Re: Notice Pursuant to California Labor Code § 2699.3

Employee: Debra Graves

Employers: Universal Protection Service LP, d/b/a Allied Universal Security Services

To Whom It May Concern:

This office represents Debra Graves (“Ms. Graves”), who was employed by Universal Protection Service LP, d/b/a Allied Universal Security Services (“Allied Universal” or “Employer”). Pursuant to the California Labor Code Private Attorneys General Act of 2004 (“PAGA”), Labor Code § 2698, et seq., this letter sets forth the specific provisions of the Labor

Code and Industrial Welfare Commission (“IWC”) Wage Order No. 4-2001, which Ms. Graves alleges Allied Universal has violated, including the facts and theories to support the alleged violations. Please be advised that this letter constitutes written notice required by Labor Code § 2699.3, subdivisions (a)(1)(A) and (c)(1)(A) and may lead to immediate action against Allied Universal in a court of law and/or administrative proceedings, as well as the imposition of substantial penalties and other remedies against Allied Universal. Enclosed please find a draft of Ms. Graves’ proposed complaint, which is incorporated by reference into this notice.

This letter also serves as notice of Ms. Graves’ demand for preservation and non-spoliation of evidence, requesting that all relevant documents and data be saved and that all electronic files and hard-copy documents that are related to her employment and potential claims must be preserved, even without a court order.

Spoliation of evidence may result in legal claims for damages and monetary and evidentiary sanctions, including “adverse inference” jury instructions. Furthermore, intentional spoliation of evidence may carry criminal consequences pursuant to California Penal Code § 135. A detailed preservation and non-spoliation of evidence letter has preceded this one.

We are investigating a potential class and representative action on behalf of Allied Universal’s current and former non-exempt employees in the State of California regarding, among other things, the following violations: failure to provide meal and rest periods to employees in violation of Labor Code §§ 226.7 and 512 and Wage Order No. 4-2001, §§ 11-12; failure to pay one additional hour of compensation at the employee’s regular rate of compensation for each workday that a meal or rest period is not provided in violation of Labor Code § 226.7 and Wage Order No. 4-2001, §§ 11(B) and 12(B); failure to pay employees minimum wages for all hours worked in violation of Labor Code §§ 1194, 1197 and 1197.1 and Wage Order No. 4-2001, § 4; failure to pay employees overtime wages in violation of Labor Code §§ 510 and 1194 and Wage Order No. 4-2001, § 3; failure to timely pay employees all wages earned in violation of Labor Code § 204; willful failure to pay all wages due to discharged and quitting employees in violation of Labor Code §§ 201-203; failure to furnish accurate itemized wage statements to employees in violation of Labor Code § 226; and failure to maintain required records pursuant to Labor Code §§ 226, 1174 and 1174.5 and Wage Order No. 4-2001, § 7.

The allegations made by Ms. Graves on behalf of herself and all other similarly-situated current and former non-exempt employees of Allied Universal in the State of California during the four years preceding the date of this notice are based on the following facts and theories: meal periods were less than thirty minutes, late (first meal periods starting after the fifth hour of work and/or second meal periods starting after the tenth hour), not given at all (including second meal periods after ten hours of work), or interrupted; rest periods were less than ten minutes, not provided, interrupted, and/or late; employees were not provided one hour of pay for each workday a meal period was not provided; employees were not provided one hour of pay for each workday a rest break was not authorized and permitted; and employees were not paid proper minimum and overtime wages for all hours worked as required by California law.¹ Given the overtime, meal period and rest period violations and Allied Universal's failure to compensate their employees fully, as set forth above, employees' wage statements were inaccurate and failed to comply with California law. In short, Allied Universal's unlawful employment practices and policies have deprived their employees of earned wages and other compensation.

Failure to Provide Meal Periods

Pursuant to Labor Code §§ 226.7 and 512 and Wage Order No. 4-2001, § 11, an employer is required to provide meal periods to its employees. An employer must provide a meal period to any employee who works a shift of more than five (5) hours and a second meal period to any employee who works a shift of more than ten (10) hours. Furthermore, an employer must pay one extra hour of compensation for each workday a meal period is not provided.

If an employee is not relieved of all duty during a meal period, the meal period shall be considered an "on duty" meal period and counted as time worked. A paid "on duty" meal period is permitted only when 1) the nature of the work prevents an employee from being relieved of all duty and 2) the parties have agreed in writing to on duty meal periods.

Ms. Graves and other aggrieved employees are non-exempt employees and are entitled to the protections of California Labor Code §§ 226.7 and 512 and Wage Order No. 4-2001, § 11. Allied Universal failed to provide their employees timely and uninterrupted thirty-minute meal breaks. In fact, Ms. Graves' and other aggrieved employees' meal periods were short (less than thirty minutes), late (first meal periods after the fifth hour of work and second meal periods after the tenth hour), interrupted and/or missed. Allied Universal consistently failed to provide Ms. Graves and other aggrieved employees meal breaks because Ms. Graves and other aggrieved employees were given too much work to perform to take meal breaks.

Allied Universal further violated Labor Code § 226.7 and Wage Order No. 4-2001 by failing to compensate Ms. Graves and other aggrieved employees who were not provided with meal periods in accordance with California law one additional hour of pay at each employee's regular rate of compensation for each workday a meal period was not provided.

Failure to Authorize and Permit Rest Periods

Pursuant to Labor Code § 226.7 and Wage Order No. 4-2001, § 12, an employer is required to provide rest periods to its employees. An employer must provide a ten (10) minute rest period for every four (4) hours worked or major action thereof which insofar as practicable shall be in the middle of each work period. Furthermore, an employer must pay one extra hour of compensation for each workday a rest period is not authorized and permitted.

Ms. Graves and other aggrieved employees were and are non-exempt employees and are entitled to the protections of Labor Code § 226.7 and Wage Order No. 4-2001. Allied Universal facts and the theory." Gutierrez v. California Commerce Club, Inc., 187 Cal. App. 4th 969, 979 n.5 (2010).

failed to authorize and permit their employees to take required rest periods. Specifically, Allied Universal maintained a policy or practice of not authorizing and permitting Ms. Graves and other aggrieved employees to take one 10-minute rest break for shifts 3.5-6.0 hours, a second rest break for shifts greater than 6 hours and less than or equal to 10 hours, and a third rest break for shifts in excess of 10 hours. Allied Universal consistently failed to authorize and permit Ms. Graves and other similarly-situated individuals to take rest breaks because Ms. Graves and other similarly-situated individuals were given too much work to perform to take rest breaks. When Ms. Graves and other aggrieved employees were able to take rest breaks, Allied Universal failed to authorize and permit Ms. Graves and other aggrieved employees to take their rest breaks in the middle of each work period insofar as practicable.

Allied Universal further violated Labor Code § 226.7 and Wage Order No. 4-2001, § 12 by failing to pay Ms. Graves and other aggrieved employees one additional hour of pay at each employee's regular rate of compensation for each workday a rest period was not authorized and permitted.

Failure to Pay Minimum Wages

Pursuant to Labor Code §§ 1194 and 1197 and Wage Order No. 4-2001, § 4, payment to an employee of less than the applicable minimum wage for all hours worked in a payroll period is unlawful.

Ms. Graves and other aggrieved employees are current and former non-exempt employees and are entitled to the protections of Labor Code §§ 1194 and 1197 and Wage Order No. 4-2001, § 4. Allied Universal failed to pay Ms. Graves and other aggrieved employees minimum wages for all hours worked by, among other things: requiring, suffering or permitting Ms. Graves and other similarly-situated individuals to work off-the-clock; requiring, suffering or permitting Ms. Graves and other aggrieved employees to work through their meal breaks but not compensating them for this time; illegally and inaccurately recording time worked by Ms. Graves and other aggrieved employees; failing to properly maintain Ms. Graves' and other aggrieved employees' records; failing to provide accurate itemized wage statements to Ms. Graves and other aggrieved employees for each pay period; and other methods to be discovered.

Allied Universal's conduct violates Labor Code §§ 1194 and 1197 and Wage Order No. 4-2001, § 4.

Failure to Pay Overtime Wages

Pursuant to California Labor Code §§ 510 and 1194 and Wage Order No. 4-2001, § 3, an employer must compensate its employees for all overtime, which is calculated at one and one-half (1 ½) times the regular rate of pay for hours worked in excess of eight (8) hours per day and/or forty (40) hours per week, and for the first eight (8) hours on the seventh consecutive work day, with double time for all hours worked in excess of eight (8) hours on the seventh day of any workweek, or after twelve (12) hours in any workday.

June 29, 2023

Ms. Graves and other aggrieved employees are current and former non-exempt employees and are entitled to the protections of Labor Code §§ 510 and 1194 and Wage Order No. 4-2001. Allied Universal failed to compensate Ms. Graves and other aggrieved employees for all overtime hours worked as required under the foregoing provisions of the Labor Code and Wage Order No. 4-2001 by, among other things: failing to pay overtime at one and one-half (1 ½) times or double the regular rate of pay as provided by Labor Code §§ 510 and 1194 and Wage Order No. 4-2001, § 3; requiring, suffering or permitting Ms. Graves and other aggrieved employees to work off-the-clock; requiring, suffering or Ms. Graves and other aggrieved employees to work through meal periods but not compensating them for this time; illegally and inaccurately recording time worked by Ms. Graves and other aggrieved employees; failing to properly maintain Ms. Graves's and other aggrieved employees' records through falsifying hours worked; failing to provide accurate itemized statements to Ms. Graves and other aggrieved employees for each pay period; and other methods to be discovered.

In violation of California law, Allied Universal has refused to perform their obligations to compensate Ms. Graves and other aggrieved employees for all wages earned and all hours worked. Allied Universal's conduct violates Labor Code §§ 510 and 1194 and Wage Order No. 4-2001, § 3.

Failure to Timely Pay All Wages Earned

Pursuant to Labor Code § 204, an employer must pay its employees at least twice a month for all wages earned during the preceding pay period. Labor Code § 204 provides that labor performed between the 1st and 15th days, inclusive, of any calendar month shall be paid for between the 16th and the 26th day of the month during which the labor was performed, and labor performed between the 16th and the last day, inclusive, of any calendar month, shall be paid for between the 1st and 10th day of the following month. An employer using an alternate payday schedule must pay wages within seven calendar days of the end of the payroll period in which the wages were earned.

Allied Universal failed to pay Ms. Graves and other aggrieved employees on their regularly scheduled payday for all work performed during the preceding pay period. Specifically, Allied Universal required Ms. Graves and other aggrieved employees to work off-the-clock without compensation and required Ms. Graves and other aggrieved employees to work through required meal breaks without compensation. Additionally, Allied Universal failed to pay Ms. Graves and other aggrieved employees premium wages owed for each workday a meal periods was not provided and each workday a rest period was not authorized and permitted.

Allied Universal also failed to pay Ms. Graves and other aggrieved employees for the overtime wages they earned in violation of Labor Code § 204. Labor Code § 204 requires an employer to pay overtime wages no later than the payday for the next regular payroll period following the payroll period in which the overtime wages were earned. Allied Universal knew it was required to pay overtime wages, yet on many occasions failed to pay Ms. Graves and other aggrieved employees overtime wages on any payday.

Failure to Pay All Wages Due Upon Separation

Pursuant to Labor Code § 201, 202 and 203, an employer is required to pay all earned and unpaid wages to an employee upon separation. Labor Code § 201 mandates that if an employer discharges an employee, the employee's wages accrued and unpaid at the time of discharge are due and payable immediately. Pursuant to Labor Code § 202, an employer is required to pay all accrued wages due to an employee no later than 72 hours after the employee quits his or her employment, unless the employee provided 72 hours previous notice of his or her intention to quit, in which case the employee is entitled to his or her wages at the time of quitting.

Labor Code § 203 provides that if an employer willfully fails to pay, in accordance with Labor Code §§ 201 and 202, any wages of an employee who is discharged or who quits, the employer is liable for waiting time penalties in the form of continued compensation to the employee at the same rate for up to thirty (30) days.

Allied Universal willfully failed to pay accrued wages and other compensation to Ms. Graves and other aggrieved employees in accordance with Labor Code §§ 201 and 202. Because Allied Universal required Ms. Graves and other aggrieved employees to work off-the-clock without compensation and through required meal breaks without compensation and failed to pay Ms. Graves and other aggrieved employees the premium wages for all meal periods which were not provided and all rest periods which were not authorized or permitted, Allied Universal failed and continues to fail to pay the full earned and unpaid wages due to Ms. Graves and other aggrieved employees upon separation.

Failure to Furnish Accurate Itemized Wage Statements

Labor Code § 226 requires every employer to furnish each of its employees an accurate itemized wage statement in writing showing (1) gross wages earned, (2) total hours worked by the employee, (3) the number of piece-rate units earned and any applicable piece rate if the employee is paid on a piece-rate basis, (4) all deductions, (5) net wages earned, (6) the inclusive dates of the period for which the employee is paid, (7) the name of the employee and only the last four digits of his or her social security number or an employee identification number other than a social security number, (8) the name and address of the legal entity that is the employer, and (9) all applicable hourly rates in effect during the pay period and the corresponding number of hours worked at each hourly rate by the employee.

Allied Universal failed to provide Ms. Graves and other aggrieved employees with timely and accurate itemized wage statements in writing showing, for example, each employee's gross wages earned, total hours worked, all deductions made, net wages earned, the name and address of the legal entity or entities employing Ms. Graves and other aggrieved employees, and all applicable hourly rates in effect during each pay period and the corresponding number of hours worked at each hourly rate, in violation of Labor Code § 226 and Wage Order No. 4-2001, § 7.

Specifically, Allied Universal had knowledge it was not providing its employees with proper meal and rest breaks; nevertheless, Allied Universal knowingly failed to include in the wage statements the extra hour of compensation owed for each workday a meal break was not provided and each workday a rest break was not authorized and permitted. As a result, Ms. Graves and other aggrieved employees lost wages. In addition, Allied Universal had knowledge it was requiring employees to work off-the-clock and were not properly compensating their employees for all hours worked, yet Allied Universal knowingly failed to include this time worked in the wage statements. As a result, Ms. Graves and other aggrieved employees lost wages. Allied Universal also did not properly calculate the regular rate of pay of Ms. Graves and other aggrieved employees. As a result, Ms. Graves's and other aggrieved employees' wage statements did not include all applicable hourly rates in effect during the pay period and the corresponding number of hours worked at each hourly rate.

Failure to Maintain Required Records

Allied Universal failed to maintain records as required under Labor Code §§ 226 and 1174 and Wage Order No. 4-2001, § 7, including but not limited to the following records: total daily hours worked by each employee; applicable rates of pay; all deductions; meal periods; time records showing when each employee begins and ends each work period; and accurate itemized statements.

Specifically, Allied Universal had knowledge it was not providing its employees with proper meal and rest breaks; nevertheless, Allied Universal knowingly failed to include in the wage statements the extra hour of compensation owed for each workday a meal break was not provided and each workday a rest break was not authorized and permitted. In addition, Allied Universal had knowledge it was requiring employees to work off-the-clock and were not properly compensating its employees for all hours worked, yet Allied Universal knowingly failed to include this time worked in the regular rate of pay of aggrieved employees.

Failure to Indemnify Employees for Necessary Expenditures Incurred in Discharge of Duties

Labor Code § 2802(a) requires an employer to indemnify an employee for all necessary expenditures or losses incurred by the employee in direct consequence of the discharge of her his or her duties, or of his or her obedience to the directions of the employer. Allied Universal failed to indemnify Ms. Graves and other aggrieved employees for all business expenses and/or losses incurred in direct consequence of the discharge of their duties while working under the direction of Allied Universal, including but not limited to expenses for cell phones, uniforms, travel-related expenses, and other employment-related expenses, in violation of Labor Code § 2802.

This notice is hereby given to Allied Universal and any and all related and/or alter ego companies, corporations, partnerships, and/or business entities, as well as against any and all officers, owners, directors, managers, managing agents, or entities who are or may be liable under California law for any of the violations alleged herein as to any locations or employees who worked at any time in the State of California.
