SUPERIOR COURT OF THE STATE OF CALIFORNIA FOR THE COUNTY OF SAN DIEGO

VILMA ORTIZ, individually and on behalf of all others similarly situated and the State of California under the Private Attorneys General
Act,

Plaintiffs,

vs.

J & M HOMECARE SERVICES, LLC and
DOES 1 through 50, inclusive,

Defendants.

Case No. 37-2024-00024281-CU-OE-CTL

REPRESENTATIVE ACTION COMPLAINT

1. Civil Penalties under the Private Attorneys
General Act (Labor Code §§ 2698 et seq.)

1 Plaintiff VILMA ORTIZ, individually and on behalf of all others similarly situated and the 2 State of California under the Private Attorneys General Act (“Plaintiff”) brings this
3 REPRESENTATIVE ACTION COMPLAINT against Defendants J & M HOMECARE SERVICES,
4 LLC and DOES 1 through 50, inclusive (collectively “Defendants”), alleging as follows:

5 INTRODUCTION

6 1. This is a representative action complaint brought under the California Private Attorneys
7 General Act (Labor Code sections 2968 et seq.)

8 2. Defendants failed to pay all regular and overtime hours due to requiring off-the-clock
9 work.

10 3. Defendants failed to provide, authorize, and/or permit the aggrieved employees to take 11 all meal and rest periods to which they were entitled.

12 4. Defendants underpaid Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees by failing to include non-13 discretionary bonuses and other forms of qualifying remuneration in the “regular rate” used to 14 calculate and pay overtime, paid sick leave, and meal and rest period premiums.

15 5. Defendants required Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees to use their personal cell
16 phones for work purposes without proper reimbursement.

17 6. As set forth in the PAGA notice, Defendants failed to maintain lawful meal and rest
18 periods, regular, overtime, vacation, reimbursement, and paid sick leave policies. Defendants’
19 employment policies, practices, and payroll administration systems enabled and facilitated these 20 violations on a company-wide basis with respect to the aggrieved employees.

21 JURISDICTION & VENUE

22 7. Jurisdiction of this action is proper in this Court under Article VI, Section 10 of the 23 California Constitution as the causes of action are premised upon violations of California law.

24 8. The monetary damages and restitution sought exceed the minimal jurisdiction limits of 25 the Superior Court.

26 9. This Court has jurisdiction over Defendants because, upon information and belief,
27 Defendants have sufficient minimum contacts in California, or otherwise intentionally avail
28

1 themselves to the California economy so as to render the exercise of jurisdiction over them by the
2 California courts consistent with traditional notions of fair play and substantial justice.

3 10. Venue is proper in this Court under Code of Civil Procedure sections 393(a), 395,
4 and/or 395.5 because, upon information and belief, Defendants conduct business and committed some 5 of the alleged violations in this county.

6 PARTIES

7 A. Plaintiff Vilma Ortiz

8 11. Plaintiff Ortiz is an individual over 18 years of age who worked for Defendants in 9 California as a non-exempt employee from about October 2022 to October 2023. Plaintiff worked as 10 a Caregiver.

11 12. The State of California, via the Labor and Workforce Development Agency
12 (“LWDA”), is the real party in interest in this action. (Kim v. Reins Int’l California, Inc. (2020) 9
13 Cal. 5th 73, 81 [The “government entity on whose behalf the plaintiff files suit is always the real party
14 in interest.”])

15 B. Defendants

16 13. Defendant J & M Homecare Services, LLC is a California limited liability company
17 that maintains operations and conducts business throughout the State of California, including in this 18 county.

19 14. The true names and capacities, whether individual, corporate, or otherwise, of the 20 parties sued as DOES 1 through 50, are presently unknown, unascertainable, or uncertain, and are sued
21 by such fictitious names under Code of Civil Procedure section 474. Upon information and belief,
22 each of DOES 1 through 50 constitutes a legal employer or is otherwise legally responsible in some 23 manner for the acts and omissions alleged herein. This Complaint may be amended to reflect their 24 true names and capacities once ascertained.

25 15. Upon information and belief, Defendants in this action are employers, co-employers,
26 joint employers, and/or part of an integrated employer enterprise, as each of the Defendants exercised
27 control over the wages, hours, and working conditions of the employees, suffered and permitted them
28 to work, and otherwise engaged them as employees under California law.

1 16. Upon information and belief, at least some of the Defendants have common ownership,
2 common management, interrelationship of operations, and centralized control over labor relations and
3 are therefore part of an integrated enterprise and thus jointly and severally responsible for the acts and 4 omissions alleged herein, including pursuant to Labor Code sections 558, 558.1, and 1197.1.

5 17. Upon information and belief, Defendants acted in all respects pertinent to this action as 6 an alter-ego, agent, servant, joint employer, joint venturer, co-conspirator, partner, in an integrated 7 enterprise, or in some other capacity on behalf of all other co-defendants, such that the acts and 8 omissions of each defendant may be legally attributable to all others.

9 GENERAL ALLEGATIONS

10 18. Defendants failed to pay Plaintiff and aggrieved employees for all their hours worked,
11 resulting in unpaid minimum wages.

12 19. Defendants engaged in an unlawful policy and practice of requiring off-the-clock work,
13 resulting in unpaid minimum wages.

14 20. For example, Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees were regularly required to work
15 through their unpaid meal periods due to the high demands of the job.

16 21. To the extent that Defendants' unlawful off-the-clock work policies resulted in unpaid
17 hours worked over 8 hours in a day or 40 hours in a week, this resulted in unpaid overtime.

18 22. Defendants failed to pay overtime at the regular rate of compensation.

19 23. Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees earned non-discretionary bonuses and other 20 types of additional non-excludable remuneration which Defendants failed to include in the "regular 21 rate of pay" when earned in the same pay period as overtime.

22 24. Instead, on information and belief, when Defendants paid overtime in the same pay
23 period as bonuses or other forms of additional remuneration, Defendants improperly paid overtime at 24 1.5x their base rate of pay or an otherwise deficient rate.

25 25. For each overtime hour worked during the period in which Plaintiff and the aggrieved
26 employees earned the additional forms of remuneration, Defendant should have (but failed to) pay
27 overtime "at a rate no less than one and one-half times the regular rate of pay for an employee" and 28

1 “twice the regular rate of pay” for double time hours as required by the plain language of Labor Code
2 section 510(a) and the IWC Wage Orders.

3 26. Similarly, Defendants failed to pay sick leave at the regular rate of compensation.

4 27. Plaintiff alleges, on information and belief, that Defendants failed to include non-
5 discretionary bonuses and other forms of qualifying remuneration in the regular rate of pay calculation
6 for paid sick leave.

7 28. Defendants additionally maintained an unlawful policy of failing to pay all accrued and 8 unused vacation wages upon separation of employment resulting in forfeiture of vested vacation time
9 and wages.

10 29. Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees experienced missed, late, short, and interrupted
11 meal periods in order to keep up with the high demands of the job and scheduling.

12 30. Defendants regularly scheduled Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees alone, failing to 13 provide them with adequate coverage to take a compliant meal period.

14 31. Defendants failed to maintain a lawful on-duty meal period agreement.

15 32. Defendants failed to pay Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees all owed meal period
16 premiums each time they experienced a non-compliant meal period.

17 33. To the extent that Defendants paid meal period premiums such amounts were underpaid
18 due to Defendant’s failure to include non-discretionary bonuses and other forms of qualifying 19 remuneration in the regular rate of pay.

20 34. For similar reasons as Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees experienced non-
21 compliant meal periods, they also experienced non-compliant rest periods.

22 35. Specifically, Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees were scheduled alone and therefore 23 could not take a compliant rest period.

24 36. Defendants failed to pay all owed rest periods to Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees.

25 37. To the extent that Defendants paid rest period premiums, Plaintiff alleges, on 26 information and belief, that such amounts were underpaid due to Defendants’ failing to include non-27 discretionary bonuses and other forms of qualifying remuneration in the regular rate of pay.

38. Defendants failed to reimburse Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees for work-related expenses.

39. Specifically, Defendants required Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees to use their personal cell phones to communicate with managers/supervisors and patients for work-related purposes without reimbursement.

40. Because of these violations, Defendants failed to provide accurate, itemized wage statements to employees that included accurate gross or net wages earned as employees earned overtime, sick leave, and premiums which were not paid at the lawful rate due to the regular rate violations as well as the off-the-clock violations.

41. Likewise, in violation of Labor Code section 226(a)(9), Defendants, on each pay period, failed to state the applicable hourly rates and the number of hours worked at that rate, as Defendants failed to pay all wages and premiums owed to employees each pay period. The amounts and rates are instead depreciated and underpaid, resulting in an inaccurate reflection on the pay stub.

42. Defendants violated Labor Code section 226(a)(2) by failing to accurately list employees' "total hours worked," as the wage statements did not accurately include the uncompensated time Plaintiff and other aggrieved employees worked due to Defendants' policy and practice of editing time records to reflect meal periods that were not taken.

43. These violations create derivative liability for failure to pay all wages owed each payday or upon separation of employment.

FIRST CAUSE OF ACTION

CIVIL PENALTIES UNDER THE PRIVATE ATTORNEYS GENERAL ACT

Violation of Labor Code §§ 2698 et seq.

(By Plaintiff on Behalf of the State and the Aggrieved Employees Against All Defendants)

44. All outside paragraphs of this Complaint are incorporated into this section.

45. Plaintiff brings this cause of action as a proxy for the State of California on behalf of the following "aggrieved employees" pursuant to the Private Attorneys General Act ("PAGA"), codified as Labor Code section 2698 et seq.:

1 a. All current and former non-exempt employees who worked for Defendants in 2 California at any time from one year prior to the postmark date of the initial
3 PAGA notice through date of trial.

4 46. Plaintiff reserves the right to amend, supplement, or add to this description of the 5 aggrieved employees, according to proof.

6 47. The State of California, via the Labor and Workforce Development Agency
7 (“LWDA”), is the real party in interest in this action with respect to this cause of action. (Kim v. Reins
8 Int’l California, Inc. (2020) 9 Cal. 5th 73, 81 [The “government entity on whose behalf the plaintiff
9 files suit is always the real party in interest.”])

10 48. Labor Code section 2699(a) provides: “Notwithstanding any other provision of law,,
11 any provision of this code that provides for a civil penalty to be assessed and collected by the Labor
12 and Workforce Development Agency or any of its departments, divisions, commissions, boards,
13 agencies, or employees, for a violation of this code, may, as an alternative, be recovered through a civil 14 action brought by an aggrieved employee on behalf of himself or herself and other current or former 15 employees pursuant to the procedures specified in Section 2699.3. “

16 49. Labor Code section 2699(f) provides: “For all provisions of this code except those for 17 which a civil penalty is specifically provided, there is established a civil penalty for a violation of these 18 provisions, as follows: ... (2) If, at the time of the alleged violation, the person employs one or more
19 employees, the civil penalty is one hundred dollars ($100) for each aggrieved employee per pay period
20 for the initial violation and two hundred dollars ($200) for each aggrieved employee per pay period for 21 each subsequent violation.”

22 50. Any allegations regarding violations of the IWC Wage Orders are enforceable as 23 violations of Labor Code section 1198, which states: “[t]he employment of any employee for longer 24 hours than those fixed by the order or under conditions of labor prohibited by the order is unlawful.”

25 51. Labor Code section 2699.3 sets forth the procedure for commencing an action for civil 26 penalties under the PAGA.

27 52. On or about March 12, 2024, Plaintiff paid the requisite PAGA filing fee and provided
28 written notice (by online electronic filing with the LWDA and by certified mail to Defendants) of Defendants' alleged Labor Code violations, including the facts and theories to support the alleged violations.

53. A true and correct copy of Plaintiff's written PAGA notice, entitled "Notice of Labor Code Violations" is attached hereto as Exhibit 1 and incorporated by reference as though fully set forth herein (the "PAGA notice").

54. To date, neither Plaintiff nor Plaintiff's counsel has received a response to Plaintiff's written PAGA notice from the LWDA.

55. Within 33 calendar days of the postmark date of the notice sent by Plaintiff, neither Plaintiff nor Plaintiff's counsel has received written notice by certified mail from any defendant providing a description of any actions taken to cure the alleged violations.

56. Now that at least 65 days have passed from Plaintiff notifying Defendants of these violations, without notice of cure from Defendants or notice from the LWDA of its intent to investigate the alleged allegations and issue the appropriate citations to Defendants, Plaintiff exhausted all prerequisites and commenced this civil action under Labor Code section 2699 et seq.

57. As set forth in the PAGA notice attached as Exhibit 1 and incorporated into this Complaint, Defendants committed the following violations and are liable for all corresponding civil penalties:

- a. Unpaid Hours Worked/Minimum Wage. Violation of Labor Code §§ 1194, 1197, 1198; IWC Wage Orders.

CALIFORNIA LABOR CODE SECTIONS 2698 et seq.

VIA CERTIFIED U.S. MAIL
- Electronic Return Receipt -

J & M Homecare Services, LLC
16 Crow Canyon Court, Suite 200
San Ramon, California 94583

- PAGA Notice & Filing Fee -
Submitted electronically to the Labor and Workforce Development Agency

Dear LWDA Officer and Company Representatives:

This letter serves as written notice under Labor Code section 2699.3 on behalf of VILMA ORTIZ (“Plaintiff(s)”) and all other “aggrieved employees” of the following “Defendant(s)”:

J & M HOMECARE SERVICES, LLC

Defendant(s) shall mean and include the foregoing in addition to any other related employer entities, individuals under Labor Code sections 558 and 558.1, and all others who may be later added upon further investigation and discovery as liable employers.

This office serves as legal counsel for Plaintiff. If the California Labor and Workforce Development Agency (“LWDA”) does not investigate the facts, allegations, and violations set forth in this notice within the statutorily prescribed 65-day period under Labor Code section 2699.3, Plaintiff intends to commence a civil action against Defendants as a proxy and agent of the State of California under the Private Attorneys General Act (“PAGA”). “PAGA allows an ‘aggrieved employee’—a person affected by at least one Labor Code violation committed by an employer—to pursue penalties for all the Labor Code violations committed by that employer.” Huff v. Securitas Security Services USA, Inc. (2018) 23 Cal. App. 5th 745, 751; Kim v. Reins International California, Inc. (2020) 9 Cal. 73, 79. Plaintiff maintains standing to pursue these claims against Defendants, as Plaintiff experienced one or more of the alleged violations during the relevant statutory period, which continue through the present date. Cf. Johnson v. Maxim Healthcare Servs., Inc., 281 Cal. Rptr. 3d 478, 481 (Cal. Ct. App. 2021).

Through this notice, Plaintiff requests that Defendants complete an internal investigation and audit of the wage and hour and employment practices at issue and make a good faith effort to correct any violations. Plaintiff attempts to identify the non-compliant policies and practices affecting the aggrieved employees so that the parties may resolve the underlying damages and penalties in judgment or settlement approved by the Superior Court of California under Labor Code section 2699(k). Defendants are notified that any attempt to resolve this case should be conducted in coordination with Plaintiff's counsel to protect the interests of Plaintiff, the aggrieved employees, and the State of California via the LWDA. Plaintiff advises Defendants this letter should be also considered a reasonable attempt at settlement of this matter, subject to an exchange of additional documents and information. Graham v. Daimler Chrysler Corp. (2004) 24 Cal. 4th 553, 561.

- BACKGROUND -

Defendants employed Plaintiff during the PAGA Period in the position of Caregiver from about October 13, 2022, to October 7, 2023. During their employment Plaintiff and the other aggrieved employees were subject to the wage and hour and employment protections set forth in the California Labor Code and IWC Wage Orders.

Through this notice, Plaintiff informs the LWDA of the Labor Code violations set forth herein. The “aggrieved employees” include Plaintiff and the following individuals:

All current and former non-exempt employees who worked for Defendants in the State of California during one-year period preceding the date of this notice through the current date and the date of trial in any pending action (the “aggrieved employees” and the “PAGA Period”).

Plaintiff reserves the right to expand or narrow the definition of the “aggrieved employees” in the forthcoming civil action. Furthermore, Plaintiff seeks all recoverable civil penalties for Defendants’ violations and reserves the right to supplement this notice as further investigation is completed and further facts, witnesses, and violations are uncovered.

- PAGA CLAIMS -

Unpaid Hours Worked/Minimum Wage Violation of Labor Code §§ 1194, 1197, 1198; IWC Wage Orders

Defendants violated Labor Code sections 1194, 1197, and 1198, along with the California Minimum Wage Order, the applicable local minimum wage ordinances, and the “Hours and Days of Work” and “Minimum Wages” sections of the applicable IWC Wage Orders with respect to the aggrieved employees.

Labor Code section 1194 renders it unlawful for an employee to receive less than the legal minimum wage for hours worked in California. Labor Code section 1197 further mandates that “[t]he minimum wage for employees fixed by the commission is the minimum wage to be paid to employees, and the payment of a lower wage than the minimum so fixed is unlawful.” Labor Code section 1198 renders “employment of any employee for longer hours than those fixed by the order or under conditions of labor prohibited by the [IWC Wage Orders]” unlawful. The California Minimum Wage Order and the applicable sections of the IWC Wage Orders further require payment of minimum wages for all hours worked. The “Minimum Wages” sections of the applicable IWC Wage Order provide that “[e]very employer shall pay to each employee, on the established payday for the period involved, not less than the applicable minimum wage for all hours worked in the payroll period, whether the remuneration is measured by time, piece, commission, or otherwise.” The foregoing California wage laws require payment of “not less than the applicable minimum wage for all hours worked in the payroll period” and California law does not allow averaging of pay over the hours worked in the pay period, even if the total pay results in an average above the minimum wage. Armenta v. Osmose, Inc. (2005) 135 Cal. App. 3d 314, 324.

Defendants failed to pay Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees at the lawful minimum wage rate for all hours worked, resulting in unpaid minimum wages. Plaintiff and employees often suffered non-compliant meal periods where they worked through part or all of their uncompensated meal periods. Due to demands of Plaintiff’s position and pressures from Defendants, Plaintiff would continue working through her unpaid meal periods. Plaintiff would work alone in patient’s homes and was unable to be relieved for a compliant meal period. As a result, she was required to monitor and provide care for patients during her meal period. These portions of her meal period spent monitoring and caring for patients should have been calculated as hours worked and paid at least the minimum wage, however, Defendants failed to pay Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees for their time spent working off-the-clock during their meal periods.

Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees do not qualify as “personal attendants” under the definition in Labor Code section 1451 as they did not spend more than 20% of their total weekly hours worked supervising, feeding, or dressing patients.

As a result, Plaintiff may recover civil penalties as an individual and on behalf of the State of California and the aggrieved employees, as provided under Labor Code sections 558 ($50/$100), 1197.1 ($100/$250), 1199 / “Penalties” section of the IWC Wage Orders ($50/$100), and 2699 ($100/$200) per violation per pay period per employee, along with all other civil penalties permitted by law.

Unpaid Overtime Violation of Labor Code §§ 510, 1194, 1198; IWC Wage Orders

Defendants violated Labor Code sections 510, 1194, and 1198, along with the “Hours and Days of Work” sections of the applicable IWC Wage Orders with respect to the aggrieved employees.

Labor Code section 510 requires “[a]ny work in excess of eight hours in one workday and any work in excess of 40 hours in any one workweek and the first eight hours worked on the seventh day of work in any one workweek shall be compensated at the rate of no less than one and one-half times the regular rate of pay for an employee;” and “any work in excess of 12 hours in one day shall be compensated at the rate of no less than twice the regular rate of pay for an employee;” and “any work in excess of eight hours on any seventh day of a workweek shall be compensated at the rate of no less than twice the regular rate of pay of an employee.” Labor Code section 1194 renders it unlawful for an employee to receive less than the legal overtime rate for overtime hours worked in California. Labor Code section 1198 renders “employment of any employee for longer hours than those fixed by the order or under conditions of labor prohibited by the [IWC Wage Orders]” unlawful. The IWC Wage Orders further require payment of overtime wages for all overtime hours worked, including the “Hours and Days of Work” sections.

Defendants failed to fully pay Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees overtime wages. Due to Defendants’ failure to track and compensate Plaintiff and aggrieved employees for time spent working off-the-clock during meal periods, any employee who worked through part or all of their meal period and worked at least 8 hours in a workday, or 40 hours in a workweek, worked unpaid overtime.

Additionally, Defendants paid Plaintiff a $10 bonus when she traveled a significant distance to care for a client. Plaintiff alleges, on information and belief, that Defendants failed to include non-discretionary bonuses and other forms of qualifying remuneration in the regular rate of pay calculation for overtime, paid sick leave, vacation wages, and meal and rest period premiums. Additionally, other additional forms of remuneration were not included in the hourly overtime rate for aggrieved employees like Plaintiff.

As a result, Plaintiff may recover civil penalties as an individual and on behalf of the State of California and the aggrieved employees, as provided under Labor Code sections 558 ($50/$100), 1199 / “Penalties” section of the IWC Wage Orders) ($50/$100), and 2699 ($100/$200) per violation per pay period per employee, along with all other civil penalties permitted by law.

Unpaid Paid Sick Leave Violation of Labor Code §§ 246 through 248.7

Defendants violated Labor Code sections 246 through 248.7 with respect to the aggrieved employees.

Labor Code section 246 requires employers to provide paid sick leave to its workforce on the terms set forth in the statute. Employers must comply with the accrual, use, and notice provisions of Labor Code sections 246, 246.5, 247, and must further ensure that they maintain the paid sick leave records required by Labor Code section 247.5. Employers have the option of providing 24 hours of paid sick leave to employees or to allow employees to accrue paid sick leave each pay period. If an employer chooses the accrual method, employees must accrue sick leave at a rate of one hour for every thirty hours worked in a given pay period as set forth in Labor Code section 246(b)(1). Under the accrual method, employees must begin accruing paid sick leave at the commencement of employment.

Employers must pay sick leave in accordance with one of the three permissible methods provided in Labor Code section 246(l): (1) “the same manner as the regular rate of pay for the workweek;” (2) “by dividing the employee’s total wages, not including overtime premium pay, by the employee’s total hours worked in the full pay periods of the prior 90 days;” or (3) “for exempt employee ... in the same manner as the employer calculates wages for other forms of paid leave time.” Labor Code sections 248.6 and 248.7 similarly require paid sick leave to be paid at a regular rate-based calculation in excess of the base hourly rate and at the lawful accrual rate.

Under Labor Code section 246(i), employers must provide employees “with written notice of the amount of paid sick leave available ... for use on either the employee’s itemized wage statement ... or in a separate writing provided on the designated pay date with the employee’s payment of wages.”

Defendants failed to comply with California’s paid sick leave laws with respect to the aggrieved employees. Plaintiff alleges, on information and belief, that Defendants failed to include non-discretionary bonuses and other forms of qualifying remuneration in the regular rate of pay calculation for paid sick leave.

As a result, Plaintiff may recover civil penalties as an individual and on behalf of the State of California and the aggrieved employees as provided under Labor Code section 2699 ($100/$200) per violation per pay period per employee, along with all other civil penalties permitted by law.

Unpaid Vacation Wages Violation of Labor Code § 227.3

Defendants violated Labor Code section 227.3 with respect to the aggrieved employees.

Labor Code section 227.3 requires “whenever a contract of employment or employer policy provides for paid vacations, and an employee is terminated without having taken off his vested vacation time, all vested vacation shall be paid to him as wages at his final rate in accordance with such contract of employment or employer policy respecting eligibility or time served; provided, however, that an employment contract or employer policy shall not provide for forfeiture of vested vacation time upon termination.”

Defendants maintained an unlawful policy and practice of failing to pay all accrued and unused vacation wages upon separation of employment at the lawful rate of pay, resulting in forfeiture of vested vacation time and wages. Plaintiff alleges, on information and belief, that Defendants failed to include non-discretionary bonuses and other forms of qualifying remuneration in the regular rate of pay calculation for vacation wages upon separation of employment. As a result, any employee who received a bonus in their last pay period, received a depreciated and underpaid payment of vested vacation time.

As a result, Plaintiff may recover civil penalties as an individual and on behalf of the State of California and the aggrieved employees as provided under Labor Code section 2699 ($100/$200) per violation per pay period per employee, along with all other civil penalties permitted by law.

Unpaid Meal Period Premium Wages
Violation of Labor Code §§ 226.7, 512, 1198; IWC Wage Orders

Defendants violated Labor Code sections 226.7, 512, and 1198, along with the related sections of the IWC Wage Orders with respect to the aggrieved employees.

Labor Code section 512 and the IWC Wage Orders require that employers provide an uninterrupted 30-minute meal period after no more than five hours of work and a second meal period after no more than 10 hours of work. See Brinker Restaurant Corp. v. Superior Court (2012) 53 Cal. 4th 1004, 1049. Labor Code section 226.7 requires that if a meal period is late, missed, short, or interrupted, the employer must pay one additional hour of pay at the employee's "regular rate" of compensation. Ferra v. Loews Hollywood Hotel, LLC (2021) 11 Cal. 5th 858, 862 ("We hold that the terms are synonymous: "regular rate of compensation" under section 226.7(c), like "regular rate of pay" under section 510(a), encompasses all nondiscretionary payments, not just hourly wages"). "[T]ime records showing noncompliant meal periods raise a rebuttable presumption of meal period violations, including at the summary judgment stage." Donohue v. AMN Services, LLC (2021) 11 Cal. 5th 58, 61. Labor Code section 1198 renders "employment of any employee for longer hours than those fixed by the order or under conditions of labor prohibited by the [IWC Wage Orders]" unlawful. The IWC Wage Orders, including Section 11 (Meal Periods), further require one uninterrupted 30-minute meal period after no more than five hours of work and a second meal period after no more than 10 hours of work and an additional hour of pay at the employee's regular rate of compensation for each workday that a compliant meal period is not provided. Pursuant to Section 11(A) of the IWC Wage Orders, the California Supreme Court has held that the on-duty meal period exception is "exceedingly narrow" and applies only when (1) "the nature of the work prevents the employee from being relieved of all duty" and (2) both "the employer and employee have agreed, in writing, to the on-duty meal period." Augustus v. AMB Security Services, Inc. (2016) 2 Cal. 5th 257, 266-276 (emphasis added). If these two requirements are not met, then the employer owes the employee one hour of premium pay for each non-compliant meal period taken under the purported on-duty meal arrangement. Naranjo v. Spectrum Security Services, Inc. (2019) 40 Cal. 5th 444, 459.

Defendants failed to provide compliant meal periods to Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees. Due to the nature of the work, and Defendants' staffing practices, Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees were unable to be relieved from their work responsibilities to take a compliant meal period. Since Defendants required Plaintiff to work alone in patient's homes, she did not have anyone available to cover for her during meal periods. She often took meal periods while monitoring or caring for the patient. Due to these on-duty tasks, any meal period where she had on-duty time was non-compliant. Plaintiff alleges that her and the aggrieved employees did not receive meal period premiums for non-compliant meal periods.

Additionally, to the extent that Defendants paid meal period premiums, Plaintiff alleges, on information and belief, that such amounts were underpaid due to Defendant's failing to include non-discretionary bonuses and other forms of qualifying remuneration in the regular rate of pay.

As a result, Plaintiff may recover civil penalties as an individual and on behalf of the State of California and the aggrieved employees as provided under Labor Code section 2699 ($100/$200) per violation per pay period per employee, along with all other civil penalties permitted by law.

Unpaid Rest Period Premium Wages
Violation of Labor Code §§ 226.7, 516, 1198; IWC Wage Orders

Defendants violated Labor Code sections 226.7, 516, and 1198, and the related sections of the IWC Wage Orders with respect to Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees.

Labor Code sections 226.7 and 516 and the IWC Wage Orders require that employers authorize and permit an uninterrupted 10-minute rest period for each four-hour period (or major fraction thereof) that an employee works. Labor Code section 226.7 requires that if a rest period is non-compliant, the employer must pay one additional hour of pay at the employee's "regular rate" of compensation. Ferra v. Loews Hollywood Hotel, LLC (2021) 11 Cal. 5th 858, 862 ("We hold that the terms are synonymous: "regular rate of compensation" under section 226.7(c), like "regular rate of pay" under section 510(a), encompasses all nondiscretionary payments, not just hourly wages"). Labor Code section 1198 renders "employment of any employee for longer hours than those fixed by the order or under conditions of labor prohibited by the [IWC Wage Orders]" unlawful. The IWC Wage Orders, including Section 12 (Rest Periods), further require one uninterrupted 10-minute rest period for each four-hour period (or major fraction thereof) worked and an additional hour of pay at the employee's regular rate of compensation for each workday that a compliant rest period is not authorized or permitted.

Defendants did not provide Plaintiff with compliant rest periods. For similar reasons as her non-compliant meal period, Plaintiff could not take time away from attending to patient needs to take a compliant rest period. Defendants often scheduled her alone in patient's homes and did not provide adequate coverage to take compliant rest periods. Plaintiff alleges that when she and the aggrieved employees suffered non-compliant rest periods, Defendants did not pay a rest period premium.

Additionally, to the extent that Defendants paid rest period premiums, Plaintiff alleges, on information and belief, that such amounts were underpaid due to Defendant's failing to include non-discretionary bonuses and other forms of qualifying remuneration in the regular rate of pay.

As a result, Plaintiff may recover civil penalties as an individual and on behalf of the State of California and the aggrieved employees, as provided under Labor Code section 2699 ($100/$200) per violation per pay period per employee, along with all other civil penalties permitted by law.

Untimely Payment of Wages During Employment Violation of Labor Code §§ 204, 204b, 210

Defendants violated Labor Code sections 204 and/or 204b and 210, as applicable, with respect to Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees.

Labor Code section 204(a) requires payment of "all wages" for non-exempt employees at least twice each calendar month. Labor Code section 204(d) states all wages due must be paid "not more than seven calendar days following the close of the payroll period." Labor Code section 204b applies to employees paid on a weekly basis and also requires the payment for all labor within the required pay periods. Labor Code section 210 provides "every person who fails to pay the wages of an employee as provided in Section ... 204 ... shall be subject to a civil penalty" of $100 for an initial violation and $200 plus 25% of the amount unlawfully withheld for a subsequent violation.

Because Defendants failed to pay all wages and premiums in each pay period in which such wages were earned at the lawful rate, Defendants violated Labor Code section 204 and/or 204b (for weekly employees, as applicable). Defendants violated Labor Code sections 204 and 204b by failing to pay all wages and premiums owed on the regular pay days scheduled each pay period within seven calendar days of the close of the payroll period, as a result of the policies and practices set forth in this notice. Because Defendants failed to compensate Plaintiffs for their hours worked, and failed to pay overtime hours, sick and vacation pay, and meal and rest period premiums at the regular rate of pay, Defendants failed to pay all wages and premiums in the pay period in which such wages were earned.

As a result, Plaintiff may recover civil penalties as an individual and on behalf of the State of California and the aggrieved employees as provided under Labor Code section 2699 ($100/$200) per violation per pay period per employee, and Labor Code section 210 ($100/$200) per violation per pay period, along with all other civil penalties permitted by law.

Untimely Payment of Wages Upon Separation of Employment
Violation of Labor Code §§ 201, 202, 203, 256

Defendants violated Labor Code sections 201, 202, and 203 with respect to the aggrieved employees by failing to pay all wages and premiums owed upon termination of employment.

Labor Code section 201 requires that if an employer fires an employee, the wages must be paid immediately. Labor Code section 202 requires that if an employee quits without providing 72 hours' notice, his or her wages must be paid no later than 72 hours thereafter. Labor Code section 202 states that if an employee provides 72 hours' notice, the final wages are payable upon his or her final day of employment. Labor Code section 203 requires an employer who fails to comply with Labor Code sections 201 or 202 to pay a waiting time penalty for each employee, up to a period of 30 days additional compensation.

Defendants failed to pay all wages and premiums owed to aggrieved employees during their employment as set forth in this notice, and also failed to timely pay those amounts to departing employees upon separation of employment. Defendants did not pay waiting time penalties for the late payments. As a result, Defendants violated Labor Code sections 201, 202, and 203. Specifically, Defendants did not fully compensate Plaintiffs and aggrieved employees for their regular and overtime hours worked. Additionally, they did not pay applicable meal and rest period premiums, and at the lawful rate. As a result, Plaintiff alleges that Defendants failed to timely pay wages upon separation of employment to her and the aggrieved employees.

As a result, Plaintiff may recover civil penalties on behalf of aggrieved employees and the State of California as provided under Labor Code section 2699 ($100/$200) per violation per pay period per employee, along with all other civil penalties permitted by law.

Non-Compliant Wage Statements
Violation of Labor Code §§ 226, 226.3

Defendants violated Labor Code sections 226(a) and 226.3 with respect to the aggrieved employees by failing to furnish itemized wage statements each pay period that accurately list all information required by Labor Code section 226(a)(1) through (9).

Labor Code section 226(a) requires an employer to furnish wage statements to employees semimonthly or at the time of each payment of wages, "an accurate itemized statement in writing showing:" (1) gross wages earned, (2) total hours worked, (3) the number of piece rate units earned and applicable piece-rate in effect, (4) all deductions, (5) net wages earned, (6) the inclusive dates of the pay period, (7) the name of the employee and last four digits of SSN or an EIN, (8) the name and address of the legal name of the employer, and (9) all applicable hourly rates in effect during the pay period and the number of hours worked at each hourly rate by the employee.

Defendants failed to provide accurate itemized wage statements to the aggrieved employees each pay period as a result of the policies and practices set forth in this notice. Defendants violated Labor Code section 226(a)(1), (2), and (5) by not listing the correct “gross wages earned,” “total hours worked,” or “net wages earned,” as the employees earned wages and premiums that were not paid, and worked unpaid hours resulting in an inaccurate reflection, and recording of “gross wages earned,” “total hours worked,” or “net wages earned” on those wage statements. Likewise, in violation of Labor Code section 226(a)(9), Defendants failed to state on employee wage statements each pay period the applicable hourly rates in effect and the number of hours worked at that rate, as Defendants failed to pay all wages and premiums owed to employees at the regular rate of pay. The amounts stated are instead depreciated and underpaid, resulting in an inaccurate reflection on the pay stub.

Plaintiff and other aggrieved employees cannot promptly and easily determine from the wage statement alone the wages paid or earned without reference to other documents or information. Indeed, these wage statement violations are significant because they sow confusion among Plaintiff and other aggrieved employees with respect to what amounts were owed and paid, at what rates, the number of hours worked, and how those amounts were or should be calculated. The wage statements reflect a false statement of earnings and concealed the underlying problems and underpayments of employee wages.

As a result, Plaintiff may recover civil penalties as an individual and on behalf of the State of California and the aggrieved employees, as provided under Labor Code sections 226.3 ($250/$1,000) and 2699 ($100/$200) per violation per pay period per employee, along with all other civil penalties permitted by law.

Unreimbursed Employee Expenses Violation of Labor Code §§ 2802, 2804

Defendants violated Labor Code section 2802 with respect to the aggrieved employees by failing to reimburse the aggrieved employees for all necessary expenditures or losses incurred as part of their job duties.

Labor Code section 2802 requires an employer to “indemnify his or her employee for all necessary expenditures or losses incurred by the employee in direct consequence of the discharge of his or her duties, or of his or her obedience to the directions of the employer, even though unlawful, unless the employee, at the time of obeying the directions, believed them to be unlawful.” See, e.g., Espinoza v. West Coast Tomato Growers, LLC, 2016 WL 4468175 at *4, n.2 (S.D. Cal. Aug. 24, 2016, No. 14-CV-2984 W (KSC)).

Labor Code section 2804 affirms that “[a]ny contract or agreement, express or implied, made by any employee to waive the benefits of this article or any part thereof, is null and void, and this article shall not deprive any employee or his personal representative of any right or remedy to which he is entitled under the laws of this State.”

Defendants required Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees to incur costs for work-related purposes without full reimbursement. In direct consequence of their job duties, Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees unavoidably and necessarily incurred these losses, expenditures, costs, as a matter of policy and practice. Due to Plaintiff's duties as a caregiver, Defendants required her to use her personal cell phone for work-related purposes without reimbursement. Plaintiff often used her personal cell phone to communicate with patients or Defendants. Additionally, Plaintiff purchased hand soap as many of the patients did not have hand soap in their homes. These expenses were in direct consequence of her job duties. Plaintiff alleges that Defendants did not reimburse her and aggrieved employees for their work-related expenses.

As a result, Plaintiff may recover civil penalties as an individual and on behalf of the State of California and the aggrieved employees, as provided under Labor Code section 2699 ($100/$200) per violation per pay period per employee, along with all other civil penalties permitted by law.

Failure to Provide Employee Records
Violation of Labor Code §§ 226, 432, 1174, 1198.5; IWC Wage Orders

Defendants violated Labor Code sections 226, 432, 1198.5, and 1174 with respect to the aggrieved employees.

Labor Code section 226(b) requires employers to “afford current and former employees the right to inspect or receive a copy of records pertaining to their employment, upon reasonable request to the employer.” Labor Code section 432 states that “[i]f an employee ... signs any instrument relating to the obtaining or holding of employment, he shall be given a copy of the instrument upon request.” Labor Code section 1198.5 grants “[e]very current and former employee, or his or her representative, ... the right to inspect and receive a copy of the personnel files that the employer maintains relating to the employee’s performance or to any grievance concerning the employee.” Section 7(A) (Records) of the IWC Wage Orders, which may be enforced through Labor Code section 1198, mandates that employers maintain and make available “time records showing when the employee begins and ends each work period” as well as time records showing “[m]eal periods, split shift intervals, and daily hours worked[.]” Labor Code section 1174(d) requires these and other records be maintained for at least three years.

Defendants failed to provide all records upon Plaintiff's request. Specifically, Defendants failed to provide Plaintiff's time records.

As a result, Plaintiff may recover civil penalties as an individual and on behalf of the State of California and the aggrieved employees, as provided under Labor Code sections 226.3 ($250/$1,000), 1174.5 ($500), and 2699 ($100/$200) per violation per pay period per employee, along with all other civil penalties permitted by law.

Failure to Maintain Accurate Records
Violation of Labor Code § 1174; IWC Wage Orders

Defendants violated Labor Code sections 1174 and the IWC Wage Orders by failing to maintain accurate employee payroll records with respect to Plaintiff and other aggrieved employees.

Labor Code section 1174 requires that employers maintain accurate “payroll records showing the hours worked daily by and the wages paid to, and the number of piece-rate units earned by and any applicable piece rate paid to, employees employed at the respective plants or establishments.” Section 7(A) of the IWC Wage Orders, which may be enforced through Labor Code section 1198, mandates similar recordkeeping obligations.

Because of the policies and practices set forth in this notice, including the failure to accurately account for wages earned or hours worked, Defendants failed to accurately maintain records in accordance with Labor Code section 1174 and the IWC Wage Orders.

As a result, Plaintiff may recover civil penalties as an individual and on behalf of the State of California and the aggrieved employees, as provided under Labor Code section 1174.5 ($500) and 2699 ($100/$200), along with all other civil penalties permitted by law.

Attorneys’ Fees and Costs
Labor Code § 2699(g)

Plaintiff has been compelled to retain the services of counsel to protect the interests of other aggrieved employees and the State of California. Plaintiff continues to incur attorneys’ fees and costs, which are recoverable under California law, including Labor Code section 2699(g).
