Re: PAGA Civil Penalty Claim
Steven Tassin v. South Star Logistics, Inc., et al.

To the Labor and Workforce Development Agency, South Star Logistics, Inc., Aman Singh Brar, Jasleen Sidhu, and all affiliated entities:

Pursuant to the Private Attorneys General Act of 2004 (“PAGA”), Labor Code §§ 2699, et seq., this letter shall serve as notification of the PAGA civil penalty claim of aggrieved employee Steven Tassin (“Claimant”), on behalf of the State of California and all Aggrieved Employees, against his employer(s), South Star Logistics, Inc. (“South Star”) and/or any affiliated entities, as well as its owners/officers Aman Singh Brar, Jasleen Sidhu, and others (the “Owners”) (collectively, the “Company”), for violations of Labor Code §§ 201, 202, 203, 204, 208, 210, 218.6, 226, 226.2, 226.3, 256, 558, 1174(d), 1194, 1194.2, 1197, 1197.1, 1198, 1199, 2802, among other sections inadvertently omitted, and/or sections of the applicable Industrial Welfare Commission Wage Order(s).

FACTUAL BACKGROUND

Claimant was employed by the Company in October 2021 through October 2022 as a truck driver. Claimant alleges that he and all nonexempt employees that were employed by the Company (the “Aggrieved Employees”) were subjected to the same policies, working conditions, and corresponding wage and hour violations to Claimant was subjected during his employment.

Notably, at all relevant times, Claimant and the Aggrieved Employees were only paid on a piece-rate (per-mile) basis but did not receive separate hourly compensation at no less than the minimum wage for unpaid, on-duty, time including tasks such as pre-trip and post-trip inspections, detention time, loading and unloading time, completing paperwork, refueling or repair, and downtime between runs. Also, the piece-rate compensation paid to Claimant and the Aggrieved Employees often resulted in a payment of wages at less than the required California minimum wages for all hours worked.

Furthermore, Claimant and the Aggrieved Employees were not provided proper minimum and regular wages due to Company’s failure to accurately record and compensate for all hours worked. For example, Claimant and the Aggrieved Employees were often required to clock out for meal periods and/or rest breaks, yet were under the Company’s control and required to perform duties for the Company while off the clock. As a result of this policy and practice, Claimant and the Aggrieved Employees were required to perform off-the-clock work that the Company either knew or should have known they were performing.

Additionally, at all relevant times, Claimant and the Aggrieved Employees were denied paid rest breaks by virtue of the Company’s policy that only paid its truck drivers for miles driven. As Claimant and the Aggrieved Employees could not accrue miles during a rest break, Claimant and the Aggrieved Employees were illegally denied paid rest breaks. Claimant and the Aggrieved Employees were also not provided mandated 30-minute off-duty meal periods. Claimant and the Aggrieved Employees were not paid the mandatory one-hour wage premium for each such meal period or rest break denied. Also, the Company failed to pay Claimant and the Aggrieved Employees for rest and recovery periods and other nonproductive time as required by Labor Code § 226.2.

Also, the Company required Claimant and the Aggrieved Employees to incur necessary business-related expenses and costs without reimbursement, including, but not limited to, acquiring and maintaining a smart phone and related monthly data plan to communicate with the Company.

The Company also failed to comply with the mandates of Labor Code § 204 regarding the timing of the payment of wages to its employees each period, including meal and rest period premiums, and failed to comply with the mandates of Labor Code §§ 201 – 203 regarding payment of final wages upon separation of employment. Moreover, at all relevant times, the Company provided inaccurate and incomplete wage statements that failed to accurately state all necessary items required under Labor Code § 226(a).

Claimant alleges that he worked under the joint direction and control of South Star Logistics, Inc., and the Owners and is informed and believes that each of them acted in all respects pertinent to this action as the agent of the others, carried out a joint scheme, business plan or policy in all respect pertinent hereto, and the acts of each are legally attributable to the others. On information and belief, a unity of interest and ownership between each exists such that South Star Logistics, Inc., and the Owners acted as a single employer of Claimant and the Aggrieved Employees. Furthermore, on information and belief, South Star Logistics, Inc., and the Owners are an integrated enterprise and should be treated as a single employer because South Star Logistics, Inc., and the Owners share an interrelation of operations, with common human resources and personnel policies and shared common offices and facilities. Upon information and belief, South Star Logistics, Inc., and the Owners share common management, a centralized control of labor operations, and common ownership or financial control.

Furthermore, Claimant alleges that the Owners are now and at all material times herein mentioned was the owners/officers of South Star Logistics, Inc., and Claimant's and the Aggrieved Employees' actual employer or, in the alternative, was an individual employed by the Company as a managerial and/or supervisory employee and/or agent. In addition, Claimant alleges that at all relevant times herein the Owners had the authority, in the interest of the South Star Logistics, Inc., to exercise independent judgment to hire, transfer, promote, discharge, assign, discipline, or take other similar actions against Claimant and the Aggrieved Employees, and were in Claimant's chain of command at the time of and direct participants in the wrongful conduct which constitutes the basis of Claimant's complaint herein. Claimant also alleges that South Star Logistics, Inc. and the Owners are the agents, servants, employees, partners, affiliates, and/or representatives of each other, and were, at all times herein mentioned, acting within the course, scope, and purpose of such relationship(s) and with the knowledge, consent and/or ratification of each other. Furthermore, in conducting themselves in the manner described herein, South Star Logistics, Inc., and the Owners were acting in active concert with on another such that the acts of each were fully attributable to the other in all material respects.

Claimant also alleges that South Star Logistics, Inc., was merely the alter ego of the Owners in that there existed a unity of interest and ownership such that any separateness between them ceased to exist and the Owners exercised undue dominance, control, influence, and management over South Star Logistics, Inc. Claimant further alleges that, at all relevant times South Star Logistics, Inc., has been inadequately capitalized to conduct its business, has failed to follow appropriate corporate formalities, and has simply been a shell and instrumentality through which the Owners have conducted their personal affairs. Accordingly, the corporate veil should be pierced, and any liability attached to South Star Logistics, Inc. should be imposed jointly and severally against the Owners. Adherence to the fiction of the separate existence of the corporate entity of South Star Logistics, Inc. would permit abuse of the corporate privilege, thereby sanctioning fraud and promoting injustice.

Also, in a separate, but not necessarily mutually exclusive, alternative theory of liability, Owners are liable for PAGA civil penalties under Labor Code § 558 as "other person(s)" who caused the violations regarding minimum wage among other claims. See Atempa v. Pedrazzani (2018) 27 Cal.App.5th 809, 820 ("if there is evidence and a finding that a party other than the employer 'violates, or causes to be violated' the overtime laws (§ 558(a)) or 'pays or causes to be paid to any employee' less than minimum wage (§ 1197.1(a)), then that party is liable for certain civil penalties regardless of the identity or business structure of the employer"); Moua v. IBM (N.D. Cal. 2019) 2019 U.S.Dist.LEXIS 40851 (holding the same)

Based on Claimant's own personal observations, all Aggrieved Employees employed or formerly employed by the Company are entitled to similar wage and hour claims, as further set forth below.

PAGA ASSESSMENT FOR FAILURE TO PAY WAGES

(Labor Code §§ 204, 221-223, 510, 558, 1194, 1194.2, 1197, 1197.1, 1198; IWC Wage Order §§ 3, 4(B))

During their employment, Claimant and the Aggrieved Employees were paid on a piece-rate basis and did not receive separate hourly compensation at no less than the minimum wage for unpaid, on-duty, time including tasks such as mandatory paid rest breaks, pre-trip and post-trip inspections, detention time, loading and unloading time, completing paperwork, refueling or repair, and downtime between runs. Additionally, the piece-rate compensation paid to Claimant and the Aggrieved Employees often resulted in a payment of wages at less than the required California minimum wages for all hours worked. Therefore, this resulted in earned, but unpaid, minimum and regular wages due and owing to Claimant and the Aggrieved Employees. Accordingly, Labor Code §§ 210, 558, 1194.2, 1197.1, and 2699, among possibly others, impose various penalties upon the Company for each employee and each pay period in which it failed to pay all wages including, but not limited to, minimum and regular wages in violation of the Labor Code and/or the IWC Wage Orders.

PAGA ASSESSMENT FOR FAILURE TO PROVIDE SEPARATE PAYMENT FOR REST AND RECOVERY PERIODS AND OTHER NONPRODUCTIVE TIME

(Labor Code § 226.2)

Labor Code § 226.2 requires employers that pay their employees on a piece-rate basis to provide separate payment for rest and recovery periods and other nonproductive time. Claimant and the Aggrieved Employees are and/or were employees of the Company who were paid on a piece-rate basis, yet the Company did not comply with the requirements of Labor Code § 226.2 for its piece-rate employees. As a result of these violations, penalties may be assessed pursuant to Labor Code § 2699, among possibly other sections.

PAGA ASSESSMENT FOR DENIAL OF MEAL PERIODS, REST BREAKS, AND WAGE PREMIUMS

(Labor Code §§ 226.7(b) & (c), 512, 558; Cal. Admin. Code, Title 8, § 11090)

Labor Code § 226.7(b) states that “[a]n employer shall not require an employee to work during a meal or rest or recovery period mandated pursuant to an applicable statute, or applicable regulation, standard, or order of the Industrial Welfare Commission ...” Labor Code § 512(a) states in pertinent part: “[A]n employer may not employ an employee for a work period of more than 5 hours per day without providing the employee with an uninterrupted meal period of not less than 30 minutes [...] [a]n employer may not employ an employee for a work period of more than 10 hours per day without providing the employee with a second meal period of not less than 30 minutes.”

Section 12 of applicable IWC Wage Order states in pertinent part: “Every employer shall authorize and permit all employees to take rest periods, which insofar as practicable shall be in the middle of each work period. The authorized rest period time shall be based on the total hours worked daily at the rate of ten (10) minutes net rest time per four (4) hours or major fraction thereof.”

Here, Claimant and the Aggrieved Employees were not provided with paid rest periods by virtue of the Company’s policy that only paid on a piece-rate basis. As the Aggrieved Employees could not generate compensation during rest breaks, Claimant and the Aggrieved Employees were denied paid rest breaks. Furthermore, Claimant and the Aggrieved Employees were regularly not provided compliant meal periods and paid rest breaks because the Company did not have any policy which provided compliant meal periods and paid rest breaks to the Aggrieved Employees. Although the Company was required to pay Claimant and all Aggrieved Employees premium wages equal to an additional hour of pay at the employee’s regular rate of pay for each violation under Labor Code § 226.7(c), the Company did not pay the mandatory one-hour wage premiums. Labor Code § 558 imposes a penalty for each violation, plus an amount sufficient to recover the underpaid wages. Additionally, the civil assessment set forth in Labor Code § 2699 applies to these violations.

PAGA ASSESSMENT FOR UNLAWFUL DEDUCTION OF WAGES

(Labor Code §§ 200, 221, 223)

California Labor Code § 200 defines wages to include “all amounts for labor performed by employees of every description, whether the amount is fixed or ascertained by the standard of time, task, piece, commission basis, or other method of calculation.” California Labor Code § 221 states that “[i]t shall be unlawful for any employer to collect or receive from an employee any part of wages theretofore paid by said employer to said employee.” Labor Code § 221 reflects “‘California’s strong public policy favoring the protection of employees’ wages.’” Sciborski v. Pacific Bell Directory (2012) 205 Cal.App.4th 1152, 1166, quoting Harris v. Investor’s Business Daily, Inc. (2006) 138 Cal.App.4th 28, 40–41. Furthermore, Labor Code § 219 states that the protections of Labor Code § 221 cannot “be contravened or set aside by a private agreement.” Therefore, the rights under Labor Code § 221 are nonnegotiable and cannot be waived by the parties. See Sciborski, supra at 1166. Also, under Labor Code §§ 219 and 221, an employer may not “require its employees to consent to unlawful deductions from their wages.” Hudgins v. Neiman Marcus Group, Inc. (1995) 34 Cal.App.4th 1109, 1124.

Here, the Company had a policy of unlawfully deducting amounts from the wages of the Aggrieved Employees, including Claimant. Accordingly, Labor Code §§ 210, 225.5, 558, and 2699, among possibly others, impose various penalties upon the Company for each employee and each pay period in which it engaged in the unlawful deduction of wages.

PAGA ASSESSMENT FOR FAILURE TO REIMBURSE BUSINESS EXPENSES

(Labor Code § 2802; IWC Wage Order § 9(b))

Labor Code § 2802(a) states “An employer shall indemnify his or her employee for all necessary expenditures or losses incurred by the employee in direct consequence of the discharge of his or her duties.” IWC Wage Order § 9(b) states “[w]hen tools or equipment are required by the employer or are necessary to the performance of a job, such tools and equipment shall be provided and maintained by the employer.”

Here, the Company required Claimant and the Aggrieved Employees to incur expenses in direct consequence of the discharge of their duties. For example, the Company required Claimant and the Aggrieved Employees to acquire and maintain a smart phone and related monthly data plan in order to log into an application that tracks mileage and GPS during the routes assigned to them by the Company. Accordingly, Labor Code § 2699 imposes a penalty upon the Company for each such violation of Labor Code § 2802. Furthermore, Labor Code § 2802(b) states that “[a]ll awards made by a Court for reimbursement of necessary expenditures” shall carry interest, at the same rate as judgments in civil actions, and said interest will accrue from the date on which the employee incurred the necessary expenditure or loss including, but not limited to, reasonable costs and attorney’s fees incurred by the employee enforcing her rights granted pursuant to Labor Code § 2802.

PAGA ASSESSMENT FOR FAILURE TO PAY ALL WAGES DUE AND OWING EACH PAYROLL PERIOD WITHIN THE TIME REQUIRED BY LAW

(Labor Code §§ 204, 204.1, 208, 256 and 2699)

Labor Code § 204(a) states that all wages earned by a person are due and payable twice during each calendar month, and further states that wages earned during the first through fifteenth days of the month must be paid no later than the twenty-sixth day of the month, and that wages earned between the sixteenth and last day of the month must be paid by the tenth day of the following month. Labor Code § 204(d) states “[t]he requirements of this section shall be deemed satisfied by the payment of wages for weekly, biweekly, or semimonthly payroll if the wages are paid not more than seven calendar days following the close of the payroll period.”

Here, the Company failed to timely pay all wages due and owing each period, including, but not limited to, all wages and wage premiums. As a result, penalties may be assessed pursuant to Labor Code §§ 203, 210, 256, and/or 2699.

PAGA ASSESSMENT FOR FAILURE TO TIMELY PAY FINAL WAGES

(Labor Code §§ 201, 202, 203, 256 and 2699)

Labor Code § 201(a) provides in pertinent part: “If an employer discharges an employee, the wages earned and unpaid at the time of discharge are due and payable immediately.” Labor Code § 202(a) states in pertinent part “If an employee not having a written contract for a definite period quits his or her employment, his or her wages shall become due and payable not later than 72 hours thereafter, unless the employee has given 72 hours’ previous notice of his or her intention to quit, in which case the employee is entitled to his or her wages at the time of quitting.” Labor Code § 203(a) states “If an employer willfully fails to pay, without abatement or reduction, in accordance with Sections 201, 201.3, 201.5, 201.9, 202, and 205.5, any wages of an employee who is discharged or who quits, the wages of the employee shall continue as a penalty from the due date thereof at the same rate until paid or until an action therefor is commenced; but the wages shall not continue for more than 30 days.”

As discussed above, the Company did not pay the Aggrieved Employees all wages that were due and owing within the required time following the end of their employment due to the violations discussed above. Furthermore, Claimant did not receive his final pay within the time required by Labor Code §§ 201 – 202. As a result, all such Aggrieved Employees are entitled to the “waiting time penalty.” (Labor Code §§ 203, 256.) Labor Code § 2699 also imposes a penalty.

FAILURE TO PROVIDE ACCURATE, ITEMIZED WAGE STATEMENTS

Labor Code § 226(a) requires an employer to provide its employees with itemized wage statements accurately stating gross wages earned, total hours worked, the number of piece-rate units earned and any applicable piece rate if the employee is paid on a piece-rate basis, all deductions, net wages earned, the inclusive dates of the pay period, the employee's name and the last four digits of his or her Social Security number (or employee identification number), the name and address of the legal entity that is the employer, and all applicable hourly rates in effect during the pay period and the corresponding number of hours worked at each hourly rate by the employee.

Furthermore, Labor Code § 226.2(a) states “[f]or employees compensated on a piece-rate basis during a pay period, the following shall apply for that pay period: [...] (2) the itemized statement required by subdivision (a) of Section 226 shall, in addition to the other items specified in that subdivision, separately state the following, to which the provisions of Section 226 shall also be applicable: (A) the total hours of compensable rest and recovery periods, the rate of compensation, and the gross wages paid for those periods during the pay period [and] (B) [...] the total hours of other nonproductive time, [...] the rate of compensation, and the gross wages paid for that time during the pay period.”

Here, the Company failed to provide accurate itemized wage statements due to violations including: failure to accurately state total hours worked on the Aggrieved Employees' wage statements; name and address of the legal entity that is the employer; failure to accurately state the number of piece-rate units earned by the Aggrieved Employees and any applicable piece-rate; failure to accurately state gross wages earned; failure to accurately state all deductions; failure to accurately state net wages earned; failure to state all applicable hourly rates in effect during the pay period and the corresponding number of hours worked at each hourly rate by the employee; failure to state the total hours of compensable rest and recovery periods, the rate of compensation, and the gross wages paid for those periods during the pay period; and failure to state the total hours of other nonproductive time, [...] the rate of compensation, and the gross wages paid for that time during the pay period. Accordingly, Claimant and the Aggrieved Employees are entitled to damages under Labor Code § 226(e), including reasonable attorneys' fees. Labor Code §§ 226.3 and 2699 also impose a civil penalty and/or assessment for these violations.

PAGA ASSESSMENT FOR VIOLATIONS OF LABOR CODE § 1199

(Labor Code § 1199)

An employer violates Labor Code § 1199 if said employer: (a) requires or causes an employee to work for longer hours than those fixed, or under conditions of labor prohibited by an order of the commission; (b) pays or causes to be paid to any employee a wage less than the minimum fixed by an order of the commission; or, (c) violates or refuses or neglects to comply with any provision of this chapter or any order or ruling of the commission. Labor Code § 2699.5 specifically enumerates Labor Code § 1199 as a section to which the civil penalties under the PAGA apply. Therefore, as a result of the Company's violations described herein, the Company is subject to the civil penalties in accordance with Labor Code § 2699.

ATTORNEYS' FEES, INTEREST, AND PENALTIES

(Labor Code §§ 2699(f)(2), 2699(g)(1), 2699.5)

Labor Code § 2699(g)(1), give employees the right to recover in a civil action the unpaid balance of the full amount of wages, including interest thereon, penalties and other damages, as applicable, reasonable attorneys' fees, and costs of suit. Additionally, Claimant seeks the assessment of penalties, including civil penalties, under Labor Code §§ 203, 210, 225.5, 226.3, 1174.5, 1197.1, 2699, among possibly other provisions inadvertently omitted herein. Furthermore, Claimant is entitled to bring a wage/hour claim on behalf of all current and former similarly situated employees of the Company. Thus, the Company is exposed to these same penalties for violations involving all Aggrieved Employees.

Additionally, Claimant seeks attorney's fees pursuant to C.C.P. § 1021.5. Please construe this correspondence as Claimants' notification of alleged wrongdoing and attempted resolution in accordance with C.C.P. § 1021.5 and Graham v. DaimlerChrysler Corp. (2004) 34 Cal.4th 553.

CONCLUSION

Based on the foregoing, the Company may be liable for penalties, including unpaid wages under Labor Code § 558, related to the foregoing claims and remedies. If Claimant becomes aware of any additional claims for Labor Code violations related to his employment and/or other employees of the Company, she reserves the right to add new claims by amending this claim letter.
