DAVE & BUSTER'S MANAGEMENT, LLC;

Case No. 37-2024-00016357-CU-OE-CTL

Hon. Matthew C. Braner
Dept. 60

FIRST AMENDED REPRESENTATIVE ACTION COMPLAINT

1. Civil Penalties under the Private Attorneys
General Act (Labor Code §§ 2698 et seq.)

1 Plaintiff WOLF MYERS-MILLER, individually and on behalf of all others similarly situated
2 and the State of California under the Private Attorneys General Act (“Plaintiff”) brings this FIRST
3 AMENDED REPRESENTATIVE ACTION COMPLAINT against Defendants DAVE & BUSTER'S
4 MANAGEMENT, LLC; DAVE & BUSTER’S MANAGEMENT CORPORATION, INC.; DAVE &
5 BUSTER’S OF CALIFORNIA, INC.; DAVE & BUSTER’S, INC.; and DOES 1 through 50, inclusive
6 (collectively “Defendants”), alleging as follows:

7 INTRODUCTION

8 1. This is a representative action brought under Civil Penalties under the Private Attorneys
9 General Act (Labor Code §§ 2698 et seq.)

10 2. Defendants failed to pay Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees all minimum and 11 overtime wages due to unlawful policies and practices of unauthorized time editing and off-the-clock 12 work.

13 3. Defendants failed to provide, authorize, and/or permit Plaintiff and the aggrieved
14 employees to take all meal and rest periods to which they were entitled.

15 4. Defendants’ employment policies, practices, and payroll administration systems
16 enabled and facilitated these violations on a company-wide basis with respect to aggrieved employees.

17 JURISDICTION & VENUE

18 5. Jurisdiction of this action is proper in this Court under Article VI, Section 10 of the 19 California Constitution as the causes of action are premised upon violations of California law.

20 6. The monetary damages and restitution sought exceed the minimal jurisdiction limits of 21 the Superior Court.

22 7. This Court has jurisdiction over Defendants because, upon information and belief,
23 Defendants have sufficient minimum contacts in California, or otherwise intentionally avail
24 themselves to the California economy so as to render the exercise of jurisdiction over them by the 25 California courts consistent with traditional notions of fair play and substantial justice.

26 8. Venue is proper in this Court under Code of Civil Procedure sections 393(a), 395,
27 and/or 395.5 because, upon information and belief, Defendants conduct business and committed some 28 of the alleged violations in this county.

PARTIES

A. Plaintiff Wolf Myers-Miller

9. Plaintiff Myers-Miller is an individual over 18 years of age who worked for Defendants in California as a non-exempt employee from about April 2022 to Present. Plaintiff worked as a Support Technician.

10. The State of California, via the Labor and Workforce Development Agency (“LWDA”), is the real party in interest in this action. (Kim v. Reins Int’l California, Inc. (2020) 9 Cal. 5th 73, 81 [The “government entity on whose behalf the plaintiff files suit is always the real party in interest.”]) To the extent permitted by law, including pursuant Balderas v. Fresh Start Harvesting, Inc., Court of Appeals Case No. B326759 (2nd App. Dist.) ____ Cal. App. 5th ____ (Mar. 20, 2024, as modified Apr. 18, 2024), the PAGA claim is brought exclusively as a representative action and does not include arbitrable claims.

B. Defendants

11. Defendant Dave & Buster's Management, LLC is a Delaware limited liability company that maintains operations and conducts business throughout the State of California, including in this county.

12. Defendant Dave & Buster’s Management Corporation, Inc. is a Delaware corporation that maintains operations and conducts business throughout the State of California, including in this county.

13. Defendant Dave & Buster’s of California, Inc. is a California corporation that maintains operations and conducts business throughout the State of California, including in this county.

14. Defendant Dave & Buster’s, Inc. is a Missouri corporation that maintains operations and conducts business throughout the State of California, including in this county.

15. The true names and capacities, whether individual, corporate, or otherwise, of the parties sued as DOES 1 through 50, are presently unknown, unascertainable, or uncertain, and are sued by such fictitious names under Code of Civil Procedure section 474. Upon information and belief, each of DOES 1 through 50 constitutes a legal employer or is otherwise legally responsible in some manner for the acts and omissions alleged herein. This Complaint may be amended to reflect their true names and capacities once ascertained.

16. Upon information and belief, Defendants in this action are employers, co-employers, joint employers, and/or part of an integrated employer enterprise, as each of the Defendants exercised control over the wages, hours, and working conditions of the employees, suffered and permitted them to work, and otherwise engaged them as employees under California law.

17. Upon information and belief, at least some of the Defendants have common ownership, common management, interrelationship of operations, and centralized control over labor relations and are therefore part of an integrated enterprise and thus jointly and severally responsible for the acts and omissions alleged herein, including pursuant to Labor Code sections 558, 558.1, and 1197.1.

18. Upon information and belief, Defendants acted in all respects pertinent to this action as an alter-ego, agent, servant, joint employer, joint venturer, co-conspirator, partner, in an integrated enterprise, or in some other capacity on behalf of all other co-defendants, such that the acts and omissions of each defendant may be legally attributable to all others.

GENERAL ALLEGATIONS

19. Defendants failed to pay Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees the lawful minimum wage for all hours worked.

20. First, Defendants had a policy and practice of requiring off-the-clock work. Specifically, Defendants only provided one machine for all employees at the facility to clock in and out each day. Because there was only one machine, a line would often form and the employees would often have to wait 5-10 minutes before clocking in each shift. Rather than wait in line, Defendants encouraged Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees to begin their work duties before clocking in and come back to clock in once the line had lessened.

21. As a result, Plaintiff often arrived at the facility and went straight to the back room to prepare his tools for the day and complete other work duties before clocking in. Additionally, on several occasions, Defendants met with Plaintiff and other aggrieved employees to debrief them on projects for the day, either while they remained in line to clock in or otherwise with the knowledge they had not yet clocked in for the day. This policy and practice resulted in unpaid hours worked.

1 22. Second, Defendants engaged in an unlawful practice of making unauthorized edits to 2 Plaintiff's and the aggrieved employees' time records.

3 23. Defendants routinely and unlawfully added compliant 30-minute meal periods to 4 Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees' time records, regardless of their ability to take one for reasons
5 discussed below. Each time Defendants added a meal period where one was not taken, and in reality,
6 Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees worked through this time, this resulted in unpaid minimum
7 wages.

8 24. To the extent Defendants' unlawful time editing and off-the-clock work policies and 9 practices resulted in unpaid work over 8 hours in a day and 40 hours in a week, this resulted in unpaid 10 overtime.

11 25. Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees experienced missed, late, short, and interrupted
12 meal periods in order to keep up with the high demands of the job and complete work orders in a
13 timely manner. When Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees experienced these non-compliant meal
14 periods Defendants failed to pay all owed meal period premiums.

15 26. As a matter of policy and practice, Defendants actively avoided paying all meal and 16 rest period premiums by forcing employees to attest they were able to take compliant meal and rest
17 periods at the end of each shift, regardless of their ability to do so. Plaintiff was told and believed that 18 if he did not confirm this each day, he would be reprimanded.

19 27. Because of these violations Defendants failed to provide accurate, itemized wage 20 statements to aggrieved employees that included the accurate gross and net wages earned, as the 21 employees earned regular, overtime, and premiums that were not paid and not recorded or accounted 22 for.

23 28. These violations create derivative liability for failing to pay all wages owed each 24 payday or upon separation of employment.

1 FIRST CAUSE OF ACTION

2 CIVIL PENALTIES UNDER THE PRIVATE ATTORNEYS GENERAL ACT

3 Violation of Labor Code §§ 2698 *et seq.

4 (By Plaintiff on Behalf of the State and the Aggrieved Employees Against All Defendants)

5 29. All outside paragraphs of this Complaint are incorporated into this section.

6 30. Plaintiff brings this cause of action as a proxy for the State of California on behalf of 7 the following “aggrieved employees” pursuant to the Private Attorneys General Act (“PAGA”),
8 codified as Labor Code section 2698 et seq.:

9 a. All current and former non-exempt employees who worked for Defendants in 10 California at any time from one year prior to the postmark date of the initial 11 PAGA notice through date of trial.

12 31. Plaintiff reserves the right to amend, supplement, or add to this description of the 13 aggrieved employees, according to proof.

14 32. The State of California, via the Labor and Workforce Development Agency
15 (“LWDA”), is the real party in interest in this action with respect to this cause of action. (Kim v. Reins
16 Int’l California, Inc. (2020) 9 Cal. 5th 73, 81 [The “government entity on whose behalf the plaintiff 17 files suit is always the real party in interest.”])

18 33. Labor Code section 2699(a) provides: “Notwithstanding any other provision of law,,
19 any provision of this code that provides for a civil penalty to be assessed and collected by the Labor
20 and Workforce Development Agency or any of its departments, divisions, commissions, boards,
21 agencies, or employees, for a violation of this code, may, as an alternative, be recovered through a civil 22 action brought by an aggrieved employee on behalf of himself or herself and other current or former 23 employees pursuant to the procedures specified in Section 2699.3. “

24 34. Labor Code section 2699(f) provides: “For all provisions of this code except those for 25 which a civil penalty is specifically provided, there is established a civil penalty for a violation of these 26 provisions, as follows: ... (2) If, at the time of the alleged violation, the person employs one or more
27 employees, the civil penalty is one hundred dollars ($100) for each aggrieved employee per pay period
28

1 for the initial violation and two hundred dollars ($200) for each aggrieved employee per pay period for 2 each subsequent violation.”

3 35. Any allegations regarding violations of the IWC Wage Orders are enforceable as 4 violations of Labor Code section 1198, which states: “[t]he employment of any employee for longer
5 hours than those fixed by the order or under conditions of labor prohibited by the order is unlawful.”

6 36. Labor Code section 2699.3 sets forth the procedure for commencing an action for civil 7 penalties under the PAGA.

8 37. On or about March 29, 2024, Plaintiff paid the requisite PAGA filing fee and provided
9 written notice (by online electronic filing with the LWDA and by certified mail to Defendants) of 10 Defendants’ alleged Labor Code violations, including the facts and theories to support the alleged 11 violations.

12 38. A true and correct copy of Plaintiff’s written PAGA notice, entitled “Notice of Labor
13 Code Violations” is attached hereto as Exhibit 1 and incorporated by reference as though fully set 14 forth herein (the “PAGA notice”).

15 39. To date, neither Plaintiff nor Plaintiff’s counsel has received a response to Plaintiff’s
16 written PAGA notice from the LWDA.

17 40. Within 33 calendar days of the postmark date of the notice sent by Plaintiff, neither
18 Plaintiff nor Plaintiff’s counsel has received written notice by certified mail from any defendant
19 providing a description of any actions taken to cure the alleged violations.

20 41. Now that at least 65 days have passed from Plaintiff notifying Defendants of these 21 violations, without notice of cure from Defendants or notice from the LWDA of its intent to investigate
22 the alleged allegations and issue the appropriate citations to Defendants, Plaintiff exhausted all 23 prerequisites and commenced this civil action under Labor Code section 2699 et seq.

24 42. As set forth in the PAGA notice attached as Exhibit 1 and incorporated into this 25 Complaint, Defendants committed the following violations and are liable for all corresponding civil 26 penalties:

- 27 a. Unpaid Hours Worked/Minimum Wage. Violation of Labor Code §§ 1194, 1197, 28 1198; IWC Wage Orders.

g. For such other relief the Court deems just and proper.

- PAGA Notice & Filing Fee -
Submitted electronically to the Labor and Workforce Development Agency

Dear LWDA Officer and Company Representatives:

This letter serves as written notice under Labor Code section 2699.3 on behalf of WOLF MYERS-MILLER ("Plaintiff(s)") and all other "aggrieved employees" of the following "Defendant(s)":

DAVE & BUSTER'S MANAGEMENT CORPORATION, INC.;
DAVE & BUSTER'S MANAGEMENT, LLC;
DAVE & BUSTER'S OF CALIFORNIA, INC.;
DAVE & BUSTER'S, INC.

Defendant(s) shall mean and include the foregoing in addition to any other related employer entities, individuals under Labor Code sections 558 and 558.1, and all others who may be later added upon further investigation and discovery as liable employers.

This office serves as legal counsel for Plaintiff. If the California Labor and Workforce Development Agency ("LWDA") does not investigate the facts, allegations, and violations set forth in this notice within the statutorily prescribed 65-day period under Labor Code section 2699.3, Plaintiff intends to commence a civil action against Defendants as a proxy and agent of the State of California under the Private Attorneys General Act (“PAGA”). “PAGA allows an ‘aggrieved employee’—a person affected by at least one Labor Code violation committed by an employer—to pursue penalties for all the Labor Code violations committed by that employer.” Huff v. Securitas Security Services USA, Inc. (2018) 23 Cal. App. 5th 745, 751; Kim v. Reins International California, Inc. (2020) 9 Cal. 73, 79. Plaintiff maintains standing to pursue these claims against Defendants, as Plaintiff experienced one or more of the alleged violations during the relevant statutory period, which continue through the present date. Cf. Johnson v. Maxim Healthcare Servs., Inc., 281 Cal. Rptr. 3d 478, 481 (Cal. Ct. App. 2021).

Through this notice, Plaintiff requests that Defendants complete an internal investigation and audit of the wage and hour and employment practices at issue and make a good faith effort to correct any violations. Plaintiff attempts to identify the non-compliant policies and practices affecting the aggrieved employees so that the parties may resolve the underlying damages and penalties in judgment or settlement approved by the Superior Court of California under Labor Code section 2699(k). Defendants are notified that any attempt to resolve this case should be conducted in coordination with Plaintiff’s counsel to protect the interests of Plaintiff, the aggrieved employees, and the State of California via the LWDA. Plaintiff advises Defendants this letter should be also considered a reasonable attempt at settlement of this matter, subject to an exchange of additional documents and information. Graham v. Daimler Chrysler Corp. (2004) 24 Cal. 4th 553, 561.

- BACKGROUND -

Defendants employed Plaintiff during the PAGA Period in the position of Support Technician from about April 2022 to Present. During their employment Plaintiff and the other aggrieved employees were subject to the wage and hour and employment protections set forth in the California Labor Code and IWC Wage Orders.

Through this notice, Plaintiff informs the LWDA of the Labor Code violations set forth herein. The “aggrieved employees” include Plaintiff and the following individuals:

All current and former non-exempt employees who worked for Defendants in the State of California during one-year period preceding the date of this notice through the current date and the date of trial in any pending action (the “aggrieved employees” and the “PAGA Period”).

Plaintiff reserves the right to expand or narrow the definition of the “aggrieved employees” in the forthcoming civil action. Furthermore, Plaintiff seeks all recoverable civil penalties for Defendants’ violations and reserves the right to supplement this notice as further investigation is completed and further facts, witnesses, and violations are uncovered.

- PAGA CLAIMS -

Unpaid Hours Worked/Minimum Wage Violation of Labor Code §§ 1194, 1197, 1198; IWC Wage Orders

Defendants violated Labor Code sections 1194, 1197, and 1198, along with the California Minimum Wage Order, the applicable local minimum wage ordinances, and the “Hours and Days of Work” and “Minimum Wages” sections of the applicable IWC Wage Orders with respect to the aggrieved employees.

Labor Code section 1194 renders it unlawful for an employee to receive less than the legal minimum wage for hours worked in California. Labor Code section 1197 further mandates that “[t]he minimum wage for employees fixed by the commission is the minimum wage to be paid to employees, and the payment of a lower wage than the minimum so fixed is unlawful.” Labor Code section 1198 renders “employment of any employee for longer hours than those fixed by the order or under conditions of labor prohibited by the [IWC Wage Orders]” unlawful. The California Minimum Wage Order and the applicable sections of the IWC Wage Orders further require payment of minimum wages for all hours worked. The “Minimum Wages” sections of the applicable IWC Wage Order provide that “[e]very employer shall pay to each employee, on the established payday for the period involved, not less than the applicable minimum wage for all hours worked in the payroll period, whether the remuneration is measured by time, piece, commission, or otherwise.” The foregoing California wage laws require payment of “not less than the applicable minimum wage for all hours worked in the payroll period” and California law does not allow averaging of pay over the hours worked in the pay period, even if the total pay results in an average above the minimum wage. Armenta v. Osmose, Inc. (2005) 135 Cal. App. 3d 314, 324.

Defendants failed to pay Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees at the lawful minimum wage rate for all hours worked, resulting in unpaid minimum wages.

Specifically, Defendants only provided one machine for all employees to clock in and out each shift. As a result of multiple employees starting their shifts at the same time, a line would often form at the machine and Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees would have to wait 5-10 minutes to clock in each shift. Rather than wait until employees were clocked in to commence work, Defendants encouraged Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees to begin work duties then return to the machine and clock in once the line had lessened. Because of this, Plaintiff often went straight to the back room to prepare his tools for the day and complete other work duties before clocking in. Additionally, on several occasions, Defendants met with Plaintiff and, on information and belief, other aggrieved employees to debrief them on their projects for the day despite knowing they remained off-the-clock. This practice resulted in unpaid time worked.

Additionally, as discussed in the meal period section, Defendants engaged in an unlawful practice of adding 30-minute meal periods to Plaintiff and, on information and belief, the aggrieved employees' time records regardless of their ability to take a compliant meal period. Each time Defendants added a meal period where one was not taken, and Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees actually worked this time, this resulted in unpaid hours worked.

As a result, Plaintiff may recover civil penalties as an individual and on behalf of the State of California and the aggrieved employees, as provided under Labor Code sections 558 ($50/$100), 1197.1 ($100/$250), 1199 / "Penalties" section of the IWC Wage Orders ($50/$100), and 2699 ($100/$200) per violation per pay period per employee, along with all other civil penalties permitted by law.

Unpaid Overtime Violation of Labor Code §§ 510, 1194, 1198; IWC Wage Orders

Defendants violated Labor Code sections 510, 1194, and 1198, along with the "Hours and Days of Work" sections of the applicable IWC Wage Orders with respect to the aggrieved employees.

Labor Code section 510 requires "[a]ny work in excess of eight hours in one workday and any work in excess of 40 hours in any one workweek and the first eight hours worked on the seventh day of work in any one workweek shall be compensated at the rate of no less than one and one-half times the regular rate of pay for an employee;" and "any work in excess of 12 hours in one day shall be compensated at the rate of no less than twice the regular rate of pay for an employee;" and "any work in excess of eight hours on any seventh day of a workweek shall be compensated at the rate of no less than twice the regular rate of pay of an employee." Labor Code section 1194 renders it unlawful for an employee to receive less than the legal overtime rate for overtime hours worked in California. Labor Code section 1198 renders "employment of any employee for longer hours than those fixed by the order or under conditions of labor prohibited by the [IWC Wage Orders]" unlawful. The IWC Wage Orders further require payment of overtime wages for all overtime hours worked, including the "Hours and Days of Work" sections.

Defendants failed to pay Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees overtime wages and the lawful rate of pay for overtime hours worked, resulting in unpaid overtime wages.

As stated in the "Unpaid Hours Worked" section above, Defendants engaged in an unlawful policy and practice of requiring Plaintiff and other aggrieved employees to begin work without clocking in first as well as making edits to their time records to appear as if a compliant meal period was taken, even when they were unable to take a complaint meal break. To the extent Plaintiff's off-the-clock work resulted in work over 8 hours of work in a day or 40 hours in a week this resulted in unpaid overtime.

As a result, Plaintiff may recover civil penalties as an individual and on behalf of the State of California and the aggrieved employees, as provided under Labor Code sections 558 ($50/$100), 1199 / "Penalties" section of the IWC Wage Orders) ($50/$100), and 2699

($100/$200) per violation per pay period per employee, along with all other civil penalties permitted by law.

Unpaid Meal Period Premium Wages
Violation of Labor Code §§ 226.7, 512, 1198; IWC Wage Orders

Defendants violated Labor Code sections 226.7, 512, and 1198, along with the related sections of the IWC Wage Orders with respect to the aggrieved employees.

Labor Code section 512 and the IWC Wage Orders require that employers provide an uninterrupted 30-minute meal period after no more than five hours of work and a second meal period after no more than 10 hours of work. See Brinker Restaurant Corp. v. Superior Court (2012) 53 Cal. 4th 1004, 1049. Labor Code section 226.7 requires that if a meal period is late, missed, short, or interrupted, the employer must pay one additional hour of pay at the employee's "regular rate" of compensation. Ferra v. Loews Hollywood Hotel, LLC (2021) 11 Cal. 5th 858, 862 ("We hold that the terms are synonymous: "regular rate of compensation" under section 226.7(c), like "regular rate of pay" under section 510(a), encompasses all nondiscretionary payments, not just hourly wages"). "[T]ime records showing noncompliant meal periods raise a rebuttable presumption of meal period violations, including at the summary judgment stage." Donohue v. AMN Services, LLC (2021) 11 Cal. 5th 58, 61. Labor Code section 1198 renders "employment of any employee for longer hours than those fixed by the order or under conditions of labor prohibited by the [IWC Wage Orders]" unlawful. The IWC Wage Orders, including Section 11 (Meal Periods), further require one uninterrupted 30-minute meal period after no more than five hours of work and a second meal period after no more than 10 hours of work and an additional hour of pay at the employee's regular rate of compensation for each workday that a compliant meal period is not provided. Pursuant to Section 11(A) of the IWC Wage Orders, the California Supreme Court has held that the on-duty meal period exception is "exceedingly narrow" and applies only when (1) "the nature of the work prevents the employee from being relieved of all duty" and (2) both "the employer and employee have agreed, in writing, to the on-duty meal period." Augustus v. AMB Security Services, Inc. (2016) 2 Cal. 5th 257, 266-276 (emphasis added). If these two requirements are not met, then the employer owes the employee one hour of premium pay for each non-compliant meal period taken under the purported on-duty meal arrangement. Naranjo v. Spectrum Security Services, Inc. (2019) 40 Cal. 5th 444, 459.

Plaintiff and other aggrieved employees routinely experienced missed, late, short, and interrupted meal periods in order to keep up with the high demand of the job. Nonetheless, Defendants had a policy and practice of avoiding and failing to pay all meal premiums owed to Plaintiff and, on information and belief, other aggrieved employees.

Defendants engaged in an unlawful practice of forcing employees to attest that they were able to take compliant meal periods at the end of each shift, regardless of their ability to do so. Plaintiff was told and believed that if he did not confirm he was able to take his meal period for the day, he would be reprimanded. On information and belief, this was a common policy and practice held by Defendants. Defendants further avoided paying meal period premiums by engaging in unlawful editing of Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees' timecards to make it appear as if a compliant meal period was taken, regardless of their ability to do so.

For every noncompliant meal period, Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees experienced, they were owed a meal period premium paid at their regular rate of pay. Defendants engaged in unlawful policies and practices in which they actively avoided paying all owed meal period premiums, resulting in unpaid meal period premiums.

As a result, Plaintiff may recover civil penalties as an individual and on behalf of the State of California and the aggrieved employees as provided under Labor Code section 2699 ($100/$200) per violation per pay period per employee, along with all other civil penalties permitted by law.

Unpaid Rest Period Premium Wages
Violation of Labor Code §§ 226.7, 516, 1198; IWC Wage Orders

Defendants violated Labor Code sections 226.7, 516, and 1198, and the related sections of the IWC Wage Orders with respect to Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees.

Labor Code sections 226.7 and 516 and the IWC Wage Orders require that employers authorize and permit an uninterrupted 10-minute rest period for each four-hour period (or major fraction thereof) that an employee works. Labor Code section 226.7 requires that if a rest period is non-compliant, the employer must pay one additional hour of pay at the employee's "regular rate" of compensation. Ferra v. Loews Hollywood Hotel, LLC (2021) 11 Cal. 5th 858, 862 ("We hold that the terms are synonymous: "regular rate of compensation" under section 226.7(c), like "regular rate of pay" under section 510(a), encompasses all nondiscretionary payments, not just hourly wages"). Labor Code section 1198 renders "employment of any employee for longer hours than those fixed by the order or under conditions of labor prohibited by the [IWC Wage Orders]" unlawful. The IWC Wage Orders, including Section 12 (Rest Periods), further require one uninterrupted 10-minute rest period for each four-hour period (or major fraction thereof) worked and an additional hour of pay at the employee's regular rate of compensation for each workday that a compliant rest period is not authorized or permitted.

As similarly stated above, Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees were forced to waive their rest periods. On information and belief, Plaintiff alleges Defendants did not communicate a lawful rest period policy to the aggrieved employees and instead forced them to attest compliant breaks were taken at the end of their shift, irrespective of their ability to do so. Based on this practice, Plaintiff alleges that rest period premiums were equally deficient with respect to payments made to the aggrieved employees.

As a result, Plaintiff may recover civil penalties as an individual and on behalf of the State of California and the aggrieved employees, as provided under Labor Code section 2699

($100/$200) per violation per pay period per employee, along with all other civil penalties permitted by law.

Untimely Payment of Wages During Employment
Violation of Labor Code §§ 204, 204b, 210

Defendants violated Labor Code sections 204 and/or 204b and 210, as applicable, with respect to Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees.

Labor Code section 204(a) requires payment of “all wages” for non-exempt employees at least twice each calendar month. Labor Code section 204(d) states all wages due must be paid “not more than seven calendar days following the close of the payroll period.” Labor Code section 204b applies to employees paid on a weekly basis and also requires the payment for all labor within the required pay periods. Labor Code section 210 provides “every person who fails to pay the wages of an employee as provided in Section ... 204 ... shall be subject to a civil penalty” of $100 for an initial violation and $200 plus 25% of the amount unlawfully withheld for a subsequent violation.

Because Defendants failed to pay all wages and premiums in each pay period in which such wages were earned at the lawful rate, Defendants violated Labor Code section 204 and/or 204b (for weekly employees, as applicable). Defendants violated Labor Code sections 204 and 204b by failing to pay all wages and premiums owed on the regular pay days scheduled each pay period within seven calendar days of the close of the payroll period, as a result of the policies and practices set forth in this notice. Indeed, Defendants failed to pay all premiums, overtime, regular, and other earnings each pay period.

As a result, Plaintiff may recover civil penalties as an individual and on behalf of the State of California and the aggrieved employees as provided under Labor Code section 2699 ($100/$200) per violation per pay period per employee, and Labor Code section 210 ($100/$200) per violation per pay period, along with all other civil penalties permitted by law.

Untimely Payment of Wages Upon Separation of Employment
Violation of Labor Code §§ 201, 202, 203, 256

Defendants violated Labor Code sections 201, 202, and 203 with respect to the aggrieved employees by failing to pay all wages and premiums owed upon termination of employment.

Labor Code section 201 requires that if an employer fires an employee, the wages must be paid immediately. Labor Code section 202 requires that if an employee quits without providing 72 hours’ notice, his or her wages must be paid no later than 72 hours thereafter. Labor Code section 202 states that if an employee provides 72 hours’ notice, the final wages are payable upon his or her final day of employment. Labor Code section 203 requires an employer who fails to comply with Labor Code sections 201 or 202 to pay a waiting time penalty for each employee, up to a period of 30 days additional compensation.

Defendants failed to pay all wages and premiums owed to aggrieved employees during their employment as set forth in this notice, and also failed to timely pay those amounts to departing employees upon separation of employment. Defendants did not pay waiting time penalties for the late payments. As a result, Defendants violated Labor Code sections 201, 202, and 203.

As a result, Plaintiff may recover civil penalties on behalf of aggrieved employees and the State of California as provided under Labor Code section 2699 ($100/$200) per violation per pay period per employee, along with all other civil penalties permitted by law.

Non-Compliant Wage Statements
Violation of Labor Code §§ 226, 226.3

Defendants violated Labor Code sections 226(a) and 226.3 with respect to the aggrieved employees by failing to furnish itemized wage statements each pay period that accurately list all information required by Labor Code section 226(a)(1) through (9).

Labor Code section 226(a) requires an employer to furnish wage statements to employees semimonthly or at the time of each payment of wages, “an accurate itemized statement in writing showing:” (1) gross wages earned, (2) total hours worked, (3) the number of piece rate units earned and applicable piece-rate in effect, (4) all deductions, (5) net wages earned, (6) the inclusive dates of the pay period, (7) the name of the employee and last four digits of SSN or an EIN, (8) the name and address of the legal name of the employer, and (9) all applicable hourly rates in effect during the pay period and the number of hours worked at each hourly rate by the employee.

Defendants failed to provide accurate itemized wage statements to the aggrieved employees each pay period as a result of the policies and practices set forth in this notice. Defendants violated Labor Code section 226(a)(1) and (5) by not listing the correct “gross wages earned” or “net wages earned,” as the employees earned wages and premiums that were not paid, resulting in an inaccurate reflection, and recording of “gross wages earned” on those wage statements. Likewise, in violation of Labor Code section 226(a)(9), Defendants failed to state on employee wage statements each pay period the applicable hourly rates in effect and the number of hours worked at that rate, as Defendants failed to pay all wages and premiums owed to employees. The amounts stated are instead depreciated and underpaid, resulting in an inaccurate reflection on the wage statement.

Further, Defendants violated Labor Code section 226(a)(2) by failing to accurately list employees’ “total hours worked,” as the wage statements did not accurately include uncompensated time Plaintiff and other aggrieved employees worked due to Defendants policy and practice of requiring employees complete work off-the-clock.

Plaintiff and other aggrieved employees cannot promptly and easily determine from the wage statement alone the wages paid or earned without reference to other documents or information. Indeed, these wage statement violations are significant because they sow confusion among Plaintiff and other aggrieved employees with respect to what amounts were owed and paid, at what rates, the number of hours worked, and how those amounts were or should be calculated. The wage statements reflect a false statement of earnings and concealed the underlying problems and underpayments of employee wages.

As a result, Plaintiff may recover civil penalties as an individual and on behalf of the State of California and the aggrieved employees, as provided under Labor Code sections 226.3 ($250/$1,000) and 2699 ($100/$200) per violation per pay period per employee, along with all other civil penalties permitted by law.

Failure to Maintain Accurate Records
Violation of Labor Code § 1174; IWC Wage Orders

Defendants violated Labor Code sections 1174 and the IWC Wage Orders by failing to maintain accurate employee payroll records with respect to Plaintiff and other aggrieved employees.

Labor Code section 1174 requires that employers maintain accurate “payroll records showing the hours worked daily by and the wages paid to, and the number of piece-rate units earned by and any applicable piece rate paid to, employees employed at the respective plants or establishments.” Section 7(A) of the IWC Wage Orders, which may be enforced through Labor Code section 1198, mandates similar recordkeeping obligations.

Because of the policies and practices set forth in this notice, including the failure to accurately account for wages earned or hours worked, Defendants failed to accurately maintain records in accordance with Labor Code section 1174 and the IWC Wage Orders.

As a result, Plaintiff may recover civil penalties as an individual and on behalf of the State of California and the aggrieved employees, as provided under Labor Code section 1174.5 ($500) and 2699 ($100/$200), along with all other civil penalties permitted by law.

Plaintiff has been compelled to retain the services of counsel to protect the interests of other aggrieved employees and the State of California. Plaintiff continues to incur attorneys’ fees and costs, which are recoverable under California law, including Labor Code section 2699(g).
