Attorneys for Plaintiff, CESAR VELEZ CERNA, on behalf of himself and all others similarly situated and aggrieved

DECLARATION OF KEATON D. MENDOZA

1. I am an attorney at law, duly licensed to practice before all the Courts of the State of California and I am an attorney at Bibiyan Law Group, P.C., counsel for plaintiffs Brianna Taylor, Luis Garcia and Cesar Velez Cerna (collectively, "Plaintiffs"), and all others similarly situated and aggrieved. As such, I am familiar with the file in this matter and, if called as a witness, I could and would competently testify to the following facts of my own personal knowledge.

2. On October 31, 2023, plaintiff Cesar Velez Cerna filed with the California Labor and Workforce Development Agency ("LWDA") and served on defendant SDH Services West, LLC, a notice under Labor Code section 2699.3, stating he intended to serve as a proxy of the LWDA to recover civil penalties on behalf of Aggrieved Employees for alleged Labor Code violations ("Cerna PAGA Notice").

3. On January 5, 2024, after sixty-five (65) days had passed since the filing and serving of the Cerna PAGA Notice, without any action by the LWDA with respect to the Labor Code violations alleged in the Cerna PAGA Notice, plaintiff Cesar Velez Cerna filed a representative action under PAGA against Defendant SDH Services West, LLC, captioned Cesar Velez Cerna v SDH Services West LLC, et al., in the Los Angeles County Superior Court, Case No. 24STCV00321, for the Labor Code violations set out in the Cerna PAGA Notice (the "Cerna PAGA Action").

4. On August 20, 2024, plaintiffs Brianna Taylor and Luis Garcia filed with the LWDA and served on Defendants a notice under Labor Code section 2699.3, stating they intended to serve as a proxy of the LWDA to recover civil penalties on behalf of Aggrieved Employees for alleged Labor Code violations ("Taylor-Garcia PAGA Notice"). A true and correct copy of the Taylor-Garcia PAGA Notice is attached hereto as Exhibit "2." The Cerna PAGA Notice and the Taylor-Garcia PAGA Notice are hereinafter collectively referred to as the "PAGA Notices."

5. On September 11, 2024, plaintiffs Brianna Taylor and Luis Garcia commenced this Action by filing a class action complaint alleging causes of action against Defendants for: (1) failure to pay overtime wages; (2) failure to pay minimum wages; (3) failure to provide meal periods or compensation in lieu thereof; (4) failure to provide rest periods or compensation in lieu thereof; (5) failure to pay all wages due upon separation; (6) failure to provide accurate wage statements; (7) failure to timely pay wages during employment; (8) failure to indemnify for business expenses; (9) failure to pay unused vested vacation time; and (10) engaging in unfair competition (the "Taylor-Garcia Class Action" or the "Action").

6. On December 31, 2024, after sixty-five (65) days had passed since the filing and serving of the Taylor-Garcia PAGA Notice, without any action by the LWDA with respect to the Labor Code violations alleged in the Taylor-Garcia PAGA Notice, plaintiffs Brianna Taylor and Luis Garcia filed a separate representative action under PAGA against Defendants, captioned Brianna Taylor, et al. v. SodexoMagic, LLC, et al., in the Los Angeles County Superior Court, Case No. 24STCV34737, for the Labor Code violations set out in the Taylor-Garcia PAGA Notice (the "Taylor-Garcia PAGA Action").

7. Thereafter, the Parties agreed to exchange informal discovery and attend mediation.

8. Prior to mediation, Plaintiffs obtained, through informal discovery: (a) a random sampling of time and payroll records of putative class members during the class period; (b) data points, including the number of putative class members and workweeks; (c) wage and hour policy documents of Defendants; and (d) all documents pertaining to Plaintiffs available to Defendants.

9. Plaintiffs' investigation was sufficient to satisfy the criteria for court approval set forth in Dunk v. Ford Motor Co. (1996) 48 Cal.App.4th 1794, 1801 and Kullar v. Foot Locker Retail, Inc. (2008) 168 Cal.App.4th 116, 129-130 ("Dunk/Kullar").

10. On April 14, 2026, the Parties participated in an all-day mediation presided over by Monique Ngo-Bonnici, Esquire. The mediation was successful, and the Parties agreed to globally resolve all class and PAGA claims in the Action. As part and parcel to the Agreement, the Parties agreed to stipulate to plaintiffs Brianna Taylor's and Luis Garcia's filing a First Amended Complaint in the Taylor-Garcia Class Action, adding plaintiff Cesar Velez Cerna as a named plaintiff and all allegations in the Taylor-Garcia PAGA Action and the Cerna PAGA Action, and after acceptance of the First Amended Complaint, request dismissal without prejudice of the Taylor-Garcia PAGA Action and the Cerna PAGA Action, thereby effectively consolidating the allegations in the three actions for purposes of the Settlement. The First Amended Complaint in the Taylor-Garcia Class Action is the operative complaint in the Action ("Operative Complaint").

11. Class Counsel have conducted significant investigation of the law and facts relating to the claims asserted in the Action and the PAGA Notices, and have concluded that the Settlement is fair, reasonable, adequate, and in the best interests of the Settlement Class, taking into account the sharply contested issues involved, the expense and time necessary to litigate the Action through trial and any appeals, the risks and costs of further litigation of the Action, the risk of an adverse outcome, the uncertainties of complex litigation, the information learned through informal discovery regarding Plaintiffs' allegations, and the substantial benefits to be received by Settlement Class Members.

The Proposed Settlement

12. Subject to Court approval pursuant to Code of Civil Procedure section 382 and California Rules of Court, rule 3.679, et seq., the Parties have agreed to settle the Action by agreement upon the terms and conditions, and for the consideration set forth in the Agreement, a copy of which is attached hereto as Exhibit "1." A summary of the terms of the settlement is as follows:

Defendants will stipulate, for purpose of this settlement only, as follows:

- Certification of a class ("Settlement Class," "Settlement Class Members" or "Class Members") defined as: all persons employed by defendants SodexoMagic, LLC, and SDH Services West, LLC (collectively, "Defendants"), who worked in a non-exempt position in California during the period from September 11, 2020 to March 16, 2023, or an earlier date pursuant to paragraph 4.1 of the Settlement Agreement ("Class Period"). The Class excludes any person who only worked for Defendants in a non-exempt position in California during the Class Period at a federal enclave location.
- Defendants will pay $3,000,000.00 ("Gross Settlement Amount") to resolve the matter.
- Based on a review of its records to date, Defendants estimate there are a total of 545,000 active Workweeks worked as a non-exempt employee in California at a non-federal enclave from September 11, 2020, to March 16, 2023. In the event the number of workweeks during the Class Period increases by more than 10%, or 54,500 workweeks, Defendants shall roll back the end of the Class and PAGA Release Periods to the date in which 599,500 active workweeks is met.

- Defendants will pay the employer's share of taxes separate and apart from the Gross Settlement Amount.
- This is a non-reversionary settlement.
- Class Members will be paid their pro rata share of the class action settlement based on the total number of Workweeks worked during the Class Period.
- "Workweek" means any week during which a Class Member worked for Defendants for at least one day, during the Class Period in a non-exempt position in California at a non-federal enclave location, based on hire date(s), re-hire date(s), and termination date(s).
- The Settlement Administration costs, estimated not to exceed $49,950.00, will be paid out of the Gross Settlement Amount.
- Class Counsel, comprised of Bibiyan Law Group, P.C., and Messrelian Law, Inc., may apply for, and Defendants will not oppose, attorneys' fees of up to thirty-five percent (35%) of the Gross Settlement Amount, which, unless escalated pursuant to the Settlement Agreement, amounts to $1,050,000.00, and actual costs, not to exceed $50,000.00, all of which will be paid out of the Gross Settlement Amount.
- Class Counsel hereby apply for, and Defendants will not oppose, service award of up to $10,000.00 each to plaintiffs Brianna Taylor, Luis Garcia and Cesar Velez Cerna, for a total of $30,000.00 to Plaintiffs, which will be paid out of the Gross Settlement Amount.
- "Aggrieved Employees" is defined as all persons employed by Defendants who worked in a non-exempt position in California during the period from October 31, 2022 through the end of the Class Period ("PAGA Period"). Aggrieved Employees excludes any person who only worked for Defendants in a non-exempt position in California during the PAGA Period at a federal enclave location.
- Defendants have agreed to pay $300,000.00 as PAGA penalties, seventy-five percent (75%) or $225,000.00 of which will be paid to the LWDA out of the Gross Settlement

Amount, and twenty-five percent (25%) or $75,000.00 of which will be distributed to the Aggrieved Employees.

- For any Class Member and/or Aggrieved Employee whose Individual Class and/or PAGA Payment check is uncashed and cancelled after the void date (180 days after the date of mailing), the Administrator shall transmit the funds represented by such a check to the California Controller's Unclaimed Property Fund in the name of the Class Member/Aggrieved Employee.

Settlement Agreement and Accompanying Documents

13. Attached hereto as Exhibit "1" is a true and correct copy of the Agreement fully executed by the Parties.

14. Attached to the Agreement as Exhibit "A" thereto is the proposed Notice of Class Action Settlement and Hearing Date for Final Court Approval ("Class Notice") to be distributed to Class Members in English and Spanish.

15. The Parties have agreed to use Phoenix Settlement Administrators ("Phoenix"), an experienced settlement administrator, to administer the settlement.

16. On or about November 5, 2026, my office submitted a copy of the Settlement Agreement to the California Labor and Workforce Development Agency ("LWDA") in compliance with Labor Code section 2699, subdivision (1)(2). A true and correct copy of each confirmation from the LWDA in connection with Plaintiff is attached hereto as Exhibit 3.

The Settlement was Negotiated at Arms-Length and not Collusive

17. The Settlement that has been reached, subject to this Court's approval, is a product of substantial efforts by the Parties and their counsel. The Settlement was reached after extensive factual and legal investigation and research; the exchange of informal discovery; substantial negotiation regarding the scope of informal discovery; exchange of documents and information that included review of time and pay records and analysis thereof with the aid of Plaintiffs and expert consultant; analysis of shifts and Workweeks worked by Class Members in the Class Period, analysis of the number of pay periods and number of Aggrieved Employees in the PAGA Period for calculating PAGA penalties, number of Class Members eligible for wage statement penalties and waiting time penalties; an analysis of Plaintiffs' employment records; extensive correspondence and communication between counsel; a review of pleadings, evidence and rulings in similar actions litigated elsewhere in the state; a review of similar cases in the same industry elsewhere in the country; and preparation for and attendance at a full-day mediation, followed by further discussions and coordination to finalize the terms and conditions of the general settlement parameters agreed to by the Parties.

18. While Class Counsel believe in the chance of success of certifying the claims, Class Counsel recognized the potential risk, expense and complexity posed by further litigation. Moreover, litigating Plaintiffs' claims in this litigation—claims that involve approximately 10,700 Class Members during the Class Period—would require substantial preparation and discovery, and ultimately would involve the deposition and presentation of numerous more witnesses (including Class Members and expert witnesses), as well as the consideration, preparation and analysis of expert reports. Therefore, should litigation have progressed any further, there would have been significant expense incurred by each side (above and beyond the expense already incurred).

The Settlement Amount is Well Within the Range of Reasonableness

19. The settlement amount reached in this case provides significant recovery to Class Members and Aggrieved Employees, and easily falls within the range of reasonableness. Based on documents and information provided by Defendants, Class Counsel understand, as of the date of the mediation, there are no more than 545,000 Workweeks during the Class Period.

Unpaid Wages for Failure to Pay Off-the-Clock Work

20. Class Counsel theorized, based on Plaintiffs' narrative evidence, that Defendants failed to pay all wages due to Class Members because Defendants required Class Members to work off-the-clock or Class Members spent time off-the-clock under Defendants' control, including, without limitation, waiting in line at only one (1) timeclock for each of Defendants' location for all employees to clock in at the start of their shifts, without pay.

21. One theory advanced by Class Counsel alleged, based on Plaintiffs' narrative evidence, that Class Members worked off-the-clock for a conservative estimate of three (3) minutes each shift throughout the Class Period, without pay. Class Counsel understand, based on time and payroll records produced by Defendants and analysis thereof by expert data consultants retained by Class Counsel, that there were approximately 2,749,598 shifts during the Class Period, approximately 38.5% of which were over eight (8) hours in length, and Class Members had an average regular hourly rate of pay of $21.85. Thus, one calculation performed by Class Counsel resulted in Defendant's exposure for unpaid off-the-clock work in a conservative amount of $5,429,614 ([2,749,598 shifts x 0.385 shifts over 8 hours x 0.05 hour x $21.85 x 1.5 overtime rate] + [2,749,598 shifts x 0.615 shifts less than 8 hours x 0.05 hour x $21.85 x 2 in liquidated damages]).

22. Defendants contend that their policies specifically prohibit off-the-clock work. Defendants contend that they did not require Class Members to work off-the-clock and, rather, they were paid for all time suffered or permitted to work. Defendants assert that they provided a sufficient number of timeclocks at their facilities, and Class Members would not have been required to wait in line for clocking in before their shifts. Defendants contend that any allegations that Class Members were required to be under Defendants' control off-the-clock would necessitate an individualized inquiry into when and why, making this claim not subject to class treatment and any trial in this litigation unmanageable. Thus, Defendants contend that no damages can be recovered here, and, even if, arguendo, it could, an estimate of three (3) minutes of unpaid time for every single shift worked by all Class Members during the Class Period is a wild exaggeration of time spent working off-the-clock if any such time was spent.

Damages for Failure to Include Regular Rate of Pay for the Purpose of Calculating Overtime Pay, Sick Pay and Meal Period Premiums

23. Class Counsel understand from Plaintiffs' narrative evidence and documents produced by Defendants, that Class Members received non-discretionary bonuses, including, among others, "2ndsft," "Weekend Diff," "Spcl Pay Premium," "Holiday Premn," "On Call," and "Call In," during the Class Period, and that these bonuses were never included in the regular rate of pay for the purpose of calculating overtime pay, sick pay and meal period premiums. Class Counsel theorized, based on documents produced by Defendants and analysis thereof by expert data consultants retained by Class Counsel, that, because of Defendants' failure to include these bonuses in the regular rate of pay for the purpose of calculating overtime pay, sick pay and meal period premiums, Defendant has an exposure in an approximate amount of $157,620 ($36,975 overtime underpayment + $109,463 sick pay underpayment + $11,182 meal period premium underpayment).

24. Class Counsel understand that Defendants argued the following in connection with this claim: Defendants contend that any bonuses not included in the regular rate were discretionary, and thus, are not to be included in the regular rate of pay for the purpose of calculating overtime pay, sick pay and meal period premiums under the applicable Wage Order. Defendants further defend that they did properly include all bonuses under the applicable Wage Order in Class Members' regular rate of pay for the purpose of calculating overtime pay, sick pay and meal period premiums, and thus, no monies are owed in connection with this theory either.

Recovery of Damages for Non-Compliant Meal Periods

25. Class Counsel theorized, based on Plaintiffs' narrative evidence, that Defendants' meal period practices throughout the Class Period were non-compliant because meal periods were late, short or missed due to any or a combination of the following reasons: (1) the requirement of a coverage for his area before an employee could take his meal period; (2) interruptions by managers or co-employees, who were asking work-related questions, during meal periods; (3) the requirement of performing work-related duties even during meal periods; and (4) the practice of recording synthetic time entries for meal periods, i.e., edited time entries for meal periods to make them appear compliant.

26. Class Counsel theorized, based on documents produced by Defendants and analysis thereof by expert data consultants retained by Class Counsel, that 4.4% of 2,582,722 meal-eligible shifts had unique meal break violations (late, short or missed meal periods) and Defendants made 47,891 meal period premium payments throughout the Class Period. Thus, one calculation advanced at mediation by Class Counsel resulted in Defendants' exposure for non-compliant meal periods in an approximate amount of $1,436,611 ([0.044 violation rate x 2,582,722 meal-eligible shifts] – [47,891 meal period premium payments] x $21.85/hour).

27. Class Counsel understand that Defendants make the following defenses in connection with this claim: Defendants argue that they had compliant meal period policies and practices including payment of significant meal period premiums. Defendants argue that Class Members took timely and full meal periods. Defendants contend that their policy require their employees to take timely and full meal periods. Defendants further contend that any instance of a Class Member failing to take a compliant meal period without a meal period premium payment was voluntary, in violation of their meal period policy, would necessitate an individualized inquiry and would not lend itself to a manageable trial. Thus, Defendants contend that no monies are owed for this account but, even if any amounts were due, the amount calculated by Class Counsel is excessive.

Recovery of Damages for Non-Compliant Rest Periods

28. Class Counsel theorized at mediation, based on Plaintiffs' narrative evidence, that Defendants' rest period practices throughout the Class Period were non-compliant because rest periods were late, short or missed due to: (1) like meal periods, the requirement of a coverage for his area before an employee could take his rest period, on one hand, and short staffing, on the other hand; and (2) the need to complete tasks during rest periods before the end of shifts to avoid being written up.

29. Thus, one calculation performed by Class Counsel resulted in, assuming a 10% violation rate for the 2,727,732 rest-eligible shifts, Defendants' exposure for failure to provide compliant rest periods in a conservative amount of $5,960,094 (2,727,732 shifts x 0.10 violation rate x $21.85/hour).

30. Class Counsel understand that Defendants make the following defenses in connection with this claim: Defendants argue that they had compliant rest period policies and practices. Defendants argue that Class Members took timely and full rest periods. Defendants contend that their policy requires their employees to take timely and full rest periods. Defendants further contend that any instance of a Class Member failing to take a compliant rest period was voluntary, in violation of their rest period policy, would necessitate an individualized inquiry and would not lend itself to a manageable trial. Defendants contend that a 10% violation rate is a wild exaggeration of non-compliant rest periods, if there were any. Thus, Defendants contend that no monies are owed for this account but, even if any amounts were due, the amount calculated by

Class Counsel is excessive.

Failure to Indemnify for Business Expenses

31. Class Counsel theorized, based on Plaintiffs' narrative evidence, that Defendants failed to indemnify Class Members for necessary business expenses because Defendants required Class Members to use their personal cellphones for work-related purposes, such as for scheduling and other work-related matters. Class Counsel theorized, based on Plaintiffs' narrative evidence, that Class Members would incur expenses of approximately $20 for cellphone costs every month, or $5 every Workweek, and that there were 545,000 Workweeks throughout the Class Period. Thus, one calculation performed by Class Counsel, assuming a 10% violation rate, resulted in Defendants' exposure for failure to indemnify for business expenses of $272,500 ($5 x 545,000 Workweeks x 0.10 violation rate).

32. Class Counsel understand that Defendants argued the following: Defendants argued that they reimbursed their employees for all expenses incurred in furtherance of work. Defendants also argued that Class Members were using their cellphones, for personal use and Defendants have no obligation to reimburse Class Members for such use. Thus, Defendants contend that they owe no monies to Class Members under this theory, either.

Wage Statement Violations

33. Class Counsel theorized that Class Members are entitled to recover penalties for Defendants' alleged failure to issue compliant wage statements under Labor Code section 226, subdivision (e), for the derivative impact of the failure to pay all wages owed on providing accurate information on wage statements. Specifically, Class Counsel theorized that penalties are owed under Labor Code section 226 due to, at minimum, Defendants' failure to pay premium wages. A non-exempt employee suffering injury as a result of a knowing and intentional failure by an employer to comply with Labor Code section 226, subdivision (a), is entitled to recover the greater of all actual damages or fifty dollars ($50) for the initial pay period in which a violation occurs and one hundred dollars ($100) per employee for each violation in a subsequent pay period. Class Counsel understand from the data provided by Defendants that there were 157,973 pay periods during the relevant statutory time period for Class Members. Thus, one calculation performed by Class Counsel, assuming a 10% violation rate, resulted in Defendants' maximum exposure for wage statement violations in the amount of $1,579,730 (157,973 pay periods x $100/pay period x 0.10 violation rate).

34. Class Counsel understand that Defendants make the following defenses in connection with this claim: Defendants contend that the wage statements issued to the employees fully complied with Labor Code section 226. Defendants contend that because they believe no wages are unpaid that, thus, there can be no derivative penalties. Class Counsel also understand the risks inherent in this claim if the above claims were not certified. Class Counsel also had to factor in, and did factor in, the risk that the Court would find there was no injury to Class Members even if the wage statements were inaccurate or that Defendants' conduct was not intentional, both of which are requirements of Labor Code section 226 before penalties can issue. Class Counsel also note that the calculation used does not take into account the first pay period violation only being $50 and the fact that all Class Members did not work all pay periods and, therefore, do not qualify for the maximum penalty of $4,000 as calculated in Plaintiffs' exposure model used at mediation.

Waiting Time Penalties

35. Pursuant to Labor Code sections 201, 202 and 203, each employee in the relevant statutory period (i.e., three years before the filing of the initial Complaint) is entitled to 30 days' worth of wages as waiting time penalty for not being paid all wages due upon separation from employment. Class Counsel theorized, based on relevant documents provided by Defendants, that, under Labor Code section 203, Defendants are liable to pay each Class Member, who was terminated during the relevant statutory period, a full 30-day worth of wages as waiting time penalty for failure to pay compensation in lieu of compliant meal and rest periods, and failure to timely pay all wages due at the time of termination or resignation. Based on relevant documents provided by Defendants, there were approximately 3,967 Class Members who were terminated or resigned during the relevant statutory period. Thus, one calculation performed by Class Counsel, assuming a 10% violation rate, resulted in Defendants' exposure for waiting time penalties to be approximately $4,160,590 (3,967 separated Class Members x $21.85/hour x 8 hours x 30 days x 0.10 violation rate).

36. Class Counsel understand that Defendants contend that there is no credence to Plaintiffs' off-the-clock theory and that, thus, no waiting time penalties are owed based on that theory. Finally, Defendants contend that their actions were not "willful" and that, thus, waiting time penalties cannot be awarded. Thus, Defendants argued that no waiting time penalties are owed.

PAGA Penalties

37. Class Counsel understand, as of the date of mediation, from the time and payroll data provided by Defendants that Aggrieved Employees collectively worked 227,427 Pay Periods in the PAGA Period. Plaintiffs' claims in the Action under PAGA are substantially similar to those described herein. PAGA penalties include penalties for initial violations and subsequent violations. Defendants contend that only initial violation rates may be used instead of the subsequent violation rates initially used by Class Counsel. With this in mind and because Class Counsel through investigation and discovery did not come to the conclusion that Defendants at any time were notified by any governmental entity that it violated any Labor Code sections presented in the PAGA Notice and PAGA claims, Class Counsel adjusted the exposure model for Defendants to include only initial violation rates.

38. While Class Counsel are informed and believe that reasonable minds differ with regard to calculation of PAGA penalties, Class Counsel believe it is reasonable to calculate Defendants' maximum exposure in PAGA penalties as follows:

a. Overtime Violations: Labor Code section 558 prescribes penalties of $50 for an initial violation and $100 for each subsequent violation. Using the initial pay period rate for all violations, and a violation every single pay period for every single non-exempt employee in the PAGA Period, this amounts to a maximum exposure of $11,371,350 (227,427 pay periods x $50).

b. Minimum Wage Violations: Labor Code section 1197.1 prescribes penalties of $100 for an initial violation and $250 for each subsequent violation. Using the initial pay period rate for all violations and a violation every single pay period for every single Aggrieved Employee in the PAGA Period, this amounts to a maximum exposure of $22,742,700 (227,427 pay periods x $100).

c. Meal Period Violations: Labor Code section 558 prescribes penalties of $50 for an initial violation and $100 for each subsequent violation. Using the initial pay period rate for all violations and a violation every single pay period for every single non-exempt employee in the PAGA Period, this amounts to a maximum exposure of $11,371,350 (227,427 pay periods x $50).

d. Rest Period Violations: Labor Code section 558 prescribes penalties of $50 for an initial violation and $100 for each subsequent violation. Using the initial pay period rate for all violations and a violation every single pay period for every single non-exempt employee in the PAGA Period, this amounts to a maximum exposure of $11,371,350 (227,427 pay periods x $50).

e. Failure to Reimburse Work Expenses: Labor Code section 2699 would be the appropriate penalty for failure to reimburse work expenses, which prescribes penalties of $100 for an initial violation and $200 for each subsequent violation. Using the initial pay period rate for all violations, and a violation every single pay period for every single Aggrieved Employee in the PAGA Period, this amounts to a maximum exposure of $22,742,700 (227,427 pay periods x $100).

f. Wage Statement Violations: According to Gunther v. Alaska Airlines, Inc. (2021) 287 Cal.Rptr.3d 229, in this instance, Labor Code section 2699 would be the appropriate penalty for wage statement violations that are inaccurate, which prescribes penalties of $100 for an initial violation and $200 for each subsequent violation (Id. at 247-248). Using the initial pay period rate for all violations and a violation every single pay period for every single Aggrieved Employee in the PAGA Period, this amounts to a maximum exposure of $22,742,700 (227,427 pay periods x $100).

g. Waiting Time Penalties: Labor Code section 2699 prescribes penalties of $100 for an initial violation and $200 for each subsequent violation. Because this violation is merited only at separation of employment, a 100% violation rate would likely include just one violation per employee. The data produced by Defendants indicate that there were 2,527 Aggrieved Employees whose employment was separated during the PAGA Period. This amounts to a maximum exposure of $252,700 (2,527 Aggrieved Employees x $100).

h. Conclusion: In sum, Class Counsel calculated Defendants' total maximum exposure for PAGA violations if the Court were to find a 100% violation rate for every Aggrieved Employee every pay period and not exercise its discretion to reduce any of those penalties to be $102,594,850. Class Counsel understand that Defendants argued the following in connection with this claim: Defendants contend that no PAGA penalties are likely to be awarded and, even if they were, the maximum exposure calculated by Class Counsel is vastly overstated. First, Defendants defends that PAGA penalties cannot and should not be stacked. Second, Defendants assert that individualized issues predominate the PAGA claims, making the claims unmanageable for trial. Third, Defendants deny that a violation for each pay period can be established. Fourth, Defendants contend that a Court is unlikely to exercise its discretion to award civil penalties under PAGA where, as here, there is no conduct shown by Plaintiffs that would show any Labor Code violation by Defendants is knowing and intentional. Defendants insist that this is especially true in the Action where class action damages are available to Class Members, rendering an award of PAGA penalties in addition to class action damages to be double recovery.

39. Class Counsel maintain that it is possible to recover the subsequent violation rate for penalties, that stacking is permissible, and that there is no manageability requirement under PAGA (citing Estrada v. Royalty Carpet Mills, Inc.). As such, Class Counsel believe a 90% discount of this claim to be reasonable, resulting in $10,259,485 as a reasonable estimate of the likelihood of what Plaintiff may recover at trial for PAGA penalties ($102,594,850 x 0.10).

Conclusion

40. When including derivative penalties, such as waiting time penalties, wage statement violations, and discretionary PAGA penalties, Class Counsel theorized Defendants' maximum exposure to be approximately $29,256,244. In all, Class Counsel obtained a Gross Settlement Amount of $3,000,000.00. Particularly in light of the risks involving obstacles to class certification, all issues and risks related to liability, the issues with manageability at trial, the discretionary nature of PAGA penalties, and considering the case law regarding fair, reasonable and adequate settlements, Class Counsel strongly believe that the settlement reached is fair, reasonable and adequate, and in the best interest of Class Members.

41. Moreover, $300,000.00 of the Gross Settlement Amount was attributed to PAGA penalties. This allocation was based on: (1) the fact that damages are available for the failure to pay wage claims while only penalties are available for the PAGA claims; (2) the risk that the Court may exercise its discretion to decline to stack PAGA penalties; (3) the risk that the Court may exercise its discretion to not award the full amount of PAGA penalties available; and (4) the risk that the Court may decline to award any PAGA penalties at all in light of the fact that damages are available for Class Members and it may find any further liability against Defendants unnecessarily punitive.

The Proposed Attorneys' Fees and Costs are Reasonable

42. Class Counsel seek an attorneys' fees award of up to thirty-five percent (35%) of the Gross Settlement Amount, which, unless escalated pursuant to this Agreement, would amount to $1,050,000.00. Class Counsel also seek reimbursement of costs not to exceed $50,000.00.

The Requested Enhancement Award to the Named Plaintiffs and Class Representatives is Reasonable

43. I am informed and believe Defendant does not oppose the requested enhancement to Plaintiff. Class Counsel seek an extremely limited enhancement of up to $10,000.00 each to plaintiffs Brianna Taylor, Luis Garcia and Cesar Velez Cerna, for a total of $30,000.00 to Plaintiffs.

Conditional Certification for Settlement Purposes

Ascertainability

44. Here, the Class Members definition (i.e., all persons employed by Defendants, who worked in a non-exempt position in California during the Class Period, excluding any person who only worked for Defendants in a non-exempt position in California during Class Period at a federal enclave location) is derived from the operative complaint. Based solely from Defendants' payroll records, which amounts to approximately 10,700 persons.

Numerosity

45. Class Counsel understand from documents provided that Defendant identified at least 10,700 Class Members.

Commonality

46. This litigation is brought to resolve common issues that include whether Defendants failed to pay for all hours worked; whether Defendants provided full, timely and un-interrupted meal and rest periods; whether Class Members are entitled to premium pay for incomplete, untimely or interrupted meal or rest periods, among other claims as set forth above.

Typicality

47. Plaintiffs' claims are typical of those of other Class Members as Plaintiffs: (1) are non-exempt, hourly paid employees like other Class Members; (2) complain of not being paid for all time under Defendants' control or suffered and/or permitted to work for Defendants; (3) did not receive premium pay for meal periods that were not compliant with the Labor Code; (4) did not receive premium pay for rest periods that were not provided, among others as set forth above.

Adequacy of Keaton D. Mendoza

48. I graduated with a Bachelor of Science degree in Business Administration from San Diego State University in 2011.

49. I received my Juris Doctorate from California Western School of Law in 2016.

50. From 2018 to 2022, I practiced law in the General Counsel's office for Adventist Health, handling labor and employment matters for the health system, specifically in harassment, discrimination, retaliation, and wage and hour matters.

51. From 2023 through 2026, I practiced law as an attorney for Lewis Brisbois Bisgaard & Smith handling general liability defendant-side litigation.

52. Thereafter, I joined Bibiyan Law Group, P.C., practicing law on behalf of plaintiffs in matters of employment law, and specifically on issues of unpaid wages and class action settlements. Among other tasks, I oversee and manage class action and PAGA action settlements at Bibiyan Law Group, P.C. I have led settlement negotiations and the approval process for class action and PAGA settlements, including some of those set forth in the declaration of David D. Bibiyan, filed concurrently with this declaration.

Adequacy of Plaintiff

53. Class Counsel believe no conflicts, disabling or otherwise, exists between Plaintiffs and Class Members because Plaintiffs allege to have been damaged by the same alleged conduct of Defendants (i.e., Plaintiffs are classified as non-exempt, hourly paid employee, not paid premium pay, etc.) and thus have the incentive to fairly represent all Class Members' claims to achieve the maximum possible recovery.

Superiority of Class Action

54. Class Counsel believe this wage and hour class action is a superior vehicle for resolution of the issues it seeks to resolve. It deals with common issues that are most efficiently adjudicated together, as indicated above. Moreover, with at least 10,700 Class Members, presentation of all of them before this Court may be problematic, impractical, and burdensome.

I declare under penalty of perjury under the laws of the state of California that the foregoing is true and correct this November 5, 2026, at Los Angeles, California.
