MEMORANDUM OF POINTS AND AUTHORITIES

I. INTRODUCTION

Plaintiff Yatziry Mendoza ("Plaintiff") brought this wage and hour class and representative action on behalf of a Class of all current and former non-exempt employees who worked for Defendant Integrated Practice Management, LLC ("Defendant") within the State of California during the Class Period of August 20, 2020 through August 29, 2026. The primary issues in this case pertain to Defendant's alleged unpaid wages due to regular rate violations and off-the-clock work, meal and rest period violations, and failure to reimburse necessary business expenses. Plaintiff contends Defendant is also liable for inaccurate wage statement penalties, waiting time penalties, and civil penalties under the California Private Attorney's General Act ("PAGA"). Plaintiff now requests that this Court preliminarily approve this non-reversionary, common-fund class action settlement[1], in which Defendant has agreed to pay an adjusted Gross Settlement Amount of $1,401,140.00[2] to approximately 888 Class Members.

After deducting administration costs, Plaintiff's requested Class Representative Service Payment, the amount set aside as PAGA Payment, and requested Class Counsel Fees Payment and Litigation Expense Payment, the Net Settlement Amount of approximately $818,093.33 will be distributed to all Class Members who do not opt out of the Settlement based on the proportionate number of Workweeks worked by each Class Member during the Class Period. Employees with standing for PAGA Payment will receive additional consideration for their release of PAGA claims.

Significantly, all Class Members will automatically receive a payment unless they affirmatively opt-out. There are approximately 888 Class Members, and the average payment to participating Class Members is projected to be approximately $921.28. This is an excellent result for Class Members, who will be releasing only those claims alleged or which could have been alleged in the Action. The proposed Settlement is within the range of possible approval in light of

[1] The Class Action and PAGA Settlement Agreement and Class Notice ("Settlement" or "Agreement") is attached to the Declaration of William C. Sung as Exhibit 1. The proposed Class Notice is attached to the Agreement as Exhibit A. All defined terms in this motion have the same definition as that in the Agreement.

[2] As discussed in more detail below, the original Gross Settlement Amount of $1,300,000.00 has been adjusted to $1,401,140.00 because Defendant triggered the Escalator Clause in § 8 of the Agreement.

the significant legal and factual obstacles that Plaintiff faced, the risks and costs of further litigation, and the tangible monetary benefits to be received by the Class. For the reasons discussed herein, Plaintiff respectfully requests that this Court grant preliminary approval of the Settlement.

II. SUMMARY OF THE LITIGATION

A. THE PARTIES AND BRIEF PROCEDURAL HISTORY

Defendant owns and operates medical facilities in California. Declaration of William C. Sung ("Sung Decl."), ¶ 8. Defendant employed Plaintiff as a non-exempt employee from approximately September 5, 2023 to approximately June 19, 2024 first as receptionist and later as an ER Navigator in Bakersfield, California. Declaration of Yatziry Mendoza ("Mendoza Decl."), ¶ 2.

On August 20, 2024, Plaintiff sent a notice letter under PAGA to the Labor and Workforce Development Agency ("LWDA") and gave notice to Defendant. Sung Decl., ¶ 9, Exh. 2 (PAGA Notice). On the same day, August 20, 2024, Plaintiff filed the Class Action Complaint alleged claims for (1) Minimum Wage Violations; (2) Overtime Wage Violations; (3) Meal Period Violations; (4) Rest Period Violations; (5) Wage Statement Penalties; (6) Waiting Time Penalties; (7) Failure to Reimburse Necessary Business Expenses; and (8) Unfair Competition. Sung Decl., ¶ 10. On October 28, 2024, Plaintiff filed the operative First Amended Complaint ("Operative Complaint") adding a cause of action for Civil Penalties Under PAGA against Defendant. Ibid, Exh. 3 (Operative Complaint).

B. PLAINTIFF'S CLAIMS AND DEFENDANT'S DEFENSES

1. Unpaid Wages Due to Regular Rate Violations

Regular rate of pay, which can change from pay period to pay period, includes adjustments to the straight time rate, reflecting, among other things, shift differentials and the per-hour value of any nonhourly compensation the employee has earned." Alvarado v. Dart Container Corp. of California (2018) 4 Cal.5th 542, 554; see also Ferra v. Loews Hollywood Hotel, LLC (2021) 11 Cal. 5th 858, 863 (meal and rest period premiums to be paid at regular rate of pay); Lab. Code § 246(l)(1) (paid sick leave to be paid at the regular rate of pay or at a rate based on a 90-day lookback of compensation earned).

Here, Plaintiff contended that Defendant failed to properly factor in non-discretionary renumeration, including shift differentials and other types of incentives, into the regular rate of pay for meal period premiums and paid sick leave. Sung Decl., ¶ 11. In response, Defendant argued that that it properly factored incentives into the regular rate for overtime, there is no private right of action for paid sick leave claims, and any regular rate damages were de minimis and Plaintiff's analysis grossly overvalued damages. Ibid.

2. Unpaid Wages Due to Off-the-Clock Work

Plaintiff alleges that she sometimes worked off the clock because her meal breaks were interrupted by doctors and nurses because of patient needs. Sung Decl., ¶ 12. In response, Defendant argued it maintained compliant policies that prohibit working off the clock and that Defendant's pay statistics evidence superior compliance with its policies and practices requiring all employees to receive wages for all hours worked. Ibid. Defendant's 25% payroll sampling evidence that Defendant paid more than 53,000 overtime hours totaling more than $2.5 million and more than 10,900 double time hours totaling more than $900,000. Ibid. Thus, Defendant contended that Plaintiff's off-the-clock work claim is individualized and not suited for class certification since there is no evidence of a common policy or practice forcing Class Members to work off the clock and numerous individual inquiries would be needed to assess which Class Members, if any, worked off the clock, how often, the reasons why a particular Class Member worked off the clock, and whether Defendant knew or should have known that Class Members worked off the clock for the imposition of classwide liability. Ibid; see, e.g., Troester v. Starbucks Corporation (C.D. Cal., Jan. 27, 2020, No. CV1207677CJCPJWX) 2020 WL 553572, at *9 (denying certification of off-the-clock work claim because of individualized inquiries); Williams v. Superior Court (2013) 221 Cal.App.4th 1353, 1369, as modified (Dec. 24, 2013) (liability for off-the-clock work is based on the "know or should have known" standard).

3. Meal Period Violations

Plaintiff claimed that she was not provided with meal breaks when she worked more than 10 hours in a shift and sometimes had her meal periods interrupted for work related reasons. Sung Decl., ¶ 13. Defendant countered that all employees signed valid and enforceable meal period waivers, including healthcare-industry specific meal period waivers, it maintained compliant meal period policies and practices throughout the Class Period and always provided compliant meal periods in line with those policies. Ibid; see Brinker Rest. Corp. v. Superior Court (2012) 53 Cal.4th 1004, 1040-1041 (holding employers need only "provide" meal periods to employees and are not obligated to "police" meal periods). Defendant pointed to the fact that it paid meal period premiums as evidence of its superior meal period compliance practices. Sung Decl., ¶ 13. The 25% payroll sampling showed Defendant paid 16,928 meal period premiums totaling $368,177. Ibid. As such, Defendant maintained that Plaintiff's meal period claim is not suited for class certification since individual inquiries would be needed to assess which employees, if any, took non-compliant meal periods, how many meal periods were non-compliant, and the reasons why a particular employee did not take a meal period on a particular shift and a meal period premium was not paid. Ibid.

4. Rest Period Violations

Plaintiff claimed that she sometimes was unable to rest breaks and did not receive rest breaks when she worked more than 10 hours in a shift. Sung Decl., ¶ 14. Defendant argued it maintained compliant rest period policies and practices and provided compliant rest periods in line with those policies. Ibid. Defendant pointed to the fact that it paid meal period premiums as evidence of its superior rest period practices. Ibid. Defendant further maintained that Plaintiff's rest period claim is not suited for class certification since individual inquiries would be needed to assess which employees, if any, took non-compliant rest periods, how many rest periods were non-compliant, and the reasons why a particular employee did not take a rest period on a particular shift. Ibid.

5. Failure to Reimburse Cellphone Expenses

Plaintiff alleged that her supervisors regularly called, text, and group texted Plaintiff on her personal cellphone without reimbursement. Sung Decl., ¶ 15. Defendant countered that it did not require Class Members to use their personal cellphone, Plaintiff used her personal cellphone out of her own convenience, and Plaintiff is not suited for class certification since individual inquiries would be needed to assess which employees, if any, used their personal cellphones for work and why. Ibid.

6. Waiting Time and Wage Statement Penalties

As a result of the unpaid wages and meal and rest period premium wages described above, Plaintiff contended that Defendant failed to comply with its final pay obligations set forth in Labor Code §§ 201 to 203 to former employees and failed to issue accurate itemized wage statements to Class Members as set forth in Labor Code § 226(a). Sung Decl., ¶ 16. Thus, the claims for waiting time and wage statement penalties are derivative of the underlying claims. Ibid.

Defendant argued that it possessed strong, good faith defenses to Plaintiff's underlying claims and these claims cannot meet the willfulness standard in Labor Code § 203 or the knowing and intentional standard in Labor Code § 226(e). Sung Decl., ¶ 16. Notably, Defendant relied on the California Supreme Court decision in Naranjo v. Spectrum Security Services, Inc. (2024) 15 Cal.5th 1056, 1065, which held that an employer's good-faith defenses precludes a "willfulness" finding under Labor Code § 203 and a "knowing and intentional" finding under Labor Code § 226(e) for the imposition of statutory penalties. Ibid. Defendant further asserted that Plaintiff's waiting time and wage statement penalty exposure was inflated as not every employee experienced the alleged Labor Code violations. Ibid.

7. PAGA Civil Penalties

Plaintiff further contended that, as a result of the foregoing Labor Code violations, Defendant is liable for civil penalties under the PAGA. Sung Decl., ¶ 17. Since Plaintiff's PAGA claims are derivative of Plaintiff's underlying wage claims, Defendant asserted the PAGA claim would fail with those claims. Ibid; see Price v. Starbucks Corp. (2011) 192 Cal.App.4th 1136, 1147 ("Because the underlying causes of action fail, the derivative UCL and PAGA claims also fail."). Defendant further maintained that, given its good faith defenses, this Court would exercise its discretion to substantially reduce any PAGA penalties if it were to find Defendant liable for any of Plaintiff's claims. Sung Decl., ¶ 17; see Lab. Code § 2699(e)(2) (pre-2024 amendment); Thurman v. Bayshore Transit Mgmt., Inc. (2012) 203 Cal.App.4th 1112, 1135 (affirming reduction of PAGA penalties); Fleming v. Covidien Inc. (C.D. Cal. 2011) Case No. ED CV10-01487 RGK (OPx), 2011 WL 7563047, at *4 (reducing PAGA penalties by over 82% in part because employer "not aware" of violations); Carrington v. Starbucks Corp. (2018) 30 Cal.App.5th 504, 529 (affirming PAGA civil penalty of just $5 per pay period where employer made "good faith attempts" to comply with the law).

C. DISCOVERY AND MEDIATION

In connection with mediation, the Parties engaged in extensive informal discovery. Sung Decl., ¶ 18. Defendant produced (1) class and PAGA demographic information including the number of Class Members and Aggrieved Employees and number of Class Workweeks and PAGA Pay Periods; (2) time and payroll records for an approximate 25% random sampling of Class Members; (3) Defendant's employee handbooks and standalone policy documents; and (4) Plaintiff's personnel records and wage statements. Ibid.

In preparation for mediation, Class Counsel worked with an expert data scientist with prior class action litigation experience and conducted a comprehensive analysis and extrapolation of the payroll and timekeeping data produced by Defendant to create a detailed exposure analysis for all claims at issue. Sung Decl., ¶ 19. This discovery and analysis allowed the Parties to assess the merits and value of Plaintiff's claims, the chances of certification of Plaintiff's claims, and Defendant's potential defenses. Ibid.

On June 24, 2026, the Parties participated in a full-day mediation with Hon. Carl J. West (Ret.), a well-respected wage and hour class action mediator. Sung Decl., ¶ 20. During mediation, the Parties vigorously debated their opposing legal positions, the likelihood of certification of Plaintiff's claims, and the legal basis for the claims and defenses. Ibid. The Parties reached a tentative class and PAGA settlement at the mediation. Ibid. The Parties then finalized the terms of the Settlement and executed Agreement now before the Court. Ibid; see Sung Decl., ¶ 7, Exh. 1 (Agreement).

III. THE PROPOSED SETTLEMENT

A. ESSENTIAL TERMS OF THE SETTLEMENT

The Parties agreed to an original Gross Settlement Amount of $1,300,000.00. Agreement, § 1.22 (Exh. 1 to Sung Decl.). Section 8 of the Agreement provides that the Settlement is based on an estimated 80,389 workweeks worked by Class Members, and "[i]f it is determined that the number of Workweeks through the Class Period exceeds ten percent (10%) or more of 80,389 (i.e., more than 88,428 Workweeks), then the Gross Settlement Amount shall increase proportionally over the ten percent (10%) increase (i.e., if the number of Workweeks increases by 12%, the Gross Settlement Amount will increase by 2%) (the "Escalator Clause"). Alternatively, in lieu of paying such proportional increase, Defendant has the option to end the Class Period on the date immediately prior to the Escalator Clause being triggered." Agreement, § 8. On October 8, 2026, Defendant's counsel confirmed a final workweek tally of 94,667 workweeks through the close of the Class Period, which is a 7.78% proportional increase beyond the 88,428 workweek threshold, and elected to increase the Gross Settlement Amount by 7.78% (i.e., $101,140) to $1,401,140.00. Sung Decl., ¶ 21.

Thus, if the Court approves the Settlement, Defendant will pay a Gross Settlement Amount of $1,401,140.00. Significantly, this Settlement is non-reversionary, and no Class Member will have to submit a claim form to receive an Individual Settlement Payment. Agreement, § 3.1. Each Class Member will automatically receive an Individual Settlement Payment unless they affirmatively opt out of the Settlement. Agreement, § 7.5. The monetary terms of the Settlement are summarized below:

Gross Settlement Amount:	$1,401,140.00
Minus Court-approved attorneys' fees:	$467,046.67
Minus Court-approved verified costs (up to):	$30,000.00
Minus Court-approved Service Payment:	$10,000.00
Minus estimated settlement administration costs:	$11,000.00
Minus amount set aside as PAGA Payment:	$65,000.00
Net Settlement Amount:	$818,093.33

Sung Decl., ¶ 22.

1. The Settlement Provides for Reasonable Monetary Payments

After deducting amounts for the Court-approved attorneys' fees and costs, Class Representative Service Payment to Plaintiff, the amount set aside as PAGA Payment, and settlement administration costs, the Settlement requires Defendant to pay a Net Settlement Amount of at least $818,093.33 to all Class Members who do not timely opt-out. See Agreement, § 3.2. The Net Settlement Amount shall be distributed to participating Class Members as Individual Class Payment, calculated by (a) dividing the Net Settlement Amount by the total number of Workweeks worked by all Participating Class Members during the Class Period and (b) multiplying the result by each Participating Class Member's Workweeks. Agreement, § 3.2.4. Additionally, $22,750.00 of the Gross Settlement Amount has been designated as Individual PAGA Payments to Aggrieved Employees and shall be distributed to Aggrieved Employees (including those who submit a valid and timely Request for Exclusion from the class action settlement) who were employed during the PAGA Period proportionally based on the number of Pay Periods worked during the PAGA Period. Agreement, §§ 3.2.5, 7.5.4. In addition to the Gross Settlement Amount, Defendant is obligated to pay the employer's share of payroll taxes on Individual Class Payments allocated to settlement of wage claims. Agreement, § 3.1.

According to Defendant, there are approximately 888 Class Members. Sung Decl., ¶ 23. Therefore, the average Individual Class Payment from the Net Settlement Amount is projected to be approximately $921.28. Ibid. There are also approximately 745 Aggrieved Employees during the PAGA Period who will each receive an average of approximately $30.54 as Individual PAGA Payments. Ibid. Class Members will have 45 calendar days from the mailing of the Class Notice to opt-out or object to the Settlement, thereby providing ample time to review the Class Notice without unduly delaying the Settlement. Agreement, §§ 1.43, 7.5, 7.7.

Effective on the date when Defendant fully funds the Gross Settlement Amount and employer taxes, Participating Class Members will release all the claims that were alleged, or could have been alleged, based on the facts contained in the Operative Complaint and that occurred during the Class Period; and all Aggrieved Employees are deemed to release all the claims for PAGA penalties that were alleged, or could have been alleged, based on the facts contained in the Operative Complaint and PAGA Notice and that occurred during the PAGA Period. Agreement, §§ 5, 5.2, 5.3. Defendant shall fund the Gross Settlement Amount no later than 15 days after the Effective Date (i.e., the date the Court enters a Judgment on its Order Granting Final Approval and the Judgment is final). Agreement, §§ 1.18, 4.3.

2. Attorneys' Fees and Costs, Service Payment, and PAGA Payment

Plaintiff will apply for a Class Representative Service Payment at the time of seeking final approval of the proposed class action settlement in the amount of $10,000.00 for Plaintiff's service to the Class. Agreement, § 3.2.1. "[I]ncentive awards are fairly typical in class action cases . . . and are intended to compensate class representatives for work done on behalf of the class [and] to make up for financial or reputational risk undertaken in bringing the action." In re Cellphone Fee Termination Cases (2010) 186 Cal.App.4th 1380, 1393-94. Plaintiff's requested Service Payment is intended to recognize the time and effort Plaintiff expended on behalf of the Class, including providing substantial information and documents to Class Counsel, discussing the claims at issue in the litigation, actively participating in the prosecution of Plaintiff's claims, as well as the risks Plaintiff undertook by agreeing to serve as the named plaintiff. See Mendoza Decl., ¶¶ 4-6.

Class Counsel will also apply for an attorneys' fees award of 33 1/3% of the Gross Settlement Amount, which is equivalent to $467,046.67, and up to $30,000.00 in verified costs reimbursement. Agreement, § 3.2.2. The requested fee is fair compensation for undertaking complex, risky, expensive, and time-consuming litigation on a purely contingent fee basis. Sung Decl., ¶ 24. Class Counsel have incurred substantial attorneys' fees and costs conducting pre-filing investigation, analyzing Plaintiff's claims, conducting legal research, conducting informal discovery, analyzing Class Members' time and payroll records, creating a comprehensive damages model, preparing for and attending mediation, negotiating and preparing the long-form Agreement, preparing this Motion, and otherwise litigating the case. Ibid. Class Counsel expect to expend additional attorney time in attending the hearing on this Motion, overseeing the Class Notice process and fielding questions from Class Members, preparing the Final Approval papers, and attending the Final Approval hearing. Ibid.

California courts recognize that an appropriate method for awarding attorneys' fees in class actions is to award a percentage of the "common fund" created as a result of a settlement. See, e.g., Laffitte v. Robert Half Int'l, Inc. (2016) 1 Cal.5th 480, 506 (holding "the percentage of fund method survives in California class action cases"). Class Counsel's request for fees of 33 1/3% of the Gross Settlement Amount is well within the range of reasonableness and indeed is considered the typical rate for common fund settlements. Historically, courts have awarded percentage fees in the range of 20% to 50%, depending on the circumstances of the case. See 4 Newberg on Class Actions § 14.6 (4th Ed. 2013). Class Counsel submit that their request for attorneys' fees is reasonable when viewed as an overall percentage of the Settlement and in light of the substantial risks and significant work undertaken, the results obtained, and the efficiency with which the litigation has been conducted. Should the Court grant preliminary approval, Class Counsel will seek an award of attorneys' fees and verified costs upon seeking Final Approval.

Additionally, the parties have agreed to designate $65,000.00 of the Gross Settlement Amount as PAGA civil penalties, of which $22,750.00 (65%) will be paid to the LWDA, with the remaining $22,750.00 (35%) for distribution to the Aggrieved Employees pursuant to Labor Code § 2699. Agreement, § 3.2.5. Plaintiff submits this allocation to the LWDA for civil PAGA penalties is appropriate. See, e.g., Chu v. Wells Fargo Investments, LLC (N.D. Cal. 2011) Case No. C 05-4526 MHP, 2011 WL 672645 at *1 (approving PAGA payment of $7,500 to LWDA out of $6.9 million common-fund settlement); Lazarin v. Pro Unlimited, Inc. (N.D. Cal. 2013) Case No. C11-03609 HRL, 2013 WL 3541217 (approving PAGA payment of $7,500 to LWDA out of $1.25 million common-fund settlement).

IV. LEGAL ARGUMENT

A. PRELIMINARY APPROVAL IS WARRANTED

California Rule of Court 3.769 conditions settlement of a class action on court approval, which is generally evaluated under the federal standards applicable under Rule 23 of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure. See Reed v. United Teachers Los Angeles (2012) 208 Cal.App.4th 322, 337 (Rule 3.769 requires trial court to determine "that the settlement is fair, reasonable and adequate to all concerned"); Hanlon v. Chrysler Corp. (9th Cir. 1998) 150 F.3d 1011, 1026 (Rule 23(e) requires the trial court to determine "whether a proposed settlement is fundamentally fair, adequate, and reasonable"). Settlement is the preferred means of dispute resolution, particularly in complex class action litigation. See In re Syncor ERISA Litig (9th Cir. 2008) 516 F.3d 1095, 1101. The Court's role in evaluating a proposed settlement is limited to ensuring that the agreement taken as a whole is fair. *See e.g., Hanlo*n, 150 F.3d at 1027. There is an initial presumption of fairness where, as here, the Settlement was negotiated at arm's-length by class counsel and with the assistance of an experienced wage and hour class action mediator. See e.g., Kullar v. Foot Locker Retail, Inc. (2008) 168 Cal.App.4th 116, 130.

To make a fairness determination, the Court should consider "the strength of Plaintiffs' case, the risk, expense, complexity and likely duration of further litigation, the risk of maintaining class action status through trial, the amount offered in settlement, the extent of discovery completed and the stage of the proceedings, [and] the experience and views of counsel." Dunk v. Ford Motor Co. (1996) 48 Cal.App.4th 1794, 1801. "The list of factors is not exclusive, and the court is free to engage in a balancing and weighing of the factors depending on the circumstances of each case." Wershba v. Apple Computer, Inc. (2001) 91 Cal.App.4th 230, 245. Here, the proposed Settlement is fair, adequate, and reasonable in light of the overall balance of factors in this case.

1. The Strength of Plaintiff's Case and Risk, Expense, Complexity, and Duration of Further Litigation

Although Plaintiff maintains that Plaintiff's claims are meritorious, Plaintiff acknowledges that there were substantial risks and uncertainty in proceeding with litigation. Sung Decl., ¶ 25. As described above, Defendant presented multiple defenses to Plaintiff's claims, both on the merits and with respect to class certification. Ibid. Thus, while Plaintiff was prepared to litigate these claims through class certification and ultimately trial, success was far from certain. Although the Parties engaged in significant informal discovery prior to mediation, the Parties still had significant formal discovery to complete if the Action did not resolve. Ibid. This would have required the expenditure of substantial time and resources by both Parties that would have very likely spanned several years. Ibid. Even if Plaintiff were to certify the class, the Parties would incur considerably more attorneys' fees and costs through a possible decertification motion, trial, and possible appeal. Ibid. This Settlement avoids those risks and the accompanying expense. Ibid.

Plaintiff has not yet filed a motion for class certification, and as such, the extent to which Plaintiff's proposed classes were certifiable is somewhat speculative. Sung Decl., ¶ 26. Absent settlement, there was a risk that there would not be a certified class at the time of trial, or if there were, it would consist of a significantly smaller group of employees than the proposed Class due to a narrowing of the class definition in a Court order on a contested motion for class certification. Ibid. Thus, this factor, too, supports preliminary approval of the settlement.

2. Amount Offered in Settlement Given Realistic Value of Claims

The Settlement provides a positive recovery for the Class in the face of disputed claims. Plaintiff conducted a detailed analysis of alleged unpaid wages and meal and rest period premium payments owing, wage statement penalties, waiting time penalties, and PAGA civil penalties. A summary of the results of Plaintiff's exposure analysis are discussed below:

Regular Rate Violations. Plaintiff's expert found Defendant's maximum damages for unpaid wages due to regular rate violations—meal period premiums and paid sick leave wages—to be approximately $103,137.00 with the vast majority representing underpaid sick leave wages. Sung Decl., ¶ 27. As discussed above, Defendant argued that it properly factored in incentives into the regular rate for overtime, there is no private right of action for paid sick leave wages, and any regular rate damages are de minimis. Ibid. Thus, Plaintiff discounted Defendant's maximum exposure by 25% to account for the risk of non-certification and an additional 50% to account for Defendant's defenses on the merits or failing to recover the full amount sought to arrive at an estimated realistic recovery of approximately $38,676.38. Ibid.

Off-the-Clock Work. Any evidence of off-the-clock work would not be reflected in the records. Sung Decl., ¶ 28. Estimating 30 minutes of off-the-clock work per week, Plaintiff's expert found Defendant's maximum damages for unpaid wages due to off-the-clock work to be $1,503,047.50. Ibid. As discussed above, Defendant argued it maintained compliant policies against off-the-clock work, it paid a significant amount of overtime premiums, and this claim is not suited for class certification since individual inquiries would predominate. Ibid. Thus, Plaintiff discounted Defendant's maximum exposure by 75% to account for the risk of non-certification and an additional 50% to account for Defendant's defenses on the merits or failing to recover the full amount sought to arrive at an estimated realistic recovery of approximately $187,880.94. Ibid

Meal Period Violations. Plaintiff's expert found a 23.2% meal period violation rate by shift after accounting for meal period premiums paid and Defendant's maximum damages for meal period premiums to be $2,269,842.00. Sung Decl., ¶ 29. As discussed above, Defendant argued it maintained compliant policies regarding meal periods, it paid a significant amount of meal period premiums, and this claim is not suited for class certification since individual inquiries would predominate. Ibid. Thus, Plaintiffs discounted Defendant's maximum exposure by 50% to account for the risk of non-certification and an additional 50% to account for Defendant's defenses on the merits or failing to recover the full amount sought to arrive at an estimated realistic recovery of approximately $567,460.50 for meal period premiums. Ibid.

Rest Period Violations. Any evidence of rest period violations would not be reflected in the time or payroll records. Sung, Decl., ¶ 30. Estimating a 10% violation rate, Plaintiff's expert found Defendant's maximum damages for rest period premiums to be $973,659.00. Ibid. As discussed above, Defendant argued it maintained compliant policies regarding rest periods, it paid a significant amount of meal period premiums, and this claim is not suited for class certification since individual inquiries would predominate. Ibid. Thus, Plaintiffs discounted Defendant's maximum exposure by 75% to account for the risk of non-certification and an additional 50% to account for Defendant's defenses on the merits or failing to recover the full amount sought to arrive at an estimated realistic recovery of approximately $121,707.38 for rest period premiums. Ibid.

Reimbursements. Estimating a $5 reimbursement rate per week (approximately $20 per month), Plaintiff's expert found Defendant's maximum damages for reimbursements to be $401,945.25. Sung, Decl., ¶ 31. As discussed above, Defendant argued it did not require Class Members to use their personal cellphones for work and this claim is not suited for class certification since individual inquiries would predominate. Ibid. Thus, Plaintiffs discounted Defendant's maximum exposure by 75% to account for the risk of non-certification and an additional 50% to account for Defendant's defenses on the merits or failing to recover the full amount sought to arrive at an estimated realistic recovery of approximately $50,243.16 for rest period premiums. Ibid

Waiting Time Penalties: As a result of the unpaid wage violations described above, Plaintiff contends that Defendant failed to comply with its final pay obligations set forth in Labor Code §§ 201 to 203 to former employees. Sung Decl., ¶ 32. Based on Plaintiff's expert's analysis, waiting time penalties for approximately 369 former employees are $3,099,928.00. *Ibid.*As discussed above, Defendant presented several defenses, including that because they possessed good-faith defenses to the underlying wage claims, any failure to pay wages was not "willful" as a matter of law; Plaintiff's waiting time penalty exposure was grossly inflated as not every former employee experienced the alleged Labor Code violations; and because the waiting time claim is derivative of Plaintiff's underlying wage claims, Plaintiff would need to overcome Defendant's defenses, both as to class certification and on the merits, as to the underlying claims. Ibid. Thus, Plaintiff discounted Defendant's maximum exposure by 50% to account for the risk of non-certification and additional 80% to account for Defendant's defenses on the merits or failing to recover the full amount sought, to arrive at an estimated realistic recovery of approximately $309,992.80. Ibid.

Wage Statement Penalties: Plaintiff alleged that Defendant is liable for wage statement penalties as a result of unpaid wages. Sung Decl., ¶ 33. Those penalties are calculated as $50 for each "initial" violation and $100 for each "subsequent" violation, with a maximum of $4,000 per employee. Lab. Code § 226(e). Plaintiff's expert found Defendant's maximum exposure for wage statement penalties is $1,829,150.00. Ibid. As discussed above, Defendant presented several defenses, most notably their assertion that because they possessed good-faith defenses to the underlying claims for meal period violations and any failure to pay wages was not "knowing and intentional" as a matter of law and because the wage statement claim is derivative of Plaintiff's underlying wage claims, Plaintiff would need to overcome Defendant's defenses, both as to class certification and on the merits, as to his underlying claims. Ibid. Thus, Plaintiff discounted Defendant's maximum exposure by 50% to account for the risk of non-certification and additional 80% to account for Defendant's defenses on the merits or failing to recover the full amount sought, to arrive at an estimated realistic recovery of approximately $182,915.00. Ibid.

PAGA Penalties: Based on Class Counsel's analysis, Plaintiff estimated a maximum total PAGA exposure of approximately $2,956,700.00 ($100 x 29,567 pay periods). Sung Decl., ¶ 34; Amaral v. Cintas Corp. No. 2 (2008) 163 Cal.App.4th 1157, 1207 (finding "initial" violation rate applies until employer is notified that it is violating a Labor Code provision). However, these penalties derive from the underlying wage and hour violations discussed above, which Defendant disputes vigorously. Sung Decl., ¶ 34*; see e.g., Green v. Lawrence Service Co.* (C.D. Cal. 2013) 2013 WL 3907506, *5, n.5 (explaining that a PAGA claim's success was determined by the merits of its underlying claims). Defendant also assert that the Court would drastically reduce any award of PAGA penalties as "confiscatory." Sung Decl., ¶ 34; see also Thurman, 203 Cal.App.4th at 1135

(affirming reduction of PAGA penalties); Fleming, 2011 WL 7563047, at *4 (reducing PAGA penalties from $2.8 million to $500,000). Therefore, Plaintiff discounted the maximum figure by 80% for the risk of losing on the merits and/or not recovering a PAGA penalty for each and every pay period and to account for the possibility of this Court reducing penalties, to arrive at an estimated exposure of approximately $591,340.00. Sung Decl., ¶ 34.

Conclusion: Using these estimated figures for each of the claims described above, Plaintiff predicted that the potential realistic recovery for the Class would be approximately $2,050,216.14. Sung Decl., ¶ 33. The proposed Settlement of $1,401,140.00 represents approximately 68.34% of the reasonably forecasted recovery for the Class. Ibid. Preliminary approval is appropriate since the Settlement will provide significant monetary relief to the Class, which is consistent with what Class Counsel believes could have been recovered had the case proceeded through trial. Ibid.

3. The Experience and Views of Counsel

"Parties represented by competent counsel are better positioned than courts to produce a settlement that fairly reflects each party's expected outcome in litigation." In In re Pacific Enterprises Securities Litigation (9th Cir. 1995) 47 F.3d 373, 378. Here, Plaintiff is represented by competent, experienced counsel who possess extensive experience prosecuting and defending wage-and-hour class actions and who have been appointed as class counsel. See Sung Decl., ¶¶ 2-7. Class Counsel conducted an in-depth review of class records and drew on their extensive experience in similar cases to assess the strengths and weaknesses of Plaintiff's case. The Settlement was also reached with the assistance of an experienced and respected wage-and-hour class action mediator. This factor strongly supports preliminary approval of the Settlement. See Kullar, 168 Cal.App.4th at 130.

4. The Preliminary Approval Standard Is Met

At this stage, the Court can grant preliminary approval of the Settlement and direct that notice be given if the proposed Settlement: (1) falls within the range of possible approval; (2) appears to be the product of serious, informed, and non-collusive negotiations; and (3) has no obvious deficiencies. See Manual for Complex Litigation § 30.41(3rd Ed. 1995); 4 Newberg on Class Actions § 11:24-25 (4th Ed. 2013).

The proposed Settlement reflects approximately 68.34% of the estimated recovery the Class could reasonably expect in light of the significant litigation risks and will provide tangible, substantial monetary compensation for hotly disputed claims. Indeed, the percentage of the liability exposure recovered in this case far exceeds percentages routinely approved by courts. See, e.g., Glass v. UBS Finan. Servs. (N.D. Cal. 2007) Case No. C-06-4068 MMC, 2007 WL 221862, *4 (approving settlement representing 25% to 35% of potential damages); Dunleavy v. Nadler (9th Cir. 2000) 213 F.3d 454, 459 (approving settlement representing about one-sixth of potential recovery); Nat'l Rural Telecomm. Coop. v. DirecTV, Inc. (C.D. Cal. 2004) 221 F.R.D. 523, 527 ("it is well-settled law that a proposed settlement may be acceptable even though it amounts to only a fraction of the potential recovery that might be available to the Class Members at trial"). The average Individual Class Payment of approximately $921.28 exceeds average payments achieved in other wage and hour class action settlements.[3] Thus, the proposed settlement is within the range of possible approval, such that notice should be provided to the Class Members so that they can consider the Settlement. The Court will have the opportunity to again assess the reasonableness of the Settlement after the Class Members have had the opportunity to opt-out or object.

The Settlement resulted from an exchange of substantial information, arm's-length negotiations by counsel, a full-day mediation before an experienced wage and hour mediator, and additional months of negotiating the long-form settlement agreement. Thus, the Settlement is entitled to an initial presumption of fairness. See Kullar, supra, 168 Cal.App.4th at 130. As discussed above, Plaintiff carefully vetted the claims at issue, analyzed extensive sampling time and payroll data, and conducted a detailed damages analysis to arrive at the estimated class-wide damages figures. See Sung Decl., ¶¶ 27-35. Thus, this factor supports preliminary approval.

[3] See e.g., Bercea v. AE Retail West, Case No. 34-2012-00123947 (Sacramento County Super. Ct. May 9, 2012) (average recovery of approximately $105); Ressler v. Federated Department Stores, Inc., Case No. BC335018 (Los Angeles County Super. Ct. Jan. 2, 2009) (average recovery of approximately $90); Palencia v. 99 Cents Only Stores, Case No. 34-2010-00079619 (Sacramento County Super. Ct.) (average recovery of approximately $80); Doty v. Costco Wholesale Corp., Case No. CV05-3241 FMC-JWJx (C.D. Cal. May 14, 2007) (average recovery of approximately $65); Lim v. Victoria's Secret Stores, Inc., Case No. 04CC00213 (Orange County Super. Ct. Jan. 20, 2006) (average net recovery of approximately $35); Gomez v. Amadeus Salon, Inc., Case No. BC392297 (Los Angeles County Super. Ct. July 23, 2010) (average net recovery of approximately $20); Sorenson v. PetSmart, Inc., Case No. 2:06-CV-02674-JAM-DAD (E.D. Cal. Dec. 17, 2008) (wage and hour class action settlement approved where average recovery was approximately $60).

Preliminary approval of the Settlement is also warranted because there are no obvious deficiencies. The Settlement will provide substantial monetary relief to the Class. The amounts proposed for Class Counsel's attorneys' fees and costs, LWDA payment, and Plaintiff's Class Representative Service Payment, are all reasonable and appropriate based on the facts of this case. Because the Settlement is devoid of obvious deficiencies, this factor supports preliminary approval.

B. THE COURT SHOULD CERTIFY THE CLASS

The Class satisfies the criteria for certification of a settlement class under California law because: (1) the Class is so numerous that joinder would be impractical; (2) common questions of law and fact predominate over individual questions such that class certification is the most efficient and desirable way to maintain this litigation; (3) Plaintiff's claims are typical of the claims of absent Class Members; and (4) Plaintiff and Class Counsel will fairly and adequately represent Class Members' interest. See Code Civ. Proc. § 382.

A class is "ascertainable" where the members "may be readily identified without unreasonable expense or time by reference to official [or business] records." See Sevidal v. Target Corp. (2010) 189 Cal.App.4th 905, 916 (alterations in original). Here, the Class is defined as "all current and former non-exempt employees who worked for Defendant within the State of California during the Class Period." Therefore, Class Members can be identified from Defendant's personnel and employment records. Defendant represents that the Class consists of approximately 888 current and former non-exempt employees. It would therefore be impracticable to bring all Class Members before the Court or for each Class Member to bring an individual lawsuit. Thus, the proposed Class satisfies numerosity. See, e.g., Bowles v. Superior Court (1955) 44 Cal.2d 574 (holding a class representing 10 beneficiaries of a trust sufficiently numerous).

The focus in a certification dispute is not on the merits but rather on what types of questions, "common or individual," are likely to arise in the Action. See Sav-On Drug Store, Inc. v. Superior Court (Rocher) (2004) 34 Cal.4th 319, 327. Plaintiff's claims are predicated on, among other issues, Defendant's uniform policy and practice regarding provision of meal and rest periods, regular rate of pay, timekeeping, and provision of wage statements and final wages. These types of claims are commonly held to be proper for class certification. See e.g., Benton v. Telecom Network Specialists, Inc. (2013) 220 Cal.App.4th 701, 726 (certifying meal and rest period claims*); Sav-On Drug Stores, Inc. v. Superior Court* (2004) 34 Cal.4th 319, 324 (certifying exemption misclassification and unpaid overtime claim).

The typicality requirement is satisfied where class representatives have claims that are typical of those of the rest of the class. B.W.I. Custom Kitchen v. Owens-Illinois, Inc. (1987) 191 Cal.App.3d 1341, 1347 (finding typicality satisfied where named Plaintiff purchased the same goods as the putative class in a consumer class action). Here, Plaintiff's claims are typical of those held by the Class Members. First, Defendant employed Plaintiff as non-exempt employee during the Class Period, and Plaintiff was subject to Defendant's wage and hour policies at issue in this case. Mendoza Decl., ¶¶ 2-3. Second, Plaintiff was injured by the same challenged policies/practices that allegedly injured the Class as a whole: meal/rest period violations, regular rate violations resulting in underpayment of wages, and derivative statutory and civil penalties. Mendoza Decl., ¶ 3. Because Plaintiff has suffered the same injuries as the other members of the Class, the typicality requirement is satisfied.

The adequacy requirement examines conflicts of interest between named parties and the class(es) they seek to represent. See Capital People First v. State Dept. of Developmental Services (2007) 155 Cal.App.4th 676, 697. Plaintiff and Class Counsel will adequately represent the Class, as there are no conflicts between Plaintiff and the proposed Class, and Plaintiff possesses claims that are in line with those of the Class. Sung Decl., ¶ 33; Mendoza Decl., ¶ 5; see McGhee v. Bank of America (1976) 60 Cal.App.3d 442, 450-51 (adequacy satisfied where there was no indication that Class Counsel were not qualified and the named plaintiff had no interests antagonistic to those of the proposed class). Class Counsel also have extensive experience in wage and hour class action litigation. See Sung Decl., ¶¶ 2-7.

C. THE COURT SHOULD ORDER DISTRIBUTION OF THE CLASS NOTICE

This Court should order distribution to the Class of the proposed Class Notice by U.S. Mail, postage prepaid using the last known mailing address information provided by Defendant. See Agreement, §§ 1.11, 7.4.2, Exhibit A (Class Notice). This manner of giving notice is the "best notice practicable" under the circumstances because it provides "individual notice to all members who can be identified through reasonable effort." See Eisen v. Carlisle & Jacquelin (1974) 417 U.S. 156, 173.

Here, the Parties have agreed that the Settlement be administered by Phoenix Settlement Administrators ("Administrator"), an experienced class action settlement administrator. See generally Declaration of Jodey Lawrence ("Administrator Decl.") and attached exhibits. Class Members' addresses will be ascertainable through Defendant's personnel and payroll records, which Defendant will provide to the Administrator within 15 days of preliminary approval of the Settlement. Agreement, § 4.2. Within 14 days of receipt of the Class Members' addresses, the Administrator will run the names of all Class Members through the National Change of Address database to update addresses and mail the Class Notice to all Class Members. Agreement, § 7.4.2. To the extent that any notices are returned, the Administrator will perform a "skip trace" to track any Class Member's current mailing address and remail the notice within 3 business days. Agreement, § 7.4.3.

The content of the proposed Class Notice satisfies California Rule of Court 3.766(d) because it advises Class Members of the nature of the claims, basic contentions and denials of the parties, and the key terms of the Settlement, the 45-day deadline to opt-out or object to the Settlement and the procedures by which to do so, explains the recovery formula and expected recovery amount for each Class Member, and advises them that they will be bound by the terms of the Agreement if they do not opt-out. See Agreement, Exhibit A (Class Notice). The proposed Class Notice will also notify Class Members of the final approval hearing date and provides the Class contact information for Class Counsel and advises Class Members that they may enter an appearance through counsel if they wish to. Ibid. This manner of giving notice satisfies California Rule of Court 3.766(e) as the most reliable and cost-effective method of reaching Class Members.

D. THE COURT SHOULD SET A FINAL APPROVAL HEARING

Finally, this Court should set a hearing for Final Approval of the Settlement on a date appropriately scheduled to follow the deadline by which Class Members must file objections to the Settlement or opt-out. See California Rule of Court 3.769.

V. CONCLUSION

For the foregoing reasons, Plaintiff respectfully requests that the Court preliminarily approve the proposed Settlement, provisionally certify the Class, and enter the Proposed Order submitted concurrently herewith.
