DEMAND FOR A JURY TRIAL

1 Plaintiff Russell Sanderson (“Plaintiff”), in his representative capacity, and on his own
2 behalf, complains and alleges as follows:

3 INTRODUCTION

4 1. Plaintiff was employed by Iglesias Trucking (“Trucking”), a California
5 corporation, and its owner, Alfred Iglesias (“Iglesias”) (defendants referred to collectively as 6 “Defendants”). Plaintiff brings this action pursuant to the Private Attorneys General Act of 2004
7 (“PAGA”), California Labor Code § 2698 et seq. on a representative basis. All current and 8 former non-exempt employees of Defendants are aggrieved employees (“Employees”).
9 Employees were classified, albeit incorrectly, as independent contractors. Defendants employed
10 Employees at moving company called Iglesias Trucking, located at 45525 CA-79, #179
11 Aguanga, CA 92536.

12 2. The California Labor Code requires employers to provide its Employees, among 13 other things, itemized wage statements, minimum wages, overtime wages, all wages twice per 14 month, reporting time wages, reimbursements and prompt payment of wages upon termination.

15 3. Defendants failed to pay Plaintiff minimum wage for all hours worked.

16 4. Defendants required Employees to work off the clock and failed to pay employees
17 for time worked off the clock and failed to pay Employees for all time worked off the clock.

18 5. Defendants failed to provide Plaintiff with accurate wage statements indicating all
19 hours worked and the applicable hourly rate.

20 6. Defendants paid Employees wages by personal check and failed to provide 21 Employees with wage statements.

22 7. Defendants required Plaintiff and Employees to use their personal cell phones and 23 personal vehicles as a requirement of their employment and failed to reimburse Plaintiff and the 24 other aggrieved employees accordingly.

25 8. Defendants failed to provide Plaintiff and Employees with sick leave.

26 9. As Plaintiff is no longer employed by Defendants, Defendants have continuously
27 failed to pay Plaintiff all wages owed and due.

28 10. Plaintiff, in his representative capacity, seeks civil penalties on behalf of himself

1 and other aggrieved employees for the above acts as well as those identified below, which violate
2 PAGA.

3 ALLEGATIONS

4 11. On January 26, 2023, Plaintiff electronically filed a complaint with the LWDA,
5 case number LWDA-CM-931991-23, paid the statutory fee to the LWDA and sent a letter via 6 certified mail to Defendants informing it of Plaintiff's complaints alleged herein. Plaintiff has
7 not received notice of any attempts to cure by Defendants. Attached hereto as Exhibit "A" is a
8 true and correct copy of the email confirmation received by Plaintiff's counsel of the online
9 submission to the LWDA and payment of the $75 filing fee.

10 12. The LWDA did not provide notice of its intention to investigate Defendants'
11 alleged violations by March 27, 2023 – or sixty-five days after notice – and Defendants did not 12 provide any notice of their intent to cure the alleged violations.

13 13. Defendants employed individuals throughout the State of California within one
14 (1) year of the filing of the Complaint. Defendants employed Employees as movers for its 15 moving company. Employees' job duties included but were not limited to loading furniture into 16 Defendants' moving trucks and unloading furniture from the moving trucks into Defendants'
17 customers' homes.

18 14. As explained further below, Employees were not paid all wages owed to them and 19 were therefore not paid all wages at the time required by the Labor Code. They were also not
20 provided with meal and rest periods and did not receive premium pay as required by the Labor
21 Code.

22 15. Employees were neither free from the control nor direction of Defendants in the 23 performance of their work, whether under contract or in fact. Defendants would hire Employees
24 and then set their schedules. Employees were expected to arrive at the business location at a set
25 time in the morning and would then be told where they would drive the truck to load and unload
26 furniture. Defendants set Employees' standards of conduct. Employees were expected to 27 conduct themselves in accordance with Defendants' standards and were subject to adverse 28 employment action when they fell below these standards.

1 16. Employees were not performing work that is outside the Defendants' business.
2 Defendants are in the business of providing residential moving services. Employees were hired
3 to move furniture for Defendants' customers.

4 17. Employees were not engaged in an independently established trade, occupation,
5 or business of the same nature as the work performed for the Defendants. Moving companies
6 typically employ movers. Employees are all a part of the regular operations of a moving
7 company.

8 18. Employees were paid weekly by check. However, in violation of California
9 Labor Code section 226, Employees were not provided, accurate wage statements semimonthly
10 or at the time of each payment of wages, showing gross wages earned, total hours worked, all
11 deductions, net wages earned, the inclusive dates of the pay period, the hourly rates in effect
12 during the pay period, the employee's name and employee's number or last 4 digits of their 13 social security number and the name and address of the Employer. In fact, Employees were not 14 provided with a wage statement of any kind when paid.

15 19. Labor Code Section 204 provides that all wages earned are due twice during each
16 calendar month. Employees were only paid for time working up until the point they were done
17 unloading furniture at Defendants' customers' homes. Defendants failed to pay Employees for 18 any time travel back to Defendants' warehouse or for any time spent cleaning and unloading the 19 truck once they returned.

20 20. Labor Code Sections 201 - 202 requires an employer to pay all wages due and 21 owing within 24 hours of termination or within 72 hours when the employee terminated the 22 relationship without notice. As explained above, Defendants failed to pay all wages due and 23 owing to Employees during their employment. Neither did Defendants pay these wages owed
24 upon termination. Therefore, Defendant failed to pay all wages dues and owing upon 25 termination pursuant to Labor Code section 203.

26 21. Defendants' busy schedule and long drive times prevented Employees from being 27 able to take rest breaks and lunch breaks. At all times during the course of the Employees'
28 employment with the Defendants, Employees have been unable to take meal periods and rest breaks as required by the California Labor Code, even though Employees are non-exempt and entitled to such breaks. As such, Defendants know or should know that Employees are missing meal and rest periods. Defendants regularly failed to pay meal and rest period premium pay when the breaks are missed/discouraged. All of the above-mentioned violations amount to violations of California Labor Code section 226.7.

22. Defendants regularly failed to pay all wages due and owing to Employees for all hours worked. In fact, Defendants required Employees to call once they finished unloading furniture at the customers house to clock out for the day and did not pay Employees for any time spent traveling back to Defendants' place of business or for time spent unloading the moving supplies from the trucks at Defendants' place of business. Employees hourly rate was less than the applicable minimum wage set by the State of California. The result is that Defendants failed to pay minimum wage for all hours worked.

23. Labor Code Section 2802 requires an employer to indemnify his or her employee for all necessary expenditures or losses incurred by the employee in direct consequence of the discharge of his or her duties. Often, when there was not enough room in the cabin of Defendants' truck, Employees were required to drive their personal vehicles to customers' locations to load and unload customer furniture. Employees were not reimbursed for gas or for use of their personal vehicles, nor were they reimbursed for use of their personal cell phones that they were required to use to perform their duties for Defendants including for driving to customers' homes and reporting to Defendants when jobs were complete.

24. Defendants required Employees to give Defendants all tips and gratuities that were paid by customers to Employees and failed to pay Employees those tips and gratuities.

25. Employees are entitled to sick leave under California Labor Code section 246. Sick Employees had to choose to work while sick or forgo pay. Defendants did not provide sick leave and Employees' paychecks did not include statements regarding accrued sick leave as required by the Healthy Workplaces, Healthy Families Act of 2014.

26. Labor Code Section 1198.5 requires an employer make personnel files and all records an employer maintains relating to performance, grievance(s) and other documents

1 available upon request from the employee or former employee within 30 days. Employer failed
2 to produce said documents upon request.

3 27. Labor Code Section 432 requires an employer make documents signed by the 4 employee which relate to obtaining or holding of employment with employer available upon
5 request by the employee or former employee. Defendants failed to produce said documents upon 6 request.

7 28. Defendants employed an estimated 15 employees each day. All employees were 8 paid in the same manner and are estimated to have worked the same hours and same number of 9 days per week.

10 29. On September 20, 2022, counsel for Plaintiff mailed Defendants a letter
11 requesting Plaintiff's employment records pursuant to California Labor Code sections 1198.5,
12 432, and 226. Defendants failed to provide any of the requested records in Plaintiff's
13 employment file. Attached hereto as Exhibit "B" is a true and correct copy of the letter Plaintiff
14 mailed to Defendants.

15 JURISDICTION AND VENUE

16 30. This Court has jurisdiction over Plaintiff's claims for damages and for civil 17 penalties under PAGA. Venue is proper in this judicial district pursuant to California Code of 18 Civil Procedure section 395(a) as Plaintiff resides in the County of Riverside.
