Attorneys for Plaintiff Yadira M. Benenati

SUPERIOR COURT OF THE STATE OF CALIFORNIA FOR THE COUNTY OF SAN DIEGO

YADIRA M. BENENATI, individually and on behalf of all others similarly situated and the State of California under the Private Attorneys
General Act,

Plaintiffs,

vs.

ANDREWS CALIFORNIA AUTO GROUP,
INC. D/B/A IMPERIAL VALLEY CHRYSLER
DODGE JEEP RAM and DOES 1 through 50, inclusive,

Defendants.

Case No. 37-2023-00044562-CU-OE-CTL

REPRESENTATIVE ACTION COMPLAINT

1. Civil Penalties under the Private Attorneys
General Act (Labor Code §§ 2698 et seq.)

1 Plaintiff YADIRA M. BENENATI, individually and on behalf of all others similarly situated
2 and the State of California under the Private Attorneys General Act (“Plaintiff”) brings this
3 REPRESENTATIVE ACTION COMPLAINT against Defendants ANDREWS CALIFORNIA
4 AUTO GROUP INC., INC. D/B/A IMPERIAL VALLEY CHRYSLER DODGE JEEP RAM and
5 DOES 1 through 50, inclusive (collectively “Defendants”), alleging as follows:

6 INTRODUCTION

7 1. The aggrieved employees in this PAGA action worked as non-exempt, commission-
8 only employees for Defendant Andrews California Auto Group Inc., doing business as Imperial Valley
9 Chrysler Dodge Jeep Ram.

10 2. Defendants underpaid the aggrieved employees’ wages by paying a draw against the 11 employees’ commissions without separately compensating for paid rest periods.

12 3. Defendants also failed to maintain compliant sick leave, meal period, and rest period
13 policies and practices, resulting in a failure to pay all wages and premiums owed to the aggrieved 14 employees at the lawful rate.

15 4. Defendants’ employment policies, practices, and payroll administration systems
16 enabled and facilitated these violations on a company-wide basis with respect to the aggrieved 17 employees.

18 JURISDICTION & VENUE

19 5. Jurisdiction of this action is proper in this Court under Article VI, Section 10 of the 20 California Constitution as the causes of action are premised upon violations of California law.

21 6. The monetary damages and restitution sought exceed the minimal jurisdiction limits of 22 the Superior Court.

23 7. This Court has jurisdiction over Defendants because, upon information and belief,
24 Defendants have sufficient minimum contacts in California, or otherwise intentionally avail
25 themselves to the California economy so as to render the exercise of jurisdiction over them by the 26 California courts consistent with traditional notions of fair play and substantial justice.

8. Venue is proper in this Court under Code of Civil Procedure sections 393(a), 395, and/or 395.5 because, upon information and belief, Defendants conduct business and committed some of the alleged violations in this county.

PARTIES

A. Plaintiff Yadira M. Benenati

9. Plaintiff Benenati is an individual over 18 years of age who worked for Defendants in California as a non-exempt employee from about November 2020 to February 2023. Plaintiff worked as a Finance Manager.

10. The State of California, via the Labor and Workforce Development Agency (“LWDA”), is the real party in interest in this action. (Kim v. Reins Int’l California, Inc. (2020) 9 Cal. 5th 73, 81 [The “government entity on whose behalf the plaintiff files suit is always the real party in interest.”])

B. Defendants

11. Defendant Andrews California Auto Group Inc., Inc. d/b/a Imperial Valley Chrysler Dodge Jeep Ram is a California corporation that maintains operations and conducts business throughout the State of California, including in this county.

12. The true names and capacities, whether individual, corporate, or otherwise, of the parties sued as DOES 1 through 50, are presently unknown, unascertainable, or uncertain, and are sued by such fictitious names under Code of Civil Procedure section 474. Upon information and belief, each of DOES 1 through 50 constitutes a legal employer or is otherwise legally responsible in some manner for the acts and omissions alleged herein. This Complaint may be amended to reflect their true names and capacities once ascertained.

13. Upon information and belief, Defendants in this action are employers, co-employers, joint employers, and/or part of an integrated employer enterprise, as each of the Defendants exercised control over the wages, hours, and working conditions of the employees, suffered and permitted them to work, and otherwise engaged them as employees under California law.

14. Upon information and belief, at least some of the Defendants have common ownership, common management, interrelationship of operations, and centralized control over labor relations and are therefore part of an integrated enterprise and thus jointly and severally responsible for the acts and omissions alleged herein, including pursuant to Labor Code sections 558, 558.1, and 1197.1.

15. Upon information and belief, Defendants acted in all respects pertinent to this action as an alter-ego, agent, servant, joint employer, joint venturer, co-conspirator, partner, in an integrated enterprise, or in some other capacity on behalf of all other co-defendants, such that the acts and omissions of each defendant may be legally attributable to all others.

GENERAL ALLEGATIONS

16. Plaintiff and aggrieved employees worked for Defendants and were compensated on a commissions-only basis as nonexempt employees.

17. Defendants paid Plaintiff and aggrieved employees a draw against commissions but did not separately compensate Plaintiff and aggrieved employees for paid rest periods. Defendants omitted this paid non-productive time from Plaintiff and aggrieved employees' wage statements in violation of Labor Code 226.2(a)(1) and the applicable IWC Wage Orders.

18. As a result of the above violations, Defendants also unlawfully deducted wages from Plaintiff and aggrieved employees. To the extent Defendants argue the money paid to aggrieved employees as a draw against commissions effectively operates as compensation for rest period compensation or otherwise reduces the contractual commission rate, that policy and practice violates the foregoing sections of the Labor Code and applicable IWC Orders, as a loan for time spent resting is not compensation for a rest period. See, e.g., Vaquero v. Stoneledge Furniture, LLC (2017) 9 Cal. App. 5th 98. Further, Plaintiff alleges that Defendants unlawfully deducted customer returns or “cancelables” from her wages over the entire span of her employment in violation of the Commissions Agreement Defendants presented to her upon hire.

19. Additionally, Defendants underpaid Plaintiff and aggrieved employees' sick leave wages. For example, on Plaintiff's wage statement for the pay period December 16, 2022, to December 31, 2022, Defendants underpaid sick pay by paying it at a depreciated wage rate of $24 per hour, rather than according to one of the methods permitted by the statute.

20. Defendants also failed to pay meal and rest period premiums to Plaintiff and aggrieved employees when the aggrieved employees suffered late, short, missed, or interrupted meal and rest periods. For example, due to short staffing, employee responsibilities, and the volume of both appointment and walk-in customers, Plaintiff and aggrieved employees often suffered deficient meal and rest periods. When Plaintiff and aggrieved employees suffered these deficient meal and rest periods, Defendants did not pay the aggrieved employees their due premiums. Defendants instead prioritized sales over compliance with the Wage Orders and Labor Code.

21. Because of these violations, Defendants failed to provide accurate itemized wage statements to aggrieved employees that included the accurate gross or net wages earned, as the employees earned paid non-productive time and premiums that Defendants failed to pay.

22. These violations create derivative liability for failure to pay all wages owed each payday or upon separation of employment.

23. Finally, Defendants also subject Plaintiff and aggrieved employees to an unlawful employment condition. Defendants maintained a policy and practice of paying a draw against commission but failing to pay for non-productive time, which is an employment condition that violates California law.

FIRST CAUSE OF ACTION

CIVIL PENALTIES UNDER THE PRIVATE ATTORNEYS GENERAL ACT

Violation of Labor Code §§ 2698 et seq.

(By Plaintiff on Behalf of the State and the Aggrieved Employees Against All Defendants)

24. All outside paragraphs of this Complaint are incorporated into this section.

25. Plaintiff brings this cause of action as a proxy for the State of California on behalf of the following “aggrieved employees” pursuant to the Private Attorneys General Act (“PAGA”), codified as Labor Code section 2698 et seq.:

a. All current and former non-exempt employees who worked for Defendants in California at any time from one year prior to the postmark date of the initial PAGA notice through date of trial.

26. Plaintiff reserves the right to amend, supplement, or add to this description of the aggrieved employees, according to proof.

27. The State of California, via the Labor and Workforce Development Agency (“LWDA”), is the real party in interest in this action with respect to this cause of action. (Kim v. Reins Int’l California, Inc. (2020) 9 Cal. 5th 73, 81 [The “government entity on whose behalf the plaintiff files suit is always the real party in interest.”])

28. Labor Code section 2699(a) provides: “Notwithstanding any other provision of law,, any provision of this code that provides for a civil penalty to be assessed and collected by the Labor and Workforce Development Agency or any of its departments, divisions, commissions, boards, agencies, or employees, for a violation of this code, may, as an alternative, be recovered through a civil action brought by an aggrieved employee on behalf of himself or herself and other current or former employees pursuant to the procedures specified in Section 2699.3. “

29. Labor Code section 2699(f) provides: “For all provisions of this code except those for which a civil penalty is specifically provided, there is established a civil penalty for a violation of these provisions, as follows: ... (2) If, at the time of the alleged violation, the person employs one or more employees, the civil penalty is one hundred dollars ($100) for each aggrieved employee per pay period for the initial violation and two hundred dollars ($200) for each aggrieved employee per pay period for each subsequent violation.”

30. Any allegations regarding violations of the IWC Wage Orders are enforceable as violations of Labor Code section 1198, which states: “[t]he employment of any employee for longer hours than those fixed by the order or under conditions of labor prohibited by the order is unlawful.”

31. Labor Code section 2699.3 sets forth the procedure for commencing an action for civil penalties under the PAGA.

32. On or about August 1, 2023, Plaintiff paid the requisite PAGA filing fee and provided written notice (by online electronic filing with the LWDA and by certified mail to Defendants) of Defendants' alleged Labor Code violations, including the facts and theories to support the alleged violations.

33. A true and correct copy of Plaintiff's written PAGA notice, entitled "Notice of Labor Code Violations" is attached hereto as Exhibit 1 and incorporated by reference as though fully set forth herein (the "PAGA notice").

34. To date, neither Plaintiff nor Plaintiff's counsel has received a response to Plaintiff's written PAGA notice from the LWDA.

35. Within 33 calendar days of the postmark date of the notice sent by Plaintiff, neither Plaintiff nor Plaintiff's counsel has received written notice by certified mail from any defendant providing a description of any actions taken to cure the alleged violations.

36. Now that at least 65 days have passed from Plaintiff notifying Defendants of these violations, without notice of cure from Defendants or notice from the LWDA of its intent to investigate the alleged allegations and issue the appropriate citations to Defendants, Plaintiff exhausted all prerequisites and commenced this civil action under Labor Code section 2699 et seq.

37. As set forth in the PAGA notice attached as Exhibit 1 and incorporated into this Complaint, Defendants committed the following violations and are liable for all corresponding civil penalties:

- a. Unpaid Hours Worked/Non-Productive, Rest, and Recovery Periods. Violation of Labor Code §§ 226.2; IWC Wage Orders.
- b. Unlawful Wage Deductions. Violation of Labor Code §§ 221 through 225.
- c. Unpaid Paid Sick Leave. Violation of Labor Code §§ 246 through 248.7.
- d. Unpaid Meal Period Premium Wages. Violation of Labor Code §§ 226.7, 512, 1198; IWC Wage Orders.
- e. Unpaid Rest Period Premium Wages. Violation of Labor Code §§ 226.7, 516, 1198; IWC Wage Orders.

- f. Untimely Payment of Wages During Employment. Violation of Labor Code §§ 204, 204b, 210.
- g. Untimely Payment of Wages Upon Separation of Employment. Violation of Labor Code §§ 201, 202, 203, 256.
- h. Non-Compliant Wage Statements. Violation of Labor Code §§ 226, 226.3.
- i. Non-Compliant Wage Statements/Piece-Rate. Violation of Labor Code §§ 226, 226.2, 226.3.
- j. Failure to Maintain Accurate Records. Violation of Labor Code § 1174; IWC Wage Orders.
- k. Unlawful Employment Condition. Violation of Labor Code § 432.5.

38. Plaintiff seeks to collect all recoverable civil penalties for the Labor Code violations alleged in this Complaint and the PAGA notice (including amendments thereto) against Defendants pursuant to Labor Code section 2699(a) and (f), in addition to attorneys' fees, costs, and interest to the extent permitted by law, including under Labor Code section 2699(g).

PRAYER

Plaintiff prays for judgment as follows:

- a. For recovery of damages in amount according to proof;
- b. For all recoverable pre- and post-judgment interest;
- c. For recovery of all civil and statutory penalties and liquidated damages;
- d. For disgorgement of all amounts wrongfully obtained;
- e. For this action to be maintained as a representative action under the PAGA;
- f. For Plaintiff and counsel of record to be provided with all enforcement capability as if the action were brought by the State of California or the California Division of Labor Enforcement;
- g. For recovery of all civil penalties and other recoverable amounts under the PAGA;
- h. For restitution and injunctive relief;

- 1 i. For reasonable attorneys' fees and costs of suit, including expert fees, to the extent
2 permitted by law, including (without limitation) under Labor Code §§ 218.5, 226,
3 1194, 2699, and Code of Civil Procedure section 1021.5; and 4 j. For such other relief the Court deems just and proper.

NOTICE OF LABOR CODE VIOLATIONS CALIFORNIA LABOR CODE SECTIONS 2698 et seq.

VIA CERTIFIED U.S. MAIL
- Electronic Return Receipt -

Andrews California Auto Group, Inc.,
(d/b/a Imperial Valley Chrysler Dodge Jeep Ram)
2329 US Highway 86
Imperial, CA 92251

- PAGA Notice & Filing Fee -
Submitted electronically to the Labor and Workforce Development Agency

Dear LWDA Officer and Company Representatives:

This letter serves as written notice under Labor Code section 2699.3 on behalf of YADIRA MICHELLE BENENATI ("Plaintiff(s)") and all other "aggrieved employees" of the following "Defendant(s)":

ANDREWS CALIFORNIA AUTO GROUP INC., INC.
(d/b/a IMPERIAL VALLEY CHRYSLER DODGE JEEP RAM)

Defendant(s) shall mean and include the foregoing in addition to any other related employer entities, individuals under Labor Code sections 558 and 558.1, and all others who may be later added upon further investigation and discovery as liable employers.

This office serves as legal counsel for Plaintiff. If the California Labor and Workforce Development Agency ("LWDA") does not investigate the facts, allegations, and violations set forth in this notice within the statutorily prescribed 65-day period under Labor Code section 2699.3, Plaintiff intends to commence a civil action against Defendants as a proxy and agent of the State of California under the Private Attorneys General Act ("PAGA"). "PAGA allows an 'aggrieved employee'—a person affected by at least one Labor Code violation committed by an employer—to pursue penalties for all the Labor Code violations committed by that employer." Huff v. Securitas Security Services USA, Inc. (2018) 23 Cal. App. 5th 745, 751; Kim v. Reins International California, Inc. (2020) 9 Cal. 73, 79. Plaintiff maintains standing to pursue these claims against Defendants, as Plaintiff experienced one or more of the alleged violations during the relevant statutory period, which continue through the present date. Cf. Johnson v. Maxim Healthcare Servs., Inc., 281 Cal. Rptr. 3d 478, 481 (Cal. Ct. App. 2021).

Through this notice, Plaintiff requests that Defendants complete an internal investigation and audit of the wage and hour and employment practices at issue and make a good faith effort to correct any violations. Plaintiff attempts to identify the non-compliant policies and practices affecting the aggrieved employees so that the parties may resolve the underlying damages and penalties in judgment or settlement approved by the Superior Court of California under Labor Code section 2699(k). Defendants are notified that any attempt to resolve this case should be conducted in coordination with Plaintiff's counsel to protect the interests of Plaintiff, the aggrieved employees, and the State of California via the LWDA. Plaintiff advises Defendants this letter should be also considered a reasonable attempt at settlement of this matter, subject to an exchange of additional documents and information. Graham v. Daimler Chrysler Corp. (2004) 24 Cal. 4th 553, 561.

- BACKGROUND -

Defendants employed Plaintiff during the PAGA Period in the position of Finance Manager from about November 2020 to February 2023. During their employment Plaintiff and the other aggrieved employees were subject to the wage and hour and employment protections set forth in the California Labor Code and IWC Wage Orders.

Through this notice, Plaintiff informs the LWDA of the Labor Code violations set forth herein. The “aggrieved employees” include Plaintiff and the following individuals:

All current and former non-exempt employees who worked for Defendants in the State of California during one-year period preceding the date of this notice through the current date and the date of trial in any pending action (the “aggrieved employees” and the “PAGA Period”).

Plaintiff reserves the right to expand or narrow the definition of the “aggrieved employees” in the forthcoming civil action. Furthermore, Plaintiff seeks all recoverable civil penalties for Defendants’ violations and reserves the right to supplement this notice as further investigation is completed and further facts, witnesses, and violations are uncovered.

- PAGA CLAIMS –

Unpaid Hours Worked/Non-Productive, Rest, and Recovery Periods Violation of Labor Code §§ 226.2; §§ 1194, 1197, 1198; IWC Wage Orders

In addition to the foregoing unpaid wage violations, Defendants also violated Labor Code sections 226.2 and the “Hours and Days of Work,” “Minimum Wages,” and “Rest Periods” sections of the applicable IWC Wage Orders with respect to the aggrieved employees.

Labor Code section 226.2(a)(1) also requires employers to compensate employees for “rest and recovery periods and other non-productive time spent separate from any piece rate compensation.” Under Labor Code section 226.2(a)(3), rest and recovery periods must be paid at an hourly rate that is no less than the higher of (i) an average hourly rate taken by dividing an employee’s total compensation for the workweek (exclusive of overtime and rest and recovery compensation) by the employee’s total hours worked and (ii) the applicable minimum wage. Under Labor Code section 226.2(a)(4), other nonproductive time must be paid at an hourly rate that is no less than the applicable minimum wage.

Labor Code section 1194 renders it unlawful for an employee to receive less than the legal minimum wage for hours worked in California. Labor Code section 1197 further mandates that “[t]he minimum wage for employees fixed by the commission is the minimum wage to be paid to employees, and the payment of a lower wage than the minimum so fixed is unlawful.” Labor Code section 1198 renders “employment of any employee for longer hours than those fixed by the order or under conditions of labor prohibited by the [IWC Wage Orders]” unlawful. The California Minimum Wage Order and the applicable sections of the IWC Wage Orders further require payment of minimum wages for all hours worked. The “Minimum Wages” sections of the applicable IWC Wage Order provide that “[e]very employer shall pay to each employee, on the established payday for the period involved, not less than the applicable minimum wage for all hours worked in the payroll period, whether the remuneration is measured by time, piece, commission, or otherwise.” The foregoing California wage laws require payment of “not less than the applicable minimum wage for all hours worked in the payroll period” and California law does not allow averaging of pay over the hours worked in the pay period, even if the total pay results in an average above the minimum wage. Armenta v. Osmose, Inc. (2005) 135 Cal. App. 3d 314, 324.

Furthermore, the “Hours and Days of Work,” “Minimum Wages,” and “Rest Periods” sections of the applicable IWC Wage Orders—as addressed in Vaquero v. Stoneledge Furniture, LLC (2017) 9 Cal. App. 5th 98—require employers to separately compensate all employees, not just piece-rate employees, for all hours worked, including rest periods and nonproductive time, to comply with California’s minimum wage obligations.

Here, Defendants committed the same violation set forth in Vaquero, paying employees a draw against commissions without separately compensating for the paid rest periods. As a result, Defendants committed a Labor Code violation in each respective pay period and are liable for Labor Code penalties accordingly. An illustrative example of a wage statement showing Plaintiff’s draw against commissions and commissions, along with an omission of payment for 10-minute rest periods each day (i.e., paid nonproductive time) appears on Plaintiff’s wage statement dated 12/16/2022 to 12/31/2022:

Earnings	rate	hours/units	this period	year to date
Regular		88.00	0.00	0.00
Sick		24.00	360.00	360.00
MGRS COMMI		0.00	3106.68	3106.68
DRAW RECOVERY		0.00	-3000.00	-3000.00
Gross Pay			$466.68	$466.68

As a result, Plaintiff may recover civil penalties as an individual and on behalf of the State of California and the aggrieved employees, as provided under Labor Code sections 558 ($50/$100), 1197.1 ($100/$250), 1199 / “Penalties” section of the IWC Wage Orders) ($50/$100), and 2699 ($100/$200) per violation per pay period per employee, along with all other civil penalties permitted by law.

Unpaid Paid Sick Leave Violation of Labor Code §§ 246 through 248.7

Defendants violated Labor Code sections 246 through 248.7 with respect to the aggrieved employees.

Labor Code section 246 requires employers to provide paid sick leave to its workforce on the terms set forth in the statute. Employers must comply with the accrual, use, and notice provisions of Labor Code sections 246, 246.5, 247, and must further ensure that they maintain the paid sick leave records required by Labor Code section 247.5. Employers have the option of providing 24 hours of paid sick leave to employees or to allow employees to accrue paid sick leave each pay period. If an employer chooses the accrual method, employees must accrue sick leave at a rate of one hour for every thirty hours worked in a given pay period as set forth in Labor Code section 246(b)(1). Under the accrual method, employees must begin accruing paid sick leave at the commencement of employment.

Employers must pay sick leave in accordance with one of the three permissible methods provided in Labor Code section 246(l): (1) “the same manner as the regular rate of pay for the workweek;” (2) “by dividing the employee’s total wages, not including overtime premium pay, by the employee’s total hours worked in the full pay periods of the prior 90 days;” or (3) “for exempt employee ... in the same manner as the employer calculates wages for other forms of paid leave time.” Labor Code sections 248.6 and 248.7 similarly require paid sick leave to be paid at a regular rate-based calculation in excess of the base hourly rate and at the lawful accrual rate.

Under Labor Code section 246(i), employers must provide employees “with written notice of the amount of paid sick leave available ... for use on either the employee’s itemized wage statement ... or in a separate writing provided on the designated pay date with the employee's payment of wages.”

Defendants failed to comply with California's paid sick leave laws with respect to the aggrieved employees. Specifically, as illustrated on the wage statement set forth above, Defendants underpaid sick pay by paying it at a depreciated wage rate for Plaintiff of $24 per hour, rather than according to one of the methods permitted by the statute.

As a result, Plaintiff may recover civil penalties as an individual and on behalf of the State of California and the aggrieved employees as provided under Labor Code section 2699 ($100/$200) per violation per pay period per employee, along with all other civil penalties permitted by law.

Unlawful Wage Deductions Violation of Labor Code §§ 221 through 225

Defendants violated Labor Code sections 221 through 225 with respect to the aggrieved employees.

Labor Code section 221 renders it “unlawful for any employer to collect or receive from an employee any part of wages theretofore paid by said employer to said employee.” Labor Code section 222 renders it illegal to unlawfully withhold any part of wages agreed upon from the employee. Labor Code section 222.5 renders it unlawful to deduct from employee compensation, or require employee payment, for pre-employment medical or physical examination taken as a condition of employment. Labor Code section 223 states “[w]here any statute or contract requires an employer to maintain the designated wage scale, it shall be unlawful to secretly pay a lower wage while purporting to pay the wage designated by statute or by contract.”

Defendants maintained an unlawful policy and practice of deducting wages and earnings from Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees. To the extent Defendants argue the money paid to aggrieved employees as a draw against commissions effectively operates as compensation for rest period compensation or otherwise reduces the contractual commission rate, that policy and practice violates the foregoing sections of the Labor Code, as a loan for time spent resting is not compensation for a rest period. See, e.g., Vaquero v. Stoneledge Furniture, LLC (2017) 9 Cal. App. 5th 98. Additionally, Plaintiff alleges that Defendants unlawfully deducted customer returns, or “cancelables”, from her wages over the entire span of her employment in violation of the Commissions Agreement Defendants presented her with upon hire.

As a result, Plaintiff may recover civil penalties as an individual and on behalf of the State of California and the aggrieved employees, as provided under Labor Code sections 225.5 ($100/$200), and 2699 ($100/$200) per violation per pay period per employee, along with all other civil penalties permitted by law.

Unpaid Rest Period Premium Wages
Violation of Labor Code §§ 226.7, 516, 1198; IWC Wage Orders

Defendants violated Labor Code sections 226.7, 516, and 1198, and the related sections of the IWC Wage Orders with respect to Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees.

Labor Code sections 226.7 and 516 and the IWC Wage Orders require that employers authorize and permit an uninterrupted 10-minute rest period for each four-hour period (or major fraction thereof) that an employee works. Labor Code section 226.7 requires that if a rest period is non-compliant, the employer must pay one additional hour of pay at the employee's "regular rate" of compensation. Ferra v. Loews Hollywood Hotel, LLC (2021) 11 Cal. 5th 858, 862 ("We hold that the terms are synonymous: "regular rate of compensation" under section 226.7(c), like "regular rate of pay" under section 510(a), encompasses all nondiscretionary payments, not just hourly wages"). Labor Code section 1198 renders "employment of any employee for longer hours than those fixed by the order or under conditions of labor prohibited by the [IWC Wage Orders]" unlawful. The IWC Wage Orders, including Section 12 (Rest Periods), further require one uninterrupted 10-minute rest period for each four-hour period (or major fraction thereof) worked and an additional hour of pay at the employee's regular rate of compensation for each workday that a compliant rest period is not authorized or permitted.

Defendants did not compensate employees for paid rest periods under the commission plan. Furthermore, Defendants did not compensate employees for one rest period premium each time a paid rest period was not provided. As such, Defendants violated Labor Code § 226.7 accordingly and are liable for the associated civil penalties.

As a result, Plaintiff may recover civil penalties as an individual and on behalf of the State of California and the aggrieved employees, as provided under Labor Code section 2699 ($100/$200) per violation per pay period per employee, along with all other civil penalties permitted by law.

Unpaid Meal Period Premium Wages
Violation of Labor Code §§ 226.7, 512, 1198; IWC Wage Orders

Defendants violated Labor Code sections 226.7, 512, and 1198, along with the related sections of the IWC Wage Orders with respect to the aggrieved employees.

Labor Code section 512 and the IWC Wage Orders require that employers provide an uninterrupted 30-minute meal period after no more than five hours of work and a second meal period after no more than 10 hours of work. See Brinker Restaurant Corp. v. Superior Court (2012) 53 Cal. 4th 1004, 1049. Labor Code section 226.7 requires that if a meal period is late, missed, short, or interrupted, the employer must pay one additional hour of pay at the employee's "regular rate" of compensation. Ferra v. Loews Hollywood Hotel, LLC (2021) 11 Cal. 5th 858, 862 ("We hold that the terms are synonymous: "regular rate of compensation" under section 226.7(c), like “regular rate of pay” under section 510(a), encompasses all nondiscretionary payments, not just hourly wages”). “[T]ime records showing noncompliant meal periods raise a rebuttable presumption of meal period violations, including at the summary judgment stage.” Donohue v. AMN Services, LLC (2021) 11 Cal. 5th 58, 61. Labor Code section 1198 renders “employment of any employee for longer hours than those fixed by the order or under conditions of labor prohibited by the [IWC Wage Orders]” unlawful. The IWC Wage Orders, including Section 11 (Meal Periods), further require one uninterrupted 30-minute meal period after no more than five hours of work and a second meal period after no more than 10 hours of work and an additional hour of pay at the employee’s regular rate of compensation for each workday that a compliant meal period is not provided. Pursuant to Section 11(A) of the IWC Wage Orders, the California Supreme Court has held that the on-duty meal period exception is “exceedingly narrow” and applies only when (1) “the nature of the work prevents the employee from being relieved of all duty” and (2) both “the employer and employee have agreed, in writing, to the on-duty meal period.” Augustus v. AMB Security Services, Inc. (2016) 2 Cal. 5th 257, 266-276 (emphasis added). If these two requirements are not met, then the employer owes the employee one hour of premium pay for each non-compliant meal period taken under the purported on-duty meal arrangement. Naranjo v. Spectrum Security Services, Inc. (2019) 40 Cal. 5th 444, 459.

Due to short staffing, employee responsibilities, appointment scheduling and walk-in customer volume, Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees often suffered short, late, missed, and/or interrupted meal periods. The extent of this policy and practice will be illustrated on the time records Defendants are required to maintain. On those occasions, Defendants failed to pay meal period premiums to aggrieved employees. The nature of this practice was due to prioritizing sales over compliance with the Wage Orders and Labor Code.

As a result, Plaintiff may recover civil penalties as an individual and on behalf of the State of California and the aggrieved employees as provided under Labor Code section 2699 ($100/$200) per violation per pay period per employee, along with all other civil penalties permitted by law.

Untimely Payment of Wages During Employment Violation of Labor Code §§ 204, 204b, 210

Defendants violated Labor Code sections 204 and/or 204b and 210, as applicable, with respect to Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees.

Labor Code section 204(a) requires payment of “all wages” for non-exempt employees at least twice each calendar month. Labor Code section 204(d) states all wages due must be paid “not more than seven calendar days following the close of the payroll period.” Labor Code section 204b applies to employees paid on a weekly basis and also requires the payment for all labor within the required pay periods. Labor Code section 210 provides “every person who fails to pay the wages of an employee as provided in Section ... 204 ... shall be subject to a civil penalty” of $100 for an initial violation and $200 plus 25% of the amount unlawfully withheld for a subsequent violation.

Because Defendants failed to pay all wages and premiums in each pay period in which such wages were earned at the lawful rate, Defendants violated Labor Code section 204 and/or 204b (for weekly employees, as applicable). Defendants violated Labor Code sections 204 and 204b by failing to pay all wages and premiums owed on the regular pay days scheduled each pay period within seven calendar days of the close of the payroll period, as a result of the policies and practices set forth in this notice.

As a result, Plaintiff may recover civil penalties as an individual and on behalf of the State of California and the aggrieved employees as provided under Labor Code section 2699 ($100/$200) per violation per pay period per employee, and Labor Code section 210 ($100/$200) per violation per pay period, along with all other civil penalties permitted by law.

Untimely Payment of Wages Upon Separation of Employment Violation of Labor Code §§ 201, 202, 203, 256

Defendants violated Labor Code sections 201, 202, and 203 with respect to the aggrieved employees by failing to pay all wages and premiums owed upon termination of employment.

Labor Code section 201 requires that if an employer fires an employee, the wages must be paid immediately. Labor Code section 202 requires that if an employee quits without providing 72 hours’ notice, his or her wages must be paid no later than 72 hours thereafter. Labor Code section 202 states that if an employee provides 72 hours’ notice, the final wages are payable upon his or her final day of employment. Labor Code section 203 requires an employer who fails to comply with Labor Code sections 201 or 202 to pay a waiting time penalty for each employee, up to a period of 30 days additional compensation.

Defendants failed to pay all wages and premiums owed to aggrieved employees during their employment as set forth in this notice, and also failed to timely pay those amounts to departing employees upon separation of employment. Defendants did not pay waiting time penalties for the late payments. As a result, Defendants violated Labor Code sections 201, 202, and 203.

As a result, Plaintiff may recover civil penalties on behalf of aggrieved employees and the State of California as provided under Labor Code section 2699 ($100/$200) per violation per pay period per employee, along with all other civil penalties permitted by law.

Non-Compliant Wage Statements
Violation of Labor Code §§ 226, 226.3

Defendants violated Labor Code sections 226(a) and 226.3 with respect to the aggrieved employees by failing to furnish itemized wage statements each pay period that accurately list all information required by Labor Code section 226(a)(1) through (9).

Labor Code section 226(a) requires an employer to furnish wage statements to employees semimonthly or at the time of each payment of wages, “an accurate itemized statement in writing showing:” (1) gross wages earned, (2) total hours worked, (3) the number of piece rate units earned and applicable piece-rate in effect, (4) all deductions, (5) net wages earned, (6) the inclusive dates of the pay period, (7) the name of the employee and last four digits of SSN or an EIN, (8) the name and address of the legal name of the employer, and (9) all applicable hourly rates in effect during the pay period and the number of hours worked at each hourly rate by the employee.

Defendants failed to provide accurate itemized wage statements to the aggrieved employees each pay period as a result of the policies and practices set forth in this notice. Defendants violated Labor Code section 226(a)(1) and (5) by not listing the correct “gross wages earned” or “net wages earned,” as the employees earned wages and premiums that were not paid, resulting in an inaccurate reflection, and recording of “gross wages earned” on those wage statements. Likewise, in violation of Labor Code section 226(a)(9), Defendants failed to state on employee wage statements each pay period the applicable hourly rates in effect and the number of hours worked at that rate, as Defendants failed to pay all wages and premiums owed to employees. The amounts stated are instead depreciated and underpaid, resulting in an inaccurate reflection on the pay stub.

The wage statements failed to separate out and pay for rest periods. Hence, rest period or other nonproductive time was not included as a payment category on the paystubs, in violation of the foregoing subdivisions.

Plaintiff and other aggrieved employees cannot promptly and easily determine from the wage statement alone the wages paid or earned without reference to other documents or information. Indeed, these wage statement violations are significant because they sow confusion among Plaintiff and other aggrieved employees with respect to what amounts were owed and paid, at what rates, the number of hours worked, and how those amounts were or should be calculated. The wage statements reflect a false statement of earnings and concealed the underlying problems and underpayments of employee wages.

As a result, Plaintiff may recover civil penalties as an individual and on behalf of the State of California and the aggrieved employees, as provided under Labor Code sections 226.3 ($250/$1,000) and 2699 ($100/$200) per violation per pay period per employee, along with all other civil penalties permitted by law.

Non-Compliant Wage Statements/Piece-Rate
Violation of Labor Code §§ 226, 226.2, 226.3

In addition to the foregoing wage statement violations Defendants also violated Labor Code sections 226.2 with respect to the aggrieved employees by failing to furnish itemized wage statements each pay period that accurately list all information required by that statute.

Labor Code sections 226.2(a)(2)(A) and (B) state that wage statements for employees compensated on a piece-rate-basis must, in addition to listing the items specified in section 226(a), also state the total hours of compensable rest and recovery periods and other non-productive time, the applicable rates of compensation, and the wages paid for those periods.

Defendants failed to provide accurate itemized wage statements to the aggrieved employees each pay period as a result of the policies and practices set forth in this notice. The wage statements failed to separate out and pay for rest periods. Hence, rest period or other nonproductive time was not included as a payment category on the paystubs.

Plaintiff and other aggrieved employees cannot promptly and easily determine from the wage statement alone the wages paid or earned without reference to other documents or information. Indeed, these wage statement violations are significant because they sow confusion among Plaintiff and other aggrieved employees with respect to what amounts were owed and paid, at what rates, the number of hours worked, and how those amounts were or should be calculated. The wage statements reflect a false statement of earnings and concealed the underlying problems and underpayments of employee wages.

As a result, Plaintiff may recover civil penalties as an individual and on behalf of the State of California and the aggrieved employees, as provided under Labor Code sections 226.3 ($250/$1,000) and 2699 ($100/$200) per violation per pay period per employee, along with all other civil penalties permitted by law.

Failure to Maintain Accurate Records
Violation of Labor Code § 1174; IWC Wage Orders

Defendants violated Labor Code sections 1174 and the IWC Wage Orders by failing to maintain accurate employee payroll records with respect to Plaintiff and other aggrieved employees.

Labor Code section 1174 requires that employers maintain accurate “payroll records showing the hours worked daily by and the wages paid to, and the number of piece-rate units earned by and any applicable piece rate paid to, employees employed at the respective plants or establishments.” Section 7(A) of the IWC Wage Orders, which may be enforced through Labor Code section 1198, mandates similar recordkeeping obligations.

Because of the policies and practices set forth in this notice, including the failure to accurately account for wages earned or hours worked, Defendants failed to accurately maintain records in accordance with Labor Code section 1174 and the IWC Wage Orders.

As a result, Plaintiff may recover civil penalties as an individual and on behalf of the State of California and the aggrieved employees, as provided under Labor Code section 1174.5 ($500) and 2699 ($100/$200), along with all other civil penalties permitted by law.

Unlawful Employment Condition
Violation of Labor Code § 432.5

Defendants violated Labor Code section 432.5 with respect to Plaintiff and other aggrieved employees by requiring that they agree to an unlawful term or condition in writing during their employment.

Labor Code section 432.5 states that “[n]o employer, or agent, manager, superintendent, or officer thereof, shall require any employee or applicant for employment to agree, in writing, to any term or condition which is known by such employer, or agent, manager, superintendent, or officer thereof to be prohibited by law.”

Defendants’ unlawful policy and practice of paying a draw against commission, but failing to pay for nonproductive time, is an unlawful employment condition that violates California law. Accordingly, Defendants are liable for the civil penalty in each affected pay period.

As a result, Plaintiff may recover civil penalties as an individual and on behalf of the State of California and the aggrieved employees, as provided under Labor Code section 2699 ($100/$200) per violation per pay period per employee, along with all other civil penalties permitted by law.

Attorneys’ Fees and Costs
Labor Code § 2699(g)

Plaintiff has been compelled to retain the services of counsel to protect the interests of other aggrieved employees and the State of California. Plaintiff continues to incur attorneys’ fees and costs, which are recoverable under California law, including Labor Code section 2699(g).

- LITIGATION HOLD NOTICE -

This letter imposes a duty upon all defendants and their respective employees, officers, directors, executives, attorneys, human resource and payroll personnel, accountants, and other agents to preserve all physical and electronic evidence, including electronically stored information and emails, which relate to the employment of Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees specified in this notice. Evidence includes, but is not limited to, Defendants’ written employment and payroll policies and handbooks; the aggrieved employees’ personnel files and payroll records, such as paystubs, time records, wage statements, compensation reports, as well as the underlying electronically data in Excel or similar format. Memoranda and internal and external correspondence relating to the subject matter of this notice shall also be maintained. Failure to preserve and retain relevant evidence may constitute spoliation of evidence and result in an adverse inference or sanctions.

If you have any questions regarding the scope your obligations to preserve evidence, please consult your legal counsel and always err on the side of caution. Periodic or regularly scheduled purges or deletions of information covered by this hold must be suspended immediately.

- CONCLUSION -

If the LWDA does not pursue enforcement, Plaintiff intends to bring representative claims on behalf of the State of California and the aggrieved employees seeking civil penalties for violations of the Labor Code and the IWC Wage Orders, along with attorneys' fees, costs, interest, and other appropriate relief.

Please advise if the LWDA intends to investigate any of the factual or legal allegations set forth in this notice. Defendants may contact Plaintiff's counsel with any questions regarding this letter or the forthcoming lawsuit.

Sincerely,
