MEMORANDUM OF POINTS AND AUTHORITIES

I. INTRODUCTION

Representative PAGA Plaintiff Dalia Delgado (“Plaintiff”) moves this Court for an order granting approval of the proposed settlement of this representative Private Attorneys General Act of 2004, Labor Code §§ 2698, et seq., (“PAGA”) action against Avalon Villa Health Care, LLC (“Defendant”).¹ This PAGA action alleges that Defendant violated certain California Labor Code provisions resulting from its pay, meal period, rest break, wage statement and expense reimbursement practices.² The proposed $300,000 settlement will dispose of the PAGA claims asserted on behalf of the Plaintiff and all persons within the State of California who are or were employed by Defendant in the State of California as hourly or non-exempt employees at any time from April 28, 2022 through November 21, 2024, inclusive (the “PAGA Release Period”), (referred to as the “PAGA Group”).³

The proposed settlement embodies all the features of a settlement that is fair, reasonable, and adequate. It is the product of (1) arms-length negotiations, (2) negotiated by attorneys experienced in wage-and-hour issues, (3) subsequent to undertaking sufficient investigation necessary to evaluate the relative strength and value of the PAGA claims, and (4) it reflects a reasoned compromise based directly on the relative strength and value of the PAGA claims, as well as the risks, expense, complexity, and likely duration of further litigation.⁴

The settlement achieves a fair and reasonable benefit for the State of California’s Labor and Workforce Development Agency (“LWDA”) and the approximately 300 members of the PAGA Group.⁵ The Settlement Agreement allocates approximately $174,337.01 to the settlement of the PAGA claims (referred to as the “Net Settlement Amount”).⁶ As required by the Labor Code, from the estimated $174,337.01 Net Settlement Amount, 75% ($130,752.76) will be distributed to the LWDA and 25% ($43,584.25) will be paid to the PAGA Group (i.e., the aggrieved employees).⁷ The $43,584.25 to be paid to the PAGA Group members will be distributed according to the formula set forth in the Settlement Agreement.⁸

This is a reasonable recovery in light of the fact that Defendant has raised what it considers to be substantial defenses to Plaintiff’s claims on the merits and the Court’s inherent authority to set the amount of PAGA penalties at less than the statutory maximum. Plaintiff’s Counsel determined the risk to recovery to be significant and negotiated a settlement that they view as fair, reasonable and adequate for the LWDA and PAGA Group under the circumstances.⁹

For these reasons, as set forth more fully herein, Plaintiff requests that this Court enter an order approving the PAGA settlement. In a separate motion being filed today, Plaintiff seeks an order awarding attorneys’ fees and costs, an enhancement award for Plaintiff Delgado, and the approval of Simpluris, Inc. as the Settlement Administrator and approval for payment of the settlement administration fees.

II. STATEMENT OF THE CASE AND PROCEDURAL HISTORY

A. The Parties

Defendant operates assisted living facilities throughout California.¹⁰ Plaintiff Delgado worked for Defendant as an hourly dietary aid from approximately June 6, 2019 through October 31, 2022.¹¹ The PAGA Group is defined as: “All persons within the State of California who are or were employed by Defendant in the State of California as hourly or non-exempt employees at

⁶ Ex. 1 at § I.J; see also, §§ I.P, VI, X, XI. The remaining $125,662.99 of the $300,000 Settlement Amount is allocated to attorneys’ fees ($100,000) and litigation costs (estimated to be $14,162.99), enhancement award to Plaintiff ($7,500), and settlement administration costs (estimated to be $4,000). any time within the PAGA Release Period.”¹² The “PAGA Release Period” is defined as the period from and including April 28, 2022 through November 21, 2024, inclusive.¹³

B. Plaintiff’s exhaustion of administrative remedies and filing of the Complaint.

On April 28, 2023, pursuant to Labor Code § 2699.3’s exhaustion requirements, Plaintiff gave written notice of her PAGA claims to the LWDA and Defendant.¹⁴ After satisfying the administrative requirements of Labor Code § 2699.3(a), Plaintiff filed the operative complaint on July 5, 2023 in Los Angeles County Superior Court against Defendant alleging in PAGA claims under Labor Code §§ 2698, et seq., based on alleged violations of Labor Code §§ 201, 202, 203, 204, 226(a), 226.3, 226.7, 510, 512, 1194, 1194.2, 1197, 1197.1, 1198, 1199, and 2802 and seeking penalties pursuant to Labor Code §§ 2699(f) and attorneys’ fees pursuant to Labor Code § 2699(g)(1).¹⁵

C. Summary of the litigation and settlement process.

After engaging motion practice, the Parties discussed the potential for settlement and agreed to engage in private mediation. In advance of the mediation, the Parties agreed to exchange informal discovery.¹⁶ Defendant produced information and documents relevant to the PAGA claims, including that there are approximately 300 individuals who meet the PAGA Group definition who worked approximately 10,000 pay periods during the PAGA Release Period.¹⁷ That documentation along with other relevant data obtained during discovery enabled Plaintiff to evaluate the PAGA claims in preparation for mediation.¹⁸

On November 21, 2024, the Parties participated in a formal mediation session with Kelly A. Knight, Esq., during which the Parties engaged in good faith, arm’s-length negotiations. With the mediator’s assistance, the Parties were able to resolve the PAGA claims, subject to the Court’s

1 approval.¹⁹

2 Through their counsel, the Parties have set forth all terms of the PAGA settlement in a
3 more detailed, formalized Settlement Agreement,²⁰ which Plaintiff now submits to the Court for 4 approval.

5 D. The Proposed Settlement

6 1) The benefits to the LWDA and the PAGA Group.

7 The Settlement Agreement provides that, to settle this matter, Defendant will pay $300,000
8 (the “Settlement Amount”).²¹ The Settlement Amount shall be all inclusive, encompassing (i) all 9 payments to the LWDA and the PAGA Group, (ii) all costs of third-party administration of the 10 settlement, (iii) Plaintiff’s Counsel’s attorneys’ fees and costs of suit, and (iv) the enhancement
11 payment to the named Plaintiff.²²

12 If all requests are approved, the estimated total sum available for payment of PAGA
13 penalties (i.e., the Net Settlement Amount”) is calculated by deducting $100,000 for the payment
14 of Plaintiff’s Counsel’s fees and $14,162.99 in actual litigation costs, a $7,500 enhancement
15 payment to the Plaintiff, and administration costs of up to $4,000 from the Settlement Amount, 16 leaving an estimated $174,337.01 Net Settlement Amount to be distributed to the LWDA and the 17 PAGA Group members.²³

18 As required by Labor Code § 2699(i), the Net Settlement Amount will be paid 75%
19 (approximately $130,752.76) to the LWDA and 25% (approximately $43,584.25) to the PAGA
20 Group members.²⁴ The $130,752.76 that the LWDA will receive will be used for labor law
21 enforcement and education.²⁵

22
23 ¹⁹ Ex. 1 at § II.B; Spencer Decl. at ¶¶ 14-16.

24 ²⁰ Spencer Decl. at ¶ 15, Ex. 1.

25 ²¹ Ex. 1 at §§ I.P, VIII.B.

26 ²² Ex. 1 at § I.P.

27 ²³ Ex. 1 at § I.J, see also, §§ I.P, VI, X, XI; Spencer Decl. at ¶ 20.

Code § 2699(c) (PAGA defines “aggrieved employee” as “any person who was employed by the alleged violator and against whom one or more of the alleged violations was committed.”).

²⁵ Lab. Code § 2699(i); Ex. 1 at § I.I; Spencer Decl. at ¶ 21.

The PAGA Group members will divide their portion based on the formula set forth in the Settlement Agreement, which, in summary, provides that the portion of the Net Settlement Amount to be distributed to the PAGA Group shall be divided by the total number of full pay periods, with partial pay periods rounded up to the next whole number, as determined by Defendant's records, for all times during the PAGA Release Period which the PAGA Group worked for Defendant. This amount shall be known as the "Pay Period Value." Each member of the PAGA Group shall be paid an amount equal to the number of individual pay periods he or she worked for Defendant during the PAGA Release Period multiplied by the Pay Period Value.²⁶ On average, each PAGA Group member will receive approximately $145.28.²⁷ PAGA Group members do not need to submit a claim to receive a settlement payment.²⁸

2) The PAGA Release.

All PAGA claims alleged in the Complaint are released as part of the settlement.²⁹ In exchange for the above-described settlement consideration, Defendant shall be entitled to the following release from the Plaintiff on behalf of the LWDA.³⁰

Upon approval of this settlement by the Court, Plaintiff, individually and as a representative acting as a proxy or agent of the LWDA, a State of California Executive Branch Agency, in this Litigation, agrees to release Defendant and Defendant's officers, directors, owners, shareholders partners, current and former employees, parents, subsidiaries, affiliates, attorneys, insurers, and all agents thereof (collectively, the "Released Parties"), of and from any and all claims under the California Labor Code Private Attorneys General Act of 2004 ("PAGA"), Labor Code §§ 2698, et seq., that were or could have been alleged on behalf of non-exempt employees based on the factual allegations and identified Labor Code sections in the LWDA Letter and/or operative pleading for the Litigation, including, but not limited to, any claim for failure to pay wages (including minimum wage and overtime), claims regarding Superior Court* (2009) 46 Cal.4th 969, 987 ("[W]ith respect to the recovery of civil penalties, nonparty employees as well as the government are bound by the judgment in an action brought under the act...."). The PAGA Group members do not individually release any claims as part of the settlement.

failure to pay for off-the-clock work, including but not limited to time spent undergoing covid safety checks, security checks, working through meal periods, engaging in pre- or post-shift activities, responding to work-related inquiries off-the-clock, reducing time actually worked in Defendant's timekeeping system, and/or deducting time for meal periods that were not actually taken, failure to pay wages at the appropriate or proper rate of pay, failure to timely pay wages during employment, failure to timely pay wages upon separation of employment, failure to provide meal periods including first and subsequent meal periods, short, late, and/or interrupted meal periods, failure to pay meal period premium payments including failure to pay meal period premiums at the proper rate of pay, failure to authorize and permit rest periods including first and subsequent rest periods, short, late, and/or interrupted rest periods, failure to pay rest period premium payments including failure to pay rest period premium payments at the proper rate of pay, failure to issue accurate wage statements, failure to timely pay all wages owed both during and at any cessation of employment, and/or failure to reimburse business expenses. This Release shall include all claims and theories arising under California Labor Code sections §§ 201-203, 204, 224, 226(a), 226.3, 226.7, 510, 512, 1194, 1194.2, 1197, 1197.1, 1198, 1199, and 2802, as well as all applicable Industrial Welfare Commission ("IWC") Wage Orders during the PAGA Release Period (the "Released Claims"). The Parties further agree to release all claims for costs, fees, and interest related to the Released Claims. The Parties further agree that this Agreement and judgment to be entered by the Court following approval of this settlement forever bars Plaintiff and the LWDA, directly or through any other proxy or agent, from any future prosecution of any of the Released Claims against any of the Released Parties.³¹

In addition, Plaintiff is providing a General Release of her individual claims against Defendant.³²

The General Release applies only to Plaintiff Delgado and not to other PAGA Group members.³³

3) PAGA Notice.

Under the settlement, the Parties have agreed to provide a Notice of Settlement

³¹ See Ex. 1 at § V.A. See Arias, supra, 46 Cal.4th at 987 ("[T]he nonparty employees, because they were not given notice of the action or afforded any opportunity to be heard, would not be bound by the judgment as to remedies other than civil penalties.") This stands in contrast to the scope of release permitted in the class action context, where class members have a right to notice and the right to exclude themselves from the action. See Villacres v. ABM Industries Inc. (2010) 189 Cal.App.4th 562, 586 ("[A] court may release not only those claims alleged in the complaint and before the court, but also claims which 'could have been alleged by reason of or in connection with any matter or fact set forth or referred to in' the complaint.").

³² Ex. 1 at § V.B.

³³ Ex. 1 at § V.B.

1 (“Notice”) notifying the PAGA Group members about the settlement terms.³⁴ The settlement
2 requires Defendant to provide the Settlement Administrator with the following information for 3 each PAGA Group member: name, last known home address, number of pay periods as a PAGA
4 Group member during the PAGA Release Period, and social security number (collectively
5 referred to as the “PAGA List”) no later than 21 calendar days after the Effective Date.³⁵ After 6 updating the PAGA List, the Settlement Administrator will mail the Notice and the Individual
7 Settlement Payment check to each member of the PAGA Group no later than 28 calendar days
8 after the Settlement Administrator receives the complete Settlement Amount.³⁶ It should be 9 noted that Defendant is funding the settlement amount in six (6) monthly instalment payments
10 of $50,0000, the first of which shall be deposited with the Settlement Administrator by 11 Defendant within 30 calendar days of the date upon which the Court grants approval of the 12 Settlement.³⁷

13 Under the settlement terms, for any Individual Settlement Payment check that is returned
14 as undeliverable, the Settlement Administrator shall promptly attempt to locate the PAGA Group
15 member by performing an additional skip-trace and shall remail the Individual Settlement 16 Payment check.³⁸ If the Settlement Administrator is unable to obtain a valid mailing address for 17 a returned check through this process, after the check void date, the Settlement Administrator
18 will send the monies represented by the check to the LWDA.³⁹

19 4) Residual from uncashed checks.

20 The Settlement Administrator shall void any settlement checks that remain uncashed
21 more than 180 days after issuance and the Settlement Administrator will remit the entire amount
22 of each PAGA Group member’s uncashed Individual Settlement Payment to the LWDA.⁴⁰

3 The Settlement Agreement provides that Simpluris, Inc. will administer the settlement.⁴¹

4 6) Settlement administration, attorneys’ fees and costs, and the Plaintiff’s
5 enhancement payment.

6 The Settlement Agreement also provides for the payment of settlement administration fees, 7 award of attorneys’ fees and costs, and enhancement payment for Plaintiff.⁴² Those terms are 8 discussed in the memorandum accompanying the Motion for Award of Attorneys’ Fees and Costs, 9 Plaintiff’s Enhancement Award and Settlement Administration Fees that is being filed
10 concurrently with this motion.

11 7) Notification to the LWDA of the Settlement.

12 As detailed in the Declaration of Robert W. Spencer, filed concurrently with the submission 13 of the Settlement Agreement to the Court, Plaintiff is submitting the settlement to the LWDA as 14 required by Labor Code § 2699(1)(2).⁴³

15 III. LEGAL ARGUMENT

16 A. Standards for approval of a PAGA settlement.

17 The settlement of a PAGA claim requires court approval pursuant to the operative PAGA 18 statute. Section 2699(1)(2) provides that the court must “review and approve any settlement of any 19 civil action filed pursuant to [PAGA].” The California Supreme Court has noted that the trial 20 court’s review and approval of PAGA settlements ensures “that any negotiated resolution is fair
21 to those affected.”⁴⁴

22 As with any settlement, the court conducts its inquiry staying mindful that “[s]ettlement is 23 a compromise, which balances the possible recovery against the risks inherent in litigating 24 further.”⁴⁵ Indeed, “the very essence of a settlement is ... ‘a yielding of absolutes and an

26 ⁴² Ex. 1 at §§ VI, X, XI; see also, §§ I.A, I.M, I.O.

27 ⁴³ Spencer Decl. at ¶ 49.

⁴⁵ See In re TD Ameritrade Account Holder Litig. (N.D. Cal. Sept. 12, 2011) No. C 07-2852 SBA and C 07-4903 SBA, 2011 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 103222, at *24.

1 abandoning of highest hopes,”⁴⁶ as “it is the very uncertainty of outcome in litigation and 2 avoidance of wasteful and expensive litigation that induce consensual settlements.”⁴⁷ As such,
3 “the settlement or fairness hearing is not to be turned into a trial or rehearsal for trial on the merits”
4 or “judged against a hypothetical or speculative measure of what might have been achieved by the 5 negotiators.”⁴⁸

6 Although Section 2699(l) does not set forth the criteria on which a PAGA settlement is to 7 be judged, controlling California case law has held that “a trial court should evaluate a PAGA
8 settlement to determine whether it is fair, reasonable, and adequate in view of PAGA’s purposes
9 to remediate present labor law violations, deter future ones, and to maximize enforcement of state
10 labor laws.”⁴⁹ PAGA is intended to incentivize private parties to recover civil penalties on behalf
11 of the overburdened state enforcement agencies who otherwise would have assessed and collected
12 the civil penalties themselves.⁵⁰

13 When assessing a PAGA settlement, courts utilize some of the factors used to evaluate the 14 fairness of a class action settlement, which can include the strength of the plaintiff’s case, the risk, 15 expense, complexity and likely duration of further litigation, and the experience and views of counsel.⁵¹ It, however, is important to underscore that the California Supreme Court has found that, “[a]lthough representative in nature, a PAGA claim is not simply a collection of individual claims for relief, and so is different from a class action.”⁵² A PAGA action “is fundamentally a law enforcement action designed to protect the public and not to benefit private parties.”⁵³ In a PAGA action, the plaintiff employee serves as a proxy for the LWDA.⁵⁴ As a result, certain factors relevant to a class action settlement do not apply when assessing the fairness of a PAGA settlement.

In addition, other factors that are not relevant in the class action context are relevant in the PAGA settlement context.⁵⁵ First, as noted, a court assesses a PAGA settlement’s adequacy based on whether the total settlement achieves PAGA’s objective,⁵⁶ which is “to protect the public” with “the potential impact on remedies other than civil penalties [being] ancillary to the action’s primary objective.”⁵⁷ That said, a PAGA settlement – like any settlement – involves a compromise that stops short of rendering findings of liability and damages.

Second, because they have no property interest in a PAGA claim,⁵⁸ “PAGA has no notice requirements for unnamed aggrieved employees, nor may such employees opt out of a PAGA

1 action.”⁵⁹ The California Supreme Court has explained that “absent employees do not own a 2 personal claim for PAGA civil penalties and whatever personal claims the absent employees might 3 have for relief are not at stake.”⁶⁰ This renders the approval process of a PAGA settlement distinct
4 from a class action settlement, as there is no need for the Court to employ the “two-step approval
5 process” required under California Rule of Court 3.769 and FRCP Rule 23(e).⁶¹

6 Finally, unlike in a class action settlement, the scope of release permitted in a PAGA
7 settlement is limited. While “judgment in [a PAGA] action is binding not only on the named 8 employee plaintiff but also on government agencies and any aggrieved employee not a party to the 9 proceeding,”⁶² “the nonparty employees, because they were not given notice of the action or 10 afforded any opportunity to be heard, would not be bound by the judgment as to remedies other 11 than civil penalties.”⁶³ Thus, the scope of a release in a PAGA settlement is necessarily limited to 12 PAGA claims.

13 B. The settlement meets all the criteria for approval.

14 The proposed settlement embodies all the key features of a settlement that is fair, 15 reasonable, adequate, and as such, meets all the criteria necessary for approval.

16 1) The factors giving rise to a presumption of fairness exist.

17 When reviewing a settlement, “a presumption of fairness exists where: (1) the settlement 18 is reached through arm’s-length bargaining; (2) investigation and discovery are sufficient to allow

21 ⁵⁹ See e.g., Turrieta v. Lyft, Inc. (2021) 69 Cal.App.5th 955, 974 (“PAGA has no notice

25 ⁶¹ The Rule 23(e) two-step process facilitates “notice” to absent class members by requiring “(1)
26 preliminary approval of the settlement; and (2) final approval of the settlement at a fairness hearing
27 following notice to the class.” See, e.g., In re TD Ameritrade, supra, 2011 U.S. Dist. LEXIS counsel and the court to act intelligently; [and] (3) counsel is experienced in similar litigation.”⁶⁴

In this case, the proposed Settlement (1) is the product of arms-length negotiations,⁶⁵ (2) occurred after Plaintiff’s Counsel had conducted sufficient investigation to evaluate the strength and potential value of the PAGA claims, as well as evaluating the risks of litigating these claims through trial,⁶⁶ and (3) was negotiated by Plaintiff’s Counsel with significant experience in similar wage and hour litigation.⁶⁷ As a result, the proposed PAGA settlement warrants a presumption of fairness.

2) The risk, expense, and complexity of further litigation balances strongly in favor of approval of the Settlement.

The proposed settlement takes into consideration the risks that this action faces in establishing Defendant’s liability. Defendant has raised what it considers to be substantial defenses to Plaintiff’s claims and continued litigation posed the risk of diminishing any possible recovery by increasing litigation expenses.⁶⁸ Those combined risks, balanced with the fact that the settlement achieved a significant recovery, as demonstrated below, weigh strongly in favor of settlement approval.

3) The benefits conferred by the settlement balance in favor of approval.

The proposed settlement provides a significant monetary benefit for the LWDA and a reasonable monetary benefit for the PAGA Group. As the Ninth Circuit has held, a settlement may be fair and reasonable even where it only provides a fraction of what could have been obtained at trial:

The proposed settlement is not to be judged against a hypothetical or speculative measure of what might have been achieved by the negotiators. Thus, the very essence of a settlement is compromise, a yielding of absolutes and an abandoning of highest hopes. ... The fact that a proposed settlement may only amount to a fraction of the potential recovery does not, in and of itself, mean that the proposed settlement is grossly inadequate and should be disapproved.⁶⁹

There are 300 PAGA Group members who worked approximately 10,000 pay periods during the PAGA Release Period.⁷⁰ At $100 per pay period, a PAGA award would amount to $10,000,000.⁷¹ However, Labor Code § 2699(e)(2) however allows a court to reduce the amount of a PAGA penalty at the court's discretion. And, as a number of reported cases demonstrate, many courts end up awarding substantially less than the full amount in PAGA penalties.⁷²

Under the Settlement Agreement, after all deductions are made for settlement administration, service payment to the Plaintiff, and attorneys' fees and costs, approximately $130,752.76 of the settlement funds will be paid out to the LWDA.⁷³ PAGA requires that the LWDA use the funds for education and enforcement purposes.⁷⁴ That is a substantial benefit to the State.

The remaining $43,584.25 will be distributed to the PAGA Group based on the formula set forth in the Settlement Agreement.⁷⁵ The amount is reasonable and fair in light of the PAGA claims here and Defendant's asserted defenses.

4) The scope of the release is narrowly tailored.

The release bars the Plaintiff and the LWDA from prosecuting any claims covered by the Settlement Agreement through the PAGA Release Period.⁷⁶ Under Arias, that precludes any other member of the PAGA Group from asserting such claims on behalf of the LWDA in a future action but does not impact any other claims that any member of the PAGA Group may have.⁷⁷ The California Supreme Court has concluded that, in the context of PAGA, “the nonparty employees, because they were not given notice of the action or afforded any opportunity to be heard, would not be bound by the judgment as to remedies other than civil penalties.”⁷⁸ Thus, the scope of the release provided in exchange for the foregoing consideration is limited to the civil penalties asserted in this action under Labor Code §§ 2698 *et seq.*⁷⁹ As such, this factor balances strongly in favor of approval of the proposed settlement.

5) The experience and views of Plaintiff’s Counsel favor approval of the settlement.

Plaintiff’s Counsel has significant experience in complex wage and hour litigation.⁸⁰ In the view of Plaintiff’s Counsel, the benefit conferred by the proposed settlement is fair, reasonable, and adequate under the circumstances, as it reflects a reasoned compromise which takes into consideration the risks inherent in this case which have the potential to completely eliminate recovery.⁸¹ As such, this factor weighs in favor of approval of the proposed settlement.

6) The extent of completed discovery and the stage of the proceedings favor approval of the proposed settlement.

In evaluating this element, the relevant consideration is whether “the parties have sufficient information to make an informed decision about settlement.”⁸² And as the Ninth Circuit has noted, ““formal discovery is not a necessary ticket to the bargaining table.””⁸³

Here, the extent of discovery was sufficient to enable Plaintiff’s Counsel to evaluate the

1 strength and value of the claims for purposes of settlement.⁸⁴ The information obtained in this case
2 in preparation for trial and, ultimately, mediation, enabled Plaintiff's Counsel to make a realistic
3 assessment of the strength of the PAGA claims.⁸⁵

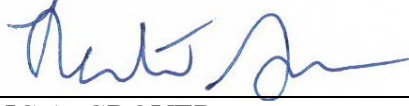

4 Based on Plaintiff's Counsel's experience litigating wage and hour claims, such 5 investigation was sufficient to determine the potential value of the PAGA claims, and to evaluate 6 the strength of these claims for purposes of settlement.

7 IV. CONCLUSION

8 As shown herein, the Settlement Agreement is fair, adequate and reasonable, as it represents 9 a reasoned compromise obtained through arm's-length negotiations. For all the reasons set forth 10 above, Plaintiff respectfully requests that this Court approve the settlement.
