CA 90049. Ajay Beri (“Beri”) is and was an owner, manager, supervisor, or otherwise an agent of Fresh Juice Development, LLC dba Jamba Juice, and who was responsible for carrying out the directions, HR policies, practices and procedures that FJD would use for its employees. (“FJD” and “Beri” are collectively referred to as “Defendants”).

Ms. Morales and the other aggrieved employees were and are employees of restaurants owned and operated by Fresh Juice Development LLC dba/ Jamba Juice. During their employment, Ms. Morales and the other aggrieved employees worked more than eight (8) hours per day and forty (40) hours per week without receiving overtime and double wages. Further, Ms. Morales and the other aggrieved employees worked without receiving an uninterrupted meal period every five (5) hours worked, and without receiving an uninterrupted rest period every four (4) hours worked. Ms. Morales and the other aggrieved employees were not provided all wages earned and unpaid at the time of their discharge, and were denied minimum wages, straight wages, overtime and double time. Lastly, Ms. Morales and the other aggrieved employees were not provided with accurate itemized statements reflecting all wages earned and were not reimbursed for job related expenses.

Ms. Morales is, therefore an “aggrieved employee” as defined in California Labor Code section 2699, subdivision (a) and brings this complaint under the PAGA on behalf of herself and all other non-exempt Employees. In engaging in the conduct as described above, the Defendants have violated, and continue to violate, provisions of Labor Code and wage orders promulgated by the Industrial Welfare Commission (“IWC Wage Order 5-2001”) including, but not limited to the following:

Unlawful Failure to Pay Overtime

Defendants have failed to maintain a policy that compensates its nonexempt employees for all hours worked, including overtime. Specifically, Defendants only pays its aggrieved employees a flat rate for all hours worked. Ms. Morales and the other aggrieved employees work over eight (8) hours per day and forty (40) hours per week, seven (7) days a week, but are not paid one and one-half their regular rate of pay for overtime work or double time for all hours over eight (8) per day and all hours on the seventh consecutive day of work. As a result of violations of California Labor Code 10, 1194, and Industrial Welfare Commission Wage Order 5-2001 for failure to pay overtime and double time, Defendants are liable for civil penalties pursuant to California Labor Code §§ 558 and 2698 et seq.

Unlawful Failure to Provide Unpaid Balance of Full Amount of Overtime Compensation

As described above, Defendants have required Ms. Morales and the other aggrieved employees to work hours in excess of eight (8) hours a day and/or in excess of forty (40) hours per week, and/or seven (7) days per week and were not paid all wages earned at the time of discharge. Thus, employees have been denied “the unpaid balance of the full amount of this... overtime compensation” as required by California Labor Code § 1194, and Defendants are liable for civil penalties pursuant to California Labor Code § 2698 et seq.

Unlawful Failure to Pay Minimum Wage

Defendants have failed to maintain a policy that compensates its employees an amount of equal to or greater than the minimum wage for all hours worked, as required by California Labor Code § § 1194, 1197, 1197.1 and Industrial Welfare Commission Wage Order 5-2001. All hours must be paid at the statutory or agreed rate and no part of this rate may be used as a credit against a minimum wage obligation. As a result of violations of California Labor Code § § 1194, 1197, 1197.1 and Industrial Welfare Commission Wage Order 5-2001 for failure to pay minimum wage, Ms. Morales and other similarly situated individuals are entitled to liquidated damages and Defendants are also liable for civil penalties pursuant to California Labor Code § 558, 1197, 1197.1, and 2698 et seq.

Defendants have failed to maintain a policy that provides its nonexempt employees with off-duty meal periods as required by California law. Ms. Morales and similarly situated nonexempt employees regularly worked in excess of twelve (12) hours a day without being provided a first meal period in the first five hours and a second meal period at or around the tenth hours as required by Labor Code §§ 226.7, 512, and Wage Order 5-2001. Defendants also failed to pay the aggrieved employees the premium compensation mandated by Labor § 226.7(B) for these missed meal periods. As a result of violation of Wage Order 5-2001 California Labor Code §§ 226.7 and 512, Defendants are liable for civil penalties pursuant to California Labor Code §§ 558 and 2698 et seq.

Unlawful Failure to Provide Uninterrupted Off-Duty Rest Periods

Defendants have failed to maintain a policy that provides Ms. Morales and the other aggrieved employees with off-duty rest periods as required by California law. Ms. Morales and the other aggrieved employees worked five (5) or more hours without being provided at least a ten-minute rest period every four (4) hours, in which they were relieved of all duties, as required by Labor Code § 226.7, 512 and Wage Order 5-2001. Defendants failed to pay Ms. Morales and similarly situated employees the premium compensation mandated by Labor Code § 226.7(b) for these missed rest periods. As a result of violations of California Labor Code §§ 226.7, 512 and Wage Order 5-2001, Defendants are liable for civil penalties pursuant to California Labor Code §§ 558 and 2698 et seq.

Unlawful Failure to Furnish Accurate Wage Statements

Defendants have violated California Labor Code § 226(a) by willfully failing to furnish its nonexempt employees with accurate, itemized wage statements showing the actual hours worked on a daily basis. Under California Labor Code §§ 1199(a) and (c) and 2699.5 et seq., an employer who “requires or causes an employee to work for longer hours than those fixed” or “violates or refuses or neglects to comply with any provision of the Labor Code Regarding employees’ wages, hours and working conditions,” is subject to PAGA penalties. As described above, Defendants have required its nonexempt employees to work hours in excess of eight (8) hours in a day and forty (40) in a week (thereby violating § 1199(a)) and have violated numerous provisions of the Labor Code pertaining to employee wages and hours (thereby violating§ 1199(b)). Accordingly, Defendants are liable for civil penalties pursuant to California Labor Code§ 2698 et seq.

Unlawful Failure to Pay All Wages Twice Each Calendar Month

Defendants have failed to compensate Ms. Morales and other similarly situated employees for wages due for all missed meal periods. Accordingly, Defendants violated California Labor Code§ 204(a), which requires that employers pay “all wages [...] twice during each calendar month on days designated in advance by the employer as the regular paydays “(emphasis added). As a result, Defendants are liable for civil penalties pursuant to California Labor Code§ 2698 et seq.

Failure to Enforce Maximum Hours of Work

Additionally, because Defendants failed to enforce the maximum hours of work fixed by the Industrial Welfare Commission with respect to Ms. Morales and other similarly situated employees as required by California Labor Code§ 1198, Defendants are liable for civil penalties pursuant to California Labor Code§ 2698 et seq.

Defendants willfully failed to pay its nonexempt employees who are no longer employed by it all compensation due upon termination of employment as required under California Labor Code§§ 201 and 202. Pursuant to §§ 203 and 256 of the Labor Code, Ms. Morales and the other aggrieved employees and similarly situated individuals are also entitled to recover up to thirty (30) days of wages due to Defendants’ “willful” failure to comply with the statutory requirements of sections 201 and 202 of the Labor Code. Additionally, because Defendants violated California Labor

Code §§ 201, 201 and 203 of the Labor Code, Defendants are liable for civil penalties pursuant to California Labor Code § 2698 at seq.

Unlawful Failure to Compensate Pay Job Related Expenses

Defendants have violated California Labor Code § 2802, by willfully failing to compensate Ms. Morales and the other aggrieved employees for all expenses incurred as a result of their employment. Pursuant to §§200, 203, 218.5, 226, 226.7, 512, 1194, 1198 and 2802 of the Labor Code, Ms. Morales and the other aggrieved employees and similarly situated individuals are also entitled to recover nonpayment of expenses for Defendants' "willful" failure to comply with the statutory requirements of sections 2802 of the Labor Code. Additionally, because Defendants violated California Labor Code § 2802 of the Labor Code, Defendants are liable for civil penalties pursuant to California Labor Code § 2698 at seq.
