20 and
- 21 7. entering final judgment as to all members of the Settlement Class in this action.

22 This motion is made pursuant to Rule 3.769 of the California Rules of Court, which provides for 23 Court approval of the settlement of a purported class action and allows the Court to grant final 24 certification of a class for settlement purposes. The overwhelmingly positive Class response—as shown
25 by the lack of any objections to the settlement (as well as the 100% class participation rate)—supports 26 that the settlement is fair, reasonable, and adequate, and should be granted final approval.

SUMMARY OF MOTION

On a classwide basis and as proxy for the State of California pursuant to the Labor Code Private Attorneys General Act of 2004 (“PAGA”), Plaintiff, Tyler Firth, sued Defendant, Yardi Systems, Inc., for Defendant’s alleged misclassification of computer software employees as exempt employees and for the resulting failures to pay all overtime wages, to timely pay all wages during employment and upon the termination of employment, and to furnish accurate itemized wage statements.

Plaintiff now seeks the Court’s final approval of the Joint Stipulation of Class Action and PAGA Settlement (the “Agreement”). The Agreement provides for a $950,000.00 fund to be created for the benefit of the Class, from which attorneys’ fees, litigation costs, a service award and general release payment to the Class Representative, payment to the California Labor and Workforce Development Agency (“LWDA”) and PAGA Employees, and costs of settlement administration are to be paid. The net settlement fund remaining after these deductions will be paid to Settlement Class Members.

The history of this litigation was previously detailed in Plaintiff’s Preliminary Approval Motion. On July 15, 2025, the Court granted preliminary approval of this settlement. The Court directed distribution of the Notice of Class Action Settlement (“Class Notice”) and scheduled a November 7, 2025 hearing for final approval of settlement (the “Preliminary Approval Order”).

As directed by the Court, the Administrator, Phoenix Settlement Administrators, distributed the Class Notice to 82 Class Members. Declaration of Taylor Mitzner with Respect to Notice and Settlement Administration (“Admin Decl.”) ¶ 6. No objections were made. Id. ¶ 9. No requests for exclusion were submitted. Id. ¶ 8. As such, there is a 100% participation rate. Id. ¶ 11. Based on the Class Member response, an inference can be made that the Class finds the settlement is fair and reasonable.

In addition to the results of the notice process, the points discussed in Plaintiff’s Preliminary Approval Motion also support final approval of the settlement:

- The settlement provides a total settlement sum of $950,000.00;
- The settlement is fair given that Class Members will receive (after deductions for fees, costs, etc.) a substantial amount of money (on average, each Settlement Class Member will receive approximately $6,360.15, and each PAGA Employee will additionally receive approximately $425.53, see Admin Decl. ¶¶ 14-15);

- The allocation reflects payments to Class Members in proportion to the number of relevant workweeks worked by each Class Member during the Class Period (and the number of pay periods worked by each PAGA Employee during the PAGA Period);
- Plaintiff conducted significant investigation in this case, including substantial informal discovery and exchanges of information by Plaintiff and Defendant of the classwide data necessary for Plaintiff to fully evaluate this case; and
- California’s LWDA will also be the beneficiary of this settlement as it will receive $60,000.00 if this settlement were to be granted final approval.

Accordingly, the Court should grant Final Approval consistent with the Preliminary Approval Order.

DISCUSSION

I. Class Members Were Provided Notice of the Settlement.

The notice procedures required by the Preliminary Approval Order have been followed and satisfy all due process rights of Class Members. The Preliminary Approval Order contemplated that Phoenix Settlement Administrators would serve as the Administrator. As specified in the Agreement, the Preliminary Approval Order also contemplated that the Class Notice would be sent to all Class Members by first class mail, enable Class Members to contact Class Counsel, seek additional information regarding the settlement, leave questions for the Administrator, and update their addresses.

As the Admin Declaration states, notice was provided to Class Members as required by the Preliminary Approval Order. On July 17, 2025, the Administrator received a Class Member mailing list from Defendant’s counsel that included 82 Class Members. Admin Decl. ¶ 3. The Administrator conducted a National Change of Address (“NCOA”) search to update the Class Member mailing list of addresses as accurately as possible. Id. ¶ 5. On July 25, 2025, each of the persons identified on the mailing list were sent the Class Notice via first class mail. Id. ¶ 6. None of the Class Notices were returned as undeliverable. Id. ¶ 7.

Plaintiff provided the “best notice practicable” in this case as necessary to protect the due process rights of class members. See Phillips Petroleum Co. v. Shutts, 472 U.S. 797, 811-12 (1985) (providing “best notice practicable” with description of the litigation and explanation of opt-out rights satisfies due process); Eisen v. Carlisle & Jacquelin, 417 U.S. 156, 174-75 (1974) (explaining individual notice must be sent to class members who can be identified through reasonable means); Mullane v. Central Hanover Bank & Trust Co., 339 U.S. 306, 314 (1950) (stating best practicable notice is that

1 which is “reasonably calculated, under all the circumstances, to apprise interested parties of the 2 pendency of the action and afford them an opportunity to present their objections”).

3 Here, Class Members were mailed a notice that explained the settlement and allowed Class
4 Members to seek information, ask questions, and object, if so desired. As such, proper notice has been
5 given to the Class Members. Thus, the Court may determine the fairness and adequacy of the settlement
6 and enter its Order granting final approval, secure in the knowledge that absent Class Members have 7 been given the opportunity to participate fully in the settlement, exclusion, and approval process.

8 II. The Fair, Adequate, and Reasonable Settlement Should Be Given Final Approval.

9 A. The Strength of the Case and Likelihood of Class Certification Support Approval.

10 The Court already addressed the requirements for certifying a class for settlement purposes in its 11 Order granting preliminary approval. Plaintiff briefly addresses the requirements again here.

12 1. The Class Is Ascertainable.

13 “Whether a class is ascertainable is determined by examining (1) the class definition, (2) the size 14 of the class, and (3) the means available for identifying the class members.” Reyes v. San Diego County
15 Board of Supervisors, 196 Cal. App. 3d 1263, 1271 (1987); see also Code Civ. Proc. § 382.

16 Here, the Class includes all current and former exempt employees of Defendant in the State of 17 California who were employed as computer software employees and earned less than (i) $3,632.80 per 18 biweekly pay period at any time after August 15, 2019, (ii) $3,724.00 per biweekly pay period at any 19 time in 2020, (iii) $3,798.40 per biweekly pay period at any time in 2021, (iv) $4,000.00 per biweekly
20 pay period at any time in 2022, or (v) $4,304.00 per biweekly pay period at any time in 2023.
21 Agreement § 1.5. The Class Period is August 15, 2019, through December 31, 2023. Id. § 1.7. There are 22 82 individuals that comprise the Class. Admin Decl. ¶ 3.¹ This is more than the minimum required to 23 certify a class. Within the context of manageability, the issue is whether there exists sufficient means for 24 identifying class members at the remedial stage. Reyes, 196 Cal. App. 3d at 1274-75. Here, Class
25 Members have already been identified and have already been sent notice.

26
27
28 ¹ There also are 47 PAGA Employees. Admin Decl. ¶ 14. The PAGA Period is August 8, 2022, through December 31, 2023. Id. ¶ 3.

1 2. There Is a Community of Interest.

2 The “community of interest” requirement embodies three separate factors: (1) predominant
3 common questions of law or fact; (2) class representatives whose claims are typical of the class; and (3)
4 class representatives who can adequately represent the class. Richmond v. Dart Industries, Inc., 29 Cal.
5 3d 462, 470 (1981); Reese v. Wal-Mart Stores, Inc., 73 Cal. App. 4th 1225, 1234 (1999).

6 a. There Are Predominant Common Questions of Law and Fact.

7 “The ultimate question in every case of this type [class actions] is whether ... the issues which 8 may be jointly tried, when compared with those requiring separate adjudication, are so numerous and 9 substantial that the maintenance of a class action would be advantageous to the judicial process and to 10 the litigants.” Lockheed Martin Corp. v. Superior Court, 29 Cal. 4th 1096, 1104-05 (2003).

11 Here, Plaintiff alleges that Defendant, as a matter of their corporate policy, practice, or 12 procedure, misclassified computer software employees as exempt from overtime wages and, on that 13 basis, failed to pay overtime wages, furnished unlawful wage statements, and failed to timely pay all 14 wages during employment and upon the termination of employment. While Defendant denies that 15 liability could be established on a class-wide basis and contends instead that liability would need to be 16 conducted on a case-by-case basis, common questions as to the legality of Defendant’s common wage-
17 and-hour policies and practices predominate Plaintiff’s theories of liability.

18 b. Plaintiff’s Claims Are Typical of the Class Claims.

19 A class representative’s claim must be “typical” but not necessarily identical to the claims of 20 other class members; it is sufficient that the representative is similarly situated so that he or she will 21 have the motive to litigate on behalf of the class. Classen v. Weller, 145 Cal. App. 3d 27, 45 (1983).
22 Courts look to “whether the action is based on conduct which is not unique to the named Plaintiff” and 23 whether other class members were injured by the same conduct. Hanon v. Dataproducts Corp., 976 F.2d 24 497, 508 (9th Cir. 1992). The purpose of the typicality requirement “is to assure that the interest of the 25 named representative aligns with the interests of the class.” Id. at 508.

26 Here, Plaintiff was employed by Defendant as a computer software employee and alleges that he 27 worked under Defendant’s common wage-and-hour policies and practices and was compensated based 28 on Defendant’s common payroll practices. Declaration of Tyler Firth (“Firth Decl.”) ¶ 2. Plaintiff was

1 compensated as an exempt employee—even though Plaintiff’s employment did not qualify for any
2 overtime exemption. Id. On that common basis, Plaintiff alleges that he and Class Members were not (i)
3 paid overtime wages at 1.5 times the regular rate and doubletime wages at 2.0 times the regular rate, (ii)
4 timely paid all wages during employment or timely paid all due wages upon separation of employment,
5 and (iii) furnished wage statements that failed to show and itemize all applicable hourly rates in effect
6 during the pay period, the corresponding number of hours worked at such rates, the gross wages earned,
7 net wages earned, and total hours worked. Id. In sum, Plaintiff alleges that he were subjected to the same
8 policies and practices as other Class Members. Plaintiff’s claims thus are typical to those of Class 9 Members.

10 c. Plaintiff Adequately Represented the Class.

11 The class representative, through qualified counsel, must be capable of “vigorously and 12 tenaciously” protecting the interests of the class members. Simons v. Horowitz, 151 Cal. App. 3d 834,
13 846 (1984). Here, Plaintiff does not have any interests adverse to the Class, nor have any such issues
14 been raised or presented. Plaintiff has taken all necessary steps to represent the interests of the Class, 15 including providing information and documents to their counsel and reviewing pleadings in this case.
16 Firth Decl. ¶¶ 3-6. For such reasons, Plaintiff has adequately represented Class Members.

17 B. Defendant’s Allegations and Position on Class Certification Support Approval.

18 Defendant asserts that even assuming that a class could have been certified, Plaintiff would be 19 unable to establish classwide liability. Defendant provided Plaintiff with information about various 20 defenses, including for example an argument that even if Class Members were not properly classified as 21 exempt under the computer professional exemption that they nonetheless could be properly classified
22 under the administrative exemption. Moreover, even if Plaintiff prevailed on the merits, Defendant
23 contested the extent of liability. For example, Defendant contended that it would not be subject to 24 Section 203 waiting time penalties, based on a good-faith defense.² Likewise, with respect to wage
25 statement liability, Defendant contended that liability under Section 226(e) would be subject to 26 additional defenses requiring proof of injuries resulting from knowing and intentional violations.
27 Finally, with respect to PAGA penalties, Defendant contended that the circumstances were such that 28 ² Except as otherwise noted, all “Section” references are to the Labor Code.

PAGA penalties would be subject to discretionary reductions. Based thereon, Defendant continues to maintain that it is not liable for the allegations made by Plaintiff or for the amounts alleged by Plaintiff.

C. Risks, Expenses, and Complexity of Further Litigation Support Approval.

Plaintiff believes that a class can be certified. Plaintiff, however, also believes in the fairness of the settlement when factoring in the uncertainty and risks involved in not prevailing on the theories of liability alleged in the Complaint, the possibility of non-certification, and the potential for appeals.

There is always a risk that the court will not grant certification of the class. As Defendant alleges that a class could not have been certified, there was at least a substantial risk that Plaintiff would not have obtained the total amount of damages alleged, and a substantial number of complex issues that would have necessitated significant expenditure of time and expenses. Therefore, the risks, expenses, and complexity of further litigation warrant granting of this motion.

D. The Settlement Terms and Negotiation—as Well as the Class Member Response—
All Support the Conclusion that the Settlement is Fair, Adequate, and Reasonable.

Without reiterating the details in the Preliminary Approval Motion showing that the Agreement (and the negotiation process that led up to it) is fair and adequate, Plaintiff highlights the following facts. The Agreement was the product of negotiation between highly able and experienced attorneys on both sides who possessed the relevant data and extensive legal research which they had carefully analyzed. Declaration of Simon L. Yang (“Yang Decl.”) ¶¶ 3-4.

Following notice to the Class, not a single objection to the settlement has been received. Admin Decl. ¶ 9. The Court may appropriately infer that the class action settlement is fair, adequate, and reasonable, given that not a single Class Member has submitted an objection. See Class Plaintiffs v. City of Seattle, 955 F.2d 1268, 1291 (9th Cir. 1992). Indeed, the Class Member response suggests the preliminarily approved settlement should now be granted final approval.

III. Well-Established Legal Principles Support Final Approval of the Settlement.

On a motion for final approval of a class action settlement under Code of Civil Procedure section 382 and Rule 3.769 of the California Rules of Court, a court’s inquiry is whether the settlement is “fair, adequate and reasonable.” Officers for Justice v. Civil Serv. Comm’n, 688 F.2d 615, 625 (9th Cir. 1982). A settlement is fair, adequate, and reasonable, and therefore merits final approval, when “the interests of

1 the class are better served by the settlement than by further litigation.” See Manual for Complex
2 Litigation, Fourth § 21.6 at 309 (Fed. Jud. Ctr., 4th ed. 2004) (“MCL”). The law favors settlement,
3 particularly in class actions and other complex cases, where substantial resources can be conserved by 4 avoiding the time, cost, and rigors of formal litigation. See 4 Alba Conte & Herbert B. Newberg,
5 Newberg on Class Actions § 11.41 (4th ed. 2002); Class Plaintiffs v. City of Seattle, 955 F.2d 1268,
6 1276 (9th Cir. 1992); Van Bronkhorst v. Safeco Corp., 529 F.2d 943, 950 (9th Cir. 1976).

7 Although the Court possesses “broad discretion” in determining that a proposed class action
8 settlement is fair, the Court’s role must be limited to the extent necessary to reach a reasoned judgment
9 that the agreement is not the product of fraud or overreaching by, or collusion between, the negotiating
10 parties, and that the settlement, taken as a whole, is fair, reasonable, and adequate to all concerned. See
11 Officers for Justice, 688 F.2d at 625. Accordingly, the Court should give due regard to what is otherwise 12 a “private consensual agreement” between the parties. Id.; see also Church v. Consolidated Freightways,
13 Inc., 1993 WL 149840 (N.D. Cal. 1993); In re Wash. Pub. Power Supply Sys. Sec. Litig., 720 F. Supp.
14 1379 (D. Ariz. 1989), aff’d sub nom.; City of Seattle, 955 F.2d 1268; MCL § 21.6 at 309 (“The judicial 15 role in reviewing a proposed settlement is critical, but limited to approving the proposed settlement, 16 disapproving it, or imposing conditions on it. The judge cannot rewrite the agreement”).

17 As the Court of Appeal has cautioned:

18 It cannot be overemphasized that neither the trial court in approving the settlement nor 19 this Court in reviewing that approval have the right or duty to reach any ultimate 20 conclusions on the issues of fact and law which underlie the merits of the dispute. It is 21 well settled that in the judicial consideration of proposed settlements, ‘the [trial] judge does not try out or attempt to decide the merits of the controversy,’ [citation] and the appellate court ‘need not and should not reach any dispositive conclusions on the admittedly unsettled legal issue.

22 7-Eleven Owners for Fair Franchising v. Southland Corp., 85 Cal. App. 4th 1135, 1146 (2000).

23 A court’s review and approval of a PAGA settlement is subject to a similar standard as that for 24 class action settlement approval. A court should evaluate a PAGA settlement to determine whether it is 25 fair, reasonable, and adequate in view of PAGA’s purposes to remediate present labor law violations,
26 deter future ones, and to maximize enforcement of state labor laws. Moniz v. Adecco USA, Inc., 72 Cal.
27 App. 5th 56, 77 (2021).

1 A. The Settlement is Presumed to Be Fair

2 The Court should begin with the presumption that the settlement is fair and should be approved:

3 [A] presumption of fairness exists where: (1) the settlement is reached through arm's-
4 length bargaining; (2) investigation and discovery are sufficient to allow counsel and the 5 court to act intelligently; (3) counsel is experienced in similar litigation; and (4) the 6 percentage of objectors is small.

7 Dunk v. Ford Motor Co., 48 Cal. App. 4th 1794, 1802 (1996); accord, Ellis v. Naval Air Rework
8 Facility, 87 F.R.D. 15, 18 (N.D. Cal. 1980); In re Wash. Pub Power Supply, 720 F. Supp. at 1387.

9 The settlement in the case at bar warrants approval and carries a presumption of fairness. As 10 previously noted in the application for Preliminary Approval, this current settlement was negotiated at 11 arm's length. Yang Decl. ¶¶ 3-4. Class Counsel engaged in extensive factual investigation before
12 settling, including the exchange of significant informal discovery and class data enabling Class Counsel
13 to evaluate the full extent of Defendant's potential liability. Id. ¶ 3. Further, Class Counsel is highly 14 experienced in this type of litigation. As shown in the supporting declarations, Class Counsel has 15 significant experience in class actions and employment wage and hour matters. Id. ¶¶ 5-9; Declaration of 16 William L. Marder ("Marder Decl.") ¶¶ 3-10.

17 B. Two-Way Costs and Other Risks Inherent in Litigation Favor Final Approval.

18 To assess the fairness, adequacy, and reasonableness of a class action settlement, the Court also 19 should weigh the immediacy and certainty of substantial settlement proceeds against the risks inherent in 20 continued litigation. See also In re General Motors Corp., 55 F.3d 768, 806 (3d Cir. 1995) ("[P]resent
21 value of the damages plaintiffs would likely recover if successful, appropriately discounted for the risk
22 of not prevailing, should be compared with the amount of the proposed settlement."); Girsh v. Jepson,
23 521 F.2d 153, 157 (3d Cir. 1975); Boyd v. Bechtel Corp., 485 F. Supp. 610, 616-17 (N.D. Cal. 1979).

24 If Plaintiff pursued this case without settlement and failed to prevail, Plaintiff would have been 25 potentially responsible for Defendant's costs. Likewise, any other current or former employees who 26 bring individual claims also would face the uncertainty of prevailing and the possibility of paying costs
27 to Defendant. For that reason, many of these current and former employees likely would not pursue 28 claims. This lawsuit thus achieves a true benefit for the Class that they otherwise might not get or even

1 seek as individuals. Here, given that a fair and reasonable settlement has been reached, neither Plaintiff
2 nor any of the Class Members will be required to pay for Defendant's litigation costs.

3 The risks of this case were weighed by Class Counsel and should be considered a significant
4 factor by the Court in its determination of final approval. Class Counsel obtained a significant settlement
5 for the Class that resulted in a fair recovery which at the same time provides for finality and no risk of 6 costs by the Class Members or the Class Representatives.

7 C. The Complexity, Expense, and Likely Duration of Continued Litigation Against 8 Defendant Favor Final Approval.

9 Another factor considered by courts in approving a settlement is the complexity, expense, and 10 likely duration of the litigation. See Officers for Justice, 688 F.2d at 625; Girsh, 521 F.2d at 157. In 11 applying this factor, courts weigh the benefits of settlement against the expense and delay involved in 12 achieving a favorable result at trial. Young v. Katz, 447 F.2d 431, 433-34 (5th Cir. 1971).

13 The Agreement affords the Class prompt, fair relief while avoiding significant legal and factual
14 battles that otherwise may have prevented the Class from obtaining any recovery at all. While Class
15 Counsel believe the Class Members' claims are meritorious and can be successfully litigated, they are 16 experienced and fully understand the inherent risks and uncertainty involved with such matters as the 17 resolution of class certification, the outcome of a potential trial, and the outcome of any appeals that 18 would inevitably follow should the Class prevail at trial. Class Counsel have also assessed the same 19 risks in connection with the current settlement. Because the settlement provides immediate and 20 substantial relief, without the attendant risks and delay of continued litigation—not to mention the threat
21 of litigation fees and costs—Class Counsel believe that the settlement warrants the Court's final 22 approval.

23 While continued litigation could have led to appeals on several issues, the settlement that was 24 reached provides to all Class Members—regardless of their means—fair relief in a prompt and efficient
25 manner. Were the Court to deny final approval, the Class Members would be left without a remedy as a
26 practical matter and courts across the State would have to address the issues presented here in a 27 piecemeal, costly, and time-consuming manner. The settlement in this case is therefore consistent with 28 the “overriding public interest in settling and quieting litigation” that is “particularly true in class action suits.” See Van Bronkhorst, 529 F.2d at 950; see also 4 Newberg § 11.41. Here, litigation of this case through trial and appeals would require extended litigation.

D. The Opinion of Experienced Counsel Favors Final Approval.

Class Counsel support the settlement as fair, reasonable, and adequate, as in the best interest of the Class Members as a whole, and fair, reasonable, and adequate in view of PAGA’s purposes. Yang Decl. ¶ 4; Marder Decl. ¶ 2. Similarly, counsel for Defendant is in favor of this settlement. The endorsement of qualified and well-informed counsel of a settlement as fair, reasonable, and adequate is entitled to significant weight by the Court in its final approval determination. See Officers for Justice, 688 F.2d at 625; Ellis, 87 F.R.D. at 18; Boyd, 485 F. Supp. at 617; Linney v. Cellular Alaska P’ship, 151 F.3d 1234, 1242 (9th Cir. 1998).

IV. The Proposed Payments and Procedures Should Be Approved.

A. The Proposed Procedure for Uncashed Settlement Checks Should Be Approved.

As referenced in the Motion for Preliminary Approval, to the extent any uncashed settlement funds remain after 180 days, the Parties have agreed that the funds (upon the expiration date) would be distributed pursuant to Code of Civil Procedure section 384 to Santa Barbara Food Bank (or as otherwise directed by any order granting final approval of the settlement). Agreement § 5.6; see also Yang Decl. ¶ 13. None of the settlement funds will revert to Defendant.

B. The Requested Class Representative Service Award Should Be Approved.

Class Representative Tyler Firth requests a service award of $15,000.00. The request is reasonable in light of the general release that the Agreement requires of Plaintiff but not of any other Class Member. Independently, the request is appropriate in recognition of Plaintiff’s efforts on behalf of the Class and the State.

With respect to the general release, Plaintiff did not proceed with litigation of all potential claims and instead strategically limited the claims in this lawsuit to maximize his ability to recover for the Class. Yang Decl. ¶ 12. Had Plaintiff instead pursued all of his individual claims, Plaintiff could have recovered additional sums. Nonetheless, for the benefit of the Class, Plaintiff provided a general release and waiver of the protections of Civil Code section 1542 (a more extensive release than that provided by

1 the Class at large)—even though Plaintiff in other contexts would have sought at least a $15,000.00
2 payment in exchange for a general release. Firth Decl. ¶ 9; Yang Decl. ¶ 12.

3 Independently, Plaintiff actively contributed to the litigation of this case. Firth Decl. ¶ 3. Indeed,
4 Plaintiff provided invaluable information, evidence, and documents that resulted in this settlement. Id. In 5 addition to the services that Plaintiff provided (and the more than 40.0 hours he devoted to the litigation
6 on behalf of the Class), Plaintiff took significant risks, both professionally and monetarily, in acting as 7 Class Representative to seek benefits for the Class. Id. Moreover, Plaintiff understood that an individual
8 case would have resolved much faster than a class action (and involved much less financial risk than a 9 class action). Indeed, because the claims Plaintiff alleged involved the payment of costs to the prevailing
10 party, Plaintiff could have possibly faced paying the costs of Defendant had he not prevailed in this 11 action. Despite this, Plaintiff agreed to pursue this case on behalf of the Class.

12 Also, given that future employers are much less likely to hire individuals who have filed
13 employment-related lawsuits (particularly representative cases of this nature), Plaintiff also faces
14 significant risk in not being able to find suitable employment—due to the filing of this case. Plaintiff 15 took these risks upon himself to the benefit of the Class. Firth Decl. ¶ 8. Class Members did not have to 16 file individual lawsuits and bear the risks of payment of costs if they did not prevail, nor did they have to 17 face the potential for retaliation and not getting future employment had they filed a lawsuit which is a 18 public record. These are significant benefits that weigh in favor of granting the requested award.
19 Moreover, this litigation has resulted in a significantly valuable benefit to the Class, with other
20 individuals receiving more than $14,000.00 in payments. Admin Decl. ¶ 13. Plaintiff took on substantial
21 risks in helping to get this financial benefit to the Class. As such, in addition to the value of Plaintiff's
22 general release, the requested service award should also be granted to Plaintiff for his commitment,
23 dedication, and risks taken for this litigation.³

24 ³ Courts have routinely granted approval of settlements containing such incentive awards. See Van 25 Vranken v. Atlantic Richfield Co., 901 F. Supp. 294, 299-300 (N.D. Cal. 1995) (incentive award of 26 $50,000); In re Dun & Bradstreet Credit Servs. Customer Litig., 130 F.R.D. 366, 374 (S.D. Ohio 1990)
27 (two incentive awards of $55,000, and three incentive awards of $35,000); Brotherton v. Cleveland, 141
28 F. Supp. 2d 907, 913-14 (S.D. Ohio 2001) (granting a $50,000 incentive award); Enter. Energy Corp. v.
Columbia Gas Transmission Corp., 137 F.R.D. 240, 251-52 (S.D. Ohio 1991) ($50,000 awarded to each class representative); Glass v. UBS Fin. Servs., 2007 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 8476, at *51-52 (N.D. Cal. Jan.
27, 2007) (awarding $25,000 incentive award in FLSA overtime wages class action); Cook v. Niedert, 142 F.3d 1004, 1016 (7th Cir. 1998) (affirming $25,000 incentive award to class representative).

1 C. The Requested Attorneys’ Fees Should Be Approved.

2 Class Counsel seeks a fee award calculated at 33⅓% of the total value of the settlement for the 3 successful prosecution and resolution of this action. California state and federal courts have recognized
4 that an appropriate method for determining the award of attorneys’ fees is based on a percentage of the 5 total value of benefits to class members by the settlement. Wershba v. Apple Computer, Inc., 91 Cal.
6 App. 4th 224, 254 (2001); Serrano v. Priest, 20 Cal. 3d 25, 34 (1977); Boeing Co. v. Van Gemert, 444
7 U.S. 472, 478 (1980); Vincent v. Hughes Air West, Inc., 557 F.2d 759, 769 (9th Cir. 1997). The purpose
8 of this equitable doctrine is to avoid unjust enrichment to the Class and to “spread litigation costs
9 proportionally among all the beneficiaries so that the active beneficiary does not bear the entire burden
10 alone.” Vincent, 557 F.2d at 769.

11 The California Supreme Court has provided guidance regarding the award of attorneys’ fees in 12 wage and hour class action settlements. Under California law, the award of attorneys’ fees in common 13 fund wage and hour class action settlements may be based on the percentage method. See Laffitte v.
14 Robert Half Int’l, 1 Cal. 5th 480, 503 (2016) (“We join the overwhelming majority of federal and state
15 courts in holding that when class action litigation establishes a monetary fund for the benefit of the class
16 members, and the trial court in its equitable powers awards class counsel a fee out of that fund, the court
17 may determine the amount of a reasonable fee by choosing an appropriate percentage of the fund
18 created”). Under the percentage of the fund method, a court’s objective remains to “mimic the market” 19 in fixing a reasonable fee. See Gaskill v. Gordon, 160 F.3d 361, 363 (7th Cir. 1998) (Posner, J.) (“When 20 a fee is set by a court rather than by contract, the object is to set it at a level that will approximate what 21 the market will set The judge, in other words, is trying to mimic the market in legal services.”).

22 First, a fee award of 33⅓% of the fund is consistent with “empirical studies [that] show that . . .
23 fee awards in class actions average around one-third of the recovery.” Chavez v. Netflix, Inc., 162 Cal.
24 App. 4th 43, 66 n.11 (2008). Here, a fee award representing 33⅓% of the fund is consistent with other
25 rulings of other courts and comprehensive surveys of class action settlements and fee awards. Indeed, 26 attorneys’ fees awards of 35% of the fund are within the expected range in the “market in legal 27 services.” See Fitzpatrick, An Empirical Study of Class Action Settlements and Their Fee Award, 7 J.
28

1 Empirical Leg. Stud. 811, 833 (2010) (analyzing 444 cases between 2006-2007 and concluding that
2 “[m]ost fee awards were between 25 percent and 35 percent”).⁴

3 Second, the results delivered by Class Counsel also support the requested percentage of the fund.
4 Here, Plaintiff and his counsel secured a $950,000.00 settlement and zero Class Members chose to 5 object. No Class Members chose to opt out—resulting in a 100% class participation rate. Class Members
6 will be receiving more than $6,000.00, on average, as a result of the settlement. This is an exceptional 7 result.

8 Third, “the response of the class members to attorneys’ fee notice, though not decisive, is 9 relevant to the ... reasonable determination” regarding fees. Swedish Hospital v. Shalala, 1 F.3d 1261, 10 1272 (D.C. Cir. 1993). A positive response rate tends to suggest that the court’s “approximation of the 11 market” for fees is well supported. Id. at 1269. Here, the Class Notice specifically notified the Class that 12 Class Counsel would be seeking $316,666.67 in attorneys’ fees. Again, there were no objections.

13 Fourth, it is recognized that one of the primary factors justifying an attorney’s fees reward is the 14 attendant risks inherent in the litigation. As observed in City of Detroit v. Grinnell Corp.:

15 No one expects a lawyer whose compensation is contingent upon his success to charge, when 16 successful, as little as he would charge a client who had agreed to pay for his services, regardless 17 of success. Nor, particularly in complicated cases producing large recoveries, is it just to make a fee depend solely on the reasonable amount of time expended.

18 495 F.2d 448, 470 (2d Cir. 1974). Here, it is clear that a settlement fund of $950,000.00 has been created
19 as a result of over two years of litigation. For Class Counsel, the fees here were wholly contingent in 20 nature and the case presented far more risk than the usual contingent fee case. Among the risks was the 21 cost inherent in class action litigation, as well as a long battle with a corporate Defendant who had 22 retained a premier and highly experienced defense firm. For such reasons, Class Counsel’s request for 23 attorneys’ fees in the amount of $316,666.67 is fair, reasonable, and adequate.

26 ⁴ Such a fee award mimics the market and “is supported by the fact that typical contingency fee 27 agreements provide that class counsel will recover 33% if the case is resolved before trial and 40% if the 28 case is tried.” Fernandez v. Victoria Secret Stores LLC, 2008 WL 8150856, at *16 n.59 (C.D. Cal. July 21, 2008) (citing Brickman, Effective Hourly Rates of Contingency-Fee Lawyers: Competing Data and Non-Competitive Fees (Fall 2003) 81 Wash U. L. Q. 653, 659 n. 11).

1 D. The Court Should Approve the Request for Reimbursement of Costs.

2 The request for reimbursement of costs, in the amount of $10,850.72 is fair and reasonable. As 3 set forth in Plaintiff's counsel's declaration, the costs were all directly incurred in the prosecution of this 4 action. Yang Decl. ¶ 10, Ex. A. As such, this request should be approved.

5 E. The Administrator's Fees and Costs Should Be Approved.

6 Pursuant to the terms of the Agreement, the fees and costs of the Administrator, Phoenix
7 Administrators, are to be paid out of the class settlement funds. As shown in the Declaration of Taylor
8 Mitzner, the settlement administration fees expended in this matter amount to a total of $5,950.00.
9 Admin Decl. ¶ 16, Ex. B. For such reasons, it is requested that the Administrator's fees be approved.

10 V. Notice to the LWDA Has Been Provided.

11 On July 15, 2025, Plaintiff uploaded the Order Granting Plaintiff's Motion for Preliminary 12 Approval of Class Action Settlement to the LWDA's website. Yang Decl. ¶ 11, Ex. B. Concurrent with 13 the filing of this motion, Plaintiff also has uploaded the final approval motion to the LWDA. Id., Ex. C.

14 CONCLUSION

15 Plaintiff respectfully submits that the standards for final approval have been met and the terms of 16 the Agreement are fair, adequate, and reasonable. Accordingly, Plaintiff respectfully requests that the 17 Court enter an Order in the form proposed and submitted.
