Attorneys for Plaintiff Jesus Antonio Ramirez Quinonez

SUPERIOR COURT OF THE STATE OF CALIFORNIA FOR THE COUNTY OF SAN DIEGO

JESUS ANTONIO RAMIREZ QUINONEZ, on behalf of others similarly situated and the State of California under the Private Attorneys General Act,

Plaintiffs,

vs.

AMPAM PARKS MECHANICAL, INC., and
DOES 1 through 50, inclusive,

Defendants.

Case No. 25CU009861C

REPRESENTATIVE ACTION COMPLAINT

1. Civil Penalties under the Private Attorneys
General Act (Labor Code §§ 2698 et seq.)

1 Plaintiff JESUS ANTONIO RAMIREZ QUINONEZ, on behalf of all others similarly situated
2 and the State of California under the Private Attorneys General Act (“Plaintiff”) brings this
3 REPRESENTATIVE ACTION COMPLAINT against Defendants AMPAM PARKS
4 MECHANICAL, INC., and DOES 1 through 50, inclusive (collectively “Defendants”), alleging as 5 follows:

6 INTRODUCTION

7 1. This is a representative action complaint brought under the California Private Attorneys
8 General Act (Labor Code sections 2968 et seq.).

9 2. Defendant failed to compensate Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees for all minimum
10 and overtime wages due to unlawful policies and practices of time editing.

11 3. Plaintiff and aggrieved employees were not always authorized or permitted to take 12 compliant meal and rest breaks, yet Defendant did not pay the aggrieved employees all corresponding 13 meal or rest period premiums.

14 4. Defendant failed to reimburse Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees for all work-
15 related necessary expenses incurred in furtherance of their job duties, including the use of personal 16 cell phones and tools.

17 5. Defendant employment policies, practices, and payroll administration systems enabled 18 and facilitated these violations on a company-wide basis with respect to the aggrieved employees.

19 6. As a result, set forth in the PAGA notice, Defendant failed to maintain lawful meal and 20 rest periods, regular, overtime, and paid sick leave policies.

21 JURISDICTION & VENUE

22 7. Jurisdiction of this action is proper in this Court under Article VI, Section 10 of the 23 California Constitution as the causes of action are premised upon violations of California law.

24 8. The monetary damages and restitution sought exceed the minimal jurisdiction limits of 25 the Superior Court.

26 9. This Court has jurisdiction over Defendants because, upon information and belief,
27 Defendants have sufficient minimum contacts in California, or otherwise intentionally avail
28

1 themselves to the California economy so as to render the exercise of jurisdiction over them by the
2 California courts consistent with traditional notions of fair play and substantial justice.

3 10. Venue is proper in this Court under Code of Civil Procedure sections 393(a), 395,
4 and/or 395.5 because, upon information and belief, Defendants conducted business and committed
5 some of the alleged violations in this County.

6 PARTIES

7 A. Plaintiff Jesus Antonio Ramirez Quinonez

8 11. Plaintiff Ramirez Quinonez is an individual over 18 years of age who worked for 9 Defendants in California as a non-exempt employee from about July 2023 to September 2024.
10 Plaintiff worked as a Plumber.

11 12. The State of California, via the Labor and Workforce Development Agency
12 (“LWDA”), is the real party in interest in this action. (Kim v. Reins Int’l California, Inc. (2020) 9
13 Cal. 5th 73, 81 [The “government entity on whose behalf the plaintiff files suit is always the real party
14 in interest.”])

15 B. Defendants

16 13. Defendant AMPAM Parks Mechanical, Inc., is a Delaware corporation that maintains 17 operations and conducts business throughout the State of California, including in this county.

18 14. The true names and capacities, whether individual, corporate, or otherwise, of the 19 parties sued as DOES 1 through 50, are presently unknown, unascertainable, or uncertain, and are sued
20 by such fictitious names under Code of Civil Procedure section 474. Upon information and belief, 21 each of DOES 1 through 50 constitutes a legal employer or is otherwise legally responsible in some 22 manner for the acts and omissions alleged herein. This Complaint may be amended to reflect their 23 true names and capacities once ascertained.

24 15. Upon information and belief, Defendants in this action are employers, co-employers,
25 joint employers, and/or part of an integrated employer enterprise, as each of the Defendants exercised
26 control over the wages, hours, and working conditions of the employees, suffered and permitted them
27 to work, and otherwise engaged them as employees under California law.
28

16. Upon information and belief, at least some of the Defendants have common ownership, common management, interrelationship of operations, and centralized control over labor relations and are therefore part of an integrated enterprise and thus jointly and severally responsible for the acts and omissions alleged herein, including pursuant to Labor Code sections 558, 558.1, and 1197.1.

17. Upon information and belief, Defendants acted in all respects pertinent to this action as an alter-ego, agent, servant, joint employer, joint venturer, co-conspirator, partner, in an integrated enterprise, or in some other capacity on behalf of all other co-defendants, such that the acts and omissions of each defendant may be legally attributable to all others.

GENERAL ALLEGATIONS

18. Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees worked for Defendant as non-exempt employees and were compensated on an hourly basis.

19. Defendant failed to pay Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees at the lawful minimum wage rate for all hours worked, resulting in unpaid minimum wages.

20. Defendant engaged in an unlawful policy and practice of failing to pay Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees for all hours worked because of Defendant's practice of inserting less hours worked on employees' wage statements that resulted in an underpayment of regular and overtime wages to Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees. For instance, Plaintiff's wage statement for the pay period of 08/19/2024 – 09/01/2024 indicates that he worked a total of 46.50 regular hours. However, Plaintiff's Timesheet shows that he worked a total of 72.00 regular hours during the same pay period. Further, Plaintiff used a barcode to clock in and out, but his supervisor would be the one to scan him in. Thereafter, Plaintiff was required to write his clock in and out time on a physical timesheet. Thus, the barcode represents the correct clock in time but, on information and belief, the hours recorded by supervisors were less and/or different than his actual clock in time, resulting in underpayment of minimum wages. Thus, Defendant failed to compensate Plaintiff for 29.50 regular hours that he worked. Therefore, Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees were deprived of regular, and overtime wages each time Defendant inserted less hours worked in their wage statements to inaccurately reflect the amount of time the employees actually worked on the clock.

1 21. Defendant failed to pay Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees overtime wages and the 2 lawful rate of pay for overtime hours worked, resulting in unpaid overtime wages. As discussed above,
3 Defendant failed to pay Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees for all the time spent working on-the-
4 clock.

5 22. Defendant also engaged in the unlawful policy and practice of editing employees' wage
6 statements to reflect less hours than they actually worked. Each time this practice resulted in unpaid
7 work over 8 hours in a day or 40 hours in a week, this resulted in unpaid overtime.

8 23. Defendant failed to comply with California's paid sick leave laws with respect to the 9 aggrieved employees. Specifically, Defendant failed to provide Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees
10 with all sick leave accrued. To the extent that Defendants provided paid sick leave, they did not pay
11 all sick leave wages at the proper rate of pay because they failed to incorporate all hours that Plaintiff
12 and the aggrieved employees worked on-the-clock.

13 24. Additionally, each time Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees were underpaid hours 14 that resulted in unpaid overtime, the overtime hours were not accounted for when calculating an 15 employee's accrued paid sick leave. Therefore, Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees were not 16 awarded the total accrued sick leave time they had earned.

17 25. Defendant failed to provide compliant meal periods to Plaintiff and the aggrieved
18 employees to which they were entitled in a manner that complies with California Law. Plaintiff and 19 the aggrieved employees routinely experienced missed, late, short, and/or interrupted meal periods in 20 order to keep up with high demands of the job and Defendant's failure to relieve them of their job
21 duties in order to take a compliant meal period. For example, Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees
22 were required to work through their meal periods or take them late when Defendant did not relieve 23 them to take a meal period. Plaintiff was told to wait until the next rest break to eat.

24 26. Despite Defendant's failure to provide compliant meal periods, Defendant willfully 25 engaged in an unlawful policy and practice of editing employees' time records that resulted in the 26 underpayment of wages and premiums to Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees. For example,
27 Defendant would edit employees' time records to insert false first and second meal period times to 28 indicate a complaint meal period was taken (i.e., taken before the 5th hour, 30 minutes in length). An

1 example of this violation is shown on Plaintiff's timesheet from 09/03/2024 to 09/11/2024. There,
2 Defendant would adjust Plaintiff's time records to show he clocked out for a meal period at 10:00 a.m.
3 every day, even on the days he was unable to take a compliant meal period at that time. As mentioned
4 above, if Plaintiff missed his scheduled meal period, Defendants would tell him he has to wait until 5 the next opportunity to take a break. Therefore, Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees were deprived
6 of wages and premiums each time Defendants edited their time records to inaccurately reflect the time
7 the employees took a lunch break.

8 27. Each time Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees experienced a noncompliant meal
9 period, they were owed a meal period premium. As a matter of policy and practice, Plaintiff and the 10 aggrieved employees were not provided meal period premiums in lieu of non-compliant meal periods
11 as required by Labor Code section 226.7.

12 28. Similar to the reasons Plaintiff and other aggrieved employees were unable to take 13 compliant meal periods, such as the pressures to keep up with high demands of the job, Plaintiff and 14 the aggrieved employees were not authorized or permitted to take their rest periods. As a matter of 15 common policy and practice, Defendant failed to pay Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees rest period
16 premiums when they were unable to take rest periods.

17 29. Defendant required Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees to incur costs for work-
18 related purposes without full reimbursement. In direct consequence of their job duties, Plaintiff and 19 the aggrieved employees unavoidably and necessarily incurred these losses, expenditures, costs, and 20 as a matter of policy and practice. For example, Defendant required Plaintiff and the aggrieved 21 employees to utilize their personal cell phones to complete necessary work tasks, such as to 22 communicate with co-workers and management.

23 30. Further, Defendant required Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees to buy and utilize 24 their own tools for work-related purposes. Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees were never 25 reimbursed for their cell phone usage or the cost of purchasing tools. Instead, Plaintiff and the 26 aggrieved employees bore the cost of these requirements, without reimbursement.

27 31. Defendant underpaid Plaintiff and other aggrieved employees' minimum, regular,
28 overtime wages, premiums, and paid sick leave. Defendant is separately liable for not paying the full

1 amount owed to Plaintiff and other aggrieved employees each payday in violation of Labor Code
2 sections 204 and/or 204b.

3 32. Defendant failed to pay all wages and premiums owed to aggrieved employees during 4 their employment and also failed to timely pay those amounts to departing employees upon separation
5 of employment. Defendant did not pay waiting time penalties for the late payments. Furthermore,
6 when Plaintiff received confirmation that he was terminated, he asked for his final check and was told
7 that it would be delivered via mail. Unfortunately, Plaintiff did not receive his final check until about 8 two weeks after termination, in direct violation of Labor Code 201. This practice of not paying all
9 final wages on the last day or within three days of employment, as applicable, is alleged as a common
10 practice based on Plaintiff's experience and applicable to all aggrieved employees. As a result,
11 Defendant violated Labor Code sections 201, 202, and 203.

12 33. Defendant failed to provide accurate itemized wage statements to the aggrieved
13 employees each pay period as a result of the policies and practices set forth in the PAGA notice.
14 Defendant violated Labor Code section 226(a)(1) and (5) by not listing the correct "gross wages 15 earned" or "net wages earned," as the employees earned wages and premiums that were not paid,
16 resulting in an inaccurate reflection, and recording of "gross wages earned" on those wage statements.

17 34. Likewise, in violation of Labor Code section 226(a)(9), Defendant failed to state on 18 employee wage statements each pay period the applicable hourly rates in effect and the number of 19 hours worked at that rate, as Defendant failed to pay all wages and premiums owed to employees. The 20 amounts stated are instead depreciated and underpaid, resulting in an inaccurate reflection on the pay 21 stub.

22 35. Defendant violated Labor Code section 226(a)(2) because the wage statements do not
23 accurately list "total hours worked" as a result of the unlawful policy and practice of inserting less
24 hours worked on Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees wage statements.

25 36. Plaintiff and other aggrieved employees cannot promptly and easily determine from the 26 wage statement alone the wages paid or earned without reference to other documents or information.
27 Indeed, these wage statement violations are significant because they sow confusion among Plaintiff 28 and other aggrieved employees with respect to what amounts were owed and paid, at what rates, the

1 number of hours worked, and how those amounts were or should be calculated. The wage statements
2 reflect a false statement of earnings and concealed the underlying problems and underpayments of 3 employee wages.

4 37. Because of the policies and practices set forth above, including the failure to accurately
5 account for all wages earned or hours worked, Defendants failed to accurately maintain records in 6 accordance with Labor Code section 1174 and the IWC Wage Orders.

7 FIRST CAUSE OF ACTION

8 CIVIL PENALTIES UNDER THE PRIVATE ATTORNEYS GENERAL ACT

9 Violation of Labor Code §§ 2698 *et seq.

10 (By Plaintiff on Behalf of the State and the Aggrieved Employees Against All Defendants)

11 38. All outside paragraphs of this Complaint are incorporated into this section.

12 39. Plaintiff brings this cause of action as a proxy for the State of California on behalf of 13 the following “aggrieved employees” pursuant to the Private Attorneys General Act (“PAGA”), 14 codified as Labor Code section 2698 et seq.:

- 15 a. All current and former non-exempt employees who worked for Defendants in 16 California at any time from one year prior to the postmark date of the initial 17 PAGA notice through date of trial.

18 40. Plaintiff reserves the right to amend, supplement, or add to this description of the 19 aggrieved employees, according to proof.

20 41. The State of California, via the Labor and Workforce Development Agency
21 (“LWDA”), is the real party in interest in this action with respect to this cause of action. (Kim v. Reins
22 Int’l California, Inc. (2020) 9 Cal. 5th 73, 81 [The “government entity on whose behalf the plaintiff 23 files suit is always the real party in interest.”])

24 42. Labor Code section 2699(a) provides: “Notwithstanding any other provision of law,,
25 any provision of this code that provides for a civil penalty to be assessed and collected by the Labor
26 and Workforce Development Agency or any of its departments, divisions, commissions, boards, 27 agencies, or employees, for a violation of this code, may, as an alternative, be recovered through a civil 28 action brought by an aggrieved employee on behalf of the employee and other current or former employees against whom a violation of the same provision was committed pursuant to the procedures specified in Section 2699.3. “

43. Any allegations regarding violations of the IWC Wage Orders are enforceable as violations of Labor Code section 1198, which states: “[t]he employment of any employee for longer hours than those fixed by the order or under conditions of labor prohibited by the order is unlawful.”

44. Labor Code section 2699.3 sets forth the procedure for commencing an action for civil penalties under the PAGA.

45. On or about December 19, 2024, Plaintiff paid the requisite PAGA filing fee and provided written notice (by online electronic filing with the LWDA and by certified mail to Defendants) of Defendants’ alleged Labor Code violations, including the facts and theories to support the alleged violations.

46. A true and correct copy of Plaintiff’s written PAGA notice, entitled “Notice of Labor Code Violations” is attached hereto as Exhibit 1 and incorporated by reference as though fully set forth herein (the “PAGA notice”).

47. To date, neither Plaintiff nor Plaintiff’s counsel has received a response to Plaintiff’s written PAGA notice from the LWDA.

48. Within 33 calendar days of the postmark date of the notice sent by Plaintiff, neither Plaintiff nor Plaintiff’s counsel has received written notice by certified mail from any defendant providing a description of any actions taken to cure the alleged violations.

49. Now that at least 65 days have passed from Plaintiff notifying Defendants of these violations, without notice of cure from Defendants or notice from the LWDA of its intent to investigate the alleged allegations and issue the appropriate citations to Defendants, Plaintiff exhausted all prerequisites and commenced this civil action under Labor Code section 2699 et seq.

50. As set forth in the PAGA notice attached as Exhibit 1 and incorporated into this Complaint, Defendants committed the following violations and are liable for all corresponding civil penalties:

VIA CERTIFIED U.S. MAIL
- Electronic Return Receipt -

AMPAM Parks Mechanical, Inc.
17036 Avalon Blvd
Carson, California 90746

- PAGA Notice & Filing Fee -
Submitted electronically to the Labor and Workforce Development Agency

Dear LWDA Officer and Company Representatives:

This letter serves as written notice under Labor Code section 2699.3 on behalf of JESUS ANTONIO RAMIREZ QUINONEZ (“Plaintiff(s)”) and all other “aggrieved employees” of the following “Defendant(s)”:

AMPAM PARKS MECHANICAL, INC.

Defendant(s) shall mean and include the foregoing in addition to any other related employer entities, individuals under Labor Code sections 558 and 558.1, and all others who may be later added upon further investigation and discovery as liable employers.

This office serves as legal counsel for Plaintiff. If the California Labor and Workforce Development Agency (“LWDA”) does not investigate the facts, allegations, and violations set forth in this notice within the statutorily prescribed 65-day period under Labor Code section 2699.3, Plaintiff intends to commence a civil action against Defendants as a proxy and agent of the State of California under the Private Attorneys General Act (“PAGA”). “PAGA allows an ‘aggrieved employee’—a person affected by at least one Labor Code violation committed by an employer—to pursue penalties for all the Labor Code violations committed by that employer.” Huff v. Securitas Security Services USA, Inc. (2018) 23 Cal. App. 5th 745, 751; Kim v. Reins International California, Inc. (2020) 9 Cal. 73, 79. Plaintiff maintains standing to pursue these claims against Defendants as an aggrieved employee.

Through this notice, Plaintiff requests that Defendants complete an internal investigation and audit of the wage and hour and employment practices at issue and make a good faith effort to correct any violations. Plaintiff attempts to identify the non-compliant policies and practices affecting the aggrieved employees so that the parties may resolve the underlying damages and penalties in judgment or settlement approved by the Superior Court of California under Labor Code section 2699(s). Defendants are notified that any attempt to resolve this case should be conducted in coordination with Plaintiff's counsel to protect the interests of Plaintiff, the aggrieved employees, and the State of California via the LWDA. Plaintiff advises Defendants this letter should be also considered a reasonable attempt at settlement of this matter, subject to an exchange of additional documents and information. Graham v. Daimler Chrysler Corp. (2004) 24 Cal. 4th 553, 561.

- BACKGROUND -

Defendants employed Plaintiff during the PAGA Period in the position of Plumber from about July 2023 to September 2024. During their employment Plaintiff and the other aggrieved employees were subject to the wage and hour and employment protections set forth in the California Labor Code and IWC Wage Orders.

Through this notice, Plaintiff informs the LWDA of the Labor Code violations set forth herein. The “aggrieved employees” include Plaintiff and the following individuals:

All current and former non-exempt employees who worked for Defendants in the State of California during one-year period preceding the date of this notice through the current date and the date of trial in any pending action (the “aggrieved employees” and the “PAGA Period”).

Plaintiff reserves the right to expand or narrow the definition of the “aggrieved employees” in the forthcoming civil action. Furthermore, Plaintiff seeks all recoverable civil penalties for Defendants’ violations and reserves the right to supplement this notice as further investigation is completed and further facts, witnesses, and violations are uncovered.

- PAGA CLAIMS -

Unpaid Hours Worked/Minimum Wage Violation of Labor Code §§ 1194, 1197, 1198; IWC Wage Orders

Defendants violated Labor Code sections 1194, 1197, and 1198, along with the California Minimum Wage Order, the applicable local minimum wage ordinances, and the “Hours and Days of Work” and “Minimum Wages” sections of the applicable IWC Wage Orders with respect to the aggrieved employees.

Labor Code section 1194 renders it unlawful for an employee to receive less than the legal minimum wage for hours worked in California. Labor Code section 1197 further mandates that “[t]he minimum wage for employees fixed by the commission is the minimum wage to be paid to employees, and the payment of a lower wage than the minimum so fixed is unlawful.” Labor Code section 1198 renders “employment of any employee for longer hours than those fixed by the order or under conditions of labor prohibited by the [IWC Wage Orders]” unlawful. The California Minimum Wage Order and the applicable sections of the IWC Wage Orders further require payment of minimum wages for all hours worked. The “Minimum Wages” sections of the applicable IWC Wage Order provide that “[e]very employer shall pay to each employee, on the established payday for the period involved, not less than the applicable minimum wage for all hours worked in the payroll period, whether the remuneration is measured by time, piece, commission, or otherwise.” The foregoing California wage laws require payment of “not less than the applicable minimum wage for all hours worked in the payroll period” and California law does not allow averaging of pay over the hours worked in the pay period, even if the total pay results in an average above the minimum wage. Armenta v. Osmose, Inc. (2005) 135 Cal. App. 3d 314, 324.

Defendants failed to pay Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees at the lawful minimum wage rate for all hours worked, resulting in unpaid minimum wages.

Defendants engaged in an unlawful policy and practice of failing to pay Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees for all hours worked. Defendants failed to pay Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees for all hours worked because of Defendants’ practice of inserting less hours worked on employees’ wage statements that resulted in an underpayment of regular and overtime wages to Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees. An illustrative example of this violation is shown below:

Gross Pay			$1,287.00
Regular	Rate: 26.0000	Hours: 49.50	$1,287.00
Total Hours Worked: 49.5

Extract of Plaintiff’s Wage Statement for the pay period 8/19/2024 – 9/1/2024.

Timesheet Summary:
Pay Code	Reg Hrs
0	72.00
(WRKD)
Totals	72.00

Extract of Plaintiff’s Timesheet Summary from 8/19/2024 – 9/1/2024.

During this pay period, Plaintiff’s wage statement indicates that he worked a total of 46.50 regular hours. However, Plaintiff’s Timesheet shows that he worked a total of 72.00 regular hours during the same pay period. Plaintiff used a barcode to clock in and out but his supervisor would scan him in. Thereafter, Plaintiff was required to write his clock in and out time on a physical timesheet. Thus, the barcode represents the correct clock in time but, on information and belief, the hours recorded by supervisors were less and/or different than his actual clock in time, resulting in underpayment of minimum wages. Thus, Defendants failed to compensate Plaintiff for 29.50 regular hours that he worked. Plaintiff is informed and believes that Defendants engaged in the same practice with respect to the other aggrieved employees. Therefore, Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees were deprived of regular, and overtime wages each time Defendants inserted less hours worked in their wage statements to inaccurately reflect the amount of time the employees actually worked on the clock.

As a result, Plaintiff may recover civil penalties as an individual and on behalf of the State of California and the aggrieved employees, up to the maximum amount allowed as set forth under the Labor Code.

Unpaid Overtime Violation of Labor Code §§ 510, 1194, 1198; IWC Wage Orders

Defendants violated Labor Code sections 510, 1194, and 1198, along with the “Hours and Days of Work” sections of the applicable IWC Wage Orders with respect to the aggrieved employees.

Labor Code section 510 requires “[a]ny work in excess of eight hours in one workday and any work in excess of 40 hours in any one workweek and the first eight hours worked on the seventh day of work in any one workweek shall be compensated at the rate of no less than one and one-half times the regular rate of pay for an employee;” and “any work in excess of 12 hours in one day shall be compensated at the rate of no less than twice the regular rate of pay for an employee;” and “any work in excess of eight hours on any seventh day of a workweek shall be compensated at the rate of no less than twice the regular rate of pay of an employee.” Labor Code section 1194 renders it unlawful for an employee to receive less than the legal overtime rate for overtime hours worked in California. Labor Code section 1198 renders “employment of any employee for longer hours than those fixed by the order or under conditions of labor prohibited by the [IWC Wage Orders]” unlawful. The IWC Wage Orders further require payment of overtime wages for all overtime hours worked, including the “Hours and Days of Work” sections.

Defendants failed to pay Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees overtime wages and the lawful rate of pay for overtime hours worked, resulting in unpaid overtime wages. As discussed above in the “Unpaid Minimum Wage” section, Defendants failed to pay Plaintiff, and on information and belief, other aggrieved employees for all the time spent working on-the-clock. Defendants also engaged in the unlawful policy and practice of editing employees’ wage statements to reflect less hours than they actually worked. Each time this practice resulted in unpaid work over 8 hours in a day or 40 hours in a week, this resulted in unpaid overtime.

As a result, Plaintiff may recover civil penalties as an individual and on behalf of the State of California and the aggrieved employees, up to the maximum amount allowed as set forth under the Labor Code.

Unpaid Paid Sick Leave
Violation of Labor Code §§ 246 through 248.7

Defendants violated Labor Code sections 246 through 248.7 with respect to the aggrieved employees.

Labor Code section 246 requires employers to provide paid sick leave to its workforce on the terms set forth in the statute. Employers must comply with the accrual, use, and notice provisions of Labor Code sections 246, 246.5, 247, and must further ensure that they maintain the paid sick leave records required by Labor Code section 247.5. Employers have the option of providing 24 hours of paid sick leave to employees or to allow employees to accrue paid sick leave each pay period. If an employer chooses the accrual method, employees must accrue sick leave at a rate of one hour for every thirty hours worked in a given pay period as set forth in Labor Code section 246(b)(1). Under the accrual method, employees must begin accruing paid sick leave at the commencement of employment.

Employers must pay sick leave in accordance with one of the three permissible methods provided in Labor Code section 246(l): (1) “the same manner as the regular rate of pay for the workweek;” (2) “by dividing the employee’s total wages, not including overtime premium pay, by the employee’s total hours worked in the full pay periods of the prior 90 days;” or (3) “for exempt employee ... in the same manner as the employer calculates wages for other forms of paid leave time.” Labor Code sections 248.6 and 248.7 similarly require paid sick leave to be paid at a regular rate-based calculation in excess of the base hourly rate and at the lawful accrual rate.

Under Labor Code section 246(i), employers must provide employees “with written notice of the amount of paid sick leave available ... for use on either the employee’s itemized wage statement ... or in a separate writing provided on the designated pay date with the employee’s payment of wages.”

Defendants failed to comply with California’s paid sick leave laws with respect to the aggrieved employees. Defendants failed to provide Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees with all sick leave accrued. To the extent that Defendants provided paid sick leave, they did not pay all sick leave wages at the proper rate of pay because they failed to incorporate all hours that Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees worked on-the-clock. Additionally, each time Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees were underpaid hours that resulted in unpaid overtime, the overtime hours were not accounted for when calculating an employee’s accrued paid sick leave. Therefore, Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees were not awarded the total accrued sick leave time they had earned.

As a result, Plaintiff may recover civil penalties as an individual and on behalf of the State of California and the aggrieved employees, up to the maximum amount allowed as set forth under the Labor Code.

Unpaid Meal Period Premium Wages
Violation of Labor Code §§ 226.7, 512, 1198; IWC Wage Orders

Defendants violated Labor Code sections 226.7, 512, and 1198, along with the related sections of the IWC Wage Orders with respect to the aggrieved employees.

Labor Code section 512 and the IWC Wage Orders require that employers provide an uninterrupted 30-minute meal period after no more than five hours of work and a second meal period after no more than 10 hours of work. See Brinker Restaurant Corp. v. Superior Court (2012) 53 Cal. 4th 1004, 1049. Labor Code section 226.7 requires that if a meal period is late, missed, short, or interrupted, the employer must pay one additional hour of pay at the employee's "regular rate" of compensation. Ferra v. Loews Hollywood Hotel, LLC (2021) 11 Cal. 5th 858, 862 ("We hold that the terms are synonymous: "regular rate of compensation" under section 226.7(c), like "regular rate of pay" under section 510(a), encompasses all nondiscretionary payments, not just hourly wages"). "[T]ime records showing noncompliant meal periods raise a rebuttable presumption of meal period violations, including at the summary judgment stage." Donohue v. AMN Services, LLC (2021) 11 Cal. 5th 58, 61. Labor Code section 1198 renders "employment of any employee for longer hours than those fixed by the order or under conditions of labor prohibited by the [IWC Wage Orders]" unlawful. The IWC Wage Orders, including Section 11 (Meal Periods), further require one uninterrupted 30-minute meal period after no more than five hours of work and a second meal period after no more than 10 hours of work and an additional hour of pay at the employee's regular rate of compensation for each workday that a compliant meal period is not provided. Pursuant to Section 11(A) of the IWC Wage Orders, the California Supreme Court has held that the on-duty meal period exception is "exceedingly narrow" and applies only when (1) "the nature of the work prevents the employee from being relieved of all duty" and (2) both "the employer and employee have agreed, in writing, to the on-duty meal period." Augustus v. AMB Security Services, Inc. (2016) 2 Cal. 5th 257, 266-276 (emphasis added). If these two requirements are not met, then the employer owes the employee one hour of premium pay for each non-compliant meal period taken under the purported on-duty meal arrangement. Naranjo v. Spectrum Security Services, Inc. (2019) 40 Cal. 5th 444, 459.

Defendants failed to provide compliant meal periods to Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees to which they were entitled in a manner that complies with California Law. Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees routinely experienced missed, late, short, and/or interrupted meal periods in order to keep up with high demands of the job and Defendants failure to relieve them of their job duties in order to take a compliant meal period. For example, Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees were required to work through their meal periods or take them late when Defendants did not relieve them to take a meal period. Plaintiff was told to wait until the next rest break to eat.

Despite Defendants' failure to provide compliant meal periods, Defendants willfully engaged in an unlawful policy and practice of editing employees' time records that resulted in the underpayment of wages and premiums to Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees. For example,

Defendants would edit employees' time records to insert false first and second meal period times to indicate a compliant meal period was taken (i.e., taken before the 5th hour, 30 minutes in length). An illustrative example of this violation is shown below:

Extract of Plaintiff's Timesheet Summary from 9/3/2024 – 9/11/2024.

Here, Defendants would adjust Plaintiff's time records to show he clocked out for a meal period at 10:00am every day, even on the days he was unable to take a compliant meal period at that time. As mentioned above, if Plaintiff missed his scheduled meal period, Defendants would tell him he has to wait until the next opportunity to take a break. Therefore, Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees were deprived of wages and premiums each time Defendants edited their time records to inaccurately reflect the time the employees took a lunch break.

Each time Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees experienced a noncompliant meal period, they were owed a meal period premium. As a matter of policy and practice, Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees were not provided meal period premiums in lieu of non-compliant meal periods as required by Labor Code section 226.7.

As a result, Plaintiff may recover civil penalties as an individual and on behalf of the State of California and the aggrieved employees, up to the maximum amount allowed as set forth under the Labor Code.

Unpaid Rest Period Premium Wages
Violation of Labor Code §§ 226.7, 516, 1198; IWC Wage Orders

Defendants violated Labor Code sections 226.7, 516, and 1198, and the related sections of the IWC Wage Orders with respect to Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees.

Labor Code sections 226.7 and 516 and the IWC Wage Orders require that employers authorize and permit an uninterrupted 10-minute rest period for each four-hour period (or major fraction thereof) that an employee works. Labor Code section 226.7 requires that if a rest period is non-compliant, the employer must pay one additional hour of pay at the employee's "regular rate" of compensation. Ferra v. Loews Hollywood Hotel, LLC (2021) 11 Cal. 5th 858, 862 ("We hold that the terms are synonymous: "regular rate of compensation" under section 226.7(c), like "regular rate of pay" under section 510(a), encompasses all nondiscretionary payments, not just hourly wages"). Labor Code section 1198 renders "employment of any employee for longer hours than those fixed by the order or under conditions of labor prohibited by the [IWC Wage Orders]" unlawful. The IWC Wage Orders, including Section 12 (Rest Periods), further require one uninterrupted 10-minute rest period for each four-hour period (or major fraction thereof) worked and an additional hour of pay at the employee's regular rate of compensation for each workday that a compliant rest period is not authorized or permitted.

Similar to the reasons Plaintiff and other aggrieved employees were unable to take compliant meal periods, such as the pressures to keep up with high demands of the job, Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees were not authorized or permitted to take their rest periods. As a matter of common policy and practice, Defendants failed to pay Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees rest period premiums when they were unable to take rest periods.

As a result, Plaintiff may recover civil penalties as an individual and on behalf of the State of California and the aggrieved employees, up to the maximum amount allowed as set forth under the Labor Code.

Untimely Payment of Wages During Employment
Violation of Labor Code §§ 204, 204b, 210

Defendants violated Labor Code sections 204 and/or 204b and 210, as applicable, with respect to Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees.

Labor Code section 204(a) requires payment of “all wages” for non-exempt employees at least twice each calendar month. Labor Code section 204(d) states all wages due must be paid “not more than seven calendar days following the close of the payroll period.” Labor Code section 204b applies to employees paid on a weekly basis and also requires the payment for all labor within the required pay periods. Labor Code section 210 provides “every person who fails to pay the wages of an employee as provided in Section ... 204 ... shall be subject to a civil penalty” of $100 for an initial violation and $200 plus 25% of the amount unlawfully withheld for a subsequent violation.

Because Defendants failed to pay all wages and premiums in each pay period in which such wages were earned at the lawful rate, Defendants violated Labor Code section 204 and/or 204b (for weekly employees, as applicable). Defendants violated Labor Code sections 204 and 204b by failing to pay all wages and premiums owed on the regular pay days scheduled each pay period within seven calendar days of the close of the payroll period, as a result of the policies and practices set forth in this notice.

As explained above, Defendants underpaid Plaintiff and other aggrieved employees’ minimum, regular, overtime wages, premiums, and paid sick leave. Defendants are separately liable for not paying the full amount owed to Plaintiff and other aggrieved employees each payday in violation of Labor Code sections 204 and/or 204b.

As a result, Plaintiff may recover civil penalties as an individual and on behalf of the State of California and the aggrieved employees, up to the maximum amount allowed as set forth under the Labor Code.

Untimely Payment of Wages Upon Separation of Employment
Violation of Labor Code §§ 201, 202, 203, 256

Defendants violated Labor Code sections 201, 202, and 203 with respect to the aggrieved employees by failing to pay all wages and premiums owed upon termination of employment.

Labor Code section 201 requires that if an employer fires an employee, the wages must be paid immediately. Labor Code section 202 requires that if an employee quits without providing 72 hours’ notice, his or her wages must be paid no later than 72 hours thereafter. Labor Code section 202 states that if an employee provides 72 hours’ notice, the final wages are payable upon his or her final day of employment. Labor Code section 203 requires an employer who fails to comply with Labor Code sections 201 or 202 to pay a waiting time penalty for each employee, up to a period of 30 days additional compensation.

Defendants failed to pay all wages and premiums owed to aggrieved employees during their employment as set forth in this notice, and also failed to timely pay those amounts to departing employees upon separation of employment. Defendants did not pay waiting time penalties for the late payments. Furthermore, when Plaintiff received confirmation that he was terminated, he asked for his final check and was told that it would be delivered via mail. Unfortunately, Plaintiff did not receive his final check until about two weeks after termination, in direct violation of Labor Code 201. This practice of not paying all final wages on the last day or within three days of employment, as applicable, is alleged as a common practice based on Plaintiff's experience and applicable to all aggrieved employees. As a result, Defendants violated Labor Code sections 201, 202, and 203.

As a result, Plaintiff may recover civil penalties as an individual and on behalf of the State of California and the aggrieved employees, up to the maximum amount allowed as set forth under the Labor Code.

Non-Compliant Wage Statements Violation of Labor Code §§ 226, 226.3

Defendants violated Labor Code sections 226(a) and 226.3 with respect to the aggrieved employees by failing to furnish itemized wage statements each pay period that accurately list all information required by Labor Code section 226(a)(1) through (9).

Labor Code section 226(a) requires an employer to furnish wage statements to employees semimonthly or at the time of each payment of wages, “an accurate itemized statement in writing showing:” (1) gross wages earned, (2) total hours worked, (3) the number of piece rate units earned and applicable piece-rate in effect, (4) all deductions, (5) net wages earned, (6) the inclusive dates of the pay period, (7) the name of the employee and last four digits of SSN or an EIN, (8) the name and address of the legal name of the employer, and (9) all applicable hourly rates in effect during the pay period and the number of hours worked at each hourly rate by the employee.

Defendants failed to provide accurate itemized wage statements to the aggrieved employees each pay period as a result of the policies and practices set forth in this notice. Defendants violated Labor Code section 226(a)(1) and (5) by not listing the correct “gross wages earned” or “net wages earned,” as the employees earned wages and premiums that were not paid, resulting in an inaccurate reflection, and recording of “gross wages earned” on those wage statements. Likewise, in violation of Labor Code section 226(a)(9), Defendants failed to state on employee wage statements each pay period the applicable hourly rates in effect and the number of hours worked at that rate, as Defendants failed to pay all wages and premiums owed to employees. The amounts stated are instead depreciated and underpaid, resulting in an inaccurate reflection on the pay stub.

Defendants violated Labor Code section 226(a)(2) because the wage statements do not accurately list “total hours worked” as a result of the unlawful policy and practice of inserting less hours worked on Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees wage statements.

Plaintiff and other aggrieved employees cannot promptly and easily determine from the wage statement alone the wages paid or earned without reference to other documents or information. Indeed, these wage statement violations are significant because they sow confusion among Plaintiff and other aggrieved employees with respect to what amounts were owed and paid, at what rates, the number of hours worked, and how those amounts were or should be calculated. The wage statements reflect a false statement of earnings and concealed the underlying problems and underpayments of employee wages.

As a result, Plaintiff may recover civil penalties as an individual and on behalf of the State of California and the aggrieved employees, up to the maximum amount allowed as set forth under the Labor Code.

Unreimbursed Employee Expenses Violation of Labor Code §§ 2802, 2804

Defendants violated Labor Code section 2802 with respect to the aggrieved employees by failing to reimburse the aggrieved employees for all necessary expenditures or losses incurred as part of their job duties.

Labor Code section 2802 requires an employer to “indemnify his or her employee for all necessary expenditures or losses incurred by the employee in direct consequence of the discharge of his or her duties, or of his or her obedience to the directions of the employer, even though unlawful, unless the employee, at the time of obeying the directions, believed them to be unlawful.” See, e.g., Espinoza v. West Coast Tomato Growers, LLC, 2016 WL 4468175 at *4, n.2 (S.D. Cal. Aug. 24, 2016, No. 14-CV-2984 W (KSC)).

Labor Code section 2804 affirms that “[a]ny contract or agreement, express or implied, made by any employee to waive the benefits of this article or any part thereof, is null and void, and this article shall not deprive any employee or his personal representative of any right or remedy to which he is entitled under the laws of this State.”

Defendants required Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees to incur costs for work-related purposes without full reimbursement. In direct consequence of their job duties, Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees unavoidably and necessarily incurred these losses, expenditures, costs, and as a matter of policy and practice.

Defendants required Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees to utilize their personal cell phones to complete necessary work tasks, such as to communicate with co-workers and management. Further, Defendants required Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees to buy and utilize their own tools for work-related purposes. Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees were never reimbursed for their cell phone usage or the cost of purchasing tools. Instead, Plaintiff and the aggrieved employees bore the cost of these requirements, without reimbursement.

As a result, Plaintiff may recover civil penalties as an individual and on behalf of the State of California and the aggrieved employees, up to the maximum amount allowed as set forth under the Labor Code.

Failure to Maintain Accurate Records
Violation of Labor Code § 1174; IWC Wage Orders

Defendants violated Labor Code sections 1174 and the IWC Wage Orders by failing to maintain accurate employee payroll records with respect to Plaintiff and other aggrieved employees.

Labor Code section 1174 requires that employers maintain accurate “payroll records showing the hours worked daily by and the wages paid to, and the number of piece-rate units earned by and any applicable piece rate paid to, employees employed at the respective plants or establishments.” Section 7(A) of the IWC Wage Orders, which may be enforced through Labor Code section 1198, mandates similar recordkeeping obligations.

Because of the policies and practices set forth in this notice, including the failure to accurately account for wages earned or hours worked, Defendants failed to accurately maintain records in accordance with Labor Code section 1174 and the IWC Wage Orders.

As a result, Plaintiff may recover civil penalties as an individual and on behalf of the State of California and the aggrieved employees, up to the maximum amount allowed as set forth under the Labor Code.

Attorneys’ Fees and Costs
Labor Code § 2699(k)(1)

Plaintiff has been compelled to retain the services of counsel to protect the interests of other aggrieved employees and the State of California. Plaintiff continues to incur attorneys’ fees and costs, which are recoverable under California law, including Labor Code section 2699(k)(1).
