 1 under the table titled “Last Only Class,” which is attached to the Settlement Agreement entered in this matter.

11. During the CRC Class Period, Plaintiffs Carney, Last, and CRC Class members were employed by and/or performed work for or on behalf of Defendants in California. During the Last Class Period, Plaintiff Kaveler and Last Class members were employed by and/or performed work for or on behalf of M-I in California.

12. Numerosity.

- a. CRC Class: The number of class members in the CRC Class is so numerous that joinder of all members is impractical. The names and addresses of the class members are identifiable through documents maintained by the Defendants, and the class members may be notified of the pendency of this action by published and/or mailed notice.
- b. Last Class: The number of class members in the Last Class is so numerous that joinder of all members is impractical. The names and addresses of the class members are identifiable through documents maintained by M-I or its suppliers, and the class members may be notified of the pendency of this action by published and/or mailed notice.

13. Existence and Predominance of Common Questions of Law and Fact.

- a. CRC Class: Common questions of law and fact exist as to all members of the CRC Class and they predominate over the questions affecting only individual members. These common legal and factual questions collectively include, among other things:

Third Amended Complaint

- i. Whether CRC was a joint employer of Plaintiffs Carney, Last, and other CRC Class members.
 - ii. Whether Plaintiffs Carney and Last and other CRC Class members were misclassified as independent contractors.
 - iii. Whether Plaintiffs Carney and Last and other CRC Class members were misclassified as exempt.
 - iv. Whether Plaintiffs Carney and Last and other CRC Class members were paid for all hours worked at the proper rates.
 - v. Whether Plaintiffs Carney and Last and other CRC Class members were provided all legally required meal periods.
 - vi. Whether Plaintiffs Carney and Last and other CRC Class members were provided properly calculated meal period premiums.
 - vii. Whether Plaintiffs Carney and Last and other CRC Class members were provided all legally required rest periods.
 - viii. Whether Plaintiffs Carney and Last and other CRC Class members were provided properly calculated rest period premiums.
 - ix. Whether CRC's and Geo's conduct was willful or reckless.
 - x. Whether CRC and Geo violated Labor Code section 226.
 - xi. Whether CRC and Geo willfully failed to timely pay all wages due to Plaintiffs Carney, Last, and other CRC Class members upon the termination of their employment.
 - xii. Whether CRC and Geo engaged in unfair competition in violation of California Business & Professions Code section 17200, et seq.
- b. Last Class: Common questions of law and fact exist as to all members of the Last Class and they predominate over the questions affecting only individual members. These common legal and factual questions collectively include, among other things:

- i. Whether M-I misclassified Plaintiff Kaveler and other Last Class members as independent contractors.
- ii. Whether M-I misclassified Plaintiff Kaveler and other Last Class members as exempt.
- iii. Whether M-I paid Plaintiff Kaveler and other Last Class members for all hours worked at the proper rates.
- iv. Whether M-I failed to provide Plaintiff Kaveler and other Last Class members the legally required meal periods.
- v. Whether M-I owes Plaintiff Kaveler and other Last Class members properly calculated meal period premiums.
- vi. Whether M-I failed to provide Plaintiff Kaveler and other Last Class members the legally required rest periods.
- vii. Whether M-I owes Plaintiff Kaveler and other Last Class members properly calculated rest period premiums.
- viii. Whether M-I's conduct was willful or reckless.
- ix. Whether M-I's violated Labor Code section 226.
- x. Whether M-I willfully failed to timely pay all wages due to Plaintiff Kaveler and other Last Class members upon the termination of their employment.
- xi. Whether M-I engaged in unfair competition in violation of California Business & Professions Code section 17200, et seq.

14. Typicality.

- a. CRC Class: Plaintiffs Carney and Last's claims are typical of the claims of the CRC Class, and Plaintiffs Carney and Last and all CRC Class members sustained injuries and damages arising out of CRC and Geo's common course of conduct in violation of the law as alleged herein. Plaintiffs are entitled to the same relief under the class action causes of action as other class members.

- 1 b. Last Class: Plaintiff Kaveler's class claims are typical of the claims of the Last Class, and 2 Plaintiff Kaveler and all Last Class members sustained injuries and damages arising out of
3 M-I's common course of conduct in violation of the law as alleged herein. Plaintiff Kaveler
4 is entitled to the same relief under the class action causes of action as other class members.

5 15. Adequacy.

- 6 a. CRC Class: Plaintiffs Carney and Last will adequately and fairly protect the interests of 7 the CRC Class and each is an adequate representative for the class because each has no
8 interests adverse to the interests of the other class members.
9 b. Last Class: Plaintiff Kaveler will adequately and fairly protect the interest of the Last Class
10 members and is an adequate representative for the class because Plaintiff Kaveler has no
11 interests adverse to the interests of the other class members.

12 Plaintiffs Carney, Last, and Kaveler have retained legal counsel with substantial experience in civil 13 litigation, employment law, and class action litigation and Plaintiffs and Plaintiffs' counsel will 14 fairly and adequately protect the interests of members of the classes.

- 15 16. Superiority. A class action is superior to other available means of fair and efficient adjudication
16 of the claims of the class members because joining all class members is impractical. Class action
17 treatment will allow many similarly situated persons to prosecute their common claims in a single 18 forum, simultaneously, efficiently, and without the unnecessary duplication of effort and expense
19 that numerous individual actions would cause to such Plaintiffs or to the court system. Questions
20 of law and fact common to the class members predominate over questions affecting only individual
21 members, and a class action is superior to other available methods for fair and efficient
22 adjudication of the controversy. Individual litigation would present the potential for inconsistent
23 or contradictory judgments. By contrast, the class action device will result in substantial benefits
24 to the litigants and the Court by allowing the Court to resolve numerous individual claims based 25 upon a single set of proof in a case.

I. THE EMPLOYER PARTIES

A. Geo Drilling Fluids, Inc.

Geo Drilling Fluids, Inc. (“Geo”) is a California corporation located at 1431 Union Ave. Bakersfield, CA 93305, California.

B. California Resources Corporation

California Resources Corporation (“CRC”) is a Delaware corporation with offices located at 1 World Trade Center, Suite 1500, Long Beach, CA 900831. CRC was the primary operator of wells at which Carney worked during the PAGA period. Upon information and belief CRC at times supplied its own Company men to control the daily work at the drill sites including work performed by Carney and other Aggrieved Employees.

C. M-I LLC

M-I LLC (“M-I”) is a business that formerly operated in California. Upon information and belief M-I at times supplied its drilling fluid specialists like Carney and including other Aggrieved Employees, to CRC work sites.

D. Joint Employers.

Industrial Welfare Commission, Wage Order 4-2001, Section 2 (G) defines an employer as follows: “[A]ny person as defined in Section 18 of the Labor Code, who directly or indirectly, or through an agent or any other person, employs or exercises control over the wages, hours, or working conditions of any person.”

“[T]he ‘joint employer’ concept recognizes that the business entities involved are in fact separate but that they share or co-determine those matters governing the essential terms and conditions of employment [citations omitted].” EEOC v. Pacific Maritime Assn., (2003) 351 F.3d 1270, 1276-1277. (Emphasis in the original).

- Although Geo was the party that initially hired Carney and other Aggrieved Employees, CRC had the power to request specific mud engineers and could discipline, terminate, and/or transfer them from their positions working at the drill site.
- CRC trained Carney and other Aggrieved Employees at the job site regarding safety and other issues.
- Geo, CRC, and/or M-I set Carney and other Aggrieved Employees’ hours and/or work schedules.
- CRC instructed Carney and other Aggrieved Employees when and/or where to work once they arrived at the drilling location.
- Geo, CRC, and/or M-I each had the power to cause Carney and/or other Aggrieved Employees to work and/or to prevent Carney and/or other Aggrieved Employees from working.

- CRC had the power to instruct Carney and other Aggrieved Employees when and whether to take meal and rest periods.
- The scope and plan for work at each drilling operation was predetermined insofar as is foreseeable by CRC engineers in advance of any work being performed on the site. Included in this plan were decisions about how the mud was to be maintained by the mud engineers. This plan is supervised and enforced by CRC drill site managers, also known as “company men.”
- CRC’s company men directed Carney and other Aggrieved Employees about what to do or what not to do as to virtually every aspect of their jobs.
- CRC’s company men determined where Carney and other Aggrieved Employees parked their work trailers.
- CRC’s company men told Carney and other Aggrieved Employees when to order more water and when to coordinate water trucks on the drill site.
- CRC’s company men determined where on the drilling site Carney and other Aggrieved Employees should be and when they should be there.
- CRC’s company men could and did instruct Carney and other Aggrieved Employees when to run extra analyses on the mud.
- CRC’s company men could and did determine how long Carney and other Aggrieved Employees were required to stay at the pit, including but not limited to, during a lost circulation event.
- CRC’s company men could and did determine which and how much materials Carney and other Aggrieved Employees could use in a loss of circulation event.
- CRC’s company men could and did review mud reports provided by Carney and other Aggrieved Employees and could and did approve or disapprove of Carney and other Aggrieved Employees’ plan of action in maintaining the mud according to CRC’s wishes.
- CRC’s company men could and did remove Carney and other Aggrieved Employees off the site.
- CRC’s company men could and did request particular mud engineers to work with.
- CRC’s company men could and did determine when Carney and other Aggrieved Employees would eat and where they would eat and whether they would eat together.

For the reasons stated above, Geo, CRC, and M-I are the joint employers of Scott Carney and/or the Aggrieved Employees. Hereinafter, they will collectively be referred to as the “Defendants.”

Defendants violated or caused to be violated provisions of the Labor Code and/or provisions regularizing hours and days of work in an order of the Industrial Welfare Commission.

II. THE EMPLOYEE PARTIES

A. Scott Carney

Scott Carney (“Carney”) is a resident of California. On or around October 19, 2009, Defendants hired Carney to work as a mud engineer. Defendants wrongfully treated Carney and other mud engineers as “exempt” despite the fact that they were in reality employees who were not exempt from the payment of overtime under California and federal law. Carney primarily performed services based out of Geo’s Bakersfield offices in Kern County, California. On or around December 15, 2014 Defendants terminated Carney’s employment.

B. Aggrieved Employees

Pursuant to Labor Code Sections 2698, et seq., the Private Attorney General Act of 2004 (“PAGA”), Carney is entitled to recover civil penalties on behalf of himself and other persons who are or were employed by the alleged violator and against whom one or more of the alleged violations was committed.

One or more of the alleged violations set forth below was committed against Carney, and Carney is therefore an “aggrieved employee” under Labor Code Section 2699(c), which provides in relevant part:

(c) For purposes of this part, “aggrieved employee” means any person who was employed by the alleged violator and against whom one or more of the alleged violations was committed.

For the purposes of this matter, the Aggrieved Employees include, but are not limited to, Carney and all non-exempt employees, including misclassified employees, who are or have been employed by the Defendants as mud engineers and/or drilling fluid specialists in California.

III. DEFENDANTS’ MISCLASSIFICATION OF CARNEY AND AGGRIEVED EMPLOYEES AS EXEMPT EMPLOYEES.

Defendants employed Carney as a mud engineer. Carney typically worked 12 hours or more per shift and was required to be at the drill site 24 hours per day and seven days per week for at least two weeks straight every four-week period. Carney was not exempt from the payment of overtime and worked more than eight hours in a day and more than 40 hours in a week. Defendants did not properly compensate Carney and other Aggrieved Employees for the overtime hours they worked at the correct rates. Rather, Defendants intentionally misclassified Carney and Aggrieved Employees as exempt to avoid obligations imposed upon employers under California law.

Carney and other Aggrieved Employees did not exercise personal discretion in the completion of their job duties but rather followed established standard procedures and guidelines and/or worked under the supervision of and at the behest of the drill site manager in executing work intended to conform to the pre-ordained plans of drilling engineers. The work carried out by Carney and other Aggrieved Employees was primarily mechanical.

Carney and other Aggrieved Employees' analyses of the mud were recorded in reports provided to the drill site manager, who then controlled and determined whether and to what degree Carney and/or other Aggrieved Employees should follow standardized formulas in treating the mud.

Although conducting mud analyses was an important part of Carney and other Aggrieved Employees' work, they generally spent more time addressing loss of circulation events. In these situations, Defendants required Carney and/or other Aggrieved Employees to stay at the pit and follow the drill site manager's instructions. Depending on the circumstances, Carney and/or other Aggrieved Employees were required to work shifts longer than the 12-hour scheduled shifts.

Carney and other Aggrieved Employees also performed multiple other mechanical tasks at the direction of the drill site manager including but not limited to ordering and coordinating the delivery of mud agents, and lost circulation materials.

In addition to failing to provide Carney and other Aggrieved Employees with all the wages due to them, Defendants also failed to provide proper meal and rest breaks. Specifically, Carney and Aggrieved Employees were not provided with the legally required meal and/or rest periods.

IV. DEFENDANTS' LABOR LAW VIOLATIONS

Among the other California Labor law violations that were committed and are currently being committed by Defendants are the following:

A. Defendants failed to pay Carney and other Aggrieved Employees for all wages earned.

1. Applicable Law

California Labor Code Section 1182.12 in relevant part provides:

Notwithstanding any other provision of this part, on and after January 1, 2007, the minimum wage for all industries shall be not less than seven dollars and fifty cents ($7.50) per hour, and on and after January 1, 2008, the minimum wage for all industries shall be not less than eight dollars ($8.00) per hour and on and after July 1, 2014, the minimum wage for all industries shall be not less than nine dollars ($9) per hour.

California Labor Code Section 1197 in relevant part provides:

The minimum wage for employees fixed by the commission is the minimum wage to be paid to employees, and the payment of a less wage than the minimum so fixed is unlawful.

Paragraph 4 of the applicable Wage Order provides in relevant part:

(A) Every employer shall pay to each employee wages not less than seven dollars and fifty cents ($7.50) per hour for all hours worked, effective January 1, 2007, and not less than eight dollars ($8.00) per hour for all hours worked, effective January

1, 2008 and not less than not less than nine dollars ($9.00) per hour for all hours worked, effective July 1, 2014 ... [Note: between July 1, 2014 and January 1, 2025, the minimum wage rate increased in various increments to sixteen dollars and fifty cents ($16.50)]

(B) Every employer shall pay to each employee, on the established payday for the period involved, not less than the applicable minimum wage for all hours worked in the payroll period, whether the remuneration is measured by time, piece, commission, or otherwise. (Emphasis added.)

2. Facts

Defendants failed to pay Carney and other Aggrieved Employees the applicable minimum wage for all hours worked, for overtime hours, for missed meal period wages, missed rest period wages, and for other compensation due them under California law.

B. Defendants failed to provide Carney and other Aggrieved Employees one day's rest in seven.

1. Applicable Law

California Labor Code Section 551 provides:

Every person employed in any occupation of labor is entitled to one day's rest therefrom in seven.

2. Facts

Defendants violated Section 551 by failing to provide Carney and other Aggrieved Employees one days rest in seven. Once employed at a drilling site, Carney and other Aggrieved Employees were on duty for a minimum of 12 hours per day and 14 days in a row

C. Defendants caused Carney and other Aggrieved Employees to work more than six days in seven.

1. Applicable Law

California Labor Code Section 552 provides:

No employer of labor shall cause his employees to work more than six days in seven.

2. Facts

Defendants violated Section 552 by causing Carney and other Aggrieved Employees to work more than six days in seven. Once employed at a drilling site, Carney and other Aggrieved Employees were on duty for a minimum of 12-hours per day and 14 days in a row.

D. Defendants failed to compensate Carney and other Aggrieved Employees for all overtime hours worked at the correct rates.

1. Applicable Law

California Labor Code Section 510 provides in relevant part:

(a) Eight hours of labor constitutes a day's work. Any work in excess of eight hours in one workday and any work in excess of 40 hours in any one workweek and the first eight hours worked on the seventh day of work in any one workweek shall be compensated at the rate of no less than one and one-half times the regular rate of pay for an employee. Any work in excess of 12 hours in one day shall be compensated at the rate of no less than twice the regular rate of pay for an employee. In addition, any work in excess of eight hours on any seventh day of a workweek shall be compensated at the rate of no less than twice the regular rate of pay of an employee.

2. Facts

During Carney's and other Aggrieved Employees' employment with Defendants, they worked more than eight hours in a day and/or more than 40 hours in a week, and/or more than seven consecutive days but were not paid the overtime wages due to them.

E. Defendants violated Defendants' meal period obligations.

1. Applicable Law

California Labor Code Section 512 provides in relevant part:

(a) An employer shall not employ an employee for a work period of more than five hours per day without providing the employee with a meal period of not less than 30 minutes, except that if the total work period per day of the employee is no more than six hours, the meal period may be waived by mutual consent of both the employer and employee. An employer shall not employ an employee for a work period of more than 10 hours per day without providing the employee with a second meal period of not less than 30 minutes, except that if the total hours worked is no more than 12 hours, the second meal period may be waived by mutual consent of the employer and the employee only if the first meal period was not waived.

California Labor Code Section 226.7 provides:

(b) An employer shall not require an employee to work during a meal or rest or recovery period mandated pursuant to an applicable statute, or applicable regulation, standard, or order of the Industrial Welfare Commission, the Occupational Safety and Health Standards Board, or the Division of Occupational Safety and Health.

(c) If an employer fails to provide an employee a meal or rest or recovery period in accordance with a state law, including, but not limited to, an applicable statute or applicable regulation, standard, or order of the Industrial Welfare Commission, the Occupational Safety and Health Standards Board, or the Division of Occupational Safety and Health, the employer shall pay the employee one additional hour of pay at the employee's regular rate of compensation for each workday that the meal or rest or recovery period is not provided.

Paragraph 10 of the applicable Wage Order provides in relevant part:

10. MEAL PERIODS

(A) No employer shall employ any person for a work period of more than five (5) hours without a meal period of not less than thirty (30) minutes, except that when a work period of not more than six (6) hours will complete the day's work the meal period may be waived by mutual consent of employer and employee. (See Labor Code Section 512.)

(B) An employer may not employ an employee for a work period of more than ten (10) hours per day without providing the employee with a second meal period of not less than 30 minutes, except that if the total hours worked is no more than twelve (12) hours, the second meal period may be waived by mutual consent of employer and employee only if the first meal period was not waived. (See Labor Code Section 512.)

(C) In all places of employment the employer shall provide an adequate supply of potable water, soap, or other suitable cleansing agent and single use towels for hand washing.

(D) Unless the employee is relieved of all duty during a thirty (30) minute meal period, the meal period shall be considered an "on duty" meal period and counted as time worked. An "on duty" meal period shall be permitted only when the nature of the work prevents employee from being relieved of all duty and when, by written agreement between the parties, an on-the-job paid meal period is agreed to and complies with Labor Code Section 512.

(E) Collective Bargaining Agreements. Subsections (A), (B), and (D) of Section 10, Meal Periods, shall not apply to any employee covered by a valid collective bargaining agreement if the agreement expressly provides for the wages, hours of work, and working conditions of the employees, and if the agreement provides premium wage rates for all overtime hours worked and a regular hourly rate of pay for those employees of not less than thirty (30) percent more than the state minimum wage.

(F) If an employer fails to provide an employee a meal period in accordance with the applicable provisions of this order, the employer shall pay the employee one (1) hour of pay at the employee's regular rate of compensation for each workday that the meal period is not provided. In cases where a valid collective bargaining agreement provides final and binding mechanism for resolving disputes regarding enforcement of the meal period provisions, the collective bargaining agreement will prevail.

Under California law, an employer must authorize and permit each non-exempt employee a meal period after no more than 5 hours of work and a second meal period after no more than 10 hours of work. (See, Lab.C. § 512; IWC Wage Order No. 16, § 10(A); Brinker v. Superior Court (2012) 53 Cal.4th 1004, 1049 (“Under the wage order, as under the statute [Section 512(a)], an Defendants’ obligation is to provide a first meal period after no more than five hours of work and a second meal period after no more than 10 hours of work.”).)

An employer satisfies this obligation only where “it relieves its employees of all duty, relinquishes control over their activities and permits them a reasonable opportunity to take an uninterrupted 30–minute break, and does not impede or discourage them from doing so.” (Brinker Restaurant Corp. v. Superior Court (2012) 53 Cal.4th 1004, 1040 [139 Cal.Rptr.3d 315, 343, 273 P.3d 513, 536-37].)

A purported “meal period” which does not satisfy these criteria, or which is not provided at the required time in the employee’s workday, does not constitute a meal period as defined by California law. (Brinker 53 Cal.4th at 1035-1037, 1049.)

An employee not provided a meal period or provided a purported “meal period” that does not conform to the specific requirements of California law has been deprived a of a meal period and is entitled to one hour of pay for each workday the meal period is not provided. (See, Lab.C. § 226.7(c); IWC Wage Order No. 16, § 10(F); Brinker 53 Cal.4th at 1035-1040.)

Furthermore, if an employee may not leave the workplace, the meal period counts as time worked for overtime purposes, even if the employee is relieved of all work duties during mealtime. (See Bono Enterprises, Inc. v. Bradshaw (1995) 32 Cal.App.4th 968, 977; Morillion v. Royal Packing Co. (2000) 22 Cal.4th 575, 586.)

2. Facts

Defendants failed to provide Carney and other Aggrieved Employees with the required duty-free meal periods in a timely manner. Furthermore, Carney and other Aggrieved Employees regularly worked more than 10 hours per workday and therefore had a right to take a second meal period on those workdays and on such occasions Defendants also often failed to provide Carney and other Aggrieved Employees with the required second, duty-free meal periods. Defendants failed to pay Carney and other Aggrieved Employees the compensation due them pursuant to Labor Code Section 226.7 and the applicable Wage Order.

F. Defendants violated Defendants’ rest period obligations.

1. Applicable Law

Labor Code Section 226.7 provides:

b) An employer shall not require an employee to work during a meal or rest or recovery period mandated pursuant to an applicable statute, or applicable regulation, standard, or order of the Industrial Welfare Commission, the Occupational Safety and Health Standards Board, or the Division of Occupational Safety and Health.

(c) If an employer fails to provide an employee a meal or rest or recovery period in accordance with a state law, including, but not limited to, an applicable statute or applicable regulation, standard, or order of the Industrial Welfare Commission, the Occupational Safety and Health Standards Board, or the Division of Occupational Safety and Health, the employer shall pay the employee one additional hour of pay at the employee's regular rate of compensation for each workday that the meal or rest or recovery period is not provided.

Paragraph 11 of the applicable Wage Order provides in relevant part:

11. REST PERIODS

(A) Every employer shall authorize and permit all employees to take rest periods, which insofar as practicable shall be in the middle of each work period. Nothing in this provision shall prevent an employer from staggering rest periods to avoid interruption in the flow of work and to maintain continuous operations, or from scheduling rest periods to coincide with breaks in the flow of work that occur in the course of the workday. The authorized rest period time shall be based on the total hours worked daily at the rate of ten (10) minutes net rest time for every four (4) hours worked, or major fraction thereof. Rest periods shall take place at employer-designated areas, which may include or be limited to the employees' immediate work area.

(B) Rest periods need not be authorized in limited circumstances when the disruption of continuous operations would jeopardize the product or process of the work. However, the employer shall make up the missed rest period within the same workday or compensate the employee for the missed ten (10) minutes of rest time at his/her regular rate of pay within the same pay period.

(C) A rest period need not be authorized for employees whose total daily work time is less than three and one-half (3 1/2) hours. Authorized rest period time shall be counted as hours worked for which there shall be no deduction from wages.

(D) If an employer fails to provide an employee a rest period in accordance with the applicable provisions of this order, the employer shall pay the employee one (1) hour of pay at the employee's regular rate of compensation for each workday that the rest period is not provided. In cases where a valid collective bargaining agreement provides final and binding mechanism for resolving disputes regarding enforcement of the rest period provisions, the collective bargaining agreement will prevail.

(E) This section shall not apply to any employee covered by a valid collective bargaining agreement if the collective bargaining agreement provides equivalent protection.

Under California law, an employer must authorize and permit each non-exempt employee a 10-minute rest period for each 4 hours of work or major fraction thereof. (See, IWC Wage Order No. 16, § 11(A); Brinker 53 Cal.4th at 1028-1030.) Thus, employers must authorize and permit one 10-minute rest period for employees working 3.5 to 6 hours, two 10-minute rest periods for employees working 6-10 hours, three 10-minute rest periods for employees working 10-14 hours, and so on. (See, Brinker 53 Cal.4th at 1029. ("Thus, under the initial calculation called for by this part of the wage order, an employee would receive no rest break time for shifts of two hours or less, 10 minutes for shifts lasting more than two hours up to six hours, 20 minutes for shifts lasting more than six hours up to 10 hours, and so on.”).)

2. Facts

Even though Carney and other Aggrieved Employees worked shifts greater than eight hours, Defendants did not provide Carney and other Aggrieved Employees with all legally required rest periods to which they were entitled. Defendants failed to pay Carney and other Aggrieved Employees the compensation due them pursuant to Labor Code Section 226.7 and the applicable Wage Order.

G. Defendants violated Labor Code Section 226(a).

1. Applicable Law

California Labor Code Section 226 provides in relevant part:

(a) An employer, semimonthly or at the time of each payment of wages, shall furnish to his or her employee, either as a detachable part of the check, draft, or voucher paying the employee's wages, or separately if wages are paid by personal check or cash, an accurate itemized statement in writing showing (1) gross wages earned, (2) total hours worked by the employee, except as provided in subdivision (j), (3) the number of piece-rate units earned and any applicable piece rate if the employee is paid on a piece-rate basis, (4) all deductions, provided that all deductions made on written orders of the employee may be aggregated and shown as one item, (5) net wages earned, (6) the inclusive dates of the period for which the employee is paid, (7) the name of the employee and only the last four digits of his or her social security number or an employee identification number other than a social security number, (8) the name and address of the legal entity that is the employer and, if the employer is a farm labor contractor, as defined in subdivision (b) of Section 1682, the name and address of the legal entity that secured the services of the employer, and (9) all applicable hourly rates in effect during the pay period and the corresponding number of hours worked at each hourly rate by the employee and, beginning July 1, 2013, if the employer is a temporary services employer as defined in Section 201.3, the rate of pay and the total hours worked for each temporary services assignment. The deductions made from payment of wages shall be recorded in ink or other indelible form, properly dated, showing the month, day, and year, and a copy of the statement and the record of the deductions shall be kept on file by the employer for at least three years at the place of employment or at a central location within the State of California. For purposes of this subdivision, “copy” includes a duplicate of the itemized statement provided to an employee or a computer-generated record that accurately shows all of the information required by this subdivision.

(e)(1) An employee suffering injury as a result of a knowing and intentional failure by an employer to comply with subdivision (a) is entitled to recover the greater of all actual damages or fifty dollars ($50) for the initial pay period in which a violation occurs and one hundred dollars ($100) per employee for each violation in a subsequent pay period, not to exceed an aggregate penalty of four thousand dollars ($4,000), and is entitled to an award of costs and reasonable attorney's fees.

(2)(A) An employee is deemed to suffer injury for purposes of this subdivision if the employer fails to provide a wage statement.

(B) An employee is deemed to suffer injury for purposes of this subdivision if the employer fails to provide accurate and complete information as required by any one or more of items (1) to (9), inclusive, of subdivision (a) and the employee cannot promptly and easily determine from the wage statement alone one or more of the following:

(i) The amount of the gross wages or net wages paid to the employee during the pay period or any of the other information required to be provided on the itemized wage statement pursuant to items (2) to (4), inclusive, (6), and (9) of subdivision (a).

(ii) Which deductions the employer made from gross wages to determine the net wages paid to the employee during the pay period. Nothing in this subdivision alters the ability of the employer to aggregate deductions consistent with the requirements of item (4) of subdivision (a).

(iii) The name and address of the employer and, if the employer is a farm labor contractor, as defined in subdivision (b) of Section 1682, the name and address of the legal entity that secured the services of the employer during the pay period.

(iv) The name of the employee and only the last four digits of his or her social security number or an employee identification number other than a social security number.

(C) For purposes of this paragraph, "promptly and easily determine" means a reasonable person would be able to readily ascertain the information without reference to other documents or information.

(3) For purposes of this subdivision, a "knowing and intentional failure" does not include an isolated and unintentional payroll error due to a clerical or inadvertent mistake. In reviewing for compliance with this section, the factfinder may consider as a relevant factor whether the employer, prior to an alleged violation, has adopted and is in compliance with a set of policies, procedures, and practices that fully comply with this section.

2. Facts

Defendants failed to provide Carney and other Aggrieved Employees with the legally required wage statements because, among other reasons, Defendants illegally treated them as exempt or as non-employees.

H. Defendants violated Labor Code Section 1174 and applicable sections of the applicable Wage Order regarding record keeping.

1. Applicable Law

California Labor Code Section 1174 provides in relevant part:

Every person employing labor in this state shall:

. . . (d) Keep, at a central location in the state or at the plants or establishments at which employees are employed, payroll records showing the hours worked daily by and the wages paid to, and the number of piece-rate units earned by and any applicable piece rate paid to, employees employed at the respective plants or establishments. These records shall be kept in accordance with rules established for this purpose by the commission, but in any case shall be kept on file for not less than three years. An employer shall not prohibit an employee from maintaining a personal record of hours worked, or, if paid on a piece-rate basis, piece-rate units earned.

California Labor Code Section 1174.5 provides:

Any person employing labor who willfully fails to maintain the records required by subdivision (c) of Section 1174 or accurate and complete records required by subdivision (d) of Section 1174, or to allow any member of the commission or employees of the division to inspect records pursuant to subdivision (b) of Section 1174, shall be subject to a civil penalty of five hundred dollars ($500).

Paragraph 6 of the applicable Wage Order provides in relevant part:

6. Records

(A) Every employer who has control over wages, hours, or working conditions shall keep accurate information with respect to each employee, including the following:

(1) The employee's full name, home address, occupation, and social security number. The employee's date of birth, if under 18 years of age, and designation as a minor. Time records showing when the employee begins and ends each work period. Meal periods, split shift intervals, and total daily hours worked shall also be recorded. Meal periods during which operations cease and authorized rest periods need not be recorded.

(2) Total wages paid each payroll period, including value of board, lodging, or other compensation actually furnished to the employee.

(3) Total hours worked during the payroll period and applicable rates of pay. This information shall be made readily available to the employee upon reasonable request. When a piece rate or incentive plan is in operation, piece rates or an explanation of the incentive plan formula shall be provided to employees. An accurate production record shall be maintained by the employer.

(B) Every employer who has control over wages, hours, or working conditions shall semimonthly or at the time of each payment of wages furnish each employee an itemized statement in writing showing: (1) all deductions; (2) the inclusive dates of the period for which the employee is paid; (3) the name of the employee or the employee's social security number; and (4) the name of the employer, provided all deductions made on written orders of the employee may be aggregated and shown as one item. (See Labor Code Section 226.) This information shall be furnished either separately or as a detachable part of the check, draft, or voucher paying the employee's wages.

(C) All required records shall be in the English language and in ink or other indelible form, dated properly, showing month, day and year. The employer who has control over wages, hours, or working conditions shall also keep said records on file at the place of employment or at a central location for at least three years. An employee's records shall be available for inspection by the employee upon reasonable request.

2. Facts

Defendants' policies and/or practices of failing to pay regular and overtime wages calculated at the proper rate of pay, failing to pay meal and rest period premiums, and failing to include all required and accurate information on the wage statements have caused Carney and the other Aggrieved Employees to suffer and they will continue to suffer actual economic harm from the violations set forth above in that they have been, and will continue to be, precluded from accurately monitoring the wages to which they are entitled, have been required to retain counsel and other experts or consults to evaluate and calculate unpaid wages, and have suffered delays in receiving the wages and interest that are due and owing to them.

By willfully failing to maintain the records required by California Labor Code Section 1174(c), or accurate and complete records required by Section 1174(d), Defendants are also liable for a civil penalty of $500 for each violation.

I. Defendants violated Labor Code Sections 201 and 202.

1. Applicable Law

California Labor Code Section 201 provides:

If an employer discharges an employee, the wages earned and unpaid at the time of discharge are due and payable immediately...

California Labor Code Section 202 provides:

If an employee not having a written contract for a definite period quits his or her employment, his or her wages shall become due and payable not later than 72 hours thereafter, unless the employee has given 72 hours previous notice of his or her intention to quit, in which case the employee is entitled to his or her wages at the time of quitting.

2. Facts

Defendants violated Section 201 as to Carney and other Aggrieved Employees who were discharged by willfully failing to timely pay the wages earned and unpaid upon the termination of their employment, including unpaid wages for regular hours worked, unpaid overtime, and/or unpaid meal and/or rest period premiums.

Defendants violated Section 202 as to Aggrieved Employees who quit by willfully failing to timely pay the wages earned and unpaid upon the termination of their employment, including unpaid wages for regular hours worked, unpaid overtime, and/or unpaid meal and/or rest period premiums.

J. Defendants violated Labor Code Section 203.

1. Applicable Law

California Labor Code Section 203 provides:

(a) If an employer willfully fails to pay, without abatement or reduction, in accordance with Sections 201, 201.3, 201.5, 201.6, 201.8, 201.9, 202, and 205.5, any wages of an employee who is discharged or who quits, the wages of the employee shall continue as a penalty from the due date thereof at the same rate until paid or until an action therefor is commenced; but the wages shall not continue for more than 30 days. An employee who secretes or absents themselves to avoid payment to them, or who refuses to receive the payment when fully tendered to them, including any penalty then accrued under this section, is not entitled to any benefit under this section for the time during which the employee so avoids payment. (Emphasis added.)

2. Facts

Defendants violated Section 203 as to Carney and other Aggrieved Employees by failing to pay the wages owing to them thereunder. Defendants' failure to pay all final wages due was willful within the meaning of Labor Code Section 203.

K. Defendants violated Labor Code Section 204.

1. Applicable Law

California Labor Code Section 204 provides in relevant part:

[L]abor performed between the 1st and 15th days, inclusive, of any calendar month shall be paid for between the 16th and 26th day of the month during which the labor was performed, and labor performed between the 16th and the last day, inclusive of any calendar month, shall be paid for between the 1st and 10th day of the following month.

California Labor Code Section 210 provides in relevant part:

[i]n addition to, and entirely independent and apart from, any other penalty provided in his article, every person who fails to pay the wages of each employee as provided in sections 201.3, 204, 204b, 204.1, 204.2, 205, 205.5, and 1197.5, shall be subject to a civil penalty as follows: (1) For any initial violation, one hundred dollars ($100) for each failure to pay each employee” and (2) For each subsequent violation or any willful or intentional violation, two hundred dollars ($200) for each failure to pay each employee, plus 25 percent of the amounts unlawfully withheld.

2. Facts

At all relevant times, Carney and Aggrieved Employees were Defendants’ employees (including joint employees) and covered by Labor Code section 204 and applicable Wage Orders.

In the one-year before the initiation of this Action through the present, Defendants employed policies and practices that resulted in, at times, not paying Carney and Aggrieved Employees in accordance with Labor Code section 204 and they therefore seek penalties in the amount of $100 for each initial violation and $200 for each subsequent violation.

Pursuant to Labor Code 218.6, Code of Civil Procedure section 1021.5 and 1032, and Civil Code section 3287, Plaintiffs and class members are entitled to recovery of penalties, interest, and their costs of suit, as well.

L. Defendants violated Labor Code Section 2802.

1. Applicable Law

California Labor Code Section 2802 provides in relevant part:

an employer shall indemnify his or her employee for all necessary expenditures or losses incurred by the employee in direct consequence of the discharge of his or her duties . . .

2. Facts

Defendants required Carney and Aggrieved Employees to incur, at times, necessary expenditures or losses in direct consequence of the discharge of their duties or at the obedience to the directions of Defendants that included, without limitation: using cellular phones for work-related purposes, but Defendants failed and refused to reimburse them for those losses and/or expenditures, and as a result of Defendants’ unlawful conduct, they have suffered damages in an amount subject to proof, to the extent that they were not reimbursed for the herein-described losses and/or expenditures.

V. DEFENDANTS ARE LIABLE FOR PENALTIES PURSUANT TO THE PAGA.

By virtue of Defendants’ violations, Defendants are liable for penalties pursuant to Labor Code Sections 201, 202, 203, 204, 210, 226, 226.3, 226.7, 256, 510, 512, 551, 552, 558, 1174, 1174.5, 1197, 1197.1, 2802, and 2699(f). inter alia.

I. THE EMPLOYER PARTIES

A. California Resources Corporation

California Resources Corporation (“CRC”) is a Delaware corporation with offices located at 1 World Trade Center, Suite 1500, Long Beach, CA 900831. CRC was the primary operator of wells at which Last worked during the PAGA period. Upon information and belief CRC at times supplied its own Company men to control the daily work at the drill sites including work performed by Last and other Aggrieved Employees.

B. M-I L.L.C.

M-I LLC (“M-I”) is a business that formerly operated in California. Upon information and belief M-I at times supplied its drilling fluid specialists like Last and including other Aggrieved Employees, to drill sites or work sites run by various operators, including, but not limited to, CRC.

C. Joint Employers

Industrial Welfare Commission, Wage Order 4-2001, Section 2 (G) defines an employer as follows: “[A]ny person as defined in Section 18 of the Labor Code, who directly or indirectly, or through an agent or any other person, employs or exercises control over the wages, hours, or working conditions of any person.”

“[T]he ‘joint employer’ concept recognizes that the business entities involved are in fact separate but that they share or co-determine those matters governing the essential terms and conditions of employment [citations omitted].” EEOC v. Pacific Maritime Assn., (2003) 351 F.3d 1270, 1276-1277. (Emphasis in the original).

- CRC had the power to request specific mud engineers and could discipline, terminate, and/or transfer them from their positions working at the drill site.
- CRC trained Last and other Aggrieved Employees at the job site regarding safety and other issues.
- CRC and M-I set Last and other Aggrieved Employees’ hours and/or work schedules.
- CRC instructed Last and other Aggrieved Employees when and/or where to work once they arrived at the drilling location.
- CRC and M-I each had the power to cause Last and/or other Aggrieved Employees to work and/or to prevent Last and/or other Aggrieved Employees from working.
- CRC had the power to instruct Last and other Aggrieved Employees when and whether to take meal and rest periods.
- The scope and plan for work at each drilling operation was predetermined insofar as is foreseeable by CRC engineers in advance of any work being performed on the site. Included in this plan were decisions about how the mud was to be maintained by the mud engineers. This plan is supervised and enforced by CRC drill site managers, also known as “company men.”

- CRC’s company men directed Last and other Aggrieved Employees about what to do or what not to do as to virtually every aspect of their jobs.
- CRC’s company men determined where Last and other Aggrieved Employees parked their work trailers.
- CRC’s company men told Last and other Aggrieved Employees when to order more water and when to coordinate water trucks on the drill site.
- CRC’s company men determined where on the drilling site Last and other Aggrieved Employees should be and when they should be there.
- CRC’s company men could and did instruct Last and other Aggrieved Employees when to run extra analyses on the mud.
- CRC’s company men could and did determine how long Last and other Aggrieved Employees were required to stay at the pit, including but not limited to, during a lost circulation event.
- CRC’s company men could and did determine which and how much materials Last and other Aggrieved Employees could use in a loss of circulation event.
- CRC’s company men could and did review mud reports provided by Last and other Aggrieved Employees and could and did approve or disapprove of Last and other Aggrieved Employees’ plan of action in maintaining the mud according to CRC’s wishes.
- CRC’s company men could and did remove Last and other Aggrieved Employees off the site.
- CRC’s company men could and did request particular mud engineers to work with.
- CRC’s company men could and did determine when Last and other Aggrieved Employees would eat and where they would eat and whether they would eat together.

CRC and M-I are the joint employers of Last and the Aggrieved Employees. Hereinafter, they will collectively be referred to as the “Defendants.”

Defendants violated or caused to be violated provisions of the Labor Code and/or provisions regulating hours and days of work in an order of the Industrial Welfare Commission.

II. THE EMPLOYEE PARTIES

A. Donovan Last

Last is a resident of California. During the applicable PAGA period, Last worked through M-I on its various customers’ wells in California. Defendants wrongfully treated Last and other mud engineers as “exempt” or as independent contractors, despite the fact that they were in reality employees and were not exempt from the payment of overtime.

B. Aggrieved Employees

Pursuant to Labor Code Sections 2698, et seq., the Private Attorney General Act of 2004 (“PAGA”), Last is entitled to recover civil penalties on behalf of himself and other persons who are or were employed by the alleged violator and against whom one or more of the alleged violations was committed.

One or more of the alleged violations set forth below was committed against Last, and Last is therefore an “aggrieved employee” under Labor Code Section 2699(c), which provides in relevant part:

(c) For purposes of this part, “aggrieved employee” means any person who was employed by the alleged violator and against whom one or more of the alleged violations was committed.

For the purposes of this matter, the Aggrieved Employees include, but are not limited to, Last and all non-exempt employees, including misclassified employees and independent contractors (including, but not limited to, personnel who were directly employed by a staffing agency), who are or have been employed by or performed work for Defendants as mud engineers and/or drilling fluid specialists in California.

III. DEFENDANTS MISCLASSIFIED LAST AND AGGRIEVED EMPLOYEES AS EXEMPT EMPLOYEES OR AS INDEPENDENT CONTRACTORS.

Defendants employed Last as a mud engineer. Last typically worked 12 hours or more per shift and was required to be at the drill site 24 hours per day and seven days per week for at least two weeks straight every four-week period. Last was not exempt from the payment of overtime and worked more than eight hours in a day and more than 40 hours in a week. Defendants did not properly compensate Last and other Aggrieved Employees for the overtime hours they worked at the correct rates. Rather, Defendants intentionally misclassified Last and Aggrieved Employees as exempt and/or as independent contractors to avoid obligations imposed upon employers under California law.

Last and other Aggrieved Employees did not exercise personal discretion in the completion of their job duties but rather followed established standard procedures and guidelines and/or worked under the supervision of and at the behest of the drill site manager in executing work intended to conform to the pre-ordained plans of drilling engineers. The work carried out by Last and other Aggrieved Employees was primarily mechanical.

Last and other Aggrieved Employees’ analyses of the mud were recorded in reports provided to the drill site manager, who then controlled and determined whether and to what degree Last and/or other Aggrieved Employees should follow standardized formulas in treating the mud.

Although conducting mud analyses was an important part of Last’s and other Aggrieved Employees’ work, they generally spent more time addressing loss of circulation events. In these situations, Defendants required Last and/or other Aggrieved Employees to stay at the pit and follow the drill site manager's instructions. Depending on the circumstances, Last and/or other Aggrieved Employees were required to work shifts longer than the 12-hour scheduled shifts.

Last and other Aggrieved Employees also performed multiple other mechanical tasks at the direction of the drill site manager including but not limited to ordering and coordinating the delivery of mud agents, and lost circulation materials.

In addition to failing to provide Last and other Aggrieved Employees with all the wages due to them, Defendants also failed to provide proper meal and rest breaks. Specifically, Last and Aggrieved Employees were not provided with the legally required meal and/or rest periods.

IV. DEFENDANTS' LABOR LAW VIOLATIONS

Among the other California Labor law violations that were committed and are currently being committed by Defendants are the following:

A. Defendants failed to pay Last and other Aggrieved Employees for all wages earned.

1. Applicable Law

California Labor Code Section 1182.12 in relevant part provides:

Notwithstanding any other provision of this part, on and after January 1, 2007, the minimum wage for all industries shall be not less than seven dollars and fifty cents ($7.50) per hour, and on and after January 1, 2008, the minimum wage for all industries shall be not less than eight dollars ($8.00) per hour and on and after July 1, 2014, the minimum wage for all industries shall be not less than nine dollars ($9) per hour.

California Labor Code Section 1197 in relevant part provides:

The minimum wage for employees fixed by the commission or by any applicable state or local law, is the minimum wage to be paid to employees, and the payment of a lower wage than the minimum so fixed is unlawful.

Paragraph 4 of the applicable Wage Order provides in relevant part:

(A) Every employer shall pay to each employee wages not less than seven dollars and fifty cents ($7.50) per hour for all hours worked, effective January 1, 2007, and not less than eight dollars ($8.00) per hour for all hours worked, effective January 1, 2008 and not less than not less than nine dollars ($9.00) per hour for all hours worked, effective July 1, 2014...

(B) Every employer shall pay to each employee, on the established payday for the period involved, not less than the applicable minimum wage for all hours worked in the payroll period, whether the remuneration is measured by time, piece, commission, or otherwise. (Emphasis added.)

2. Facts

Defendants failed to pay Last and other Aggrieved Employees the applicable minimum wage for all hours worked, for overtime hours, for missed meal period wages, missed rest period wages, and for other compensation due them under California law.

B. Defendants failed to provide Last and other Aggrieved Employees one day's rest in seven.

1. Applicable Law

California Labor Code Section 551 provides:

Every person employed in any occupation of labor is entitled to one day's rest therefrom in seven.

California Labor Code Section 554 provides:

(a) Sections 551 and 552 do not apply to cases of emergency or to work performed in the protection of life or property from loss or destruction, or to any common carrier engaged in or connected with the movement of trains. Nothing in this chapter shall be construed to prevent an accumulation of days of rest when the nature of the employment reasonably requires that the employee work seven or more consecutive days, if in each calendar month the employee receives days of rest equivalent to one day's rest in seven. The requirement respecting the equivalent of one day's rest in seven shall apply, notwithstanding the other provisions of this chapter relating to collective bargaining agreements, where the employer and a labor organization representing employees of the employer have entered into a valid collective bargaining agreement respecting the hours of work of the employees, unless the agreement expressly provides otherwise.

(b) In addition to the exceptions specified in subdivision (a), the Chief of the Division of Labor Standards Enforcement may, when in his or her judgment hardship will result, exempt any employer or employees from the provisions of Sections 551 and 552.

2. Facts

Defendants violated Section 551 by failing to provide Last and other Aggrieved Employees one day's rest in seven. Once employed at a drilling site, Last and other Aggrieved Employees were on duty for a minimum of 12 hours per day and 14 days in a row.

C. Defendants caused Last and other Aggrieved Employees to work more than six days in seven.

1. Applicable Law

California Labor Code Section 552 provides:

No employer of labor shall cause his employees to work more than six days in seven.

California Labor Code Section 554 provides:

(a) Sections 551 and 552 do not apply to cases of emergency or to work performed in the protection of life or property from loss or destruction, or to any common carrier engaged in or connected with the movement of trains. Nothing in this chapter shall be construed to prevent an accumulation of days of rest when the nature of the employment reasonably requires that the employee work seven or more consecutive days, if in each calendar month the employee receives days of rest equivalent to one day's rest in seven. The requirement respecting the equivalent of one day's rest in seven shall apply, notwithstanding the other provisions of this chapter relating to collective bargaining agreements, where the employer and a labor organization representing employees of the employer have entered into a valid collective bargaining agreement respecting the hours of work of the employees, unless the agreement expressly provides otherwise.

(b) In addition to the exceptions specified in subdivision (a), the Chief of the Division of Labor Standards Enforcement may, when in his or her judgment hardship will result, exempt any employer or employees from the provisions of Sections 551 and 552.

2. Facts

Defendants violated Section 552 by causing Last and other Aggrieved Employees to work more than six days in seven. Once employed at a drilling site, Last and other Aggrieved Employees were on duty for a minimum of 12 hours per day and 14 days in a row.

D. Defendants failed to compensate Last and other Aggrieved Employees for all overtime hours worked at the correct rates.

1. Applicable Law

California Labor Code Section 510 provides in relevant part:

(a) Eight hours of labor constitutes a day's work. Any work in excess of eight hours in one workday and any work in excess of 40 hours in any one workweek and the first eight hours worked on the seventh day of work in any one workweek shall be compensated at the rate of no less than one and one-half times the regular rate of pay for an employee. Any work in excess of 12 hours in one day shall be compensated at the rate of no less than twice the regular rate of pay for an employee. In addition, any work in excess of eight hours on any seventh day of a workweek shall be compensated at the rate of no less than twice the regular rate of pay of an employee.

Paragraph 3(A) of the applicable Wage Order provides in relevant part:

3. HOURS AND DAYS OF WORK

(A) Daily Overtime General Provisions

(1) The following overtime provisions are applicable to employees 18 years of age or over and to employees 16 or 17 years of age who are not required by law to attend school and are not otherwise prohibited by law from engaging in the subject work. Such employees shall not be employed more than eight (8) hours in any workday or more than 40 hours in any workweek unless the employee receives one and one-half (1 1/2) times such employee's regular rate of pay for all hours worked over 40 hours in the workweek. Eight (8) hours of labor constitutes a day's work. Employment beyond eight (8) hours in any workday or more than six (6) days in any workweek is permissible provided the employee is compensated for such overtime at not less than:

(a) One and one-half (1 1/2) times the employee's regular rate of pay for all hours worked in excess of eight (8) hours up to and including 12 hours in any workday, and for the first eight (8) hours worked on the seventh (7th) consecutive day of work in a workweek; and

(b) Double the employee's regular rate of pay for all hours worked in excess of 12 hours in any workday and for all hours worked in excess of eight (8) hours on the seventh (7th) consecutive day of work in a workweek.

2. Facts

During Last's and other Aggrieved Employees' employment with Defendants, they worked more than eight hours in a day and/or more than 40 hours in a week and/or more than seven consecutive days but were not paid the overtime wages due to them.

E. Defendants violated Defendants' meal period obligations.

1. Applicable Law

California Labor Code Section 512 provides in relevant part:

(a) An employer shall not employ an employee for a work period of more than five hours per day without providing the employee with a meal period of not less than 30 minutes, except that if the total work period per day of the employee is no more than six hours, the meal period may be waived by mutual consent of both the employer and employee. An employer shall not employ an employee for a work period of more than 10 hours per day without providing the employee with a second meal period of not less than 30 minutes, except that if the total hours worked is no more than 12 hours, the second meal period may be waived by mutual consent of the employer and the employee only if the first meal period was not waived.

California Labor Code Section 226.7 provides:

(b) An employer shall not require an employee to work during a meal or rest or recovery period mandated pursuant to an applicable statute, or applicable regulation, standard, or order of the Industrial Welfare Commission, the

Occupational Safety and Health Standards Board, or the Division of Occupational Safety and Health.

(c) If an employer fails to provide an employee a meal or rest or recovery period in accordance with a state law, including, but not limited to, an applicable statute or applicable regulation, standard, or order of the Industrial Welfare Commission, the Occupational Safety and Health Standards Board, or the Division of Occupational Safety and Health, the employer shall pay the employee one additional hour of pay at the employee's regular rate of compensation for each workday that the meal or rest or recovery period is not provided.

Paragraph 10 of the applicable Wage Order provides in relevant part:

10. MEAL PERIODS

(A) No employer shall employ any person for a work period of more than five (5) hours without a meal period of not less than thirty (30) minutes, except that when a work period of not more than six (6) hours will complete the day's work the meal period may be waived by mutual consent of employer and employee. (See Labor Code Section 512.)

(B) An employer may not employ an employee for a work period of more than ten (10) hours per day without providing the employee with a second meal period of not less than 30 minutes, except that if the total hours worked is no more than twelve (12) hours, the second meal period may be waived by mutual consent of employer and employee only if the first meal period was not waived. (See Labor Code Section 512.)

(C) In all places of employment the employer shall provide an adequate supply of potable water, soap, or other suitable cleansing agent and single use towels for hand washing.

(D) Unless the employee is relieved of all duty during a thirty (30) minute meal period, the meal period shall be considered an "on duty" meal period and counted as time worked. An "on duty" meal period shall be permitted only when the nature of the work prevents employee from being relieved of all duty and when, by written agreement between the parties, an on-the-job paid meal period is agreed to and complies with Labor Code Section 512.

(E) Collective Bargaining Agreements. Subsections (A), (B), and (D) of Section 10, Meal Periods, shall not apply to any employee covered by a valid collective bargaining agreement if the agreement expressly provides for the wages, hours of work, and working conditions of the employees, and if the agreement provides premium wage rates for all overtime hours worked and a regular hourly rate of pay for those employees of not less than thirty (30) percent more than the state minimum wage.

(F) If an employer fails to provide an employee a meal period in accordance with the applicable provisions of this order, the employer shall pay the employee one (1) hour of pay at the employee's regular rate of compensation for each workday that the meal period is not provided. In cases where a valid collective bargaining agreement provides final and binding mechanism for resolving disputes regarding enforcement of the meal period provisions, the collective bargaining agreement will prevail.

Under California law, an employer must authorize and permit each non-exempt employee a meal period after no more than 5 hours of work and a second meal period after no more than 10 hours of work. (See, Lab.C. § 512; IWC Wage Order No. 16, § 10(A); Brinker v. Superior Court (2012) 53 Cal.4th 1004, 1049 (“Under the wage order, as under the statute [Section 512(a)], an employer’s obligation is to provide a first meal period after no more than five hours of work and a second meal period after no more than 10 hours of work.”).)

An employer satisfies this obligation only where “it relieves its employees of all duty, relinquishes control over their activities and permits them a reasonable opportunity to take an uninterrupted 30–minute break, and does not impede or discourage them from doing so.” (Brinker Restaurant Corp. v. Superior Court (2012) 53 Cal.4th 1004, 1040 [139 Cal.Rptr.3d 315, 343, 273 P.3d 513, 536-37].)

A purported “meal period” which does not satisfy these criteria, or which is not provided at the required time in the employee’s workday, does not constitute a meal period as defined by California law. (Brinker 53 Cal.4th at 1035-1037, 1049.)

An employee not provided a meal period or provided a purported “meal period” that does not conform to the specific requirements of California law has been deprived of a meal period and is entitled to one hour of pay for each workday the meal period is not provided. (See, Lab.C. § 226.7(c); IWC Wage Order No. 16, § 10(F); Brinker 53 Cal.4th at 1035-1040.)

Furthermore, if an employee may not leave the workplace, the meal period counts as time worked for overtime purposes, even if the employee is relieved of all work duties during mealtime. (See Bono Enterprises, Inc. v. Bradshaw (1995) 32 Cal.App.4th 968, 977; Morillion v. Royal Packing Co. (2000) 22 Cal.4th 575, 586.)

1. Facts

Defendants failed to provide Last and other Aggrieved Employees with the required duty-free meal periods in a timely manner. Furthermore, Last and other Aggrieved Employees regularly worked more than 10 hours per workday and therefore had a right to take a second meal period on those workdays and on such occasions Defendants also often failed to provide Last and other Aggrieved Employees with the required second, duty-free meal periods. Defendants failed to pay Last and other Aggrieved Employees the compensation due them pursuant to Labor Code Section 226.7 and the applicable Wage Order.

F. Defendants violated Defendants’ rest period obligations.

1. Applicable Law

Labor Code Section 226.7 provides:

b) An employer shall not require an employee to work during a meal or rest or recovery period mandated pursuant to an applicable statute, or applicable regulation, standard, or order of the Industrial Welfare Commission, the Occupational Safety and Health Standards Board, or the Division of Occupational Safety and Health.

(c) If an employer fails to provide an employee a meal or rest or recovery period in accordance with a state law, including, but not limited to, an applicable statute or applicable regulation, standard, or order of the Industrial Welfare Commission, the Occupational Safety and Health Standards Board, or the Division of Occupational Safety and Health, the employer shall pay the employee one additional hour of pay at the employee's regular rate of compensation for each workday that the meal or rest or recovery period is not provided.

Paragraph 11 of the applicable Wage Order provides in relevant part:

11. REST PERIODS

(A) Every employer shall authorize and permit all employees to take rest periods, which insofar as practicable shall be in the middle of each work period. Nothing in this provision shall prevent an employer from staggering rest periods to avoid interruption in the flow of work and to maintain continuous operations, or from scheduling rest periods to coincide with breaks in the flow of work that occur in the course of the workday. The authorized rest period time shall be based on the total hours worked daily at the rate of ten (10) minutes net rest time for every four (4) hours worked, or major fraction thereof. Rest periods shall take place at employer-designated areas, which may include or be limited to the employees' immediate work area.

(B) Rest periods need not be authorized in limited circumstances when the disruption of continuous operations would jeopardize the product or process of the work. However, the employer shall make up the missed rest period within the same workday or compensate the employee for the missed ten (10) minutes of rest time at his/her regular rate of pay within the same pay period.

(C) A rest period need not be authorized for employees whose total daily work time is less than three and one-half (3 1/2) hours. Authorized rest period time shall be counted as hours worked for which there shall be no deduction from wages.

(D) If an employer fails to provide an employee a rest period in accordance with the applicable provisions of this order, the employer shall pay the employee one (1) hour of pay at the employee's regular rate of compensation for each workday that the rest period is not provided. In cases where a valid collective bargaining agreement provides final and binding mechanism for resolving disputes regarding enforcement of the rest period provisions, the collective bargaining agreement will prevail.

(E) This section shall not apply to any employee covered by a valid collective bargaining agreement if the collective bargaining agreement provides equivalent protection.

Under California law, an employer must authorize and permit each non-exempt employee a 10-minute rest period for each 4 hours of work or major fraction thereof. (See, IWC Wage Order No. 16, ¶ 11(A); Brinker 53 Cal.4th at 1028-1030.) Thus, employers must authorize and permit one 10-minute rest period for employees working 3.5 to 6 hours, two 10-minute rest periods for employees working 6-10 hours, three 10-minute rest periods for employees working 10-14 hours, and so on. (See, Brinker 53 Cal.4th at 1029. (“Thus, under the initial calculation called for by this part of the wage order, an employee would receive no rest break time for shifts of two hours or less, 10 minutes for shifts lasting more than two hours up to six hours, 20 minutes for shifts lasting more than six hours up to 10 hours, and so on.”).)

2. Facts

Last and other Aggrieved Employees worked shifts greater than three and one-half hours but less than four hours, worked shifts greater than six hours but less than eight hours, and worked shifts greater than 10 hours. Defendants did not provide Last and other Aggrieved Employees with all legally required rest periods to which they were entitled.

Defendants failed to pay Last and other Aggrieved Employees the compensation due them pursuant to Labor Code Section 226.7 and the applicable Wage Order.

G. Defendants violated Labor Code Section 226(a).

1. Applicable Law

California Labor Code Section 226 provides in relevant part:

(a) An employer, semimonthly or at the time of each payment of wages, shall furnish to his or her employee, either as a detachable part of the check, draft, or voucher paying the employee's wages, or separately if wages are paid by personal check or cash, an accurate itemized statement in writing showing (1) gross wages earned, (2) total hours worked by the employee, except as provided in subdivision (j), (3) the number of piece-rate units earned and any applicable piece rate if the employee is paid on a piece-rate basis, (4) all deductions, provided that all deductions made on written orders of the employee may be aggregated and shown as one item, (5) net wages earned, (6) the inclusive dates of the period for which the employee is paid, (7) the name of the employee and only the last four digits of his or her social security number or an employee identification number other than a social security number, (8) the name and address of the legal entity that is the employer and, if the employer is a farm labor contractor, as defined in subdivision (b) of Section 1682, the name and address of the legal entity that secured the services of the employer, and (9) all applicable hourly rates in effect during the pay period and the corresponding number of hours worked at each hourly rate by the employee and, beginning July 1, 2013, if the employer is a temporary services employer as defined in Section 201.3, the rate of pay and the total hours worked for each temporary services assignment. The deductions made from payment of wages shall be recorded in ink or other indelible form, properly dated, showing the month, day, and year, and a copy of the statement and the record of the deductions shall be kept on file by the employer for at least three years at the place of employment or at a central location within the State of California. For purposes of this subdivision, “copy” includes a duplicate of the itemized statement provided to an employee or a computer-generated record that accurately shows all of the information required by this subdivision.

(e)(1) An employee suffering injury as a result of a knowing and intentional failure by an employer to comply with subdivision (a) is entitled to recover the greater of all actual damages or fifty dollars ($50) for the initial pay period in which a violation occurs and one hundred dollars ($100) per employee for each violation in a subsequent pay period, not to exceed an aggregate penalty of four thousand dollars ($4,000), and is entitled to an award of costs and reasonable attorney’s fees.

(2)(A) An employee is deemed to suffer injury for purposes of this subdivision if the employer fails to provide a wage statement.

(B) An employee is deemed to suffer injury for purposes of this subdivision if the employer fails to provide accurate and complete information as required by any one or more of items (1) to (9), inclusive, of subdivision (a) and the employee cannot promptly and easily determine from the wage statement alone one or more of the following:

(i) The amount of the gross wages or net wages paid to the employee during the pay period or any of the other information required to be provided on the itemized wage statement pursuant to items (2) to (4), inclusive, (6), and (9) of subdivision (a).

(ii) Which deductions the employer made from gross wages to determine the net wages paid to the employee during the pay period. Nothing in this subdivision alters the ability of the employer to aggregate deductions consistent with the requirements of item (4) of subdivision (a).

(iii) The name and address of the employer and, if the employer is a farm labor contractor, as defined in subdivision (b) of Section 1682, the name and address of the legal entity that secured the services of the employer during the pay period.

(iv) The name of the employee and only the last four digits of his or her social security number or an employee identification number other than a social security number.

(C) For purposes of this paragraph, “promptly and easily determine” means a reasonable person would be able to readily ascertain the information without reference to other documents or information.

(3) For purposes of this subdivision, a “knowing and intentional failure” does not include an isolated and unintentional payroll error due to a clerical or inadvertent mistake. In reviewing for compliance with this section, the factfinder may consider as a relevant factor whether the employer, prior to an alleged violation, has adopted and is in compliance with a set of policies, procedures, and practices that fully comply with this section.

2. Facts

Defendants failed to provide Last and other Aggrieved Employees with the legally required wage statements because, among other reasons, Defendants illegally treated them as exempt employees or as non-employees.

Because Defendants failed to pay for all hours worked at the proper rates, Defendants violated Section 226(a)(1) as to Plaintiff and other Aggrieved Employees by failing to provide them statements of wages that accurately showed gross wages actually earned.

Because Defendants failed to pay for all hours worked, Defendants violated Section 226(a)(2) by failing to provide Plaintiff and other Aggrieved Employees statements of wages that accurately showed the total hours worked by Plaintiff and other Aggrieved Employees.

Because Defendants failed to pay for all hours worked at the proper rates, Defendants violated Section 226(a)(5) by failing to provide Plaintiff and other Aggrieved Employees with statements of wages that accurately showed net wages earned.

Defendants violated Section 226(a)(6) by failing to provide Plaintiff and other Aggrieved Employees with statement of wages that accurately showed the inclusive dates of the period for which the employee is paid.

Defendants violated Section 226(a)(7) by failing to provide Plaintiff and other Aggrieved Employees with statements of wages that accurately showed the name of the employee and only the last four digits of his or her social security number or an employee identification number other than a social security number.

Defendants violated Section 226(a)(8) by failing to provide Plaintiff and other Aggrieved Employees with statements of wages that accurately showed the name and address of the legal entity that is the employer.

Because Defendants failed to pay for all hours worked, including overtime, Defendants violated Section 226(a)(9) by failing to provide Plaintiff and other Aggrieved Employees with statements of wages that accurately showed the applicable hourly rates in effect during the pay period and the corresponding number of hours worked at each hourly rate.

H. Defendants violated Labor Code Section 1174 and applicable sections of the applicable Wage Order regarding record keeping.

1. Applicable Law

California Labor Code Section 1174 provides in relevant part:

Every person employing labor in this state shall:

. . . (d) Keep, at a central location in the state or at the plants or establishments at which employees are employed, payroll records showing the hours worked daily by and the wages paid to, and the number of piece-rate units earned by and any applicable piece rate paid to, employees employed at the respective plants or establishments. These records shall be kept in accordance with rules established for this purpose by the commission, but in any case shall be kept on file for not less than three years. An employer shall not prohibit an employee from maintaining a personal record of hours worked, or, if paid on a piece-rate basis, piece-rate units earned.

California Labor Code Section 1174.5 provides:

Any person employing labor who willfully fails to maintain the records required by subdivision (c) of Section 1174 or accurate and complete records required by subdivision (d) of Section 1174, or to allow any member of the commission or employees of the division to inspect records pursuant to subdivision (b) of Section 1174, shall be subject to a civil penalty of five hundred dollars ($500).

Paragraph 6 of the applicable Wage Order provides in relevant part:

6. Records

(A) Every employer who has control over wages, hours, or working conditions shall keep accurate information with respect to each employee, including the following:

(1) The employee's full name, home address, occupation, and social security number. The employee's date of birth, if under 18 years of age, and designation as a minor. Time records showing when the employee begins and ends each work period. Meal periods, split shift intervals, and total daily hours worked shall also be recorded. Meal periods during which operations cease and authorized rest periods need not be recorded.

(2) Total wages paid each payroll period, including value of board, lodging, or other compensation actually furnished to the employee.

(3) Total hours worked during the payroll period and applicable rates of pay. This information shall be made readily available to the employee upon reasonable request. When a piece rate or incentive plan is in operation, piece rates or an explanation of the incentive plan formula shall be provided to employees. An accurate production record shall be maintained by the employer.

(B) Every employer who has control over wages, hours, or working conditions shall semimonthly or at the time of each payment of wages furnish each employee an itemized statement in writing showing: (1) all deductions; (2) the inclusive dates of the period for which the employee is paid; (3) the name of the employee or the employee's social security number; and (4) the name of the employer, provided all deductions made on written orders of the employee may be aggregated and shown as one item. (See Labor Code Section 226.) This information shall be furnished either separately or as a detachable part of the check, draft, or voucher paying the employee's wages.

(C) All required records shall be in the English language and in ink or other indelible form, dated properly, showing month, day and year. The employer who has control over wages, hours, or working conditions shall also keep said records on file at the place of employment or at a central location for at least three years. An employee's records shall be available for inspection by the employee upon reasonable request.

2. Facts

Defendants' policies and/or practices of failing to pay regular and overtime wages calculated at the proper rate of pay, failing to pay meal and rest period premiums, and failing to include all required and accurate information on the wage statements have caused Last and the other Aggrieved Employees to suffer and they will continue to suffer actual economic harm from the violations set forth above in that they have been, and will continue to be, precluded from accurately monitoring the wages to which they are entitled, have been required to retain counsel and other experts or consults to evaluate and calculate unpaid wages, and have suffered delays in receiving the wages and interest that are due and owing to them.

By willfully failing to maintain the records required by California Labor Code Section 1174(c), or accurate and complete records required by Section 1174(d), Defendants are also liable for a civil penalty of $500 for each violation.

I. Defendants violated Labor Code Sections 201 and 202.

1. Applicable Law

California Labor Code Section 201 provides:

If an employer discharges an employee, the wages earned and unpaid at the time of discharge are due and payable immediately...

California Labor Code Section 202 provides:

If an employee not having a written contract for a definite period quits his or her employment, his or her wages shall become due and payable not later than 72 hours thereafter, unless the employee has given 72 hours previous notice of his or her intention to quit, in which case the employee is entitled to his or her wages at the time of quitting.

2. Facts

Defendants violated Section 201 as to Last and other Aggrieved Employees who were discharged by willfully failing to timely pay the wages earned and unpaid upon the termination of their employment, including unpaid wages for regular hours worked, unpaid overtime, and/or unpaid meal and/or rest period premiums.

Defendants violated Section 202 as to Aggrieved Employees who quit by willfully failing to timely pay the wages earned and unpaid upon the termination of their employment, including unpaid wages for regular hours worked, unpaid overtime, and/or unpaid meal and/or rest period premiums.

J. Defendants violated Labor Code Section 203.

1. Applicable Law

California Labor Code Section 203 provides:

(a) If an employer willfully fails to pay, without abatement or reduction, in accordance with Sections 201, 201.3, 201.5, 201.6, 201.8, 201.9, 202, and 205.5, any wages of an employee who is discharged or who quits, the wages of the employee shall continue as a penalty from the due date thereof at the same rate until paid or until an action therefor is commenced; but the wages shall not continue for more than 30 days. An employee who secretes or absents themselves to avoid payment to them, or who refuses to receive the payment when fully tendered to them, including any penalty then accrued under this section, is not entitled to any benefit under this section for the time during which the employee so avoids payment. (Emphasis added.)

2. Facts

Defendants violated Section 203 as to Last and other Aggrieved Employees by failing to pay the wages owing to them thereunder. Defendants' failure to pay all final wages due was willful within the meaning of Labor Code Section 203.

K. Defendants violated Labor Code Section 204.

1. Applicable Law

California Labor Code Section 204 provides in relevant part:

[L]abor performed between the 1st and 15th days, inclusive, of any calendar month shall be paid for between the 16th and 26th day of the month during which the labor was performed, and labor performed between the 16th and the last day, inclusive of any calendar month, shall be paid for between the 1st and 10th day of the following month.

California Labor Code Section 210 provides in relevant part:

[i]n addition to, and entirely independent and apart from, any other penalty provided in this article, every person who fails to pay the wages of each employee as provided in sections 201.3, 204, 204b, 204.1, 204.2, 205, 205.5, and 1197.5, shall be subject to a civil penalty as follows: (1) For any initial violation, one hundred dollars ($100) for each failure to pay each employee” and (2) For each subsequent violation or any willful or intentional violation, two hundred dollars ($200) for each failure to pay each employee, plus 25 percent of the amounts unlawfully withheld.

2. Facts

At all relevant times, Last and Aggrieved Employees were Defendants’ employees (including joint employees) and covered by Labor Code section 204 and applicable Wage Orders.

In the one-year before the initiation of this Action through the present, Defendants employed policies and practices that resulted in, at times, not paying Last and Aggrieved Employees in accordance with Labor Code section 204 and they therefore seek penalties in the amount of $100 for each initial violation and $200 for each subsequent violation.

Pursuant to Labor Code 218.6, Code of Civil Procedure section 1021.5 and 1032, and Civil Code section 3287, Plaintiffs and class members are entitled to recovery of penalties, interest, and their costs of suit, as well.

L. Defendants violated Labor Code Section 2802.

1. Applicable Law

California Labor Code Section 2802 provides in relevant part:

an employer shall indemnify his or her employee for all necessary expenditures or losses incurred by the employee in direct consequence of the discharge of his or her duties . . .

2. Facts

Defendants required Last and Aggrieved Employees to incur, at times, necessary expenditures or losses in direct consequence of the discharge of their duties or at the obedience to the directions of Defendants that included, without limitation: using cellular phones for work-related purposes, but Defendants failed and refused to reimburse them for those losses and/or expenditures, and as a result of Defendants’ unlawful conduct, they have suffered damages in an amount subject to proof, to the extent that they were not reimbursed for the herein-described losses and/or expenditures.

V. DEFENDANTS ARE LIABLE FOR PENALTIES PURSUANT TO THE PAGA.

By virtue of Defendants' violations, Defendants are liable for penalties pursuant to Labor Code Sections 201, 202, 203, 204, 210, 226, 226.3, 226.7, 256, 510, 512, 551, 552, 558, 1174, 1174.5, 1197, 1197.1, 2802, and 2699(f). inter alia.
