Attorneys for Plaintiff HAMPTON BROWN

SUPERIOR COURT OF THE STATE OF CALIFORNIA FOR THE COUNTY OF RIVERSIDE

HAMPTON BROWN, individually, and on behalf of the State of California and other aggrieved persons,

Plaintiff,

v.

ESSENDANT CO., an Illinois corporation; and DOES 1 through 10, inclusive,

Defendants.

Case No.: CVRI2500946

PAGA REPRESENTATIVE ACTION COMPLAINT:

1. Civil Penalties Under PAGA [Cal. Lab.
Code § 2699, et seq.]

Plaintiff HAMPTON BROWN (“Plaintiff”), on information and belief, alleges as follows:

INTRODUCTION & PRELIMINARY STATEMENT

1. Plaintiff brings this action individually, and on behalf of the State of California and other aggrieved persons, against Defendant ESSENDANT CO., and DOES 1 through 10 (collectively referred to as “Defendants”) for civil penalties under the Private Attorneys General Act of 2004, California Labor Code §§ 2698 et seq. (“PAGA”) stemming from Defendants’ failure to pay for all hours worked (including minimum, straight time, and overtime wages), failure to provide Employee with legally compliant meal periods, failure to authorize and permit Employee to take rest periods, failure to pay all earned wages twice per month, failure to maintain accurate records of hours worked and meal periods failure to reimburse for business expenses, failure to furnish accurate wage statements, and failure to timely pay final pay.

2. For over 50 years, California’s courts and Legislature have recognized that this State’s wage-and-hour laws serve a compelling public interest of fostering a stable job market. Wages are not ordinary debts. Because of the economic position of the average worker and his or her family, it is essential to the public welfare that employers obey the wage-and-hour laws so that employees are promptly paid the minimum/overtime wages that the Legislature has required for employees. So fundamental are California’s wage-and-hour laws that the Legislature has criminalized certain types of violations. In extending extra protection to deter violations of these underlying statutes—since Plaintiff is not seeking general and/or special damages, restitution, or other damages other than civil penalties—California has enacted PAGA to permit an individual to bring an action for PAGA penalties only, which is the precise and sole nature of this action.

3. All California employees during the relevant period who are or were harmed by Defendants’ illegal practices are “Aggrieved Employees.” The Aggrieved Employees worked for Defendants as hourly-paid or non-exempt employees within the applicable period.

4. Plaintiff brings this action against Defendants seeking only to recover penalties on behalf of Plaintiff individually, on behalf of certain Aggrieved Employees that worked for Defendants, and on behalf of the State of California. Plaintiff does not seek to recover anything other than penalties as permitted by California Labor Code Section 2699 at this time. To the extent

1 that statutory violations are mentioned for wage violations, Plaintiff does not seek underlying 2 general and/or special damages for those violations, but simply penalties as permitted by California 3 Labor Code Section 2699, declaratory relief, and injunctive relief for Plaintiff individually, and 4 certain Aggrieved Employees as permitted by the PAGA.

5 5. Defendants own/owned and operate/operated an industry, business, and 6 establishment within the State of California, including Riverside County. As such and based upon 7 all the facts and circumstances incident to Defendants' businesses in California, Defendants are 8 subject to the California Labor Code, Wage Orders issued by the Industrial Welfare Commission 9 ("IWC"), and the California Business & Professions Code.

10 6. On information and belief, Defendants were on actual and constructive notice of the 11 improprieties alleged herein and intentionally refused to rectify their unlawful conduct.
12 Defendants' violations, as alleged above, during all relevant times herein were willful and 13 deliberate.

14 7. At all relevant times, Defendants were and are legally responsible for all of the 15 unlawful conduct, policies, acts and omissions as described in each and all of the foregoing 16 paragraphs as the employer of Plaintiff and Aggrieved Employees. Further, Defendants are 17 responsible for each of the unlawful acts or omissions complained of herein under the doctrine of 18 "respondeat superior."

19 THE PARTIES

20 A. Plaintiff

21 8. Plaintiff Hampton Brown is a California resident who worked for Defendants in 22 Riverside, California as an hourly-paid, non-exempt employee from approximately 2017 to July 23 2024.

24 B. Defendants

25 9. Plaintiff is informed and believes, and based upon that information and belief 26 alleges, that Defendants are, and at all times herein mentioned, were:

- 27 (a) Business entities conducting business in numerous counties throughout the 28 State of California, including Riverside County; and,

(b) The former employers of Plaintiff, and the current and/or former employers of Aggrieved Employees, because Defendants suffered and permitted Plaintiff and Aggrieved Employees to work; and/or controlled their wages, hours, or working conditions; and or engaged Plaintiff and Aggrieved Employees, thereby creating a common law employment relationship.

10. Plaintiff does not know the true names or capacities of the persons or entities sued herein as Does 1-10, inclusive, and therefore sues said Defendants by such fictitious names. Each of the Doe Defendants were in some manner legally responsible for the damages suffered by Plaintiff and certain Aggrieved Employees as alleged herein. Plaintiff will amend this complaint to set forth the true names and capacities of these Defendants when they have been ascertained, together with appropriate charging allegations, as may be necessary.

11. At all times mentioned herein, the Defendants named as Does 1-10, inclusive, and each of them, were residents of, doing business in, availed themselves of the jurisdiction of, and/or injured a significant number of the Plaintiff and Aggrieved Employees in the State of California.

12. Plaintiff is informed and believes and thereon alleges that at all relevant times each Defendant, directly or indirectly, or through agents or other persons, employed Plaintiff and the other employees and exercised control over their wages, hours, and working conditions. Plaintiff is informed and believes and thereon alleges that, at all relevant times, each Defendant was the principal, agent, partner, joint venturer, joint employer, officer, director, controlling shareholder, subsidiary, affiliate, parent corporation, successor in interest and/or predecessor in interest of some or all of the other Defendants, and was engaged with some or all of the other Defendants in a joint enterprise for profit, and bore such other relationships to some or all of the other Defendants so as to be liable for their conduct with respect to the matters alleged below. Plaintiff is informed and believes and thereon alleges that each Defendant acted pursuant to and within the scope of the relationships alleged above, that each Defendant knew or should have known about, and authorized, ratified, adopted, approved, controlled, aided and abetted the conduct of all other Defendants.

ALLEGATIONS COMMON TO ALL CAUSES OF ACTION

13. Plaintiff worked for Defendants in Riverside County, California as an hourly-paid, non-exempt employee from approximately 2017 to July 2024. At all times, Defendants paid Plaintiff an hourly wage and classified Plaintiff as non-exempt from overtime.

14. Throughout Plaintiff's employment, Defendants committed numerous labor code violations under state law. As discussed below, Plaintiff's experience working for Defendants was typical and illustrative.

A. Failure to Pay for All Hours Worked, Including Minimum, Straight Time, and Overtime Wages

15. Under California law, an employer must pay for all hours worked by an employee. "Hours worked" is the time during which an employee is subject to the control of an employer and includes all the time the employee is suffered or permitted to work, whether or not required to do so.

16. Labor Code § 510 provides that employees in California shall not be employed more than eight hours in any workday or forty (40) hours in a workweek unless they receive additional compensation beyond their regular wages in amounts specified by law.

17. Labor Code §§ 1194 and 1198 also provide that employees in California shall not be employed more than eight hours in any workday unless they receive additional compensation beyond their regular wages in amounts specified by law. Additionally, Labor Code § 1198 states that the employment of an employee for longer hours than those fixed by the IWC is unlawful.

18. Throughout the statutory period, Defendants, at times, failed to pay Plaintiff and certain Aggrieved Employees for all hours worked, including minimum wages, straight time, and overtime wages. Defendants, at times, required Plaintiff and certain Aggrieved Employees to work "off-the-clock," without pay. For example, Plaintiff often worked after clocking out, performing his regular duties at the management's request, such as returning his headset and other work-related equipment to the lockers, without receiving the proper overtime pay. Additionally, Plaintiff and the Aggrieved Employees were frequently forced to wait in lines to clock in and out, as well as to undergo security checks before entering and leaving the job site. Furthermore, Defendants required

1 Plaintiff and the Aggrieved Employees to work during unpaid meal breaks, some of which should 2 have been compensated at the overtime rate. In failing to pay for all hours worked, Defendants also 3 failed, at times, to maintain accurate records of the hours Plaintiff and certain Aggrieved 4 Employees worked.

5 B. Failure to Provide Meal Periods

6 19. Under California law, employers have an affirmative obligation to relieve 7 employees of all duty in order to take their first 30-minute, duty-free meal periods no later than the 8 end of the fifth hour of work in a workday, and to allow employees to take their second 30-minute 9 meal period no later than the end of the tenth hour of work in a workday. Further, employees are 10 entitled to be paid one hour of additional wages for each workday they were not provided with a 11 required meal period(s).

12 20. Despite these legal requirements, Defendants wrongfully failed, at times, to provide 13 Plaintiff and Aggrieved Employees, or some of them, with their legally mandated 30-minute, 14 uninterrupted, and duty-free meal period in a manner required by law. Defendants also continued 15 to assert control over Plaintiff and Aggrieved Employees, or some of them, by, among other things, 16 requiring, pressuring, or encouraging them to perform work tasks which could not be completed 17 without working in lieu of taking mandatory meal periods, or by denying Plaintiff and certain 18 Aggrieved Employees permission to take a meal period under the conditions required by law, and 19 without properly compensating Plaintiff and Aggrieved Employees, or some of them, for meal 20 periods that were not provided as required by law. For example, Plaintiff's meal breaks were often 21 interrupted by other warehouse leads and managers for work-related issues. Plaintiff worked more 22 than five hours during his second shift and was never provided a second meal break. Furthermore, 23 Defendants failed to provide Plaintiff with the opportunity to correct noncompliant meal break 24 hours. As a result, Defendants failed to provide meal periods to Employee and some Aggrieved 25 Employees in accordance with California law.

26 21. Plaintiff and Aggrieved Employees, or some of them, are thus entitled to be paid 27 one hour of additional wages for each workday he or she was not provided with all required meal 28 period(s). Defendants, however, at times, failed to pay Plaintiff and Aggrieved Employees, or some of them, the additional wages to which they were entitled for meal periods that were not provided.

C. Failure to Authorize and Permit Rest Breaks

22. Employers are required by California law to authorize and permit breaks of ten uninterrupted minutes for each four hours of work or major fraction of four hours (i.e. more than two hours). Thus, for example, if an employee's work time is six hours and ten minutes, the employee is entitled to two rest breaks. Each failure to authorize rest breaks as so required is itself a violation of California's rest break laws.

23. Throughout the statutory period, Defendants have, at times, wrongfully failed to authorize and permit Plaintiff and Aggrieved Employees, or some of them, to take legally compliant rest periods in a manner required by law. Defendants, at times, also required Plaintiff and Aggrieved Employees, or some of them, to work in excess of four consecutive hours a day without Defendants authorizing and permitting them to take a 10-minute, uninterrupted, duty-free rest period for every four hours of work (or major fraction of four hours), and without properly compensating Plaintiff and Aggrieved Employees, or some of them, for rest periods that were not authorized or permitted. Instead, among other things, Defendants continued to assert control over Plaintiff and Aggrieved Employees, or some of them, by requiring, pressuring, or encouraging them to perform work tasks which could not be completed without working in lieu of taking mandatory rest periods, and by denying Plaintiff and Aggrieved Employees, or some of them, permission to take a rest period under the conditions required by law. For example, Plaintiff's rest breaks were consistently shortened due to the excessive distance between the work area and the breakroom. Although Defendants provided an additional three minutes as a courtesy for the long distance, Plaintiff still could not receive fully compliant rest breaks because the actual distance was much greater. If Plaintiff failed to return to the work area on time, he would be reprimanded and receive write-ups by supervisors. Accordingly, Defendants failed, at times, to authorize and permit Plaintiff and Aggrieved Employees, or some of them, to take rest periods in compliance with California law.

24. Plaintiff and certain Aggrieved Employees are thus entitled to be paid one hour of additional wages for each workday he or she was not authorized and permitted to take all required rest periods. Defendants, however, at times, failed to pay Plaintiff and certain Aggrieved Employees the additional wages to which they were entitled for rest periods and that they were not authorized and permitted to take.

D. Failure to Furnish Accurate Itemized Wage Statements

25. Labor Code § 226(a) provides that every employer shall furnish each of his or her employees an accurate itemized wage statement in writing showing nine pieces of information, including: (1) gross wages earned, (2) total hours worked by the employee, (3) the number of piece-rate units earned and any applicable piece rate if the employee is paid on a piece-rate basis, (4) all deductions, provided that all deductions made on written orders of the employee may be aggregated and shown as one item, (5) net wages earned, (6) the inclusive dates of the period for which the employee is paid, (7) the name of the employee and the last four digits of his or her social security number or an employee identification number other than a social security number, (8) the name and address of the legal entity that is the employer, and (9) all applicable hourly rates in effect during the pay period and the corresponding number of hours worked at each hourly rate by the employee. An employee is presumed to suffer an injury if this information is missing. (Labor Code § 226(e)(2)(B)(iii).)

26. The statute further provides: “An employee suffering injury as a result of a knowing and intentional failure by an employer to comply with subdivision (a) is entitled to recover the greater of all actual damages or fifty dollars ($50) for the initial pay period in which a violation occurs and one hundred dollars ($100) per employee for each violation in a subsequent pay period, not to exceed an aggregate penalty of four thousand dollars ($4,000), and is entitled to an award of costs and reasonable attorney’s fees.” (Labor Code § 226(e)(1).)

27. Throughout the statutory period, Defendants failed, at times, to furnish Plaintiff and Aggrieved Employees, or some of them, with accurate, itemized wage statements showing all applicable hourly rates, and all gross and net wages earned (including correct hours worked, correct wages for meal periods that were not provided in accordance with California law, and correct wages for rest periods that were not authorized and permitted to take in accordance with California law). For example, Defendants’ paystubs did not accurately reflect the rest/meal break premiums,

1 and the total wages for all hours worked, among other things. Because Defendants violated Labor 2 Code § 226, Plaintiff and similarly Aggrieved Employees, or some of them, suffered injury and 3 damage to their statutorily protected rights. Accordingly, Plaintiff and similarly Aggrieved 4 Employees, or some of them, are entitled to recover damages from Defendants including the greater 5 of their actual damages caused by Defendants' failure to comply with Labor Code § 226(a), or an 6 aggregate penalty not exceeding four thousand dollars ($4,000) dollars per employee, or as 7 otherwise permitted by PAGA based upon all bases of liability.

8 E. Failure to Maintain Accurate Records of Hours Worked and Meal Periods

9 28. Plaintiff seeks penalties under California Labor Code § 1174(d). Pursuant to 10 California Labor Code § 1174.5, any person, including any entity, employing labor who willfully 11 fails to maintain accurate and complete records required by California Labor Code § 1174 is subject 12 to a penalty under § 1174.5. Pursuant to the applicable IWC Order § 7(A)(3), every employer shall 13 keep time records showing when the employee begins and ends each work period. Meal periods 14 and total hours worked daily shall also be recorded.

15 29. Defendants, however, at times, failed to maintain accurate records of hours worked 16 and all meal periods taken or missed by Plaintiff and certain Aggrieved Employees. Moreover, 17 Defendants deliberately altered, falsified, and manipulated these records. Additionally, Defendants 18 engaged in illegal practices by altering timekeeping records and instruct Plaintiff to clock out 19 before the twelfth hour of work, only to return his headsets and other work equipment to the lockers 20 afterward. Defendants also failed to provide reasonable access to the timekeeping systems, as 21 Plaintiff and the Aggrieved Employees were often forced to wait in lines to clock in and out, as 22 well as for security checks before entering and leaving the job site.

23 30. Furthermore, Plaintiff's meal breaks were frequently interrupted by other 24 warehouse leads and managers for work-related issues. Plaintiff worked more than five hours 25 during his second shift but was never given a second meal break. Additionally, Defendants failed 26 to provide employees with the opportunity to correct any noncompliant meal break hours.
27 Moreover, during the relevant time period, Defendants engaged in company-wide practices and/or 28 policies of failing to record actual hours worked (including falsifying time records by recording

1 that compliant meal periods were taken regardless of if or when meal periods were actually taken), 2 and thereby failed to keep accurate records of work period and meal period start and end times for 3 Plaintiffs and the Aggrieved Employees, in violation of § 1198.

4 31. Defendants' failure to provide and maintain records required by the California Labor 5 Code and applicable IWC Wage Orders deprived Plaintiff and certain Aggrieved Employees the 6 ability to know, understand and question the accuracy and frequency of meal periods, and the 7 accuracy of their hours worked stated in Defendants' records. Therefore, Plaintiff and certain 8 Aggrieved Employees had no way to dispute the resulting failure to pay wages, all of which 9 resulted in an unjustified economic enrichment to Defendants. As a direct result, Plaintiff and 10 Aggrieved Employees, or some of them, have suffered and continue to suffer, substantial losses 11 related to the use and enjoyment of such wages, lost interest on such wages and expenses and 12 attorney's fees in seeking to compel Defendants to fully perform Defendants' obligation under 13 state law, all to their respective damage in amounts according to proof at trial. As a result of 14 Defendants' knowing failure to comply with the California Labor Code and applicable IWC Wage 15 Orders, Plaintiff and Aggrieved Employees, or some of them, have also suffered an injury in that 16 they were prevented from knowing, understanding, and disputing the wage payments paid to them.

17 F. Failure to Timely Pay All Wages at Termination

18 32. Labor Code §§ 201 and 202 provide that if an employer discharges an employee, 19 the wages earned and unpaid at the time of discharge are due and payable immediately, and that if 20 an employee voluntarily leaves his or her employment, his or her wages shall become due and 21 payable not later than seventy-two (72) hours thereafter, unless the employee has given seventy-22 two (72) hours previous notice of his or her intention to quit, in which case the employee is entitled 23 to his or her wages at the time of quitting.

24 33. Within the applicable period, the employment of Plaintiff and many other 25 Aggrieved Employees ended, i.e., was terminated by quitting or being discharged, and the 26 employment of others will be terminated. However, during the relevant time period, Defendants at 27 times failed, and continue to fail, to pay Plaintiff and certain terminated Aggrieved Employees, 28 without abatement, all wages required to be paid by Labor Code sections 201 and 202 either at the time of discharge, or within seventy-two (72) hours of their leaving Defendants' employment. These unpaid wages include wages for unpaid work time (including minimum, straight time, and overtime wages), missed meal period premium wages, and missed rest period premium wages.

34. Defendants' conduct violates Labor Code §§ 201 and 202. Labor Code § 203 provides that if an employer willfully fails to pay wages owed, in accordance with sections 201 and 202, then the wages of the employee shall continue as a penalty wage from the due date, and at the same rate until paid or until an action is commenced; but the wages shall not continue for more than thirty (30) days.

35. Accordingly, Plaintiff and Aggrieved Employees, or some of them, are entitled to recover from Defendants their additionally accruing wages for each day they were not paid, at their regular hourly rate of pay, up to thirty (30) days maximum pursuant to Labor Code § 203.

G. Failure to Pay All Earned Wages Twice Per Month

36. Based on Defendants' failure to pay Plaintiff and certain Aggrieved Employees for all wages as discussed above, Defendants also violated Labor Code § 204.

37. Labor Code § 204 requires employers to pay employees all earned wages two times per month. Throughout the period applicable to this cause of action, employees were entitled to be paid twice a month at their regular rates, including all meal period premium wages owed, rest period premium wages owed, and wages owed for overtime hours worked. However, Defendants, at times, failed and refused to pay the employees all wages due, and failed, at times, to pay those wages twice a month, in that employees were not paid all wages for all meal periods not provided by Defendants, all wages for all rest periods not authorized and permitted by Defendants, and all wages for all hours worked. As a result, Defendants owe employees the legally required wages not paid, and Plaintiff and certain Aggrieved Employees suffered damages in those amounts.

H. Refusal to Make Payment

38. Labor Code § 216 declares unlawful employers' refusal to pay wages due and payable and/or denial of the validity of any claim to wages due. Defendants, at times, violated and continue, at times, to violate Labor Code § 216 by failing to pay Plaintiff and Aggrieved Employees, or some of them, for all hours worked at the proper wage rate and by failing to pay Plaintiff and Aggrieved

1 Employees, or some of them, an additional hour of pay for each meal and/or rest period not 2 provided or that was invalid. Gould v. Maryland Sound Industries, Inc. (1995) 31 Cal.App.4th 3 1137, 1154-1155. These violations subject Defendants to civil penalties under Labor Code § 225.5, 4 with each violation resulting in a separate penalty for each affected employee and pay period during 5 which the statute's provisions were violated.

6 I. Statutory Wage Violations

7 39. Labor Code § 223 makes it unlawful for employers to secretly pay wages lower than 8 required by statute while purporting to pay legal wages. Within the applicable period, Defendants, 9 at times, willfully and systematically denied Plaintiff and other Aggrieved Employees, or some of 10 them, minimum and straight time wage compensation for all hours worked which resulted in the 11 payment of less than statutorily required wages owed to them. Defendants, at times, acted with the 12 intent to deprive some or all of them of statutory wages, including, but not limited to, overtime 13 wages and minimum wages, to which they were entitled under California law.

14 40. Defendants, at times, paid Plaintiff and other Aggrieved Employees, or some of them, 15 lower wages than those to which they were entitled, while purporting that Plaintiff and all 16 Aggrieved Employees were properly paid. As a result, Plaintiff and Aggrieved Employees, or some 17 of them, are entitled to recover penalties, attorneys' fees, costs, and interest thereon, pursuant to 18 Labor Code § 2699(f)-(g).

19 FIRST CAUSE OF ACTION

20 (By All Plaintiffs Against All Defendants for Civil Penalties Under the Private Attorneys 21 General Act of 2004, Cal. Lab. Code § 2698 et seq.)

22 41. Plaintiff incorporates by reference and re-alleges all preceding paragraphs as though 23 fully set forth herein.

24 42. At all times herein mentioned, Defendants were subject to the Labor Code of the 25 State of California and the applicable IWC Orders.

26 43. California Labor Code § 2699(a) specifically provides for a private right of action 27 to recover penalties for violations of the Labor Code: "Notwithstanding any other provision of law, 28 any provision of this code that provides for a civil penalty to be assessed and collected by the Labor

1 and Workforce Development Agency or any of its departments, divisions, commissions, boards, 2 agencies, or employees, for a violation of this code, may, as an alternative, be recovered through a 3 civil action brought by an aggrieved employee on behalf of herself or himself and other current or 4 former employees pursuant to the procedures specified in Section 2699.3.”

5 44. Plaintiff gave written notice by online filing pursuant to California Labor Code § 6 2699.3 to the Labor and Workforce Development Agency and by certified mail to Defendants of 7 the specific provisions of the Labor Code that Defendants have violated against Plaintiff and 8 certain current and former Aggrieved Employees, or some of them, including the facts and theories 9 to support the violations. Plaintiff also paid the filing fee. Plaintiff’s PAGA case number is LWDA-10 CM-1067173-24 (Hampton Brown v. Essendant Co.). The Labor and Workforce Development 11 Agency has not indicated that it intends to investigate Defendants’ Labor Code violations discussed 12 in the notice. Plaintiff hereby commences a civil action to recover penalties under Labor Code § 13 2699 pursuant to § 2699.3 for the violations of the Labor Code described in this Complaint. These 14 penalties include, but are not limited to, penalties under California Labor Code §§ 210, 226.3, 15 1174.5, 1197.1, and 2699.

16 45. Based on the conduct described in this Complaint, Plaintiff is entitled to an award 17 of civil penalties individually, on behalf of the State of California and certain similarly Aggrieved 18 Employees of Defendants. The exact amount of the applicable penalties, in all, is in an amount to 19 be shown according to proof at trial. These penalties are in addition to all other remedies permitted 20 by law.

21 46. In addition, Plaintiff seeks an award of reasonable attorneys’ fees and costs pursuant 22 to Labor Code § 2699(g)(1), which states, “Any employee who prevails in any action shall be 23 entitled to an award of reasonable attorney’s fees and costs.”

24 PRAYER FOR RELIEF

25 Plaintiff, individually, and on behalf of the State of California, and on behalf of all similarly 26 Aggrieved Employees, prays for relief and judgment against Defendants, jointly and severally, as 27 follows:

28 1. That the Court declare, adjudge and decree that Defendants violated the California

Labor Code by failing to pay for all hours worked (including minimum, straight time, and overtime wages), failing to provide Employee with legally compliant meal periods, failing to authorize and permit Employee to take rest periods, failing to pay all earned wages twice per month, failing to maintain accurate records of hours worked and meal periods, failing to reimburse for business expenses, failing to furnish accurate wage statements, and failing to timely pay final pay.

2. An award of civil penalties on behalf of Plaintiff, individually, and on behalf of the State of California, and all similarly Aggrieved Employees pursuant to PAGA;

3. Pre-judgment and post-judgment interest at the maximum rate allowed;

4. Attorneys' fees and costs reasonably incurred;
