EXPERIENCE

CPT Group, Inc. has a proven track record of successfully administering complex class action settlements across a broad range of practice areas, including cases with millions of class members. With over four decades of experience, CPT is trusted by courts nationwide as a third-party administrator for high-stakes, large-fund settlements. Below are highlights from several relevant cases we've handled:

CONSUMER PROTECTION

Stevens v. Britax Child Safety, Inc., Case No. 2:20-cv-07373-MCS-AS (C.D. Cal)

Administration tasks for this hybrid settlement included dissemination of the summary notice by email or mail to known consumers and implementation of an extensive digital and social media campaign to reach unknown consumers, which encompassed internet publication through DV360, paid and keyword search (Google/Bing), and social media advertising on Facebook, Instagram, and OLV (YouTube). Additional efforts included a press release and four consecutive print publications in the Los Angeles Times. Further, a dedicated settlement website was established to access court-approved documents, facilitate online claims submission, and offer real-time case information to potential settlement class members.

Pope, et al. v. Cura Partners, Inc., State of Oregon, Multnomah County Circuit Court, Case No. 20CV05932

While administering this consumer settlement, CPT designed and implemented a multi-faceted notice program to effectively reach and engage the potential class population of 172,000 members. The comprehensive outreach strategy integrated multiple communication channels, anchored by a targeted digital media campaign that strategically placed settlement information where potential class members were most likely to encounter it. This digital approach was complemented by traditional print publication, creating multiple touchpoints for class awareness. Central to the administration strategy was an interactive settlement website that served as the primary hub for class member engagement and streamlined claims submission. The settlement's modern approach extended to its payment distribution, offering claimants flexibility through multiple digital payment options. This technology-forward distribution strategy provided class members convenient, secure payment choices while optimizing administrative efficiency.

Treviso v. Pro Football Hall of Fame, Case No. 5:17-cv-00472 (N.D. Ohio)

CPT executed a sophisticated administration strategy for this consumer settlement, beginning with a meticulously researched notice campaign tailored to reach the presumed target audience. The comprehensive digital strategy integrated paid search campaigns, programmatic display advertising, strategic social media placements, and online video (OLV) content. This layered approach proved highly effective, generating an impressive 5,080,887 impressions during the 40-day recruitment campaign. To further enhance accessibility, the notice program incorporated direct communication methods through email and text message notifications, ensuring multiple touchpoints for potential class members. The settlement's complexity was particularly evident in its claims validation requirements, which demanded a thorough review of multiple documentation types, including proof of travel, accommodation records, and event attendance verification through tickets or other supporting evidence. This rigorous validation process, combined with the sophisticated notice program and user-friendly claims platform, demonstrated CPT's ability to manage intricate settlement requirements while maintaining efficient and accessible administration practices.

DATA BREACH

Patricia Tafelski, et al. v. Logan Health Medical Center, Montana Eighth Judicial District Court, Case No. 19CV45421 and ADV-22-0124

CPT administered this data breach settlement reaching approximately 213,500 class members through a comprehensive notice program featuring double postcards and strategic reminders. The administration centered on an interactive settlement website that served as an information hub for class members. CPT implemented a flexible benefits distribution system offering multiple payment options, including electronic transfers, paper checks, and credit monitoring activation codes. To maximize participation, CPT executed targeted follow-up campaigns via email and phone to encourage check cashing.

Harkey-Kirk v. California Department Of Public Health, Sacramento County Superior Ct, Case No. Case No.: 34-2019-00260616

In addressing this privacy matter under the Confidentiality of Medical Information Act, CPT implemented a comprehensive strategy to issue a notice of class certification. Our approach included targeted outreach through traditional print publication, a robust media campaign across platforms like Facebook, Instagram, and YouTube, and a precision-driven paid search campaign on both Bing and Google. Additionally, our programmatic display advertising, facilitated through a DSP platform, created a dynamic and visually engaging presence across various online spaces. The campaign's visibility was enhanced by a press release distributed via PR Newswire, ensuring comprehensive information reached both the public and the media.

Hinds v. Community Medical Centers, Inc., San Joaquin County Superior Court , Case No. STK-CV-UNPI-2021-0010404

CPT Group effectively managed this $1.9 million data breach settlement through multiple communication channels, including direct mail notices to over 600,000 class members and a dedicated settlement website where claimants could access court documents and submit claims electronically. A 24-hour toll-free support line with IVR capabilities provided continuous assistance. These comprehensive efforts resulted in over 11,000 claim submissions, with claimants choosing between cash benefits or credit monitoring services.

EXPERIENCE

LABOR & EMPLOYMENT

Nevarez, et al. v. Costco Wholesale Corporation, Los Angeles County Superior Court, Case No. 19STCV10017

To apprise settlement class members of the $8,750,000 wage and hour settlement, CPT implemented a dual-notification approach that leveraged email and physical mail communications to effectively reach the substantial class size of 96,677 members. Over $5,000,000 was designated as the net settlement amount for distribution among participating class members from the gross settlement amount. The settlement administration was particularly notable for its inclusion of gift card distribution to qualified participants, adding complexity to the distribution process by requiring the management of both monetary and non-monetary benefits.

Helmick v. Air Methods Corp., Alameda County Superior Court, Case No. RG13665373

(Top Settlements, 2020) Administration of this $78,000,000 employment settlement demonstrated the complexity of managing high-value, multi-year distributions. The notice program began with direct mail outreach to settlement class members, a comprehensive settlement website, and toll-free class member support. The settlement's significant monetary component required careful administration, with distributions totaling over $49,000,000 executed over three years. The substantial individual awards, averaging approximately $100,000 per claimant, reflected the serious nature of the underlying claims and required meticulous verification and distribution protocols. The high average award amount and multi-year distribution schedule distinguished this as one of the more complex employment settlements of 2020.

Wackenhut Wage and Hour Cases, Los Angeles County Superior Court, Case No. JCCP Np. 4545

(Top Settlements, 2019) CPT implemented a sophisticated communication strategy that integrated multiple outreach channels to notify settlement class members in this $130,000,000 wage and hour settlement. The notice program leveraged both email and SMS text messaging in English and Spanish, ensuring broad accessibility across the linguistically diverse class population. A comprehensive settlement website served as an information hub, featuring an online claim portal. CPT supported class member engagement through a dedicated toll-free hotline. The effectiveness of these notice methods was demonstrated by the impressive 57% claimant response - a strong result that helped secure final approval from the court. This settlement's size and successful administration marked it as one of the largest employment settlements in California that year.

Sanchez v McDonald's Restaurants of California, Los Angeles County Superior Court, Case No. BC499888

(Top Settlements, 2019) Notice methods in this $26,000,000 wage and hour settlement featured a multi-channel approach. Primary notice was delivered through direct mail and email in English and Spanish, accommodating the workforce's linguistic diversity. A dedicated settlement website was a comprehensive resource, hosting case documents, court filings, frequently asked questions, settlement agreement details, and opt-out/objection forms. All website materials were available in both English and Spanish. For additional support, a toll-free hotline was staffed by trained bilingual representatives.

Alvarez, et al v. XPO Logistics Cartage, LLC, 2:18-cv-03736-RGK-E (C.D. Cal)

In administering this $20 million wage and hour settlement, CPT executed a comprehensive bilingual notice program, disseminating materials in both English and Spanish while managing the critical task of collecting W-9s from prospective class members. CPT implemented a strategic follow-up campaign to optimize response rates, including targeted reminder postcards to non-responding individuals. The settlement distribution was executed in two phases: an initial disbursement to all eligible class members and a supplemental distribution to those who had promptly negotiated their initial settlement payments.

Abdullah v U.S. Security Associates, Inc., San Diego County Superior Court, Case No. 2:15-cv-09-00984 PSG-E

(Top Settlements, 2018) CPT successfully administered this substantial $21 million settlement, implementing a comprehensive notice and communication program for a class exceeding 22,000 members. The multi-channel outreach strategy included direct mail notification, a dedicated settlement website, and a toll-free support line to ensure class members had ready access to case information and assistance. The administration required sophisticated tax compliance measures, with CPT managing the intricate coordination of settlement benefit distribution alongside required tax documentation. This included the timely issuance of settlement payments with corresponding W2 and 1099 tax forms to all eligible class members, maintaining strict adherence to tax regulations and reporting requirements.

Cruz & Johnson v. Wal-Mart Associates, Inc., et. al., Los Angeles & San Bernardino County Superior Courts of California, Case Nos. 18STCV03128 and CIVDS1602699

(Top Settlements, 2021) In this significant 2021 PAGA settlement, CPT administered a $15 million resolution reaching over 320,000 aggrieved employees through direct mail notification. The administration included comprehensive tax compliance, with CPT coordinating the distribution of settlement checks and corresponding 1099 forms to eligible participants. This consequential wage-and-hour settlement exemplified the effectiveness of PAGA enforcement in addressing workplace compliance issues.

Valdez v. Starbucks Corporation, Superior Court of the State of California, County of Riverside, Case No. PSC1908409

CPT administered a $3 million PAGA settlement benefiting 138,000 aggrieved employees. The distribution process included coordinated issuance of settlement checks and corresponding 1099 tax forms. CPT managed the disposition of uncashed funds through a Cy Pres distribution, ensuring the full settlement value served its intended public benefit.

EXHIBIT 2

Secure Transmission Methods for Sensitive Information

CPT Group has established rigorous protocols for secure transmission and protection of Client Data and Wire Information. These guidelines maintain the highest level of security and confidentiality in legal and financial transactions through secure File Transfer Protocol (FTP) technology, password protection, and automatic file deletion.

Client Data Transmission

The secure transmission of Client Data is paramount in maintaining confidentiality and integrity of sensitive information. CPT implements a stringent process that utilizes secure File Transfer Protocol (FTP) technology to ensure the safe transfer of data files between counsel and CPT.

Four-Step Security Protocol:

1

Step 1: Link Provision

CPT provides counsel with a secure FTP (Sharefile) link specifically designated for the transfer of data files ensuring transmission over encrypted connection.

2

Step 2: File Upload and Password Protection

Counsel uploads required files to the Sharefile link. All uploaded files must be password-protected to add an extra layer of security ensuring file contents remain encrypted and inaccessible even if unauthorized access occurs.

3

Step 3: Password Communication

File password are communicated to CPT personnel via telephone. This separation of file transmission and password communication reduces interception risk and unauthorized access.

4

Step 4: File Retrieval and Deletion

Once CPT retrieves the uploaded files, they are automatically deleted from the Sharefile system after seven days minimizing the vulnerability window and ensures sensitive data doesn't persist unnecessarily.

These steps not only provides a secure channel for data transmission but also incorporate additional layers of security through password protection and automatic file deletion. By adhering to these protocols, CPT minimizes the risk of unauthorized access and data breaches, thereby protecting the interests of all parties involved in the legal process.

Wire Instructions Security Protocols

CPT emphasizes the importance of secure channels for transmitting sensitive financial information, recognizing the potential risks associated with electronic communication of banking details.

QSF Wire Instructions Provided to Defense Counsel:

PDF Generation and Protection

CPT creates wire password-protected PDF wire instructions.

Secure Upload to Sharefile

Protected PDF is uploaded to secure Sharefile platform.

Telephonic Password Communication

CPT personnel directly call Defense Counsel to provide PDF access password.

Confirmation Call

Defendant/Defense Counsel should call CPT prior to initiating any wire transfer.

Plaintiff’s Counsel Wire Instructions Provided to CPT:

The process for communicating wire instructions to Plaintiff Counsel is designed with similar security considerations as those for incoming transfers. By establishing strict guidelines for the transmission of both outgoing and incoming wire instructions, CPT ensures that the final stage of fund distribution maintains the same level of security as the initial transfer.

Disclaimer for Unauthorized Transmissions

CPT issues clear disclaimers for any attempts to use unauthorized transmission methods, emphasizing reinforcement of established procedure importance, responsibility placement on transmitting party for potential breaches, risk awareness of unsecured transmission channels, and professional conduct and client trust maintenance.
